BANDITS MADE BIG HAUL FROM SPENCER'S STORE IN VICTORIA LAST NIGHT

Night Watchman Bound and Gagged; $16,000 or $17,000 is Taken

VICTORIA, Aug. 3.—At 9.30 on Sunday evening, two bandits broke in Spencer's departmental store here, bound and gagged the night watchman and, blowing the safe, escaped with between $16,000 and $17,000.

The watchman, J. L. Griffiths, was found this morning at 7 o'clock by an engineer still bound and gagged on the top floor of the building. Griffiths stated that shortly after the engineer had left the building Sunday night he was on the rounds of the portion of the store under ground when the two men seized him, "Shut your face," he was told.

Having made the watchman secure on the top floor, the robbers went about their work of blowing the safe and at 11.30 left the building, leaving the watchman helpless.

ISLAND FISHING SEASON IS GOOD

Run of Springs and Cohoes Satisfactory—Whaling Stations Doing Well

Lumbering Active

There is a good salmon run on the Queen Charlotte Islands this year and the fishermen are doing well reports Alfred Adams of Massett who is in the city today. The spring run has been very satisfactory and now the cohoes are coming in good volume. The Langara Fishing & Packing Co.'s cannery at Massett is putting up salmon and next month will resume the packing of clams. On Moresby Island, the Lockport and Lagoon Bay canneries are both operating. The whaling stations are also doing well Mr. Adams states. At Naden Harbor some 40 of the big mammals have already been handled and Rose Harbor, on the south end of the islands, has had about double of that number.

There is also activity in lumbering with a number of logging camps running in Massett Inlet. The Kelly camps on Moresby Island continue active and the Queen Charlotte City mill is now operating in full swing.

Mr. Adams, who arrived from the Islands on the Prince John last night, will proceed tonight to Vancouver on a combined business and pleasure trip. He expects to be away from the Islands about eighteen days.

Of the 3,100,000 pound total during the past month, about 2,175,000 pounds was from American boats and 925,000 pounds from Canadian boats.

The highest bid of the month was 16.8c and 6c, paid by the Booth Fisheries Co. to the American schooner Defence for 15,000 pounds on July 16. The highest Canadian price was paid on the day when the Royal Fish Co. bid 14.8c and 6c for the 7,200 pound catch from the schooner E. Lipsell.

ROBERT PARKS DIES SUDDENLY

Passed Away During Saturday Night While Visiting at Home of Friends

Death came suddenly during Saturday night to Robert Parks, brother of Jas. Parks of the Fire Hall. Deceased and Mrs. Parks had been spending the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cherry, 217-8th Avenue, and they retired there late Saturday night. On Sunday morning when Mrs. Parks went to call her husband he did not respond, and, upon closer examination, it was found that he was dead. The doctor and police were notified and it was established that death had occurred some time previous. Deceased had suffered from a weak heart for some time and had been obliged to consult a physician on different occasions.

Born in Ireland in 1892, the late Mr. Parks migrated to the United States and later went to Anyox where he was employed for some time. Coming to Prince Rupert, he became identified with the yard crew of the C.N.R. and has been constantly employed there up to his death. He is survived by his father and mother in the Old Country and his widow here, to whom general sympathy will go out in her sad bereavement.

Deceased was a member of the local Orange Lodge under whose auspices the funeral will be held. An inquest will be held upon the return to town of Coroner Watt.

Preservation of Salmon Fisheries.

The provincial government views with alarm the condition of the salmon fisheries on the Fraser River and it is officially stated that there will have to be a cessation of fishing operations if the industry is to be preserved. For many years there has been a large annual harvest of salmon from the Fraser River similar to the harvests that in more recent years have been garnered on the Skeena and Nass Rivers.

No alarming depletion of the salmon fisheries on the local rivers has yet been noted but if the industry is carried on here like it was in the south there might be danger of it occurring as the catches are increasing each year as the industry develops. While it is possible that new propagation and production methods, which were not applied when the Fraser River fisheries were at their height, may make it unnecessary to curtail the catching of fish in the Skeena and Nass Rivers any more than it is today the preservation of the fish for the future is a matter of the utmost importance and the authorities are no doubt looking after this phase.

Naval Base On Pacific Ocean.

