GRAIN COMMISSIONERS TELL OF ELEVATOR

H. H. STEVENS OF VANCOUVER EXPOUNDS THEORY OF HIGH TARIFF VALUE

Elevator Operation is Discussed at Meeting Grain Commissioners

Superintendent will be appointed and every co-operation given in connection with grain shipments through port

That the elevator here is the finest of its size on the North American continent; that the grain commissioners and the department of trade and commerce will co-operate in every possible way in connection with the operation of the elevator; and that a number of grain dealers are already interested in the elevator here and intend to put through trial shipments, were among the statements made by the members of the grain commission, the deputy minister of trade and commerce, and G. D. Howe, architect for the elevator to the council of the Board of Trade at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Speaking for the department of trade and commerce F. G. T. O'Hara, deputy minister, explained that the government was not in the grain business. They simply provided the facilities for the business to be carried on here. At the same time they were anxious that the equipment they had provided should be utilized. That was the purpose in building the elevator. He felt sure that a big business would be secured and that Prince Rupert would develop into a big port.

Trial Shipments

Leslie Boyd, chairman of the grain commission, explained that their manager of elevators, R. Heatherington of Ottawa would within the next few weeks appoint a superintendent for the building here and then they would be in a position to do business. Just how soon the elevator would be ready they could not quite say but they were informed by C. D. Howe, architect for the building, that it would be ready for business by November 15. He suggested that the Prince Rupert Board of Trade at once get in touch with those engaged in the grain trade and secure trial shipments this way.

Mr. Boyd said that they had charge of the elevator and naturally were anxious that it should be utilized to the greatest possible extent. They did not want to have an overhead charge against them without any returns. While they could not and would not discriminate between Canadian ports they were anxious that grain should go out through Canadian rather than American ports as they could then guarantee the shipments. Also they liked to see Canadian ports develop. He said that they were particularly interested in the ports that were open all the year such as Prince Rupert and Vancouver, as shipping through them insured that the business was kept in Canada.

Complaints Made

A number of complaints, Mr. Boyd said, had come to them of shipments made through American ports and they were powerless to do anything in regard to them. All they could do was to suggest that future shipments be made through Canadian ports. He saw no reason why Prince Rupert should not get a share of the business if the people here went out after it. They were anxious that all the government elevators should be doing business.

C. D. Howe spoke of one exporter who had said he could put two cargoes through Prince Rupert the end of November if they could guarantee that everything (continued on page six)

Pittsburg Won Second Game of World Series Defeating Washington by Three to Two

PITTSBURG, Oct. 8.—The Pittsburg Pirates won the second game of the world series today by defeating the Washington Senators three to two. The hero of the game was Guyler who made a home run for Pittsburg in the eighth, scoring Moore. There were two other home runs in the game, Judge making the circuit clout for Washington in the second and Wright for Pittsburg in the fourth. The Senators made a brave attempt to equalize in the ninth but could only get one run when two were needed.

Govelskie pitched for Washington and Aldridge for Pittsburg with Ruel and Smith catchers. Both pitchers worked well.

Washington 2 8 2

Pittsburg 3 7 0

There was no scoring in the first inning.

With no men on bases, Judge of Washington caught a fast curve from Aldridge sending the ball high into the air for a home run.

There was no scoring in the third inning.

In the fourth inning after Washington had made two strikes, Wright made a beautiful stop of Goslin's grounder. After two men had been put out and with none on bases, Wright hit a homer into the stands for Pittsburg equalizing the score.

There was no scoring in the fifth inning.

In the sixth inning, Myers was substituted at third base for Bluege. There was no scoring in this inning nor in the seventh.

In the eighth, Washington made one hit but no runs. When Pittsburg came to bat, Peck juggled the ball and Moore was safe on first. Stan Harris threw out Carey, Moore going to second. Moore scored when Guyler hit a homer into the right field stands. Barnhart singled, Peck juggled again on Traynor and both runners were safe. Wright and Grantham fouled out.

In the ninth, Harris got a base on balls and McNeely ran for him. Myers singled into left field and Peck walked. Veach, batting for Ruel, sent a long sacrifice fly scoring McNeely. Reuther batted for Govelskie and fanned, and Rice was thrown out.

