CITY MANAGER PLAN ENDORSED BY UNION

REORGANIZATION OF WHALEN PULP & PAPER COMPANY WELL UNDER WAY

Whalen Reorganization Would Take Care of All Creditors of Company

Business of concern said to have improved of late making possible to work at profit

TORONTO, Sept. 24.—A Swanson Bay pulp plant and lumber mill will probably be operated again in the near future under a plan for reorganization of the company which is being undertaken and which promises to be successful. Discussing the company's finances and the new plan, the Financial Post says:

The Whalen Pulp and Paper situation has taken on a somewhat new complexion as a result of a plan submitted by representatives of the debenture stock holders. A thirty day delay granted by the courts in the liquidation sale of assets brings the time limit to October 1 and it is probable that further stay will be granted after that date.

A mass meeting will be held late today to consider the situation.

Premier Oliver Says They Are Disagreeable Necessity; Education Costs Mounting

VICTORIA, Sept. 24.—Premier Oliver sprang a defence of the use of stool pigeons at the civic banquet given yesterday to delegates at the convention of the Union of B.C. municipalities. They are a necessity, he declared, although he admitted the necessity was disagreeable to himself and to other members of the government.

Speaking of the cost of education, Mr. Oliver said many people would agree with him when he said that education costs had grown to an alarming extent. He had no hesitation in saying the best results were not being obtained.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 24.—"The whole halibut industry is behind the international treaty, which provides a close season for the halibut banks of the Pacific. There is not a dissenting voice and I look for splendid results from the experiment," said W. A. Found of Ottawa, director of fisheries, who returned from Seattle where he attended the first meeting of the international fisheries commission.

City Manager Plan of Government Endorsed by Victoria Convention

Government will be urged to provide for the change by legislation this year; Officers of Union elected

VICTORIA, Sept. 24.—Legislation to enable municipalities to adopt the city manager form of government if approved by the ratepayers at a plebiscite will be sought from the Provincial Government by the Union of British Columbia municipalities. The matter was discussed by the convention here yesterday and a resolution was passed giving effect to it which will be placed before the government today with a view to securing action at the coming session.

Another matter asked by the convention was the earmarking of all revenues from the gasoline tax for road purposes instead of a distribution of a part of the revenue among all municipalities.

New officers for the coming year were chosen as follows:
President—Reeve Sidney Gishby of West Vancouver.
First vice-president—Reeve Reed of Surrey.
Second vice-president—City Clerk Gordon of Revelstoke.
Sec.-treasurer—A. Wells Gray of New Westminster.
Vernon was chosen as the meeting place for next year.

Hon. Frank Oliver Defends Lowering of Grain Rates to Pacific Ports by Commission

EDMONTON, Sept. 24.—A special despatch to the Journal gives a statement by Hon. Frank Oliver defending the ruling of the commissioners which reduces the westbound rates on grain and flour to western ports to the same level as those effective from like points to Fort William.

Complaining of a criticism by the Montreal Corn Exchange Association, he outlines at length the facts of the case, which he claims dispose of the allegation against the chief commissioner and himself of high-handed and unusual conduct, and bad faith so far as the hearing of the case is concerned. He continues: "As to the decision in the case which is made the subject of the same adverse comment as the hearing, while the decision itself is fair matter for objection by the Montreal Corn Exchange Association or anyone else who sees fit to take a like view, the framing and giving of it out was fully in accord with the provisions of the law and with the well understood principle and previous practice of the board under which the section of the board which having been duly authorized heard the evidence and arguments gave the decision."

The halibut commission announced today that, so far, 3,336 halibut have been tagged by experts who expect to learn much about halibut life when the fish are caught in distant waters and returned to the commission. The most of the tagging was done by Prof. Wm. H. Thompson who operated out of Prince Rupert on the schooner Seamaid.

Leader of Progressives Would Know What Mackenzie King Wishes a Mandate For

SHOAL LAKE, Man., Sept. 24.—Speaking here last night Progressive leader, Robert Forke, said Premier King wanted a mandate from the people. He asked "What for? The Premier should tell us in his speeches what he intends to do with such a mandate in respect to the major problems confronting the country."

