GRAIN TO BE HERE FOR ELEVATOR NOV. 11

TWO FISHING SCHOONERS COLLIDE AND ONE HAS BAD HOLE IN HER SIDE

Schooners Collided and One Now on Beach at Digby with Hole in Side

With a gaping hole forward on her port side, the 27 ton American halibut schooner Sentinel lies on the beach at Digby Island with the water running through her as the tide rises and falls as a result of a collision shortly before midnight last night with the 51 ton American schooner Republic near Casey Point.

There was apparently a confusion of lights and signals as the two boats were proceeding along at good pace, the Republic outbound and the Sentinel inbound with 14,000 pounds of halibut on board. The larger boat crashed into the smaller and the latter, with a big hole pierced in her hull, immediately began to sink. The Republic dove to and took the crew off the Sentinel at once but not before the impact had thrown two of them into the water. Then the Republic put a line on the sinking vessel and towed her to shore where she was beached. By this time the Sentinel was almost sunk being buoyed up only by her air tanks.

Ten Carloads of Grain to go Through Elevator About November 11th

The terminal grain elevator being built here by Carter-Halls-Aldinger Co. Ltd. of Winnipeg for the Department of Trade and Commerce will be completed on schedule time and about November 11 ten carloads of grain will come here to be put through the plant as a test before the contractors are released. This information was given the city council last night by Ald. Perry who stated that the government engineer had requested him to take up the matter of power with the city.

Ald. McMordie, chairman of the utilities committee, felt that the committee should have been informed of such an important matter by formal letter but agreed to take the matter of power up at the next meeting of the committee.

Ald. Perry also informed the council that the work of putting in three lines of track to the elevator was about to commence. This would mean that the piles of the old garbage wharf would be destroyed and he felt that the city might profitably dispose of them. It was decided to leave the matter of disposing of the piles in the hands of the board of works.

People of Swanson Bay Watch Visitors from Safe Refuge of Their Homes

The dozen or so residents of Swanson Bay, the inactive pulp town down the coast, remained safely in their houses one day last week while a big mother bear and her two cubs serenely paraded the main street in the course of their search for berries. The excitement was all over when Mrs. Bruin and family returned to the woods whence they had come.

COMMONWEALTH WENT ASHORE

Big American Halibut Schooner Reaches Port After Hitting Rocks on Dundas Island

At 4:30 yesterday morning in a very thick fog, the American halibut schooner Commonwealth, owned by the Booth Fisheries Co. but being operated in independent fishing with Capt. John Bergman in command, ran on to the rocks on Holiday Island to the north of the Dundas group. The tide was dropping at the time and the Commonwealth was obliged to remain ashore until the incoming tide floated her about noon. The vessel then proceeded to this port under her own steam, arriving here at 7:30 last evening.

The keel of the Commonwealth is damaged to some extent and she is leaking slightly. On disposing of 48,000 pounds of halibut here today, the vessel will be taken on dry dock for examination and probable repairs.

No Child Labor In Prince Rupert.

It would be a pity if it should get around that Prince Rupert is a place where child labor is exploited, for it is not. It does not hurt a child to do a little work occasionally. It keeps him out of mischief and teaches him to make himself useful.

A charge was made yesterday by Leonard Waide that child labor was being exploited at a local cannery. The cannery people denied it. Last night Mr. Waide brought a man to the Daily News office who said an Indian boy eleven years old had been working at the cannery.

We do not propose to be led into any controversy in regard to this nor do we wish the impression to go abroad that this is a place where people abuse their privileges as citizens. If a child worked with its mother for a few days no great harm was done. The place to report children being out of school is to the schoolboard or to the principal of one of the schools. We object to this town being held up as an object lesson of what not to do or one of our local institutions being branded as representing the greed of capitalism, when they are doing their best to build up an industry in the city which has been of great benefit and will in future be of still greater advantage to the place.

Mr. Waide doubtless believes he is acting in the public interest in keeping a watchful eye on the industries. As a matter of fact there is no law against employing children in the cannery, but there is a law which compels children to attend school until they are fifteen years old.

American Ambassador
Comments on The Scottish.

