DAILY EDITION Saturday, Nov. 14, 1925.

Shall We Let Subscribers Dictate Our Policy?

Yesterday afternoon shortly before dinner time, the telephone rang and a lady protested at an editorial article which appeared yesterday, which suggested that the person without a family was not as good a citizen as the one that had a family. Naturally there might be a difference of opinion on such a subject. It was, perhaps, controversial in character.

The lady gave her name but the phone was not very clear and the result was that the editor did not catch it. What he did hear was that the lady disapproved of the article and for that reason proposed to cancel her subscription to the paper at the end of the year.

As the editor did not know anything about subscriptions and did not care whether she subscribed or not she was referred to the business office.

We assume that the lady in question, whoever she may be, would be the last one in the world to enjoy reading a spineless editorial from a person without opinions. In reading three or four short articles daily she would be bound to disagree with many of them. That is expected. How could it be otherwise? At any rate she would not want a paper to publish only those pretty things that subscribers agreed with. People who want that had better not read the Daily News.

Women Are Less Tolerant Than Men.

As a rule women are less tolerant than men. They are not willing to look at two sides of a question. They will not admit that there is another side to most questions. People in business find that. Store keepers will not usually argue with a woman. It pays to agree with a customer and so they often get to think they must be right. The lady who disagreed with us over the question of families had a pleasant voice and doubtless is a most estimable lady in most respects but she is representative of a type that holds very strong opinions and will not usually give the opposition credit for honesty of opinion. In this case she apparently thought a year's subscription to the paper would be sufficient to influence the opinion of the editor. We are glad that we are not so easily influenced. Anyone who does not like to read editorial opinion can always skip the column or they have the alternative of doing as this lady suggested she might do.

Develop Peace River Country Very Soon.

The development of the Peace River country cannot long be delayed. The more people learn about it the more anxious they are to have it opened up by a railway. There is plenty of land of the best quality in a good grain growing climate, and all that is needed is transportation.

We are not concerned over what company opens up the Peace country. If the Canadian National does it, the probability is that a good deal of the grain will come here. If the C.P.R. gets control, it too will likely have running rights to Prince Rupert over the National rails. In any case we stand to benefit. However, the first consideration is the good of the people who live in the Peace River belt and the general advantage to Canada and it is sure that this is a work which will prove a great advantage in opening up a new fertile country and in advertising the agricultural opportunities here.

C.P.R. First On The Ground.

The C.P.R. is the first on the ground in the Peace River country. The company is standing pat and holding to what it controls. It will probably continue to keep possession of the key to the situation in the railway now running into the country from Edmonton.

The Canadian Pacific cannot possibly hold on indefinitely and haul the grain through Edmonton. The cost would be too great. They want a western outlet and the outlet should be through Prince Rupert. We should welcome the C.P.R. here for they are an aggressive company and would add to our prosperity. If there is anything Prince Rupert people can do to help induce the C.P.R. to turn its attention to this port, they will doubtless do it.

Waterfront Whiffs

Good Prices

The fact that Thanksgiving Day was a public holiday did not interfere with Fish Exchange activities on Monday and business as usual was the order of the day. While arrivals were light on the first business day of the week when two Canadian schooners landed 9,500 pounds of halibut the demand was brisk and the catches pulled down 24c and 26c and 6c for first and second class catches.

Now that the halibut fishing season is practically at an end for 1925—the close season coming into effect to-morrow—schooners of both fleets are desirous of bringing in as much fish as possible on the final trip of the season and for this reason there is quite a bunching up of boats. As it will take several days for the majority of the boats to reach port with halibut from the deep sea grounds it is therefore anticipated that heavy arrivals will be coming in during the early part of the coming week, though recent rough weather may be the cause of broken trips.

With the subsequent arrival of an additional 298,600 pounds of halibut prices fell several points. Canadians and Americans averaging around 14c for first class catches and 6c for second class fish yesterday.