Policy of Protection is Expounded by Stevens at Big Theatre Meeting

Blue ruin pictured in order to show need of higher tariff; urges establishment of smelter and refinery

Hon. H. H. Stevens gave a masterly exposition of the protectionist point of view of Canadian fiscal policy as advocated by the Conservatives in Canada today at a meeting that crowded the Westholme Theatre to the doors last night. He is a very fluent speaker and did full justice to his subject. He urged that protection would cure the ills from which Canada suffers today and asked the audience to elect George Bushby who was supporting that policy. In urging protection he drew pictures of blue ruin in Canada.

Other speakers of the evening were George Bushby, the Conservative candidate, in whose interest the meeting was called and George Nickerson the Progressive candidate, both of whom spoke briefly.

Mr. Stevens said he had known Mr. Bushby many years. That gentleman had co-operated with him against some big interests when it was difficult making headway. He was a man who was four square and since he had shown a splendid public spirit. He asked of the audience to mark their ballots for him when the time came.

A Full Together

Mr. Stevens scouted the idea that there was a feeling in Vancouver against Prince Rupert. He told how, even in the early days they had helped to establish the city by buying Prince Rupert lots in Vancouver. The more Prince Rupert prospered, the more Vancouver would prosper. The national spirit was what was wanted. If all pulled together under a clean cut policy they would have an opportunity for expansion and growth.

Speaking of local affairs, Mr. Stevens said he was in favor of the building of a fisherman's wharf and landing stage. Prince Rupert ought to give all the possible aid to the mosquito fleet by giving them an opportunity for landing, housing their stores and carrying on their business.

If Mr. Bushby were elected, Mr. Stevens said he would be behind him and give him every support in this direction.

Mr. Stevens also spoke of the value of the development of the mining industry. He believed that every effort should be made by Mr. Bushby and by every citizen individually and by the Board of Trade to support, back up and push on everything of a nature to help the mining industry.

Smelter and Refinery

A custom smelter and copper refinery on the coast was then advocated by Mr. Stevens. He said there were hundreds of small properties that would benefit by the establishment of a small smelter. Copper, he said, was being shipped out of the country in the form of ore or

A refinery had been established at Trail but there was none on the coast.

Mr. Stevens then went on to criticize Premier Mackenzie King. He objected to the Premier always referring matters to the people, claiming that the people were not fully informed and were (continued on page 5)

PRESENTATION BY FRED STORK

Local M.P. Requested to Make Award for Bravery on Behalf of United States President

Fred Stork has been requested by the department of marine and fisheries to present to John Moran, keeper of a Green Island lighthouse, a handsome pair of binoculars awarded him by the president of the United States for bravery displayed last winter when he rescued Percy Duranteau, owner of the American gasboat "Violent," after his boat had been sunk and his partner had been drowned. The story of the rescue, which was fully published at the time, was one of daring courage on the part of Mr. Moran. Later it was brought to the attention of President Coolidge who decided that some recognition should be made of Mr. Moran's service. The pair of binoculars, which is the result, has engraved on it these words: "From the President of the United States to John Moran."

Mr. Stork is unable to make the presentation personally so he is making arrangements to have the binoculars sent out to Mr. Moran at Green Island.

IS FORCED TO MARRY AFTER BEING BOUGHT

"The Great Divide" is Story of Arizona and Mining Camps of that State

Ruth Jordan, a romantic and idealistic girl, reared along strict Puritanical standards in Boston, accompanies her brother, Philip, his wife, Polly, and Dr. Winthrop Newbury, a childhood sweetheart of Ruth's, to Arizona.

Officers elected for the 1925-26 season were as follows:

President, Mayor S. M. Newton.

First vice-president, Mrs. Joe Howe.

Second vice-president, George Johnstone.

Secretary-treasurer, Fred Wermig.

The teams represented at the meeting were:

Men's Section

Sons of Canada, George Johnson; Knights of Pythias, H. M. Blake; Sons of England, Dave Wilton; Knights of Columbus, Fred Wermig proxy for A. D. Gillies; St. Andrew's, Jock Watson; Royal Orange Lodge, J. A. Teng; Moose, B. M. Simpson; Great War Veterans, H. L. Landry; Elks, Fred Wermig, proxy for W. E. Williscroft; Oddfellows, G. R. Biggart.

