Children Will Skate Next Month if Rink Ready; Curling Club Asks For Work Party

A call went out today to all citizens to "come to the aid of the curling club."

Everyone interested in skating and curling is asked to help curling members get the rink in shape so the children can start skating next month.

B.C. Packers, which supply the brine used for making ice, has told the club they are prepared to turn on the tap when requested.

Construction work, excavation and painting must be done at the rink before skating can start and work parties this afternoon began getting things in shape.

The club, which has a membership of 170, was formed last November and is gradually organizing a first rate rink and club quarters.

The first work party began at 2 o'clock this afternoon and intended to stay on the job till 5 p.m.

A works supervisor will be on the job every day from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. On Sunday, the hours are from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

As one club member put it this morning: "Just bring yourself. We'll supply the tools. Get on your old clothes and drop around, there's lots to be done." "The sooner we get it in shape the sooner the children can start skating."

Third 'Highway' Planned To Reach to Pacific Coast

Bella Coola Group Starts on Roadwork With Single 'Dozer'

By The Canadian Press

BELLA COOLA—Canada has only two outlets to the Pacific—through the Fraser Canyon to Vancouver and through the trench of the Skeena River to Prince Rupert.

The Board of Trade in this little community 250 miles up the coast from Vancouver, is building a third.

And if war ever came to Canada's west coast, this crude trail might become a giant artery to the interior of British Columbia to tidewater.

One bulldozer is slowly punching through 18 miles of wilderness to connect this now isolated port to Kleena Kleene, a small village beside One Eye Lake on the eastern side of the coast range of the Chilcotin Plateau.

By today, the bulldozer has covered five miles.

WAS SURVEYED
In 1912, the English Railway company surveyed a route to the sea through the Bella Coola Valley and cut a right-of-way but the First World War cancelled its building plans.

In 1950, two men who had built logging roads found an even easier route with no steep slopes and no rivers to bridge.

The government then promised a survey, but the Board of Trade here formed to promote the road project, couldn't wait.

The board said it will complete the road, however primitive it may be, by itself.

Travel Agency Approved by IATA Meeting

Crawford Moore Travel Agencies has been awarded the second International Air Transport Association agency in Northern B.C., according to an announcement received by him from Geneva, Switzerland, today.

The annual meeting of the association is now in progress at the former League of Nations capital.

His sponsors for the agency were Canadian Pacific Airlines and Trans-Canada Airlines, said Mr. Moore.

The IATA agency permits Mr. Moore's agency to service the travelling public with air travel facilities to and from any point in the world covered by scheduled airlines.

Men Marooned On Ice Cap Expect Help

LONDON (CP)—A party of explorers has established contact with 12 men who have been marooned on an uncharted Greenland ice cap since their plane crash-landed last Tuesday, a radio message from the Arctic said today.

The explorers are the advance guard of the British North Greenland expedition, testing scientific equipment under polar conditions.

Marooned men are holding out in the cabin of their damaged but weather-proof plane.

Court Adjourns Murder Hearing

Preliminary hearing of a charge of murder against James Dudoward was adjourned for the second week in a row today until Sept. 27 to allow counsel more time to prepare their case.

Dudoward is charged with the murder of Wilfred White, 49-year-old Port Simpson fisherman, here Sept. 5 during an argument aboard his boat.

Tribe Renews Threat in Straining Race

NEW YORK (CP)—Cleveland Indians renewed their threat to the New York Yankees Friday in gripping the American League pennant race by defeating Detroit Tigers 4-1 while Bobby Shantz and the Philadelphia Athletics turned back the Yankees 2-0.

That cut the lead of New York over the Indians to 1½ games. New York has eight games left, Cleveland seven.

Brooklyn Dodgers opened up a four-game lead over the New York Giants in the National League by nipping Boston Braves 4-2 while Giants lost to Philadelphia Phillies and Curt Simmons 1-0.

Larry Doby's 31st home run and Early Wynn's eight-hit pitching paced the Indians to their 11th victory over Detroit. Wynn registered his 22nd victory. Loser was Hal Newhouser, bidding for his 200th win in the major leagues.

Left-hander Shantz survived his own wildness and his teammates' fielding lapses to down the world champions in a thrillingly-packed pitching duel with Vic Raschi. Shantz's shutout was his 24th triumph of the year.

Dave Philley provided the big blow of the game. He smashed a two-out triple to left centre in the third inning to drive in both Philadelphia runs.

Mosher Gets Pension, Honorary Post

OTTAWA (CP)—Abrupt switch in the presidency of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CBE) Friday climaxed a week-long convention battle over leadership in the biggest of Canadian transport unions.

President A. R. Mosher, 72, stepped out voluntarily in a surprise move after fighting all week to stay in office and he was succeeded by Harry Chappell, 49, of Winnipeg, a Mosher supporter.

Mosher, founder of the 32,000-member C.B.R.E. and its president for 44 years, had won one major battle over his presidency and seemed on the way to winning the second round when he jarringly tossed in his withdrawal.

Mosher promptly was voted a $6,000-a-year pension by the convention and was named as C.B.R.E.'s honorary president, a newly created office.

The RAF base here reported to Exercise headquarters that an unidentified circular silver object had been sighted 15,000 feet above the airfield.

The object, which appeared five miles behind a meteor jet fighter, maintained a slow forward speed before descending in a swinging pendulum motion.

Then it began a rotary motion about its axis and accelerated at incredible speed in a westerly direction but later turned southeast.

It was seen by RAF officers and men on airfield.

No one could identify it while the incident lasted between 15 and 20 seconds.

Movie News Men Visit Alcan Site

To do a documentary film telling the story of Alcan and showing the industrial effect of the project on the whole north-west corner of the province, two representatives of Associated Screen News paid a visit to Prince Rupert yesterday during which they made a camera-man's tour of the city. They were Jack McDougall and Robert Martin, both of Montreal.

Mr. McDougall, a director of the film company, explained that the motion picture was being made for the International Harvester Co. which supplies much of the equipment used in the aluminum development. The picture will be divided into three different versions. Two will be for industrial use, while the third will be given general showing in theatres across Canada, starting about the end of the year.

Territory covered in the picture, Mr. McDougall said, will include Terrace, Burns Lake and Vanderhoof, in addition to Prince Rupert and the broad area immediately affected by work on the project.

Mr. McDougall, who commenced preliminary surveys for the film in July, left Prince Rupert last night for the east. Mr. Martin, who is doing the actual shooting, will stay a day or two longer if there is promise of good weather.