From Monday until yesterday noon the total halibut marketed on the Fish Exchange was 308,100 pounds, a drop of 73,000 pounds over the same period last week.

Arrivals

Schooners marketing catches this week from Monday until yesterday noon included the following: Canadian—Kaien, Alken, Point May, Fisher, Maude, Nautilus, Nuba, E. Lipsett, Gibson, Ringleader, Mab, Alli, Selma, Tramp and Mayflower.

American—Brisk, Anna J., Valorous, Imperial, Lincoln, Zenith, Akutan, Swan, Daley, Sita, Portlock, Forward, Mariner and Gladys.

Rough Weather

Rough weather has been general in the outside waters and some of the smaller boats have been in for a dusting while making port, although no particular damage has been done either materially or physically, due to the carefulness of the skippers. The majority of the smaller schooners have already made preparations for winter anchorage and those remaining out have been forced to take up shelter for some time until the wind abates. However, the big fellows are sticking it out and there are still number of American schooners away north hauling in the fish. Very little fish has shown up in inside waters according to skippers of small craft trying their luck while returning home.

Many Nimrods Out

Ducks, geese and deer had an exciting time over the holiday weekend but seemed to weather the onslaughts of the many parties of nimrods in heroic manner and in many cases came off first best. Not only did parties of light and heavy artillery leave for the chase last Friday night in coastal cruisers, but a number of intrepid hunters scoured the countryside across the harbor and around Metlakatla on Sunday and Monday in sardine chasers with but minor results.

Reports from Georgetown state that the geese have been pretty well driven from their happy feeding grounds and but for a few good bags at the beginning of the season only a stray one now and again falls to a gun. The same thing can be said of the ducks. At this season so many gunners have been pumping lead at them instead of into them that they have either decided to move to a safer spot or are so wise that they fly away before the hunters leave home.

Two Invalids

All's right with the world. Our old friend Doe Clapperton has joined the waterfront gang again after having spent a couple of weeks visiting with Bob Warrior at his palatial winter residence on Fifth Ave. East, once known as the hospital. Bob had been

A Pimply Face Is Unsightly

Miss C. C. M. Smart, South Battleford, Sask., writes:—"A while ago I was troubled with facial blemishes, especially pimples, and was really ashamed to go out with such a bad looking face."

I tried 2 or 3 different remedies, but they didn't help me any, so one day a friend, who had been troubled the same as I was, advised me to use

Burdock Blood Bitters.

After I had taken two bottles there wasn't a pimple of any kind left on my face, and I now have a clear, smooth and velvety complexion."

having rather a strenuous time of it and finally decided to go on dry dock and get necessary repairs made. However, things to Bob seemed a little tame and ere long Doe was invited to join him in an enforced rest. Then the question of entertainment came up and the most thrilling stunt Doe could think of was a cribbage tournament, the winner to take the castors off both beds. We are glad to report that the distinguished invalids are progressing satisfactorily.

The night it was a hectic one. The outside wasn't in When the host knocked off the stopper

Of a quart of Gordon's gin.

The Ingred H., Capt. G. Lundquist, returned to port on Tuesday night having aboard Louis Amadio and party who had spent the previous eight days hunting around the Campania Island district. Each hunter got a deer but no birds.

One of the most successful hunting parties was that taken out by Alex. McRae, aboard his power boat Lois M., consisting of D. McD.Hunter and Bill Wilkinson, for a week's sighting on Porcher Island. The party thoroughly combed the bush around Kitkatla Inlet resulting in geese and ducks, to the tune of several falling to the prowess of the gunners. To put a fitting climax on the undertaking D. McD. willfully killed a deer. The Lois M. returned to port on Wednesday afternoon having been held up by bad weather.

On Wednesday George Bryant, skipper and owner of the coastal cruiser Harla, left port with John McRae and party for the Gardner Canal district on a little hunting trip. The Harla left a day earlier than originally intended with the object of searching for Alex. McRae and the Lois M. which they passed on the way out.