The visits of warships such as the Capetown to this port give rise to interesting speculation as to whether or not it is the ultimate intention of the Imperial Government to establish a naval base on this coast and, if so, where. Prince Rupert has always been mentioned as the possible site for a naval base and the place is said to have been investigated with that end in view. Perhaps even the Capetown is doing something along those lines.

While it seems doubtful if any British government, in the near future at least, will embark on the program of establishing a base in British Columbia like those at Singapore and Malta, it seems none the less necessary that there should be better protection of some kind on this coast. That is why there is a good deal of speculation as to what the Admiralty's future plans for the Pacific Ocean may be.

Southern Timber Not Needed Here.

The Ottawa Herald says editorially: When the specifications for the new school building at Hazelton appeared it was found that they called for all coast lumber, particularly fir. This met with considerable protest from northern mills and contractors, as it shut the northern mills out of the business. It has been usual for Victoria and Ottawa architects to advise the government to use fir in all buildings built by the government. This is most unfair to northern mills. No fir grows in the north, and the architects working for the government should know this. They should also know that the spruce and hemlock that is produced in the north is just as serviceable for building purposes as the coast fir, especially for dimensions, sheathing, etc. Fir, perhaps, will give a little more satisfaction as flooring, although the northern mill men are apt to dispute this.

The main point is that buildings in the north should be built of northern material to the greatest possible extent, and especially when the same results can be obtained. In the past there has been altogether too much southern coast fir shipped into the north, to the detriment of northern industries and to the detriment of northern settlers and business men.

As soon as this matter was brought to the attention of Mr. Wrench, member for this district, he immediately wired the department at Victoria, and it is now possible to give a figure on northern lumber, but what is wanted in future is that the original specifications call for northern wood in northern buildings.

USUALLY when fire breaks out it is too late to avert the loss of valuable papers locked up in a drawer in office or home. The cost of protection is generally far less than the expense of replacing one document—provided it can be replaced. Don't put off renting a Safety Deposit Box until it is too late.

The concert being staged tonight in the Westholme Theatre by the men of H.M.S. Capetown, augmented by local talent, promises to be a very entertaining affair and no doubt it will be accorded generous patronage. In addition to the jazz orchestra, the visiting warship has in its personnel some splendid entertainers along various lines. Attendance at the concert will be rewarded, it is promised, with a novel and interesting program.

"CALL OF THE CANYON" ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Zane Grey's Latest Novel to be Pictured at the Westholme Theatre

"The Call of the Canyon," a popularization of Zane Grey's latest novel, is the feature of the Westholme Theatre tomorrow night. Richard Dix, Lois Wilson and Marjorie Day appear in featured roles while included, among others, in the strong supporting cast are Nish Beyer, Ricardo Cortez, Fred Huntley and Lillian Leighton. Disgusted with the shallowness of gay society in New York City, Glenn Kilbourne, a world war veteran, goes to Arizona to regain his shattered health. Arizona brings about many changes. Not only does Kilbourne recover from his ailment but wins the love of a charming city girl in the bargain. But "there's more to the West than scenery," says a subtitle, so you'd better see the picture.

BARBARA LA MARR AND CONWAY TEARLE

Strong Cast and Lavish Production Mark "The Heart of a Siren."

Barbara La Marr and Conway Tearle are again seen together in "The Heart of a Siren," the picture coming on Wednesday and Thursday to the Westholme Theatre.

Miss La Marr, as a siren of the gayer of the gay spots of Europe—the Riviera—has a role perhaps better than that in which she played with Tearle in "The White Moth." Famous former lavish costumes, she wears an array of the new Paris styles—negligees, day frocks and a tender of evening gowns—which would captivate the fancy of any woman.

Tearle's role as a poor but aristocratic English diplomat also is admirably suited for him. The plot finds the pair stopping at the same sumptuous hotel on the Riviera. The siren's entry is a signal for all the men in view at once to desert their ladies fair and stare with dazed admiration upon the gorgeous creature as she passes—that is, all but one.

The diplomat, with his mother and his finance, ignores her, and, woman like, she resolves to crush his heart, as she has the hearts of scores of others.

The climax comes when, having won his love, she finds her love gone out to him in return while between the two arises the unsurmountable barrier of his aristocratic family. There are many highly dramatic scenes in which Miss La Marr and Tearle perhaps present the best acting of their screen careers.