RCAF Certain of Sabre Jet Crash

MONTREAL (CP)—A spokesman said the RCAF is certain a plane which crashed near St. Pierre de Broughton, Que., Friday is an F-86 Sabre jet missing from a flight of 15 planes from Bagotville, Que., to Toronto.

The missing Sabre jet carried only a pilot whose name was withheld.

SIZING IT UP—While stressing that Japanese mines are not toys and should not be tampered with, mine disposal experts placed an 18-inch ruler atop this mine on Dundas Island to show the size of the explosive-laden "ball." After this mine was demolished, disposal experts searched without success for fragments. The explosion sent rocks and parts of trees hundreds of feet into the air. (Photo by Eric Sanderson)

First Furnace of Steel Mill To be Constructed This Year

By The Canadian Press

VANCOUVER—Plans for $4,000,000 electric furnace—first unit of an eventual big steel industry on the coast—were announced by Western Canada Steel Company Friday.

The first furnace will have a daily capacity of 100 tons and plans call for maximum of five units to be built as the market expands.

Ore supplies will be drawn from Vancouver Island where it is estimated known reserves total around 10,000,000 tons.

Construction of the furnace will start this year following purchase of a site to include dock and other facilities.

N. Hobbs, managing director of Western Canada Steel, said experiments have shown British Columbia ores produce high quality steel under controlled conditions in an electric furnace.

Company plans do not envisage a mill to roll plate or sheet steel.

—WEATHER—

Synopsis

A dry off-shore circulation prevails in all sections of the province and except for patches of fog and low cloud along the northern coast skies throughout the province are clear.

Afternoon temperatures today will be as high as those of yesterday with maximum temperatures in the eighties in the southern interior and in the seventies along the south coast and in the central interior.

A storm centre forming in the northern Gulf of Alaska this morning is expected to bring cloudy skies and some rain to northern coastal points Sunday from north coast region.

Forecast

Fog patches along northeast Vancouver Island this morning, clearing in the afternoon. Clear elsewhere. A few clouds overnight, cloudy Sunday. Light rain over Charlottes Sunday evening. Light winds increasing Sunday evening over Charlottes to south 20. A little cooler Sunday. Low tonight and high Sunday at Port Hardy, Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 50 and 60.

BULLETINS

Missing Diplomats Seen

BONN (CP)—Missing diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean were recently seen "in the United States sector of Berlin," it was reported today by East Germany's Deputy Premier Otto Nuschke. The diplomats disappeared from Britain some months ago.

Fishermen Sue Union

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two Japanese-Canadian fishermen, Frank Toshio Yamasaki and Kelly Takashi Hamaura, have started court action against striking United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, claiming pickets on September 10 dumped their catch of 145 fish into the sea. The fishermen seek to have the union declared "unlawful conspiracy or combine" and also seek damages.

More Than 100 Animals From Foreign Lands

Children Marvel at African Zoo Train

A man who never seems to run short of words came to Prince Rupert yesterday with his "family."

Howard Y. Bary, who in his words "is the man with the headaches," arrived shortly after 4 o'clock with his African Zoo train and within half an hour opened the doors of the three 80-foot animal, bird and mural-packed special railway cars.

A steady stream of children and parents passed through the train to see the wide assortment of animals up till closing time at 10 p.m.

Because of the nature of the zoo, says Mr. Bary, the Dominion Government has classed the train an educational exhibition.

Located on the CNR tracks beside the express office, the train will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. It contains more than 100 animals from Africa, South America, India, Australia and brightly colored birds.

A former circus owner, Mr. Bary, busy as he was last night, found time to point out a few of the highlights of the zoo.

Stars of the show, said the robust director, are two playful

23-month-old baby chimpanzees from West Africa, who keep the children in laughter with a display of wrestling contortions.

Just inside the door of the first car are a pair of marmosets, "hapale jachees," the smallest monkey in the world. Next are four toucans, or as Mr. Bary says "they are sometimes referred to as Jimmy Durnate birds because of their, big beaks."

Continuing in the first car are pictures, war shields, drums, spears and carvings on loan to the zoo from the University of Pennsylvania.

The zoo-on-wheels, under auspices of the Prince Rupert Shrine Club, also includes a Brazilian tapir—a dark brown animal with a skin resembling that of a hog.

"Tradition has it that this animal started out to be an elephant but the plan was changed somewhere along the line," said Mr. Bary between breaths. The animal has four toes on its front feet and three on the back ones.

The Zoo Train has its own electrical power unit and an air conditioning system that keeps the temperature even.

Support Citizenship Award Fund

IT IS said there is nothing so old as yesterday's newspaper.

However true this may be, we are confident it will not apply to one particular item which appeared in yesterday's edition of the Daily News. The item was a letter to the editor, carried in this column, by G. P. Lyons who commended the action of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in sponsoring a Good Citizenship award in memory of the late G. A. Hunter.

Mr. Lyons emphasized his approval of the idea by making a contribution towards commencement of a fund which will enable the proposal to be carried out in a manner fitting its purpose.

This enthusiasm for the Jaycees' plan will be shared by many others, for there is a real need to prove to those who voluntarily give valuable service to the city that we are grateful and respect their courage for exposing themselves to public scrutiny and possible criticism.

In recommending the award be made as a memorial to Mr. Hunter the Junior Chamber of Commerce has chosen a fondly remembered citizen to give the prize a special lustre. In every way it is a project which will reflect creditably on Prince Rupert and is lacking only the initial impetus by subscription to get it underway.

Let's give it our support and reward our Good Citizen.

(To assist the Junior Chamber of Commerce the Daily News has agreed to receive contributions for this cause. Cheques should be made payable to the Good Citizenship Award Fund.)

Knowledge Offered on a Platform

OF GREAT potential and established value yet hardly known, are the facilities offered by the Public Library Commission of B.C.

Ignorance of the subject prevails in spite of a determined public relations program, with the result that many communities scarcely appreciate the wealth of literary material that is theirs for the asking, free of charge.

In a booklet describing the services available C. K. Morison, commission superintendent, who will meet with the Prince Rupert library board next month, presents some surprising information. In 1951 the travelling library division, serving remote communities and schools without cost, supplied 76,396 books to a total of 376 schools, 234 communities, 18 lighthouses, and five hydrographic survey and weather ships.

In the same year the Open Shelf division, which provides a free service by mail, supplied 114,900 books to readers at isolated points.