Schooners Alliance and Dunidas have been up on the Wardways this week for overhaul pre-

Others in the cast are George Mitchell, J. S. Wilson, L. D. Jamieson and the Misses B. Burke, D. Laxton, P. Creighton, Florence Atcheson. The business manager is W. H. P. Fleming.

Tickets have been going off rapidly and by Monday evening the Westholme should be sold out. Proceeds are for the Prince Rupert Museum.

atory to being tied up for the season.

Boomer Wabash has been taken up on the McLean ways for painting and general overhaul after which she will be tied up for the winter.

Capt. Claude Ketchum, owner of the tugboat Wigwam, who suffered burns while on his boat recently, is rapidly recovering.

A Going Hound

Here he is again, Capt. "Handy" Jim Morrison, skipper of the lighthouse Tide Rip and a man of many broken tourist hearts, that for speed in a gale his boiling power plant will beat all comers and can travel as fast as a crouched cat running down a rainbow. Yes, sir, while coming from Oona River on Monday the Tide Rip got wafted along the gale. With the engine hilton all ten, and the wind does not blow, Cap had visions of being unable to stop in the water at all and going right through Tucks Inlet into the boat. However, he did manage to stop and tell the Whiff man a story.

A Close Shave

Capt. Jack Cook, owner and skipper of the launch Joy Bird, had a narrow escape this week and nearly came to seriously injure himself with a shot gun.
While on his way to Metlakatla he thought he would try and fix the shot gun which would not throw out the shells, and placed live shells in the breach while driving. Finding he could not fix it and while putting the gun into the hammers, which were closed, knocked on the seat and the result that the shells exploded, the charge of passing along his finger and taking the flesh off the bone and just missing his eyes, the being on a fortunate slant!
As usual, the heat from the burned his eyes and forehead. Although bleeding badly he managed to get to Methlakatla where first aid was rendered.
The gun was well greased and in setting it down it evidently slipped through Jack's hands knocking the hammers forcibly on the seat.

Tugboat M.T.3, Capt. R. Green, left for the Georgetown mill on Tuesday morning and brought a scow of lumber for the Bay yards. The tug left on Wednesday morning over Creek to tow a 250,000-ton of logs to the Georgetown mill.

In Bergman, well known on the Island, is doing consideration work to his home at Oona River.
Latest addition is a sun room. G. Ivarson, contractor for the work, was in town on Friday for lumber and building supplies in this connection.

Ryan, owner of the power Arrive, Port Simpson, is considerable engine rework executed at the Aker-Thomson shops.

Bertram Doolan, a resident of the Nass River district, has been doing a lot of repair work done on his boat this week, and he is all set for the return trip which will be made as soon as his boat is discharged from the water.

Good Suggestion
a recent meeting of the Club an assessment of $2 member was made to defray cost of yellow and blue Pierrot worn at the recent Gyro val. The members were of the delighted to pay the two liners but then the questions—what the heck can be with the suits? Then budding genius suggested them in the bush while going to prevent the wearer taken for a lion, which is good suggestion considering number of wonderful duck bustlers the membership is up of.

vestors. The Townea measures

COW BAY QUESTION AGAIN BEFORE CITY BECAUSE OF DEMAND FOR THE WATERFRONT IN THAT NEIGHBORHOOD.

tees to be held today.

Ald. Stephens felt that the city should not be made responsible for a decision that would force the mosquito fleet into the harbor. The provision of the fishermen's wharf he felt was a matter for the government and not the city to undertake and, as long as no better accommodation was forthcoming, he was opposed to any move on the part of the city that would deprive the mosquito fleet of what little shelter it already possessed at Cow Bay.

Increased Demand

A question brought up by Ald. Smith as to the wisdom of making the exchange proposed, brought up the suggestion from Mayor Newton that the city should demand 300' instead of 200 feet of waterfront from the provincial government and that the exchange should only be made on the understanding that the Dominion government would use the property for the furnishing of facilities for the fishing fleet.