In the Life and Letters of Walter H. Page is a letter written by the American ambassador telling of a visit to Scotland. It says:

"I've never understood the Scotch. I think they are, without doubt, the most capable race in the world — away from home. But how they came to be so and how they keep up their character and supremacy and keep breeding true, needs explanation. As you come through the country you see the most monotonous and dingy little houses and thousands of robust children, all dirtier than niggers. In the fertile parts of the country the fields are beautifully cultivated—for Lord This-and-That who lives in London and comes up here in summer to collect his rents and to shoot. The country people seem desperately poor. But they don't lose their robustness. In the solid cities—the solidest you ever saw, all being of granite—such as Edinburgh and Aberdeen, where you see the prosperous class, they look the sturdiest and most independent fellows you ever saw. As they grow old they look like blue-bellied Presbyterian elders. Scotch to the marrow—everybody and everything seem—bare knees alike on the street and in the hotel with dress coats on, bagpipes—there's no sense in these things, yet, being Scotch, they live forever.

"The first men I saw early this morning on the street in front of the hotel were two weather beaten old chaps with grey beards under their chins. "Guddddd Murrninggggg, Andy," said the one. "Guddddd Murrninggggg Sandy," said the other; and they trudged on. They'd dethrone kings, before they'd shave differently or drop their burrs and gutturals, or cover their knees or cease lying about the bagpipe. And you can't get it out of the blood. Your mother becomes provoked when I say these things and I shouldn't wonder if you yourself resent them and break out quoting Burns.

"Now the Highlands can't support a population larger than the mountains of Kentucky. Your Kentucky feud is a disgrace to civilization. But your Highland feud is celebrated in song and story. Every clan keeps itself together to this day by its history and by its plaid. A little band of sheep-stealing bandits got themselves immortalized and heroized and they are now all Presbyterian elders. They got their church established in Scotland and when the King comes to Scotland, by Jehoshaphat! he is obliged to become a Presbyterian. Yet your Kentucky feudist — poor devil—he comes too late. The Scotchman has pre-empted that particular field of glory. And all such comparisons make your mother fighting mad."

Scenic, Historic and Natural History Wonders of Mackenzie
Park told of by Harlan Smith

Mackenzie Park and the surrounding district affords a splendid opportunity for university summer parties, students, professors and others desiring a field in which to carry on surveys and explorations, writing and art work, for practice, experiment or other purposes. Mackenzie Park is the name locally applied in the Norway of Canada to a strip of country approximately twenty miles north and south by seventy miles east and west lying near the southern edge of the bottom lands of Bella Coola River and the eastern shore of South Bentinck Arm.

Mackenzie Park is at the head of one of the longest fiords midway of the coast of British Columbia. It was so named in honor of Sir Alexander Mackenzie, the first white man to cross America north of Mexico and who, surfeited with scenery in his long trip from Montreal through the Canadian Rockies, wrote superlatively of the scenery of the area now known as Mackenzie Park.

The petition has been made that this area might be turned over for administration by the Dominion Parks as a great out-of-doors museum and sanctuary for the conservation of animal and plant life, beautiful scenery and pure water. Any surveys and explorations, literature and art, treating of the park or vicinity would be conducive to this end.

Great Opportunity

As a field for physiography, topography and mapping the area is excellent, being unsurveyed British Columbia Crown lands extending from sea level to about 10,000 feet altitude. It consequently affords ample opportunity for either practice or practical work. An aeroplane photographic survey would be useful in developing the park.

From the geographic and geological standpoint, many parts of the park have never been seen by white men. The many glaciers and waterfalls should prove of interest. From one point on Mackenzie Highway eighteen glaciers may be seen. Southeast and partly within the park is a glacier which is said to be forty miles long. The great number of glaciers ensures that a variety of glacial problems may be presented. Two glaciers may be seen from the Bella Coola Post Office and another from a point one mile up the road. In the park are thousands of water falls some of them large. One near the eastern edge of the park is said by reliable frontiersmen to make a clear leap of over 828 feet. If this be true, it is the fifth highest known fall in the world, second highest in the western hemisphere and the highest in Canada. Surely the opportunity to first measure this fall or to take large photographs, motion pictures, sketches or paintings of it should appeal to many university students or men of leisure. Hot springs are found on South Bentinck Arm.

Place Little Known

From a botanical standpoint the park and surrounding region are practically unknown. Great variety of plant life and plant problems may be expected in this area, which extends from the sea, salt marshes and lowlands to the mountain peaks on the one hand and which presents climatic conditions ranging from the rather moist sea coast climate to the semi-arid conditions of the region embracing the eastern end of the Bella Coola valley where irrigation is practiced. Throughout the region there are four species of giant trees, thousands of them being over six feet in diameter—red cedar, cottonwood, Douglas fir and aeroplane spruce. On the western edge of the park the vegetation is luxuriant and semi-tropical. On the east are Jack-pine barrens.