Commenting on the general failure to absorb the commission's publicity, Mr. Morison remarks:

"It is difficult to understand why there should still be found otherwise well-informed people in city and in country, who are unaware of the great resources of thoroughly up-to-date reading material freely and conveniently accessible to them on any subject from home cooking to nuclear fission: surprising that residents of the largest cities should think that the public library is chiefly a source of light reading for the housewife and is still financed by Mr. Carnegie."

It is indeed surprising, and it is also sad. To neglect reading is to neglect many interests combined in one.

Kamloops Hears Plan For Toll Highway to Alberta Boundary

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (C)—Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi has proposed that a toll highway be built through the North Thompson Valley and Yellowhead Pass to the Alberta boundary.

"What I would like to do is borrow $15,000,000 or more and pay it back through the levying of tolls, hence it would be no burden on the taxpayers," he said in a letter to the Board of Trade.

He said British Columbia was already committed to the limit for its present road program and it was impossible to raise money from general funds.

"I would like to make this a paved road," he said. "I feel that the public would definitely use it, maybe to the extent of about 300,000 cars a year or so. I think the toll should be set at about $5."

At a meeting here of representatives of Boards of Trade Circle.

from Blue River to Chilliwack the proposal was given unanimous support.

A resolution endorsed, however, emphasized that if the road is to be a toll road, it must be a paved highway.

Supporters said the Yellowhead route would provide an all-year highway as throughout most of its length the snowfall is light. The average depth of snow is less than on other routes through the mountains, it was reported.

NORTHERN PROSPECTS

OSLO, Norway (CP)—Members of a parliamentary committee expressed surprise at the economic possibilities of the three northern provinces after a thorough survey. They were impressed particularly by forestry and farming prospects in Finnmark, well above the Arctic Circle.

As I See It

Real Issue in U.S.A.

THIS IS the first of several reports on the U.S. presidential election of 1952.

When you live with Americans for several weeks you find that your Canadian preconceptions have to be revised. The most important thing that I discovered was this:

The real issue in the U.S.A. today is not Eisenhower versus Truman, Republican versus Democrat, capitalism versus socialism, or any of the other things that one might imagine. It is U.S. isolationism versus international partnership.

THE MOST astounding political fight that I ever witnessed at close range was the one just concluded in Los Angeles. It was to decide whether or not the Los Angeles schools were to be permitted to teach about the United Nations and specifically to use an excellent booklet of instruction called "The E in Unesco."

Last February various war veteran and jingo nationalist groups have ganged up and blitzed through the School Board a ruling banning the teaching of the Unesco program. The later hearings were to decide whether the ban ruling was to stand.

After a fierce and furious controversy the ban stood—although the School Board sugar-coated the pill by saying some nice meaningless things about UN and Unesco. The triumphant anti-UN brigade moved over from Los Angeles to Long Beach where the School Board is also shortly to open hearings on whether or not the Unesco program is a "subversive" and, hence, something which should be banned as "Un-American."

The two final public hearings in Los Angeles were literally "something out of this world."

The advocates of the UN program had all the best of the argument, intellectually. They had brought in some really big guns too, including Paul Hoffman and a couple of famous professors from noted universities whose job was to try to answer some militant women in an astonishing organization called the Liberty Belles. But what a hope!