Ladies' Section

Mooseheart, Mrs. Thor Johnson; Daughters of England, Mrs. Joe Howe; Royal Orange Benevolent Association, Mrs. S. V. Cox; Pythian Sisters, Mrs. D. McCullough. Notice was given by the St. Andrew's Ladies, Valhalla, Ladies and Royal Purple that they would not be entered and the Rebekah Lodge is still undecided.

After forcing her to write a note to her brother telling him that she is to be married, he takes her to the next town where the Justice ties the knot. Despite her pleas, he conducts her to his mining camp.

During the first three nights of their ride across the desert, Ruth visualizes her husband as the lover she has always dreamed of. But he, ignorant of her finer moral ideals, tears down with his passion the ideal she has woven about him. Stephen's mine yields rich returns, but, obsessed with the thought that she has been bought by gold, the girl refuses to accept any of the money. She weaves baskets in order to earn enough money to repay Stephen for the chain of nuggets he had given the Mexican.

Meanwhile, her brother, and

Dr. Winthrop Newbury, find her and induce her to return with them to the Jordan ranch.

Several months later, Stephen, still idealizing her, seeks her at the Jordan ranch, where he makes one last plea. She answers his entreaties by throwing him the gold chain of nuggets which she has purchased from the Mexican. Whereupon she becomes hysterical and suddenly lapses into unconsciousness. Through a driving storm, Ghent makes a desperate effort to reach the village and the doctor. When the doctor's horse falls from under him, Stephen nobly gives the doctor his mount, leaving himself in dire peril.

A son is born to Ruth. And a week later, Philip tells her how

Ghent had risked his life in order to get the doctor for her.

To explain the reason for her horror, Ruth tells Philip the conditions of her marriage.

Enraged, Philip levels his gun at Ghent, who is in the next room, and fires. The bullet goes wild and Ghent comes to Ruth says,

"There's one thing you can't take from me—that's the man you've made of me." With that he plods his way down the trail with bent shoulders. Ruth calls to him to wait, and catching up with him, says, "Our meeting brought forth all that was strong and good in you, all that was weak and petty in me. Can you forgive me?"

That is the story of "The Great Divide."

SPORT CHAT

Miss Fanny Rosenfeldt of Toronto broke the Canadian record and in fact the world's for women at the Toronto Exhibition when she ran the hundred yards dash in eleven seconds flat. Miss Rosenfeldt, who refused to go to England recently with a team of Canadian girl athletes, was given a tremendous ovation on the occasion. Many prominent male athletes took part in the same meet including Joe Ray and De Hart Hubbard, the colored sprinter. A movement for a new Canadian Women's Amateur Athletic Union is progressing fast.

Oh why this melancholy grie about the sere and yellow leaf that marks the passing of baseball? It doesn't matter—not at all. Although the prospect may seem drear, the hockey days will soon be here; and won't it seem serene and nice, to chase the puck around the ice? So do not moan about your fate, for other sports will compensate.—Portland Canal News.

not in a position to judge of the merits or demerits of the case. "The Government with all the information at its disposal, surrounded by experts, ought to make up its own mind in regard to the questions and say: 'We, as your Government propose this and so and the reason we ask you to endorse it is that we need your approval or otherwise of our action. They are the people to make up their minds for the electors."

Mr. Stevens then plunged into the protectionist policy of the Conservative party to whom he devoted the remainder of his speech. He said in part:

"The National debt of Canada is $200,000,000 greater than it was in 1922. You cannot escape it. When in office we paid the deficits of the railway out of the revenue of the country. You cannot endorse a bond or mortgage without being responsible for the endorsement of the bond. Mr. Mackenzie King and his government are called upon to explain how a debt has increased $200,000,000 when every other country in the world including Great Britain, France and Germany are lowering their debt. I think this great country with its great possibilities and assets ought to be bringing every conceivable effort to bear on the reduction of its public debt. Mr. King says we have lowered the tax. It is true that the sales tax produced about $50,000,000 less last year than the preceding year, but did he lower the sales tax? When we left office the sales tax rate was 2½ per cent while the rate today is 5 per cent. But the sales dropped some $700,000,000. Why? Because the people were not buying the goods. Is that the sign of prosperity? Because a man cannot buy a suit of clothes is that any satisfaction to tell him he is paying no taxes?