Zoologically the area is interesting. Grizzly bear tracks may certainly be found within twenty-four hours after arrival at Bella Coola, at least in August or September. A hunter living near Mackenzie Highway in 1924 left home in the morning, went on foot to a glacier in the park not far distant and was able before supper time to bring back a mountain goat. Fourteen eagles have been counted on a single stub at the edge of the park area. The sea is very deep off Bella Coola and in it is such life as sea fans and sand sharks. The several varieties of salmon taken in North Bentinck Arm for the two canneries within five miles of Bella Coola offer many zoological problems.

Interesting Natives

From the anthropological standpoint the Bella Coola Indians are of interest. They are of the Salish linguistic stock and North Pacific Coast culture. They live within two miles of Bella Coola and may be seen working for the canneries. About one fifth of the known petroglyphs of Canada lie within a day's motorboat run of Bella Coola. The material culture, social organization and folk-lore of the Bella Coola has been studied for the National Museum of Canada, but much remains to be done. In archeology, linguistics and physical anthropology, the field is almost untouched. The rituals and dramas may still be seen on occasion by the sympathetic but they can not be easily seen by the typical tourist.

Carrier and Chilcotin Indians, who both belong to the Athapascan linguistic stock, visit Bella Coola and camp at several places in the valley during the summer. Each group stays several weeks and some of them return a number of times in the season, producing a picturesque subject for observation and study. Much yet remains to be done on the ethnology, archeology, folk-lore, physical anthropology and linguistics of these people.

In 1895 a colony of about 200 people of Norwegian extraction settled in the Bella Coola valley. These fine, sturdy, hospitable Canadians still occasionally prepare Norwegian dishes, do Norwegian carving, painting and embroidery and a few still have examples of the old country costume and jewelry. Here is opportunity for the study of folk-lore, carving and painting.

Two Varieties

To the literary man, the district presents many features of interest. There are two types of Indians, one a sea coast communal sedentary folk, the other horsemen of somewhat nomadic habits. There is all the charm of the Norwegian fishermen living on farms, and the loggers engaged in hand, horse and railroad logging. All the races meet in the salmon canneries with their cosmopolitan crews of Norwegians and Chinamen, Japs and Indians, to say nothing of the Scotch engineer, the French-Canadian and the "American." There is also the romance of the trappers and prospectors that has not yet been adequately told. The cowboy life that drifts down from the interior and may usually be seen in evidence at Bella Coola and the Indian horse-men and horse-women are perhaps less modernized than anywhere else in Canada.

All the subjects of such great interest to the student and literary man have an equal attraction for the artist, the movie operator and the artist-photographer. Within or adjacent to the park are strange and wonderful types of men, glaciers and waterfalls. Within the forests are vast green-roofed "cathedrals," pillared with tree trunks, carpeted with moss and illuminated by sunlight strained through green leaves and lending a glamor to the scene that can not be simulated by the man-made stained glass.

How to Get There

This region is reached by a weekly steamer from Vancouver for Bella Coola at a cost of $20.20, one way, including meals and berth. The traveler usually leaves Vancouver Wednesday night and reaches Bella Coola sometime Sunday, and has a good opportunity to see intimately the natural resources, industries and life of the coast as the steamer stops at Indian villages, salmon canneries and logging camps, often for a considerable time. Wholesome meals may be had throughout the Bella Coola valley at fifty cents and bed at the same rate.

The western edge of the park and part of the northern edge can be viewed from motor or sail boats on North and South Bentinck Arms. The next section of the northern edge of the park is adjacent to the automobile road, locally known as Mackenzie Highway, which now extends up Bella Coola valley for forty-one miles. Beyond this is a good pack trail for horses. Along the land route mentioned are post offices at Bella Coola, Hagensborg and Alnarko. There is telegraph with the outside world from Bella Coola and Alnarko. One may live in delightful simplicity and comfort at various places along the Bella Coola valley road with telephone and weekly mail service and yet walk in the park area to some glaciers and many waterfalls and return home in time for supper.

Here one may live in comfort among a picturesque and primitive pioneering people with unsurpassed scenery of mountains, glaciers and virgin forests at his very door. The person who longs for a complete change and yet hesitates to break connection with his business may enjoy all the wilderness that his heart calls for and yet be within telegraphic communication with the world of affairs. As a location for the summer field work conducted by many of the universities, Mackenzie Park is unequalled, since here is presented opportunity for study of several lines of natural history. Contributions to such study will be to the benefit of the park proper and to the country in general.