"SEVEN CHANCES" IS KEATON'S BEST

Frozen, Faced Comedian Hits Bull's Eye in West-end Picture

Buster Keaton, the frozen-faced comedian, is said to have hit the bull's-eye in the bull's-eye with his latest Metro-Goldwyn comedy, "Seven Chances," which is coming to the Westholme Theatre at the end of the week. "Seven Chances," which is a film version of the Belasco stage success of several years ago, tells the story of a young man about Wall Street whose code in life is of such a generous nature that he gives away the funds of his partner and himself for the sake of good charity, and everything seems about to crash.

Just then his uncle leaves him a legacy of $7,000,000, with the only proviso that he be married by seven o'clock the same evening. He rushes to the home of his best girl, and asks her to marry him so that he can get the fortune. She refuses him so he is left to find some one who will marry him. Then the fun begins in earnest. Buster tries one after another of the beautiful girls he meets, but to no avail. Then he advertises in the newspaper for a wife, and is deluged with tons of femininity. What seems to be a crowd of several thousand starts after him, and poor Buster is kept dodging the marriage-minded females.

Here the picture becomes a run-away, and the audience is left gasping for breath and holding its own jaws. Needless to say, the "one" girl finally marries Buster in time for him to get the $7,000,000.

MARY PICKFORD IS NOT BOBBING HAIR

Film Star Says, However, it is Comfortable, Convenient and Sanitary to do so

Mary Pickford is not going to bob her hair. A newspaper syndicate recently carried a story to the effect that she might do so, and a deluge of letters has been coming in to Miss Pickford since that time, most of them pleading with her not to sacrifice her famous curls.

"In order to save the time of many of my friends who are writing," said Miss Pickford, "I will say that I am not going to bob my hair, and have never considered doing so."

I have not bobbed my hair because my husband does not want me to and because I do not believe the public does. At least that is the impression I get from many who write to me about it.

"If I were not on the screen and my husband wanted me to bob my hair, I would certainly do so. I think bobbed hair is comfortable, convenient and sanitary and I have no quarrel with the thousands who have had their locks cut off."

"But for myself, I will keep my tresses."

IT'S FATHER.

A small child was talking to a kitten, which she held tightly in her arms. The mother, sitting near, heard the child say: "Kitty, I know all your little brothers and sisters, and I know your mama, but I ain't never seen you; papa, I 'spect he must be a commercial traveller."

The Man in the Moon SAYS—

If some of us take ourselves seriously surely we must come to the conclusion that Seng should get his money back.

THERE is one good thing about the sailor's uniform at a dance. It doesn't need spurs.

YOUR local theatre drummer certainly looks "spiffy" in a sailor hat.

WHEN the jazz band starts a "playin'" and the sailors lead the way, 'Tis then you wish you could enlist in the navy for a day.

I THOUGHT a hot dog sandwich the other night. At first I thought I didn't find the dog, and the second time I was beyond it.

THO much mustard on the dog perhaps.

WHAT'll we do to get a look out of life when the Capetown leaves port?

THE much neglected "jog" has come into its own recently. It is said the sailors are responsible for the sudden change in fashion in local drinks.

WE now take on old fashioned drinks. Like whisky, rum and gin. If we can't pull the "jog" work out, we can always push it in.

Mr. Brown is regarded as an authority on wild animals and states that there will be, ten years from now, 10,000 elk in the district, unless steps are taken to decrease their numbers.

CANADA'S BISLEY ON AUGUST 17

This Year's Meeting Will Excel Any Since Pre-war Days

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 3. — (Canadian Press). — Canada's "Bisley" meeting, familiarly known as the "D.R.A." promises this year to excel any prize meeting since pre-war days. From early indications, it is expected that about 600 of the best Canadian marksmen will attend this annual shooting meet of the Dominion Rifle Association, to be held on August 17 to 22, at the Connaught Range, South Marsh, 14 miles from Ottawa. Last year the competitors numbered approximately 500.

The fine record of the Canadian team at Bisley Camp in the first two weeks of July, when they won the MacKinnon and Kolapore Challenge Cups, and had seven marksmen entered for the final stage of the King's Prize, though they failed to capture it, has undoubtedly stimulated interest in the meeting to be held here. The King's Medal and the Governor-General's competition are the most important matches.

Feature for Airmen

An entirely new feature this year is the inclusion of a two-day trapshooting tournament, open to all Canada. This new feature has been placed on the program of the D.R.A. to accommodate the Canadian Air Force. Clay bird shooting with small arms is now part of the Air Force training. The prizes to be offered in this tournament are very attractive and already many prominent trap shots have signified their intention of attending.