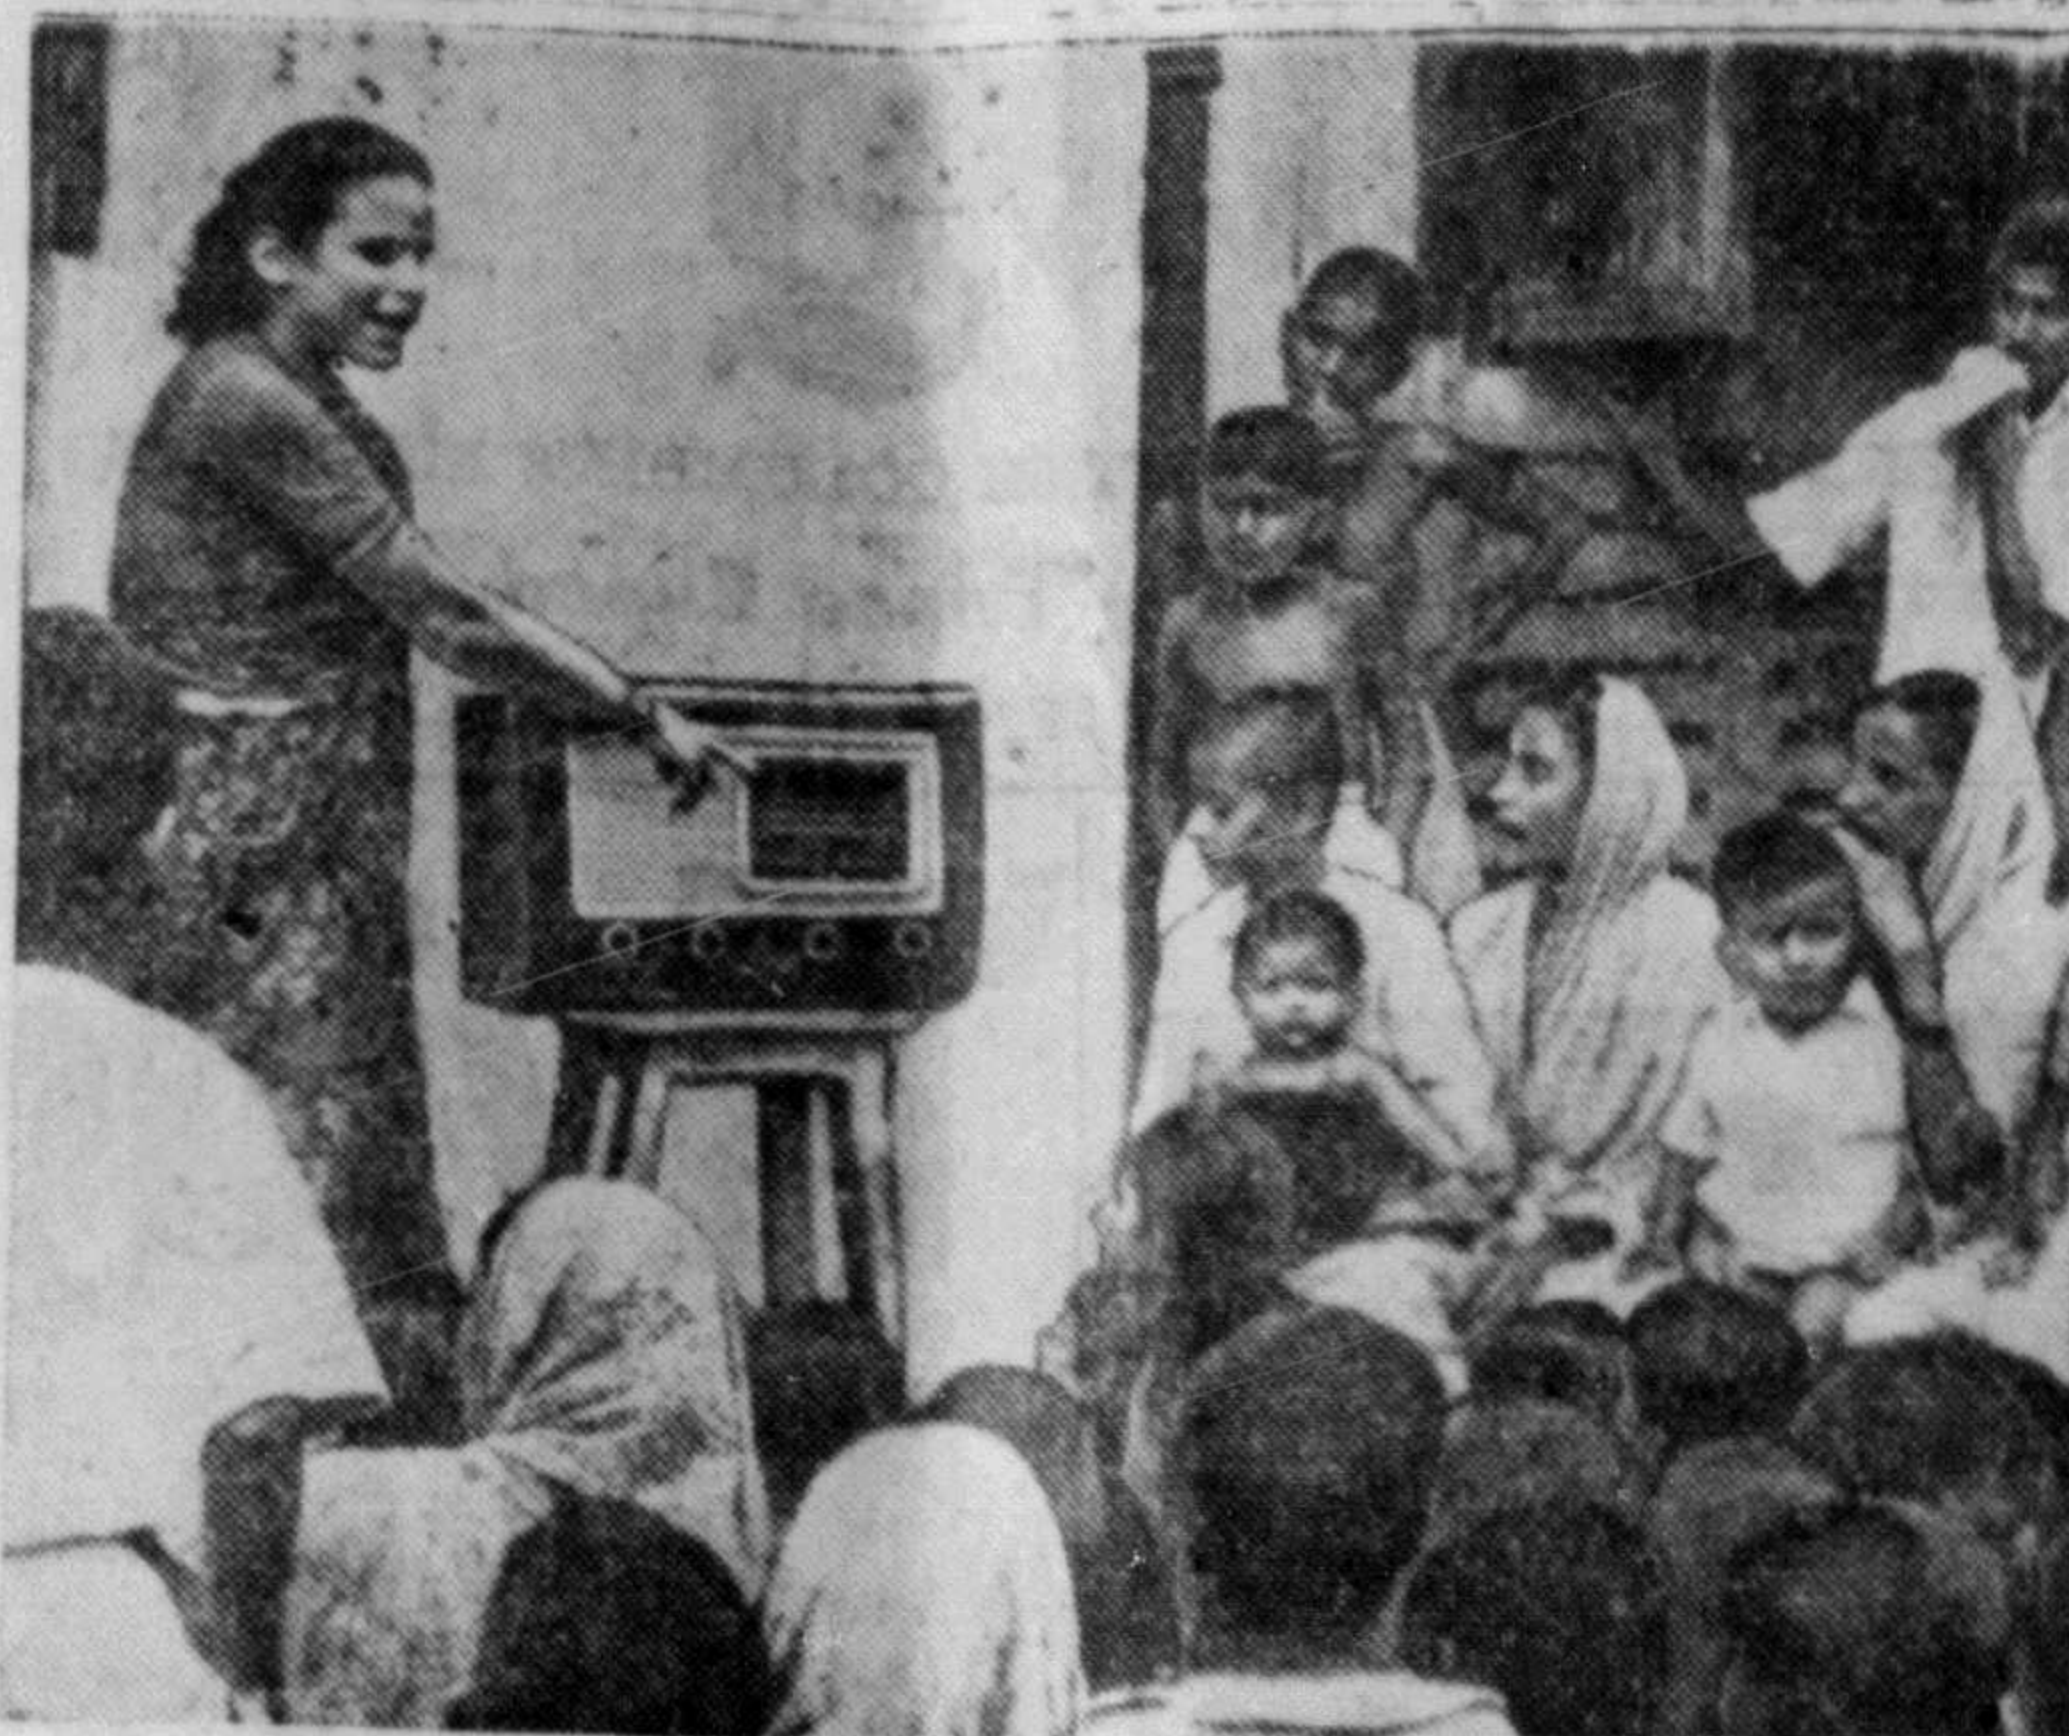

After seeing these dames in action I began to weaken on my long time opinion that women might be better world peace-makers than men. Some of these old gals literally acted like angry cats and spit on the advocates of restoring the Unesco teaching to Los Angeles schools.

AT FIRST glance all this rumpus might seem senseless. Actually it is the most real and vital struggle going on in the United States today—for it spotlights what is the ultimate issue of this century.

If you listen closely to the U.S. ultra-nationalists and jingoes of 1952 you soon find that virtually none of them are isolationists in the old sense. That is, not a single one of them really wants Uncle Sam to bring home the soldiers, sailors and airmen who now hold bases literally girdling this globe.

The same people who talk contemptuously of what they (remarkably to a Canadian) call the "UN war in Korea" strongly advocate in the next breath bombing of China, or use of Chiang Kai-Shek's armies.

The real issue is between the new isolationists who want Uncle Sam to take on the job of running the world, not only in naked violent hostility to

UNDER OUR ROOF

By JOHN STURDY

We've been on the Trail of '98 (1952 edition) now for a couple of days—Col. S. Skeffington-Smutts (Ret.) and Hamish and Little Augie and I—and so far we haven't discovered any gold. (As a matter of fact, I'd trade all the gold in Fort Knox for a packet of corn plaster. My feet are killing me and we're only half-way up the Chilkoot Pass.)

It seems strange that we are musing our way into the famed Klondike, in the ghostly shadows of Sam McGee and Dan McGrew and "Soapy" Smith, but the fact is that we were taken to the edge of Skagway and asked to leave (the police in Alaska are polite but firm) and where can you go from Skagway but up the Trail of '98?

This morning we encountered our first human being. We came across a little cabin in the wilderness and outside there was a pole with a sign on it, and it said: "United States-Canada," and when Hamish saw this he flung himself across the line and kissed the soil of his motherland. The trouble with Hamish is, he sees too many movies.

Well, at that moment a large beard showed itself at the door of the cabin, and from the depths of the whiskers a surprised voice said:

"Good heavens! People! Good-morning to you, sir," I said. "We are on our way into the Yukon."

FORGOT HIS CAP

The Beard touched the top of his head.

"Excuse me," he said. "Please excuse me. I forgot my cap." He vanished into the cabin and then re-appeared quickly wearing a cap. It had "Canadian Immigration" on it in gold lettering.