City Council Notes

The formal annual bylaw exempting crown lands from tax sale was given its final readings at the meeting of the city council last night.

Accounts up to September 18 totalling $51,455.34 and including $48,000 covering bond repayment to the Royal Bank of Canada were passed for payment by the city council last night.

Frank Vickers will be acting city treasurer during the absence of D. J. Matheson who is in Victoria attending the convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention it was decided by the council last night.

A bylaw providing that the city solicitor may collect costs in cases of legal action against the city was given its final readings at last night's meeting of the city council. The bylaw puts into effect an agreement made with Mr. Jones when he accepted the post of city solicitor here.

In answer to a request submitted by the council to the provincial government that the plans for the beautification of the court house grounds be proceeded with, a letter was received by the council last night from Hon. T. D. Pattullo announcing that arrangements were being made to have the grounds put in better shape next year than they had been this.

Without discussion, the city council last night passed a resolution urging upon the Union of B.C. Municipalities the advisability of having the Municipal Act changed so that penalties for non-payment of municipal taxes be abolished and rebates for prompt payment be substituted. The city treasurer, who is attending the convention, will be advised to this effect.

There were four fire alarms during the month of August, damage totalling $240, according to report of the fire chief for the month presented to the city council last night. The only damage was done when a gas-boiler caught fire at the Imperial Oil wharf. Expenditure of the department for the month had been $1,166.10. Equipment was reported to be in good order.

A petition signed by some 75 persons requesting that the roadway from Sixth Avenue at Hays Creek bridge to the dry dock be repaired was presented to the city council last night. The petition was filed when Ald. Perry, chairman of the board of works, stated that instructions had been already issued to the department that the work necessary to making the roadway passable be done, the cost being estimated at $10.

A report from the finance committee recommending that the sum of $250 be paid on account of Oke Jackson who lost part of his hand in a celebration in 1924 through the explosion of a fire cracker was adopted by the city council last night. This payment will complete the city's liability in connection with the accident. The arrangement was that the city would pay dollar for dollar with the Sons of Canada up to $1,000. The agreement, as far as the city is concerned, is now completed.

A report from the finance committee recommending that an advance of $250 be made to City Constable Alex Macdonald on account of his little girl who accidentally drank poison in the police station and for the past few months has been under treatment at the hands of specialists in Vancouver was adopted by the city council last night. The arrangement is that the advance shall be made on a monthly basis without interest, the members of the council to be personally responsible in case of non-payment. Ald. Stephens was in favor of giving assistance but voted against the recommendation on the grounds that, as far as the council was concerned, it was not legal.

BRINGING UP FATHER

BEARS STEAL TERRACE FRUIT

Pull Down Ten Year Old Apple Tree and Consume Duchess Apples

TERRACE, Sept. 22. — The mute evidence of the fact that bears are fond of apples and will go to considerable trouble to get them is to be found in the orchard of S. Sjostrand in the Lakelse Valley. On Wednesday a.m. when Mr. Sjostrand came into his orchard, which is near the bank of the Skeena, one of his best apple trees, a ten-year-old Duchess of Oldenburg, was practically broken to bits and the apples all gone. The footprints of a large bear were discernible all around the tree.

Friday morning Mr. Sjostrand saw a bear cub near the orchard but before he could return to the house for his gun it had disappeared into the thick timber at the river's edge. Nothing further has been seen of the big bear although several local sportsmen have been hunting the neighborhood since the depredations were first reported.

QUIET WEDDING AT SMITHERS SATURDAY

Miss Florence Campbell Becomes Bride of A. F. Dickson

SMITHERS, Sept. 22.—A quiet wedding was solemnized in Smithers on Saturday evening when Miss Florence Campbell, eldest daughter of Mr. Stuart Campbell, became the bride of A. F. Dickson, the Rev. G. Turpin officiating. Both the contracting parties have resided in Smithers for several years, and are popular members of the younger set. After the ceremony the young couple with relatives and a number of friends sat down to a dainty supper at Shield's Cafe, following which they were escorted to their future home on Railway Ave. by a crowd of young folks armed with old pans and other noise making instruments.

The Reading Club has again been organized for the coming winter and as soon as the new books arrive they will be started in circulation. This has proved for several years to be a very effective way of providing good reading for all who wish to enter the club at a cost of only one new book each.

The cemetery board has had a much needed Litch gate built at the entrance to the local cemetery. Wm. Farr had the contract for the work.