The program for this year will not differ very materially from that of last year, except for the addition of about 81,500 to the prize list. The King's Medal competition has been changed slightly, in that both the rapid and snapshooting rounds (the Borden and Dundonald) will be shot at the 300 yards range. Last year the ranges were 200 and 300 yards respectively.

Like King's Prize

In these rounds this year the competitors will be squadded singly instead of by teams, meaning that the marksmen will have to rely on their own judgment instead of being coached by a team commander. The King's Medal is shot for in four main rounds, the other two being the Bankers', deliberate fire, and the Gzowski, fire with movement. The Borden and Gzowski stages feature the closing day of the meet. The competition corresponds in many respects to the King's Prize at Bisley.

The program for the D.R.A. this year provides the usual competitions open to cadets, tyros and senior shots. The meet is opened with the Tyro, Macdonald, Barlow and Gadets' competitions, and the Bankers' stage of the King's Medal. On the second day the City of Ottawa, first stage, and the Walker Trophy, will probably be shot.

Valuable Prizes

Later on the program are the second stage, City of Ottawa, Macdonald Brier, and Coates competitions, and the fourth day

LOCAL TEAM BEAT SAILORS YESTERDAY IN BILLIARD MATCH

A team from H.M.S. Capetown met a team from the Great War Veterans Association yesterday afternoon in a friendly billiard match which resulted in a win for the local aggregation. The teams each consisted of five men and the games were played in the War Veterans Billiard rooms. A large number of enthusiasts watched the matches which were featured by good runs by players from both teams and called for applause from the spectators.

The War Veterans club rooms are open to all men from H.M.S. Capetown while she is in port and the Association is contributing a great deal toward making the stay of the sailors a very enjoyable one.

SPORT CHAT

The Rotary Club has accepted the challenge from the Gyro club for a return baseball match, date and details to be arranged later. It is understood that the Elks are considering a challenge to the Gyros for a game to be played on their Field Day. These games are interesting to the general followers of sport for several reasons and not the least important of these is the novelty of seeing players on the diamond who are not familiar figures in the regular lineups.

GIBBONS' STORY

Gibbons said, "When she does recover, I shall go into training with the best handlers I can find to try to learn what made the vast difference between what I was and the way I showed in my last big fight. In any case, it will be some time before I re-enter the ring and if I do it will be with every assurance that I am better than I was when I met Tunney. At present my home needs me worse than I need the ring."

TOMMY GIBBONS' STORY

Tommy Gibbons has quit the ring. He may be permanently out of the boxing game or his retirement may be only temporary. All depends on the health of Mrs. Gibbons. "I would like to find out if I have gone back the way it seemed I had in my fight with Tunney, but unless Mrs. Gibbons is restored to her former health it is probable I will never know for I shall not fight again while she is ill."

Editor of Daily News Goes Holidaying Homeward Bound

HOMEWARD BOUND!—Dick is left behind at Butedale to go south on the Venture tonight and I left the same place half an hour ago and the Gwen is chugging along at between five and six miles an hour along Fraser Reach northbound. The water is perfectly calm, the sun shining, and it is just half past nine o'clock. I should have been away an hour earlier but did not get up in time.

At Butedale we were the guests of Joe McPhee, customs officer, and one of the best men alive. Joe has a little green house all to himself and he keeps it spick and span. All the other houses are red but, as the representative of His Majesty, the customs office has to be different. There is an imposing notice on the door and in his official uniform, Mr. McPhee is an important personage in the canner town. He is also extremely obliging and never causes unnecessary trouble or delay to vessels entering or clearing at the port. Everyone speaks well of him and of his work.

The night before last we spent in Fishermen's Cove opposite and a little south of McKay Reach at the entrance to Wright Sound. As had become our custom, we spread our blankets on the ground in the open and slept with only the broad canopy of the sky over us. The bed was hard and the black flies were offensive but we covered our faces and snored our loudest.

A Cold Morning

Remembering the rough seas of the previous day we were up early but it was cold and we shivered in our overcoats for half an hour or so. Two hours later we dropped anchor in a nice little bay where we lighted a good fire and prepared the bacon and eggs for breakfast.

There we rambled along the banks of a pretty stream and took a few experimental pictures.