Ald. McMordie thought that the mayor's suggestion was an excellent one. He moved, however, that the matter be left over until the Monday night meeting of the council so that it might be more fully studied. Ald. Larsen seconded the motion.

Ald. Stephens was of the opinion that the boat owners and the fishermen should be consulted before the city took any definite step.

Mayor Newton felt it would be a pity to shelve the decision of the council until Monday night. He called a meeting of the joint fisheries committee for Saturday afternoon and he was desirous that the decision of the council would have been made in time to present to that meeting.

Ald. McMordie then agreed to withdraw the motion to lay the matter over and submitted another that the exchange be made on the basis of the city receiving three hundred feet of waterfront. Ald. Larsen again seconded.

Waterfront Not Required

Ald. Stephens again expressed

his belief that the city should not assume responsibility in the matter of a fishermen's wharf. A great expenditure would be involved and he felt that if the city obtained the waterfront in question it would be impossible to do anything with it. It would only lie idle like the 200 feet of waterfront the city already had. The city would require no more waterfront if the Dominion government furnished the shelter required.

Mayor Newton told how he had hoped for the last three years that some solution would be reached to provide accommodation for the fishermen and people coming to the city in boats to do business. He still hoped that, ere he relinquished office, such a solution might be reached. He believed that the motion submitted was the only means of bringing the matter to a head and for that reason he would like to see it passed.

Would Vote Against

Ald. Casey wanted to know what the mayor's idea was in trying to force the question to a vote. Why should the council not be allowed a few days' time to consider the matter? He saw no reason why it was necessary for the city council to reach a decision in advance of the joint committee. The boat owners and fishermen had as much right to make the decision as the council and were perhaps better qualified to do so. If a vote was forced immediately, Ald. Casey said he would vote against the whole proposal.

Ald. Perry suggested that members of the council should inspect the site before making a final decision. Mayor Newton hoped that such an inspection could be made in time for the council to reach a decision before the joint meeting of the fisheries committee.

Ald. Casey still could not see why the mayor insisted on having a decision by the council before the meeting of the joint committees.

No Need to Hurry

Mr. Naden felt that the city need be in no hurry to make a decision for a day or so. He could always be communicated with at Victoria.

Thereupon, Ald. Stephens moved an amendment that, when adequate protection was afforded the mosquito fleet satisfactory to the boat owners and the city council either by the provincial or federal government, the council would not withhold its consent to the agreement. Ald. Smith seconded the amendment.