Out of Work

"Would you rather have a job and have the money to buy the goods and pay the taxes or be without the goods and without the taxes?" As a direct result of the fiscal policy of this government tens of thousands of Canadians have been thrown out of work, that the purchasing power of the people is being lessened and the records show less purchasing done as a direct result of their fiscal policy. What is the best course for us to pursue? We don't believe in high tariff to protect hungry and greedy manufacturers nor do we believe in Free Trade. Mr. Nickerson is going to have some time if he gets to Ottawa and mixes with the free traders.

Mr. Mackenzie King says that we advocate high tariffs to protect the grasping manufacturers. It is a play upon the passions of the people. Protective tariff is not to protect the bloated manufacturer. The protective tariff is for this purpose, to protect the standard of living in Canada commensurate with the living condition of the citizens. The woollen manufacturer in British Columbia is compelled to pay a minimum wage of $15. I consider that a sound and good law. You compel that manufacturer to pay a minimum wage of $15 per week, but if you follow Mr. Mackenzie King's or Mr. Nickerson's policy you can pay from one half in the case of Great Britain or in the case of Germany one third the wage you compel our manufacturers to pay making your goods that much cheaper to send them over here and we will buy them in preference to our own goods.

Give Manufacturer Chance

"If you are going to maintain a given standard of living then you have got to give to the Canadian manufacturer a protection to maintain that standard of living. Give the Canadian manufacturer a fair chance. When we were in office we put on a business profits tax. If they talk about fair profits they never did what we did, tax the profiteers. If Mr. King is serious on this point of protecting the manufacturers why has he not gone after some of them. How are we going to prevent the profiteer from profiteering? We recognize there may be a possibility of some of the manufacturers taking advantage of the tariff by raising the prices of the products.

In the last four years upwards of 600,000 Canadians have gone to the United States. Mr. Bushby mentioned to me the case of several families, numbering some 60 souls, that had power that God gave us, and let protective tariff wall that will stop the inroads of the American manufactured goods we can manufacture here. That is how we will succeed here.

"Listen friends. Last year you shipped 88 per cent of your copper to the United States unrefined, mostly ore, some matte. It went to the United States. The United States supplied over 60 per cent to England and 84 per cent of the German supply. Why in the name of common sense can't we refine that copper in Canada? The time has come when Canada is waking up and must address itself to these great economic particulars and do something for itself in the way of manufacturing.

Iron and Steel
The iron and steel industry is the barometer of the condition of the country wherever it may be. In Canada in the last normal year before the war, Canada produced 1,800,000 tons, in the year 1923, after tampering with the tariff in iron and steel this was 588,000 tons. Twelve years of Canadian progress, twelve years of Canadian expansion and Canada has only about 55 per cent of the iron and steel she produced twelve years ago. In the same period our purchases abroad have gone up. We purchased $149,000,000 worth of steel of which $128,000,000 worth came from the United States. It is not that we are not buying the stuff that we are not producing, we are getting it, but we are buying it from abroad. It means that the protective tariff which they broke down in 1924 has simply allowed the Yankee to pour in this profit. The mills are in the United States while the dealers are in Canada.

Let us wake up and turn our attention to the great assets that are ours. Canada is capable, if given the proper lead, to meet the U.S. dollar for dollar and article for article in the markets of the States.

Nickerson Speaks

George Nickerson, who was invited to the platform spoke for fifteen minutes. Much of what he said was a repetition of his previous speech. He assured the Conservative candidate that he would not be elected. He admires the nerve of Mr. Stevens coming to Prince Rupert. He was a representative of what was once a great party but which was fast passing into the discard. He admired Mr. Bushby and hated to

Apartment House

Elwood Bard again fell into the hands of the police during the night. At 3:15 this morning, a call was sent into the station that someone was trying to break into the McMordie Apartments. Sergeant Bailey and Constable Macdonald responded and, after making a search, found Bard hidden in a coal closet on the first floor. Upstairs, also in a coal closet, was found an Indian girl named Kate Dennis. Both were apparently under the influence of liquor. They will appear in court tomorrow probably in answer to charges of vagrancy.