"All right, now," the Beard said in a changed tone of voice. "Form a line to the left. Now the first man—Canadian citizen? Where were you born?"

Well, each of us went through immigration and I thanked the Beard and said we would be moving along, and he got quite agitated when he heard that.

"Wait a minute! Wait a minute!" he cried, almost pleadingly, and he vanished again into the cabin. When he returned he was wearing another cap with "Canadian Customs" on it.

"Open your luggage for customs inspection," he ordered in a snarling voice.

"We haven't any luggage," I said.

"No?" Behind the beard I could see the disappointed expression in his eyes. "You mean, you haven't anything to declare?"

"Nothing."

"Not even a package of American cigarettes?"

"Not even one American cigarette."

outright enemies like Red Russia and the new China, but with complete indifference to the wishes and interests of the present partners of the U.S., including Britain, France—not to mention Canada.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

"Mama, Mama, Mama," sobbed the trim little bride, direct from Japan, as she flung herself into the arms of her husband's mother, Mrs. Leo Venne, on the station platform at Medicine Hat the other night. About 300 others were present—as well as tears, laughter and feasting. The former Toasako Natsumo is making a good start in swearing to love, honor and obey Pte. McMillan of the Canadian Army.

CLOSE OBSERVER

Looking back on it, one notices that things started falling apart about the same time men stopped tucking their napkins under their chins.

Speaking of nudism, an artist asserts that "only one woman in a thousand has the proper figure to appear naked." Let the ladies pick it up from there; this topic is not for us. So comments the Ottawa Citizen. Fair enough.

The Order of Southern Gentlemen, Inc., has just been incorporated in Atlanta, Ga. Chivalry is being restored.

"There isn't enough of it left," observed one member of this forgotten organization. "You can get on a trolley today and all the men are sitting while the ladies are standing. It used to be the other way around."

A BIT EXCLUSIVE

Pork, remarks a worker, studying living costs, is the mainstay of medium and lower incomes. This may be a fact, but to what a degree is pork a blood relative to bacon? The latter seems so costly and aristocratic, particularly in the morning (with an egg or two neatly fried) on the same plate.

active. The lumbering industry, during August in particular, I've never seen busier. Homes are going up, and aboard the trains one notes many families moving in, to settle."