Mr. Forke views with alarm the taking of Marler into the cabinet, he says, was a "Montreal high protectionist."

In regard to Hon. Arthur Meighen, the speaker said he had thought to offer the West but high tariff.

Curious Request Of Union Of Municipalities.

Delegates to the union of municipalities know that it is the duty of every municipality to enforce the law within its boundaries. They also know that when the law is not enforced the officials are aware of the fact. Yet they would have the provincial police department notify them that the law is not being enforced and that it will be necessary for them to step in and help enforce it. That would be foolish.

It is a well known fact that in some of the municipalities in the province it is not safe to notify the police because they carry the news to the law breakers and when the sleuths arrive everything is quiet. That is the reason why it is necessary for the provincial police to take action quietly and without consultation with officials.

Airplanes Become More Effective.

Almost every day sees improvements in air navigation with the result that it is becoming more and more effective as time passes. Now and then there arises a statesman who urges the value of airplanes in war but he is usually voted down. Yesterday a despatch from England again reminded us that the air service is very important in time of war.

Seeing that the air machine is likely to be the war machine of the future, it would look like a sensible thing for the Dominion government to establish air bases on the Pacific, one at Vancouver and the other at Prince Rupert. More planes could be secured and incidentally they could be used for fisheries protection. This form of defence will have to come sooner or later.

Parent-Teachers' Association.

The Granby News this week has an interesting editorial article on the Parent-Teachers' Association. It says:

The many little problems that occur with persistent regularity year after year in connection with the school life of boys and girls begin to occupy the attention of the fathers and mothers of children now attending school for the ensuing term. Not so many years ago scant interest was given to the school life of the child by its parents; it was generally left to the discretion of the teacher, who in many cases at best, had but a superficial knowledge of a child's nature and of what might be passing in its mind, the result being that the sum total of learning expounded and received was probably as limited as possible, or hardly a decent average at the utmost, and rarely, if at all, would the possible maximum in marks set for the end of the term be attained. The conditions of those times were justified by the thought of the people. It is how majorities think that makes for better or for worse. In most cases people think for the better, and it was a mighty fine thing for the school boy and girl, the teacher and the parent as well, when parent-teachers' organizations began to grow and function. Some of the responsibility for the success of the child during school hours is admitted by the parents who take an active interest in these associations. They can and do greatly aid the teacher who cannot be expected to be successful in training the mind of the child until such time as the parent assists him or her with their home-life understanding of the child and the trend of their mind as revealed to them. It is safe to state that single men and women predominate in the teaching profession, and it is hardly possible to expect them to understand the mind of a child when so many parents of long standing are utterly at sea in the matter. Many ways and different experiences necessarily lead to better things if a common ground is ready available. Parent-teachers' associations exist for the purpose of an all-round better understanding. The day is past when Mistress Gottem can take the teacher to task because of her hopeful failure to make the grade; it is now up to her to be a member of a parent-teachers' organization and take part in its discussions of ways and means to bring out all the best possessed by the boys and girls attending school. Every act of betterment put across was worth striving for; and when you have had some part in its accomplishment you necessarily benefit by it. There are many things that can be done, although much has already been attained. Daily evolution is continually providing better things for the family of man; but it is only through the united effort on the part of many minds that make results come forth. The parent-teachers' associations are working on safe and sound principles. They need you; it is your duty to belong and assist in advancing their objectives.

OTTAWA PAPER DEFENDS KING

Citizen Says Meighen Has No Government Policy Except One People Turned Down

The Ottawa Citizen, discussing the present political outlook defends the policy of Premier Mackenzie King and states that Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, has nothing new to offer. The editorial follows: "Mr. Meighen forgets that the only alternative in the way of governmental policy he has to offer is the program of 1921, on which he was so roundly defeated, not having carried a single seat in six provinces out of the nine, and that it was this identical program he put forward anew in the form of a manifesto when parliament assembled at the last session, and which, when presented in the House of Commons on June 2, as an amendment to go into supply, was voted down on a division of 117 to 32.