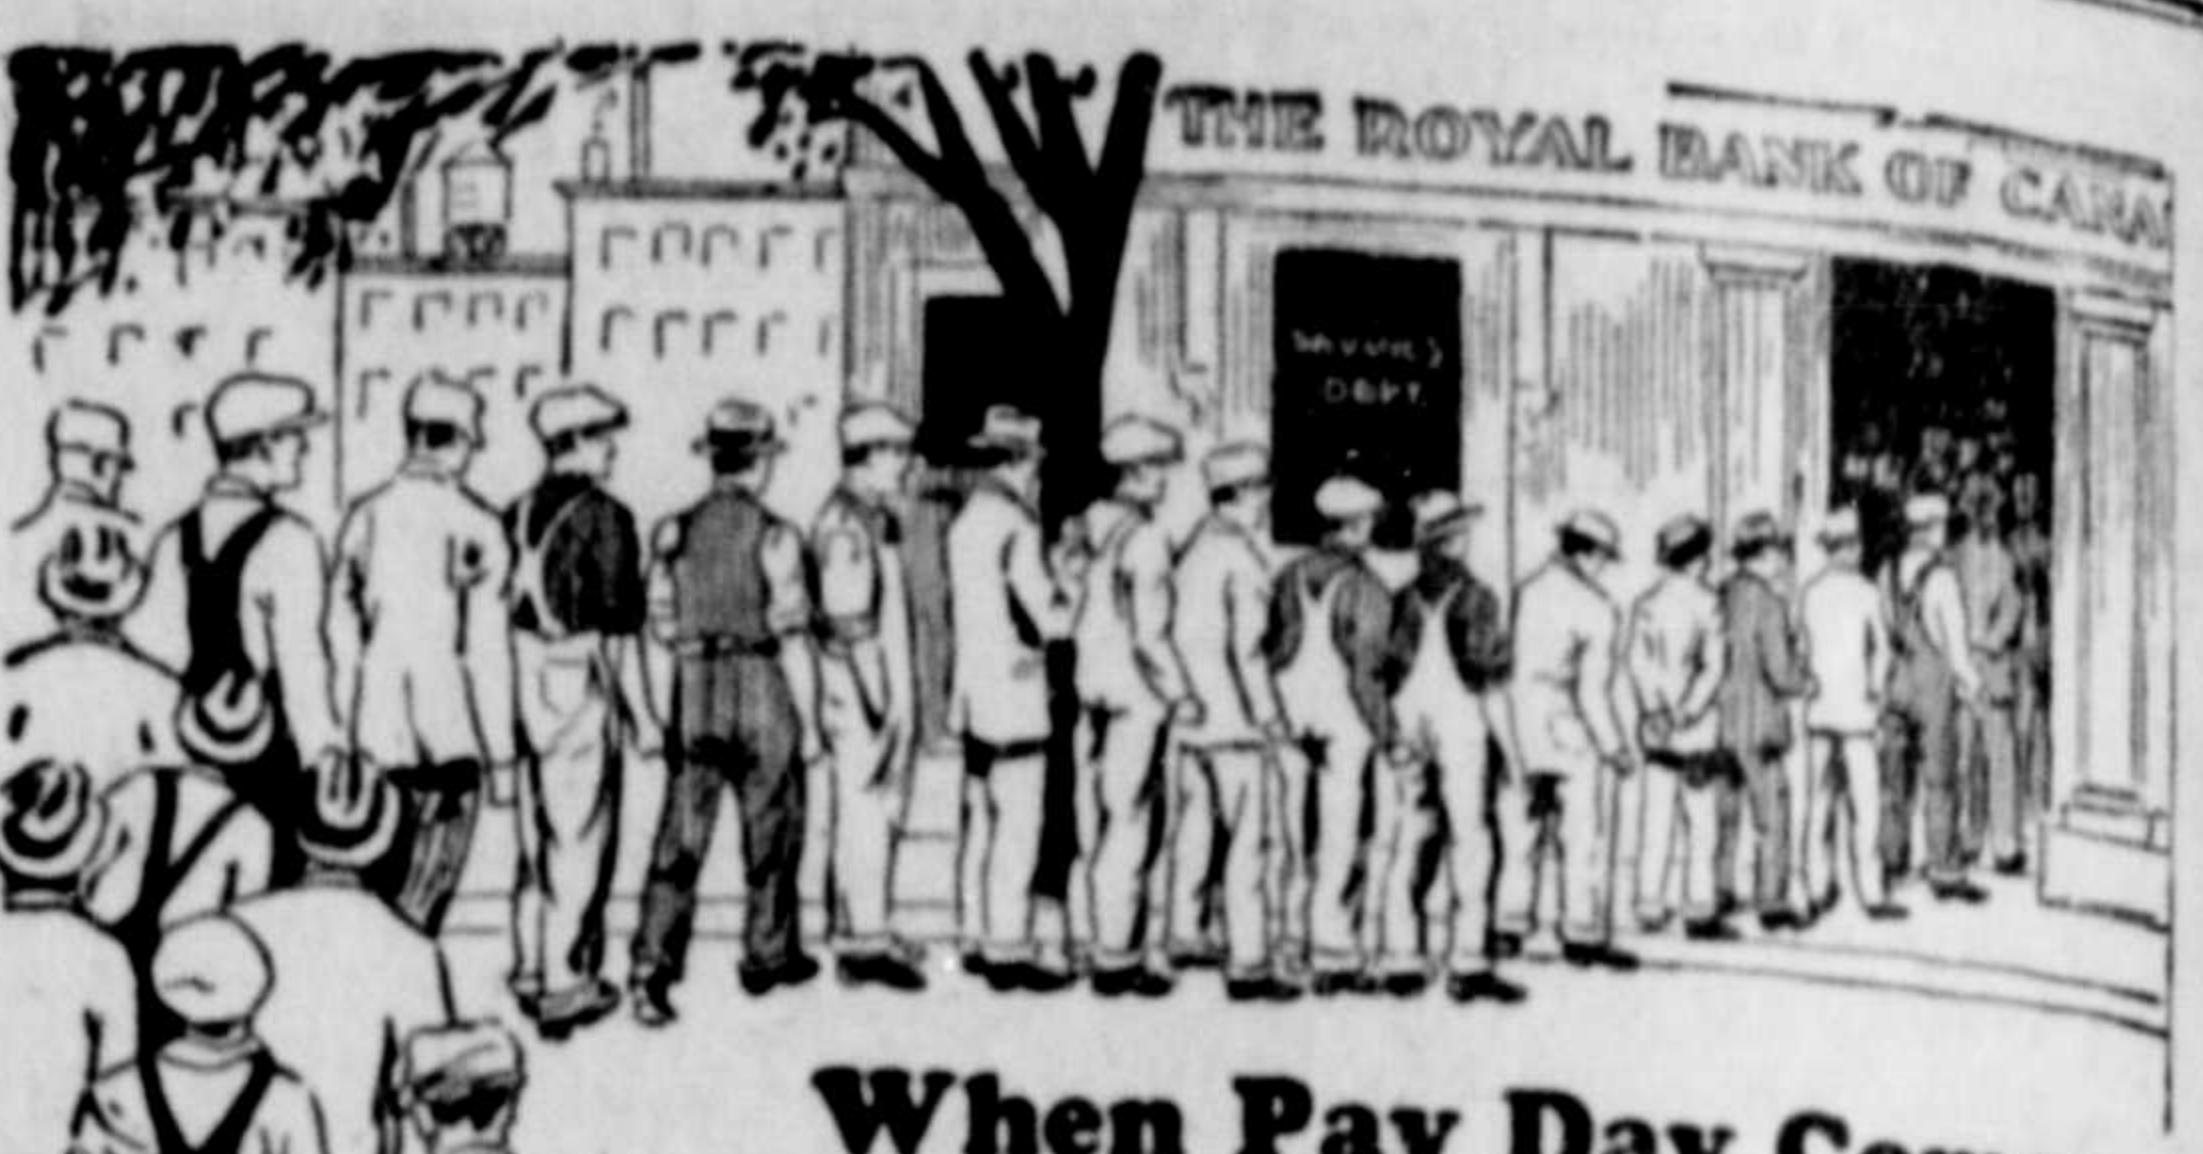

Mayor Newton said he was in agreement with the purpose of the motion but he was of the opinion that such a decision would only tend to further delay the consummation of the object desired. The better plan he thought would be to pass the motion tacitly agreeing on the exchange for 300' feet, providing the federal government met the requirements of building a shelter for the mosquito fleet.

Meeting Breaks Up

Ald. Casey then asked that he be excused from the meeting. Mayor Newton requested Ald. Casey to remain with the promise that there would not be further delay. Ald. Casey was not, however, to be persuaded that the question would be promptly put. After Ald. Casey had left the chamber, Ald. Stephens said he was not prepared to vote unless there was a full expression of the council and he, too, moved to his coat and hat and was not coaxed back. In the meantime, Ald. Smith also left.

It looked like the meeting was