So said C. A. Berner, Superintendent, Canadian National Railway, speaking yesterday morning of the outlook between here and Red Pass Junction. He returned to the city Thursday evening. Mr. Berner said the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce is to visit Prince George Sept. 23. This is particularly significant, for hitherto Edmonton's business tendency has been more toward the south and Vancouver.

To pronounce on Angeles the right way, give it the hard sound. The people themselves are deciding the matter, and this appears to be the inclination. Los Angeles, or Los An-guh-less? Which? City of The Angels? City of Sunlight? Lovely as all that? Let's go back a bit. How'd they get along without irrigation, without movie stars, without orange groves and without oil gushers? Or did they get along at all?

Enough equipment, in good running order, to set up good dressing plant.

THAT OLD HOME FREE

A man, transferred from some months ago, on a brief business trip on a wet evening. After morning handshake, he help remarking:

"Swell to be back. I missed the rain. You see, I never before, but oh, the breeze, and everything well, so different. I'd miss something, but not it."

ABOUT TOWN

Alistair Fraser returned home yesterday from Montreal where he attended the wedding of his young brother Ian.

Sergeant Art Wales, former head of the city's RCMP detachment, left for Cranbrook today. Sgt. Wales, who was transferred to the Kootenay town only a short time ago, came back to testify at the Assizes. While in town he met many old friends.

Roy Evans left by air this afternoon for Vancouver and Victoria. While in Victoria he will attend a meeting of pulp and paper mill officials and in Vancouver will represent Col. Johnson at a conference of commanding officers of reserve army units.

Father F. J. Rayner left aboard the Camosun early today on one of his periodical trips to northern mining and lumber camps. He will spend this week-end at Alice Arm and next week-end in Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Arntsen left on last night's train for New York where they will board the Norwegian America liner Stavangerfjord on Oct. 16 for a four-month visit to Norway. They will stop off both on their way to, and on their way from their native land at Melville, Saskatchewan, where they will pay a visit to their daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Eby are expected home Monday or Tuesday from a vacation in the south. They spent part of their time in Vancouver before motoring to Penticton.

Mr. G. North, chief accountant of the Canadian Government Elevator from Fort William, and Mrs. North, spent a few days in the city and left on the Prince George Thursday night for Vancouver.

At a convention of B.C. Credit Bureau Managers held in Kamloops recently, Mrs. Catherine Laurie was appointed a director of the Associated Credit Bureaus for the coming year. Mr. Charlton Smith of the Victoria Credit Bureau is the newly elected president.

Grand Reception to Follow Alaska Music Trail Concert

After the Alaska Music Trail concert Wednesday evening, Sept. 24, there will be a large reception in the gymnasium of the Civic Centre to which the entire audience is invited in order to meet the visiting artists Luigi Silva, Maxim Schapiro, and Bela Urban.

This is an event to be looked forward to as Silva's charm and manner is as well known as Schapiro's fund of interesting stories. Urban, who was a concert favorite with the GI's also enjoys meeting people and making friends.

The reception is being put on by the newly formed Alaska Music Trail Auxiliary, and is their first social undertaking. Mrs. W. S. Kergin, Mrs. Roy Col-linson and Mrs. Don Forward are in charge and will be assisted in receiving the guests and introducing them to the artists by Mrs. Catherine Laurie, Miss Rusty Thain, Mrs. Basil Proctor, Mr. A. M. Hurst and Mr. Peter Lien.

Mrs. R. G. Large and Mrs. H. S. Whalen will pour. Mrs. Bill Smith will be in charge of the table, while the servers will be Mrs. R. E. Mortimer, Mrs. R. C. Telford, Mrs. J. Bowman, Mrs. G. E. Freeman, Mrs. Fred Jones, Mrs. E. Wright, Miss E. Vealuski, Miss Lorraine Youngman, Mrs. A. W. Large, and Mrs. G. W.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Best Bet Is Lowest Card In This Play For Finesse

Mr. Dale is a practical bridge player. He does not believe in heaping criticism on an erring partner. "If you give your partner lessons during the play," he says, "one of two things will happen—both bad."

"If he understands what you are telling him, he will play better against you the next time he is your opponent, and how can that be good? If he doesn't understand, he will be more confused than ever, and confusion and resentment together will make him play even worse on the next deal."

In today's hand, Mr. Muzzy and Mr. Champion, bidding their respective cards to the hilt and possibly beyond, reached a contract of three no trump.

Mr. Dale opened the queen of spades which was won by dummy's ace. Mr. Muzzy now led the nine of diamonds from the board. He finessed the queen and cashed the ace, telling Mrs. Keen's two honors. But Mr. Dale's eight spot stopped the suit and eventually Mr. Muzzy went down one.

"Why the nine of diamonds, 'dope?' asked Mr. Champion nastily. "If you had led the six spot, you could have run four diamond tricks."

"I was trying to get a cover," Mr. Muzzy replied, lamely. "Well, you got it," continued Mr. Champion. "But what good did it do you? You'd have got a cover by leading the six spot, too."

"I don't see much difference between the nine and the six," said Mr. Muzzy stubbornly. "You're right. There isn't much difference," said Mr. Champion savagely. "Only one trick. Only the difference between making your contract and going set."

USEFUL HAUL
MONTREAL (CP)—Richard Pennington, McGill University Librarian, returned from Europe with 8,500 volumes garnered in second-hand book stores in Britain and on the continent. He explained most of them are straightforward texts which have been out of print so long they are almost rarities.

right, technically. And he went on to explain that when leading from the hand weak in a suit toward the hand strong in a suit, for a finesse, your best bet is usually the lowest card. This is true except, possibly, when the hand you are leading from is short of entries.

Mr. Muzzy followed this advice in the hand to be shown tomorrow—to the best of his ability, anyway. The result was not an outstanding success.

SUNDAY SCHOOL AGAIN
By CANON B. PROCKTER

Who are the people doing the most important work in Prince Rupert? The city council? The police? The school teachers? The doctors? The industrialists? The lawyers? The clergy? None of these.

The most important job that is done here or in any community is being done by the Sunday School teachers. They do it because they love their children and partly because there is no more important job than theirs.

Sunday School, that imparts to your child the things that you were taught or should have been taught and will lead them on their way to find themselves as manhood or womanhood not isolated, friendless and alone, but citizens of that Heavenly Kingdom which knows no boundaries of time or race.

I mean the Sunday School which will teach your children the things that you were taught or should have been taught and will lead them on their way to find themselves as manhood or womanhood not isolated, friendless and alone, but citizens of that Heavenly Kingdom which knows no boundaries of time or race.