Mrs. W. C. Sparkes and her sister-in-law Mrs. Ord of Cochrane, Ont., are spending a holiday in Prince Rupert.

J. R. Wells, Seattle, who has interests in the Black Wolf mining claims, Kalum Lake, and who has been spending a short holiday at the Lake left for home on Sunday.

George Little and Ted Johnson spent the week end at Mr. Little's camp in the hills behind Lost Lake.

What was probably the clearest demonstration of the wonders of the Aurora Borealis or Northern Lights seen in this district for several years occurred on Sunday evening about 11 o'clock.

In the absence of Rev. T. J. Marsh, who occupied the pulpit in the Rupert Anglican Church on Sunday, Rev. J. H. Young, Indian missionary, preached in the Anglican church on Sunday a.m. The services were read by F. Fowler.

John De Kozommaux arrived home from the Hazelton Hospital on Wednesday after having been a patient in that institution for the last three months. He left later in the week for Vancouver to receive further treatment on his injured thigh.

Mrs. R. P. Ponder of Prince Rupert was a visitor in town over the week end.

Mr. George Bushby, Conservative candidate for this constituency in the forthcoming federal election, arrived in town on Saturday and addressed a meeting of the members of the local Conservative Association on Saturday evening.

The home of Mrs. Fetterby on Third Ave. was the scene of a merry gathering on Thursday evening when her daughter Miss Nan Fetterby and Miss Mary Fawcett gave a farewell party to Wilfrid Cober. Nearly two score of young people were present and a jolly time was spent at dancing at music.

Mr. Cober who has been relieving dispatcher at Smithers for some time, received notice of a transfer to Stratford, Ont. and left on Friday night to assume his duties in the eastern city.

GIBBONS HEADS BADMINTON CLUB

New Set of Officers Chosen For Local Organization at Meeting Last Night

E. C. Gibbons was last night chosen president of the Prince Rupert Badminton Club for the forthcoming season and he is supported by an able set of officers. The meeting was a large one, presided over by H. F. Pullen, the retiring president. Treasurer Carmichael reported that there was $81 in the treasury left over from last season, the season last year having been commenced with $55 in the treasury.

Fees for this year were set at $10 for the season, payable in advance, and the membership is limited to sixty.

The new executive will secure a suitable hall, probably the one used last year, and will make arrangements for the early opening of the courts. Officers elected for this year were:

President—E. C. Gibbons. Vice-president—F. E. Robertson.

Secretary—J. L. W. Wyles. Treasurer—Harry Thompson. Members of executive in addition to the officers—Mrs. George Bryant and Mrs. J. C. McLennan.

SPORT CHAT

The only outdoor sport activities still in progress in the city are the games of the Junior Football League. The lads are putting up good soccer but, from the point of view of attendance at their games, are not being given the support that they should receive. If the parents do not evince enough interest in the doings of their boys to watch them play, there is little wonder that the public at large does not attend. A good deal of interest could be worked up in these games and this would help the boys in more ways than one. The next game will be this evening between the Borden Street and High School and there will be another match Saturday afternoon.

The Ulster football team of Toronto, holders of the Connaught Cup, are planning an invasion of the Old Country this winter if satisfactory arrangements can be made for the trip. It is the intention to leave Canada about December 10 and games will be played only with the best teams in the Old Country. The Canadians intend to start their games in Ireland, take in Scotland next and leave England for the last. The trip will probably last six weeks giving them a month for their games. They might even cross over to the continent. All play-

Government to be Asked to Give Property to City For Park Purposes

Having been advised by Hon. T. D. Pattullo that the government did not consider the time opportune to sell the former government square on Second Avenue as requested by the city, the council last night passed a resolution on motion of Ald. Casey, seconded by Ald. Perry, that the government be requested to deed the property over to the city for park purposes.

In offering the resolution, which had been suggested by Mayor Newton, Ald. Casey said he was inclined to agree that the time was inopportune from a realty standpoint to dispose of the property. He considered that it would make an ideal park site.

Opposed to Park

Ald. Stephens was agreeable to the idea of having the property turned over to the city but not on the condition that it should be used as a park site. The city already had enough of that kind of property. He doubted the wisdom of establishing a park in the heart of the business section of the city. The property in question constituted perhaps the finest business block in the city and already cut the business section in two.

Mayor Newton felt that the block might just as well be a park as the way it was now. It might be years and years before the government would be willing to put it on the market.