"Mr. Meighen's speeches during the last week or two have been the same speeches he made four years ago in all essentials, with the addition of some grievances discovered during the months he has been in opposition.

Give New Life

"He is promising Canada to give new life to industry to stimulate the development of natural resources, to increase traffic on the railways, to reduce taxation, in brief, to bring prosperity all around, by—'an immediate revision of the Canadian tariff on a definitely and consistently protective basis.' After nearly sixty years of protection, Mr. Meighen's solution of national ills is—more protection.

"Mr. Meighen continues to call for an election. At St. Catharines on Saturday, he again challenged the Prime Minister to dissolve Parliament, and once more accused Mr. King of placing party expediency before national business needs. There is at least as much justification for accusing Mr. Meighen of precisely the same thing.

Stimulate Business

"The belief, indeed, that a general election would help business is founded on nothing more substantial than a hope. Small reason exists, as a matter of fact, for thinking that an election would stimulate business, or, at any rate, give it a lasting boost. Even were the Conservatives returned to power, they have nothing to offer that has not been tried before and found inadequate. Mr. Meighen talks of 'the great need of economy,' but overlooks the opportunity to point out precisely where he would apply economy to national expenditures.

"As to the prospect of Conservative success, there is little indication that they could secure a clear majority. While New Brunswick and Nova Scotia may spell success to Mr. Meighen's party, they may also mean nothing of the kind. At least they mean no more than the success of the Liberals in Saskatchewan means to Mr. King. From present indications, the next election is going to be like the last one so far as the West is concerned. The West has the choice of continuing with Mr. King's policies or trying Mr. Meighen's. And as most people know, the West views increased protection as more likely to lead to deeper economic discontent than otherwise.

Purchasing Power

"To the people as a whole, the choice is much the same. Business is a matter of purchasing power and no argument or subterfuge can change the fact. What have the Conservatives to suggest that will increase that power among the citizens of Canada? Extremely little, and so the business cry loses its force. An election will and would disperse the current uncertainty, and on that basis would be a good thing, but so far as economic conditions go, it is the same contest that was held in 1921."

SCHOOL FOR WOMEN.

TOKYO, Sept. 24.—Officials of the Sojiji, head temple of the Sodo sect of Buddhism have decided to establish a Buddhist women's university in Tokyo at a cost of 1,500,000 yen. Work will be started early next year, and completed within two years.

TERRACE CROP WAS NOT GOOD

Frost in Late Spring Ruined Berries and Some of Apples

MARKETING LOOSE.

TERRACE, Sept. 24.—Owing to the fact that most of the fruit growers did their own shipping, this year, it is rather hard to estimate the exact amount of fruit shipped but it is safe to say that less than 2,000 crates of strawberries, raspberries and currants were marketed on the outside from this district in 1925. This is less than half the amount marketed last year although there was considerably larger acreage under cultivation this year than last—especially in raspberries.

Early in the spring prospects looked very bright for a bumper crop but on May 24, a very severe frost caught the blossom, and practically ruined the crop of berries, as well as cherries, plum and some kinds of apples.

Very deep snow, which broke the comes down, was responsible for part of the shortage in raspberries, while rain during the picking season made some berries unfit for shipping.

As a result of so much individual shipping, the better known and more easily accessible markets were flooded which led to a consequent lowering of prices to a figure below even that of a year ago. Throughout the season a reasonable average of prices has been estimated as follows:

Strawberries $2.85; raspberries $2.75; currants $2.00.

The only attempt made this year at co-operative marketing was done by four growers who advertised and shipped their produce under the name of Kindwood Brand. They advertised and shipped at a set price which they adhered to throughout the season and which was a little higher than the average struck for the whole district.

The Market

The berry market extends from Prince George to Prince Rupert and north to Alaska. Some shipments have been made to Edmonton but so far it has not proved a very satisfactory market.