We lunched near Butedale, and while sitting at our meal, an animal, probably a badger with fluffy grey fur and a dark head, suddenly joined the party. He rounded a rock and found himself unexpectedly in the midst of the luncheon group. We kept perfectly still and admired our visitor. He looked us over carefully and then decided he had better leave, which he did in a decidedly dignified manner. Later after rambling off we found him again in the camp sampling some remnants of fish we had left behind us.

Incidents like these, trivial in themselves, proved of great interest to us. Two minutes after I left Dick at Butedale and just after I caught his last waved adieu, I saw two deer on the rocks at the water's edge and approached quite near to them although not near enough to take a photo.

Homeward Bound

Everything went well on the homeward trip. The tide was against me a good deal of the time but I was anxious to be home in order to get away for a business trip to Vancouver and kept moving.

It would not be faithfully recording everything if I did not tell about the wolf I saw. It was when lurching at an unknown bay near the north end of Grenville Channel. It was a wild deserted place. I had anchored the launch, taken the dinghy ashore, made a fire, and was just dipping water from the stream nearby when, looking up, I saw a wolf leaping across the beach. He stopped opposite the launch and sniffed and also nosed the dinghy. Then he went over to the grub and inspected it at a short distance. Having satisfied his curiosity he was making for the woods in my direction.

Here it was I railed at the fates which are so often against me, photographically. Here was a subject for my work and my camera was along with the grub. The wolf kept coming and I stood perfectly motionless so he would not notice me. He did not see me until about thirty feet away. I wanted to see him run so just then I threw up my arms and shoed him off, but he gave me the once over, turned in a dignified manner and loped gently E. Richardson, J. F. Belyea, F. across the stream and away. Not in any sense could his departure which ended with a goal each.

The game was well contested throughout with all the scoring done in the first half. The team from the Capetown played up hill in the opening period and were the first to score. This was followed soon after with a equalizer by the Veterans. In the second period, with positions reversed, each team endeavored to get one up on their opponents but without effect.

It was probably not as pretty a game from the spectators point of view as the preceding match on Thursday evening although there was a fine brand of football at times, with both teams giving good examples of combination play. Skinner, Dido Gurvich and W. Murray turned in a "good game for the Vets and probably were responsible for the score being equalized.

ORIENTAL QUESTION

Editor Daily News.

I was greatly interested in your editorial "Another Victory for the Oriental" which appeared in your issue of July 25.

It will not be necessary for our government to pass an exclusion bill to keep the Japanese out of Canada, for Japan has no desire to force us to receive her people, but is willing, under a revised gentleman's agreement to curtail still further the number of immigrants annually leaving her shores to come to this country. Such an agreement will also be kept by her, for she justly prides herself on always living up to the letter and spirit of her international obligations.

Also, British justice will prevent any attempt on our part to drive out those already legally domiciled within our borders.

The reason why Japanese children are able to "outstudy" our children is they know what concentration means. The average occidental child when in the school room, is thinking of something else other than what the teacher is saying; and during study hours lacks in application.

The Japanese tongue is probably the most difficult in the world. Three thousand Chinese characters must be memorized to obtain a working knowledge of the language, and many of these have different sounds and meanings, and some of these hieroglyphics have as many as twenty-six strokes when written. Besides this, students are accustomed to study out loud so, unless a full and complete attention is given to teacher and books no progress can be made. Concentration, therefore, is the secret which places a Japanese child above the average, and often at the top of the class, in our Canadian schools.

"Work while you work and play while you play" is a saying well lived up to by the Japanese of all ages. And, because of this, their presence with us in Canada ought to be a benefit rather than a hindrance, and should spur us on to attain to the highest possible standard.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 8,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 5,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be completed for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price for first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 16, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesite, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partly free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Tuesday Only, 7 and 9 p.m.

THE CALL OF THE CANYON

Zane Grey at his best. The story of a modern girl who had to choose between love in the rough-and-ready West or life in the jazz-circles of New York. A contrast of the fast-living young generation and the stern realities of Nature. A photo-play that has clean, wholesome drama with many comedy touches, and novelty for it depicts life in the canyons of Arizona and life within the canyon walls of a big metropolis. Pretty eastern dresses; western scenic grandeur. Many big scenes including a real sand storm. Don't miss the tennis court showing the young men grooming their hair and side-burns and the girl secretly rouging her knees. Unrivaled cast.

Note—This gazette contains views of the sinking of the "Raifuku Maru" taken from the deck of the White Star liner "Homeric."