BATTLE OF BRITAIN RECALLED—With their exploits immortalized in the superb prose of Winston Churchill, and with the free world forever in their debt, the "famous few," who held back the tide of Nazi aggression in the summer of 1940, will again be saluted this weekend when Battle of Britain Sunday is commemorated. Church parades and memorial services at RCAF units across the country will once more recall the significance of these eventful days when the destiny of Britain lay in the balance, and the skill and courage of a few fighter pilots snatched victory from the skies. The composite picture above recalls that period of courage and high endeavor.

Prince Rupert Little Theatre held its second meeting of the season on Sept. 15, with a very encouraging turnout.

Gifts were selected for Miss Enid Ball, Mr. Mel Thompson, and Mr. Pat Boulton in appreciation of their great help with our last production.

A tentative casting was made of "Ask Me No Questions," and it was decided that we produce the play in late November.

Owing to the lack of stage facilities on Monday nights, it was arranged with the Civic Centre that we meet on Tuesday evenings instead. However, our monthly business meetings will still be held on the first Monday of each month, Oct. 6 is election night.

New members with the Club this season are: Mr. and Mrs. Keith Faught, Bill McKinnon, Phyllis Tomlinson, Diane Kennedy, Marjorie Taylor and Agnes Mack.

Are you planning on joining the Civic Centre? Then you are entitled to join Little Theatre at no extra cost. We need many new members before we can function satisfactorily.

Exhibit by City Artist Accompanies First Alaska Music Trail Concert on Wednesday

All who attend the Alaska Music Trail concert next Wednesday night will be able to enjoy, not only a reception after the concert, but also a very fine art exhibition.

Victor Amadio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Amadio, 732 Sixth Avenue West, whose success in California has been followed by his friends here with interest and pride, will exhibit what paintings he has with him at present. Though home for a rest from the high nervous strain of continuous work, he is still painting, but is working on local scenes this time.

He has both oils and large watercolors of parts of the harbour, Tucks Inlet from the air base, and varied views of the city.

Then he has some California scenes that he brought home with him, done in the lighter California colors.

Portrait work in oils is what Mr. Amadio really prefers though it is the most difficult, the only one he has is an unfinished portrait of his father. However he has two color transparencies or portraits of children that he painted which will be shown in lighted viewers.

Mr. Amadio regrets that there is no permanent art school here, but says he will be pleased during the limited time that he is here to teach a group at the Civic Centre. Many of his pupils in Los Angeles, some of them very busy men, he says have found painting a very relaxing hobby. He says he will start beginners, and at the same time simplify painting for those who have painted before.

Mrs. T. Priest and Mrs. J. T. Harvey president and secretary of the Civic Centre Art Club have the information on colors in oils, watercolors or pastels needed before this instruction begins the Monday evening following the concert and Art Exhibition.

Book Review Contest to Mark 'Young Canada Book Week' Here

A book review contest for children again will be sponsored this year by the Prince Rupert Library Committee to mark "Young Canada Book Week," Nov. 15-22.

The contest will be open to Grades 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, entries from each grade to be judged separately. The Library Committee, hopes that more children will take an interest in the contest than they did last year.

A special meeting has been called for Oct. 11 to hear C. K. Morison, secretary of the Public Library Commission of B.C.

At its first meeting of the new season, the board heard that there were 1980 borrowers and a total of 2792 books circulated during the past year.

WATERFRONT - - WHIFFS

The coastwise strike of salmon net fishermen entered its 14th day today without any sign of settlement in sight. The strike was declared Sept. 6 after fishermen rejected a company offer of 5½ cents a pound for fall salmon in all areas.

The companies contend that market conditions are unfavorable and they cannot afford to pay last year's prices.

Tom Parkin, northern representative of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union, said this morning the union has given the companies until Monday "to make a more realistic offer in order that employment can be given to Canadian shoreworkers."

"If no offer has been made by Canadian firms by that date, efforts will be made to conclude agreements with American buyers . . ."

The Canadian National Steamships fall and winter schedule has now been effective since Sept. 8. Northbound, the Prince George or Prince Rupert will operate a weekly service. Southbound, the ships will leave Ketchikan Thursday at 11:30, arriving at Prince Rupert at 7 p.m. and at Vancouver Saturday at 2 p.m.

A freighter to load barley at the Prince Rupert elevator is due Oct. 1. Another vessel is expected on or about Oct. 5. Both ships are coming from Japan.

Japanese shipping on the Pacific will be greatly increased within the next five years. At least 10 combination cargo-passenger vessels of from 8,000 to 10,000 deadweight tons will be constructed. Each will have accommodation for 150 passengers. This was recently disclosed by the Japanese Transportation Ministry.

With a full cargo of barley, the Kochi Maru sailed from Prince Rupert Wednesday afternoon, for Japan.