With an ever increasing acreage under cultivation, it is to be hoped that before another year a greater attempt will be made at co-operation in shipping among the growers which would undoubtedly result in more stable and steady markets and in more satisfactory returns to the shippers.

UNDERWORLD ON THE MOVE

Flurry Caused in Vancouver When Conviction for Vagrancy Upheld by Judge

VANCOUVER, Sept. 24.—Vancouver's underworld rats are scurrying for cover.

Whipping at their ill-luck, snarling at those who are harrying them, but nevertheless "taking to the tall timbers," the confidence men, bunco steers, rackets, coin-matchers, and others of the well-dressed, lily-handed gentry who have been fattening on the women of the streets and the "suckers" who came to town from months of work in the woods and mines or with the northern fishing fleets, are "on the run."

Court Order Signal

The drastic clean-up order which followed Friday's meeting of the police commission, and after which plainclothesmen swooped down on the pool rooms, gambling houses and other "hang-outs" of the elite of the underworld, caused a commotion which quickly assumed the proportions of a panic when Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald handed down a decision upholding a six months sentence given Harry Royal, sleek haired, well dressed, well fed.

Had Plenty of Money

Royal was convicted of vagrancy, despite the fact that he had $285 on his person when taken to headquarters by Detective Sergeant George McLaughlin. News of the court's decision created a furor among the underworld "smart set" here, but according to the police, it was nothing compared to the blow prohibition unit in Alaska resulted in more arrests, a greater number of convictions, the seizure of more liquor and contraband goods, and heavier sentences than for any similar period since the unit began operation, according to figures issued today by Acting Director A. G. Means.

During the twelve months ending with June 30, 272 arrests were made by the prohibition officers. Out of that number 245 convictions were secured, 10 cases were dismissed, 40 defendants were acquitted, four bound over to the grand jury, and three cases are still pending in the courts.

Six thousand nine hundred and sixty-three gallons of alcoholic beverages and mash were seized during the same period. Included in the seizures were 815 gallons of moonshine whiskey, about 73 gallons of alleged Scotch and Bourbon whiskey, 2,186 gallons of beer, 41 gallons of wine and 3,448 gallons of mash.

Stills Nabbed

It was a particularly hard year on distillers. Forty-two stills were nabbed, just one less than the total for the three years just preceding.

Fines assessed by the courts on those convicted aggregated $38,226, and jail sentences totalled 27 years, one month and 18 days.

In 1924, which was the most active year up to that time, the dry agents arrested 196 persons, secured 164 convictions, had 21 dismissals and 10 acquittals. It seized in the same year about 380 gallons of white lightning, 137 gallons of so-called imported Scotch and Bourbon, 2,602 gallons of beer, 187 gallons of wine and 2,119 gallons of mash, and 25 stills. Fines assessed totalled $29,960.25, and jail terms aggregated 16 years, one month and 16 days.

The city council in committee of the whole had a lengthy session last night going into the new water bylaw against which there have been complaints. Certain corrections will be submitted to the council in the form of a report next week. Brandt, former business man of this city and now provincial manager of the Aetna Life Assurance Co. with headquarters in Vancouver, reached town on last night's train after a business trip to New York, Boston, Chicago and other Eastern cities. He will spend a couple of days here before proceeding south. Mr. Brandt reports stable conditions in the centres of business in the East with an era of at least five years unprecedented prosperity in prospect. This condition he says will have a beneficial effect on the business and industries of the west. Mr. Brandt, always a booster for Prince Rupert, says he notices a marked improvement in conditions here since last he visited the city two years ago.

Enforcement of Prohibition Law Reported on by Council Churches Research Committee

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. — Failure to apply adequate remedies to curb diversion of industrial alcohol and manufacture of "high-powered" beer was laid at the door of the Federal government by the Research and Education Department of the Federal Council of Churches in making public an additional section of its report on the social consequences of prohibition.

"There is no visible reason why the illicit removal of alcoholic beer from 'breweries' cannot be effectually controlled," said the report. "The beer problem would seem to be wholly soluble, although it has been one of the scandals of the prohibition regime."