As one of the originators of the idea that the government be asked to sell the property, Ald. Stephens said it had been his object to relieve the taxpayers of the city by having this valuable property removed from the hands of the government so that it too might pay taxes. The city would be no better off if the property was turned over to it as a park site.

Ald. McMordie did not approve of the idea of having the block made into a park. Then the city would lose the local improvement taxation already paid by the government. No one could seriously think that the government would make a present to the city of a property worth anywhere from $100,000 to $200,000 and he did not think it was reasonable to make such a request. He had no objection to making the request but he thought it would be only wasting time.

Detroit Example

Ald. Casey referred to the Grand Circus Park in the heart of the business section of Detroit which he did not think impaired the business facilities of that city. Mayor Newton referred to the old court house site in Vancouver which had been turned over to the city for park purposes.

After further discussion, the resolution asking that the property be turned over to the city for park purposes was passed. Ald. Stephens and Ald. Smith voting against.

Further Prohibition Data as Result of Investigations in United States by Researchers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—A collection of varied information as to the effect of prohibition on economic conditions and health was made public by the Research and Education Department of the Federal Council of Churches as a part of its report on the prohibition question.

No definite conclusions were stated, but it was remarked in the report that in general the number of deaths from diseases that grow out of liquor-drinking showed a drop in 1920, early in the prohibition regime, but an increase in the years thereafter. This was one of the tabulations on which the first section of the report, made public last night, suggested that the trend of social consequences of prohibition since 1920 had been "disturbing."

On the economic side of the question, the report contained these observations: "Probably no careful observer will say that the abolition of the saloon has not affected a very substantial amelioration of large numbers of the working class."

Data Unreliable

"At the same time the appeal to specific economic data—increased business activity, growing bank deposits, etc.—to prove the efforts of prohibition must be made very guardedly. All attempts to measure this increase in quantitative terms are fraught with danger because of the great increase in prosperity since 1921, due to other causes. In addition to the increase in money wages we must consider the extensive thrift campaigns carried on throughout the country. But it would be idle to dispute the assumption that prohibition has been a factor, and an important one, in keeping savings deposits on a high level.

Sources of Information

Various sources were drawn upon for the health statistics presented in the report. The census bureau figures were quoted on deaths from alcoholism and cirrhosis of the liver, and the report observes that they showed a drop in 1920, and a rise thereafter except for a drop for cirrhosis in 1923. Officials of Bellevue Hospital, New York, were quoted as saying that while more acute and fewer chronic cases proportionately resulting from alcohol were handled just after prohibition became effective, there is a drift back to pre-prohibition conditions in the type of alcoholism that prevails.

A compilation of figures on alcoholic insanity and intemperate use of alcohol showed a drop in 1917 to 1921, and an increase since. The report added that figures as to the number of alcoholics discharged from New York hospital "show in general the same trend that we have been noting but with this important feature, that the year 1924 shows a slight decrease."

Official figures on the number of alcoholic cases per 1000 enlisted men in the army showed a low water mark of 1.06 in 1918, a jump to 11.18 in 1922, 8.82 in 1923, and 9.13 in 1924.

Insurance Statistics

"Much has been said of the falling death rate during the last few years as an evidence of the effects of prohibition," said the report. "It is true that this decline and the increased expectation of life have greatly impressed insurance actuaries."

WILL INVESTIGATE NEW WATER BYLAW

The utilities committee at its next meeting will go fully into the recently enacted new water bylaw against which there have been a number of complaints.

Ald. McMordie, chairman of the utilities committee, informed the council that the attendance of all the aldermen was desired at the meeting of the committee. Ald. Casey suggested that persons with complaints against the bylaw be also admitted to the meeting but it was the general opinion of the council that nothing would be gained thereby. Mayor

WILL BUILD ROAD TO GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS

Government is Paying $200 Toward Work Which is Estimated to Cost $350

The city council, on recommendation of the board of works, agreed last night to build a 15 foot roadway from McBride Street to the Court House. The cost of the road will be $350 of which the government has undertaken to pay $200.

Ald. Stephens was opposed to building the road for the government when it had not even carried out its plan of beautifying the grounds. If citizens wanted such a road they would have to pay the whole cost.

Mayor Newton was inclined to agree with Ald. Stephens except for the fact that he thought it desirable to have a suitable entrance for one of the few fine buildings the city could boast of. If the city built the road it might encourage the government to proceed with the grounds.

Ald. Perry stated that the road was already pretty well built. All that was needed was light surfacing which would not exceed the estimate of $350.

After some further discussion, the recommendation was adopted with Ald. Stephens voting against.