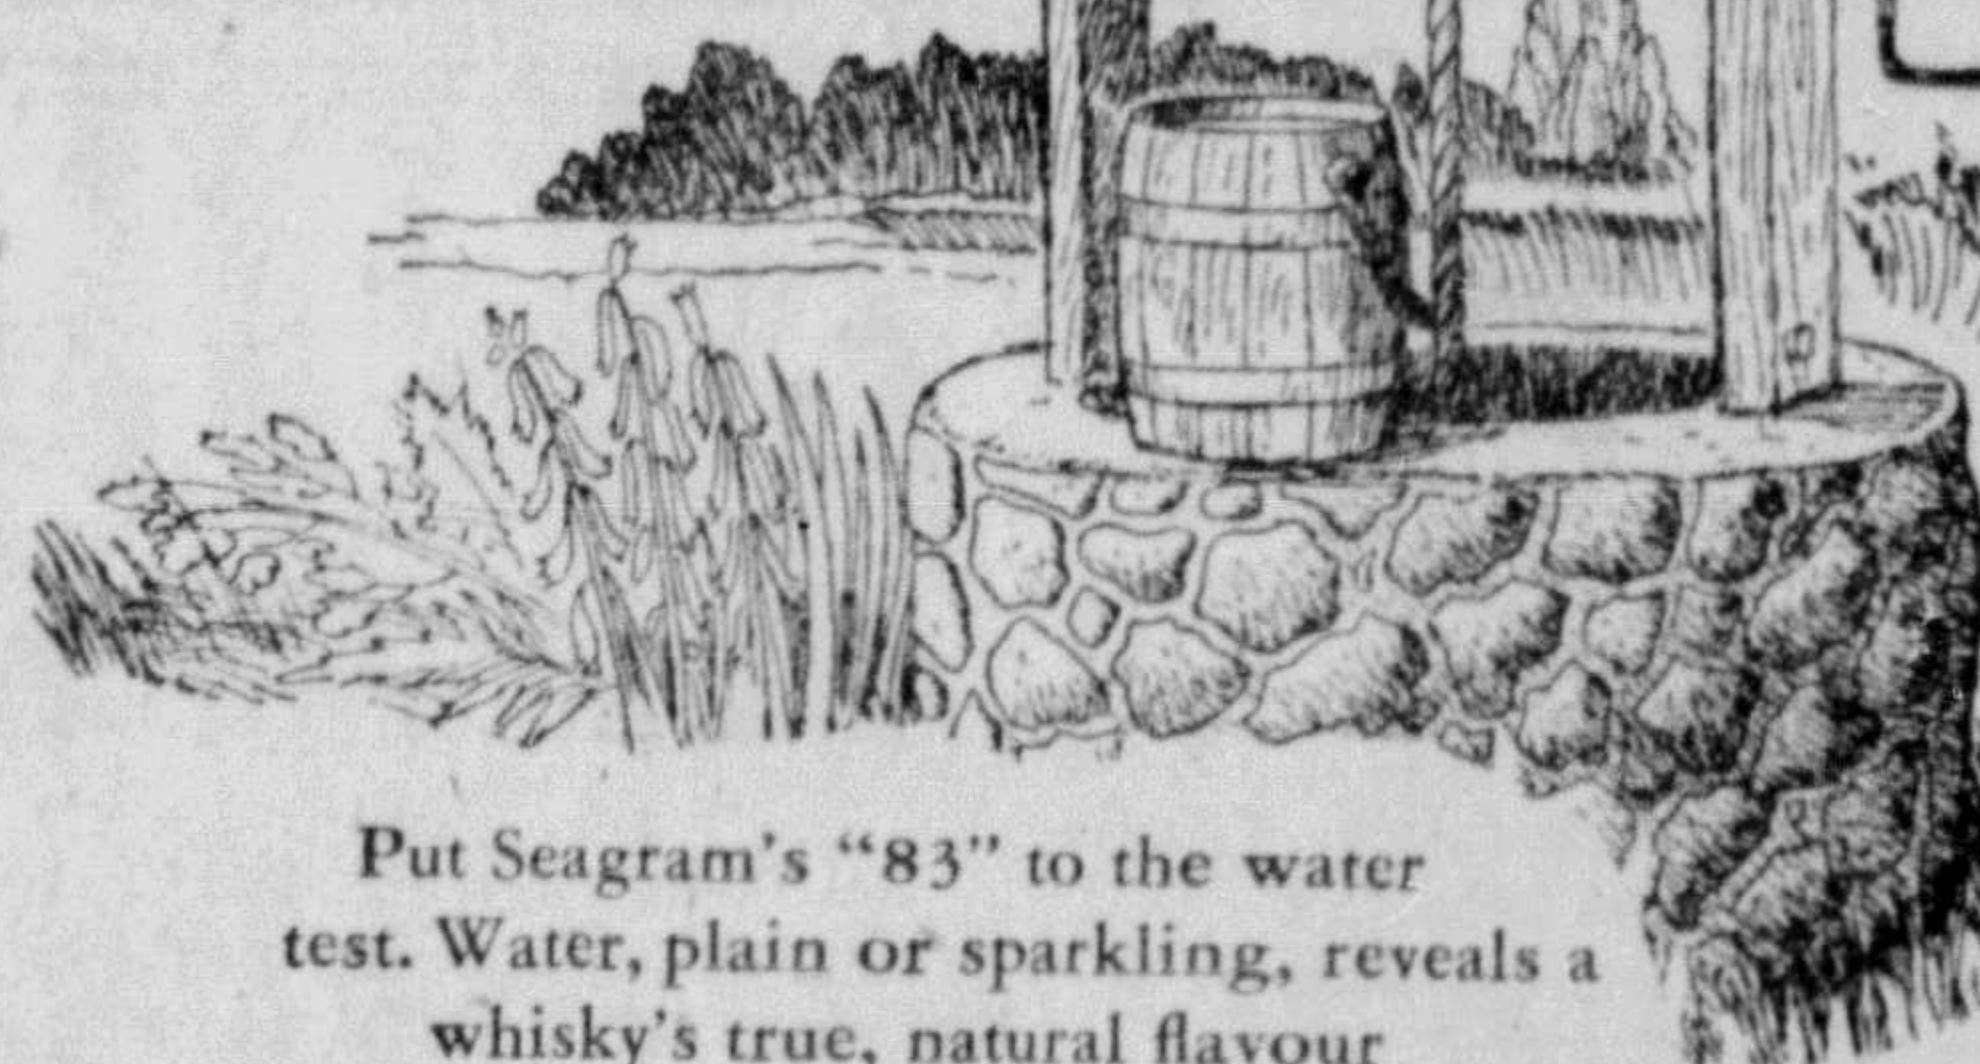

The packers Lucidor and Sidney were two of the vessels arriving at Prince Rupert from Ketchikan this week, with Alaskan salmon for the United States. Huge quantities are being shipped from here.

A vessel called the DuPont went ashore at Calvert Point in the neighborhood of the mouth of the Skeena River a few days ago. It is understood damage is not serious.

The SS Princess Norah is having her boilers repaired, and it is not likely she will resume service earlier than Oct. 16. The Princess Norah runs between here and Vancouver, including Kitchikan.

Fishing, just now, is a shade flat in more ways than one. The salmon industry, as well as halibut, is not what it was earlier in the season. However, elsewhere are signs of life. Brill, flounders and sole are being caught in quantity.

NASOOK FEARS BIG CITY MORE THAN ICE FLOES OF ARCTIC

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Nasook of the North took his first at a big city yesterday.

His verdict is that he's heading back to Tuktoyaktuk trap muskrat.

"I'd rather be trapped by ice than by all the people," said the Nasook Eskimo whose English name is Michael.

He is deckhand aboard the Hudson's Bay Company supply ship Fort Hearne which docked here this week on a 3,500-mile voyage from its base port, Tuktoyaktuk, in the Arctic Circle and 25 miles east of the mouth of the Mackenzie River.

Nasook was scheduled to remain here all winter as caretaker on the 379-ton vessel which will undergo a major inspection carried out every five years.