"The diversion of industrial alcohol presents at present the hardest task of enforcement. Yet there is no excuse for the abuses that have developed, and there is no reason why the government cannot, with reasonable diligence, control the situation."

Smuggling Minor Phase

Discussing at length other enforcement problems, the report declared that smuggling continued to present many difficult aspects, although the total amount thus being brought into the United States at present "is not great enough to make it more than a minor phase of the enforcement problem," that the homebrew industry had been virtually eliminated that "statements with reference to the growth of an illicit wine industry have been much exaggerated"; that small scale manufacture of bootleg whiskey still "is extremely prevalent in some sections" and that annual withdrawals of liquor from bonded warehouses have been reduced to "inconsiderable quantities."

The report also contained a compilation of costs of prohibition enforcement placing the total for the present fiscal year which ends next July 1 at $19,319,817. This figure included coast guard expenditures occasioned by the operations against rum running. The expenditures of the prohibition officials themselves, including operations against both liquor and drug offenders, were listed as having climbed from $2,059,774 in 1920 to a high water mark of $8,135,842 in 1923 and were given as $7,509,146 for 1924 and $6,631,213 for the first nine months of 1925.

In a foreword, the report cited statistics as to the effect of prohibition already made public, and continued:

Lack of Enforcement

"The common and plausible answer to all these statistical statements is that prohibition has produced limited results because we have had only a very limited measure of enforcement—that the ineffectiveness of the prohibition regime, insofar as it is ineffective, is due to a lack of forcible administration of the law. It is needless to dwell upon the extent of non-enforcement of the prohibition laws. Its more serious aspects are well known and freely admitted. It would be idle to contend of course, that anything like the amount of liquor is consumed in the United States that was consumed prior to 1920. No statistics are necessary to warrant the assumption that with scores of thousands of saloons closed so far as the free and public sale of liquor is concerned—and the vast majority of them closed altogether—the liquor traffic has been enormously reduced. Frequent attempts have been made to estimate the percentage of such reduction, but there is no valid or authoritative basis for such estimates.

"Moreover, the challenge of the present situation is independent of the relative extent of post-prohibition and pre-prohibition drinking. The problem is chiefly a moral problem, arising out of the widespread violation of the law. It is noteworthy that even in those inland areas where there is evidence of growing success in the enforcement of the law the characteristic evils arising out of its violation are found in disquieting measure. From conservative, fairly homogeneous communities of the West and South come tales of persistent violations. The seizures of liquor stills in southern states reach an astonishing figure, and even the smallest communities are not free from the illicit business or the social and political effects that universally flow from it. The evil effects of the continuing traffic seem to be away out of proportion to its actual quantity."

New York Worst

"The situation in New York City is perhaps the worst in the country from the view of the administration of the law. The new United States district attorney has been obliged to sweep out of his office all such minor cases in order to make any progress at all with the business of enforcement."

"The cities of Indiana present a different picture. There the federal court calendar is well up to date and the district attorney has no complaint to make, although he has a very limited force. Indiana has prohibition problems, plenty of them, but there the prohibition policy would at least seem to be firmly established."

"Neither New York nor Indiana is typical, and the average condition of the country presumably lies somewhere between."

Placer Mining is Carried on Profitably at Atlin; Spruce Creek was Largest Producer

(By G. A. Clothier, Resident Engineer)

The only locality in the Atlin mining division that placer mining is being carried on is in the immediate vicinity of Atlin. Production is confined to Spruce, Pine, Ruby, Otter, Boulder, and McKee creeks, the first mentioned being by long odds the most important.

There were a number of operators on Spruce creek last year, especially on the upper claims. The lower ground is about exhausted and there are comparatively few "lay" men left.

Isaac Matthews was probably the largest producer last year. As has been pointed out every year, the upper creek, where good "pay" is being found, on which depends the maintenance of the placer industry and the camp at Atlin, is rendered practically useless by the lack of proper drainage. The lower ground is owned by people who have no need of a drain through it at present and consequently the upper ground is unworkable on bed rock.

Some method should be adopted by the government whereby the situation would be relieved by the construction of a government owned (or otherwise drainage tunnel, maintained and eventually paid for by a levy on each and every operation in proportion to the benefit derived from it.

The output from the once famous Pine creek was very small last year. A small hydraulic outfit operated by Mr. Hill and associates and a few individual miners was the extent of activities. The Discovery Mining and Power Company did not work any of its ground last summer. The town of Discovery is the latest addition to the list of "ghost mining camps."

The Placer Gold Mines Company, which has been hydraulicking on Ruby creek very successfully for several years, finished its ground last year, moving about 54,000 yards of gravel that yielded 2,600 oz. gold. Last fall the necessary part of the equipment was moved down the creek to the lower end of the company's ground. This, from previous testing, is known to be rich and drifting will be carried on next year. The company's affairs are under the management of C. E. Leonard and C. H. Titus.

Above the company ground the former creek bed has been covered by a lava-flow under which it would be impossible to hydraulic. Attempts have been made by owners above to penetrate this lava bed and get to bed rock below, but have so far been unsuccessful.

Ruby creek was one of the last creeks to be hydraulicked, but has proven a very profitable undertaking. On Boulder Creek only one small crew was working, with fair success.

The Mines of Otter, under the supervision of Henri Maluin, had a profitable season, though operating under a heavy handicap in the early part of the season, due to the working ground being buried under a slide of gravel. About July 4 hydraulic mining was started on a higher bench which proved to be good "pay" and enabled the company to meet the abnormally heavy expense.

OCEAN FALLS vs. PRINCE RUPERT.
 Ocean Falls, B.C.
 Sept. 22, 1925.
 Editor, Daily News.

On behalf of the Ocean Falls Football Association, I would like to express the appreciation of both players and myself for the splendid treatment received from the Prince Rupert Fair Board and the other organizations which so kindly looked after our welfare while at Prince Rupert.

I wish particularly to thank the following gentlemen personally, viz., George Hill, S. D. Macdonald, Ben Self, F. Dibb and last but not least "Bill" Murray for their untiring efforts on our behalf.

This letter would be incomplete if I did not mention the Prince Rupert Hotel and the Commodore Cafe where the services rendered were all that could be desired.

IS AGAINST "BLOOPERS."

Editor Daily News.

Your stand against the use of radiating receivers or "bloopers" whose squeals annoy all legitimate radio fans, is to be commended. The application for a license should state what make of receiver is used and no license should be issued to a set that radiates squeals and interferes with every other person tuning in on the same wave.

Sometimes here it is impossible to listen to K.G.O. or the new Canadian National station at Vancouver because there are so many "bloopers" trying to get the same and radiating the most horrible squeals. Young boys who are starting sets should build only those that do not radiate.

I hope you will keep up the agitation for suppression of the radiating sets, for in doing so you will be making possible the use of the better class of sets. They have been suppressed in England for some time and should not be allowed here.

BOY'S BAND.

Editor, Daily News.

Kindly allow me space in your esteemed paper to express my sentiments respecting the recently organized Boy's Band.

I felt highly pleased when I saw them march down 3rd Ave. on Monday night, each carrying his instrument, and I thought what a splendid opportunity for the boys of Prince Rupert to make themselves useful in the community life of the city, and become clean citizens, if they only make the best of their opportunities.

Musical ability is a great asset to all who can avail themselves of such an education. I feel sure if each boy will pay strict attention to the tuition of Bandmaster Wilson, we shall ere long, hear them in public, giving us of their best, and by their efforts advertise our city. Much credit is due those who sponsored the movement, and I trust their efforts will not be in vain.

In conclusion I wish the boys all success. Thanking you, Sir, for allotted space.

FLIVVER HOBO LATEST IN U.S.

Begs for Money, Gasoline or Repairs to Machine but Will Not Sell

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 24.—The "Weary Willie," a unique figure in American life a decade or more ago, is rapidly vanishing from the landscape and is being replaced by the product of the age of the automobile—the "flivver hobo"—or rather hoboes, for the new type seldom travels alone, according to officials of Little Rock social agencies.

The "flivver hoboes" are always without money and in most instances accompanied by large families. They enter a city from unknown places and with unknown destinations and apply to community funds and social agencies for aid, sickness being the most common plea.

Looking for Jobs

The usual requests are for money, gasoline and oil or for repairs to their automobiles, officials say. They usually claim that they left home because of labor conditions and are going to some distant place to seek employment, asking aid in getting to their destinations.

Proposals to aid them by selling the automobile are always rejected by the "tourists," records of Little Rock agencies show. Out of a large number of "stranded tourists" who have applied for aid here not one would consider parting with the automobile. Tickets to their homes or to the stated destination are also not desired.

Mostly Frauds

"Most of the 'flivver tourists' that apply for aid are frauds and we do not propose to give them money or gasoline so as to pass them on to some other city," says C. H. Wickard, of the Little Rock Social Service Exchange.

INVASION AT SUNSET

REGLA, Cuba, Sept. 24.—Land crabs in great numbers invade this city every evening shortly after sunset, crawling through the streets in the lower section of town in search of scraps of garbage on which to feed. As a result, the affected sections have the appearance of a childless municipality. Authorities are unable to explain their presence.

were subject to be rescinded on demand, without further hearing or consultation, there would seem to be serious question as to its usefulness.

Ottawa Hearing

"The board has not seen its way to accede to the demand of the Montreal Corn Exchange Association for a rescission of the order of September 2 without consideration, but it has given notice of a hearing to be held in Ottawa on September 29, at which all objections offered will be heard. It is more convenient for the Montreal Corn Exchange Association to place its case regarding westbound rates before the board at Ottawa, than before the board at Vancouver. On the other hand, it is impossible for the province of British Columbia to make as ample a presentation of its case at Ottawa as at Vancouver.

"The Vancouver hearing lasted ten days. The proceedings were fully reported in the press. If the Montreal Corn Exchange Association was not informed of the hearing at Vancouver in ample time to have made an appearance there or, failing that, to have put in a written statement as the railways were permitted to do up to December 1, 1924, it was because its members and officials were not paying proper attention to the matter of westbound grain rates, in which they now claim such urgent concern, and not because of high-handed or unusual action by a section of the board of railway commissioners."

stated by representatives of the debenture holders, the purchase of the assets of the company by and for the bondholders would mean that the debenture stockholders and the unsecured creditors would get nothing. Under the plan, the holders of the old bonds would be the bondholders of the new company. The debenture stockholders would have an equivalent amount of preferred stock in the new company and the other creditors would be paid in common stock of the new concern. Their situation would be very satisfactory, it is claimed, in view of the present earning capacity of the company.

Bonds and Cash

Further details of the new plan put forward are that the purchases of the new gold notes, which would be a general obligation, second only to the first mortgage bonds, and would be issued to an amount of at least $2,500,000 and not exceeding $3,000,000 at a price of 90, would be ceded the common stock issue. Provision is also made for the payment in cash of balances due on inventory purchase, all receivers' liabilities, secured bank loan and secured and preferred creditors' claims, not including the bank loan which is secured by the deposit of Whalen first mortgage bonds. A small issue of B.C. Sulphite Co. first mortgage bonds would be redeemed.

OFFENSIVE FILM TITLES

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—Cinema proprietors and film producers have been warned by the central committee of German Film Industries against the employment of obscene or offensive film titles. It is claimed that often such offensive designations are used for harmless films as a sensational medium for attracting a certain type of public.

UNLUCKY AUTOMOBILE

ROUSES POINT, N.Y., Sept. 24.—The automobile which "Big Otto" Eske, alleged bootlegger, was driving when he was shot and killed by Immigration Inspector Samuel M. Dickson, at Coopersville, appears to be an unlicky machine for liquor smugglers. It is said to be the same car that Roy Brown was driving several months ago when he was killed by state troopers on the Brant Lake Graphite road, in the Charleston section of the Adirondacks.
