Vancouver Fears Congestion of Grain at That Port During the Coming Winter Result No Permits

VANCOUVER, Aug. 29.—The port of Vancouver must be considered a point of transfer for grain and has not the capacity at present for much terminal storage, according to the report of J. E. Hall, chairman of the grain division of the Merchant's Exchange. #### COLLIDED WITH FIRE TRUCK 2

Car Driven by Chinaman Is Injured; But Driver Has No License

Fire Truck No. 2, driven by J. W. Moorehouse, and the Ford delivery car of the National Grocery, driven by W. Wong, had a collision in a traffic jam on Fifth Avenue East in front of the residence of John Dyhavi, yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock. The steering column of the fire truck was slightly damaged and the big machine had to be towed back to the hall. The Chinaman's car, hit a glancing blow towards the rear by the fire truck, was knocked against the curb and had a back wheel broken off. No one was hurt.

The accident occurred when 134 taxi's Dodge sedan, driven by A. Brooks, tried to pass a standing car, thus blocking the road. The fire truck had to hit something, so the brakes were applied and the Chinaman's car, which was in front of the standing vehicle, was struck. Through investigation made by Sergeant Bailey it was found that the driver of the Chinese car had no license. Consequently there was a sequel in the city police court this morning.

CAN HALIBUT AT THIS PORT

Experimental Work Being Done by G. W. Nickerson View to Improving Price

With a view to providing a better market for chicken halibut and at the same time starting a new industry in this city, G. W. Nickerson, president of the Board of Trade, has been experimenting with canned halibut. He has put up a few cases to try it out and proposes to extend the operation sufficiently to give it a good trial and make sure as to its future success.

Chicken halibut have been sold locally at anything from three to six cents, four and five cents being quite common earlier in the season. This is not a profitable price for the fishermen. If they could be assured of seven cents they could operate to better advantage. Mr. Nickerson thinks a cannery could afford to pay a regular price of seven cents and make money by putting them up for the market, and still sell them cheaper than salmon. Halibut is well known everywhere and the demand for the canned variety should be easy to create.

Mines at Stewart Very Encouraging

The fact that the Premier Gold Mining Company is spending a lot of money on additions and improvements to their plant is an indication of the permanence of the camp. The company will now be in a position to handle twice as much ore as formerly and the result will be the employment of more men and general industrial improvement there.

The Dunwell people have already raised a good deal of money to proceed with the installation of shipping facilities and it should soon be one of the steady producing mines of the district. The fact that the stock is almost all owned in British Columbia is very encouraging.

PATTULLO TELLS OF ACTIVITIES HERE

Says There is New Spirit in this City People Making Their Homes Here Now

Prince Rupert, the metropolis of Northern British Columbia, is making steady progress, according to Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, who arrived from the North Tuesday, says the Vancouver Province.

"All that Prince Rupert now needs to give it new impetus is power for manufacturing purposes," said Mr. Pattullo. "The district has all the necessary resources of agriculture, timber, fishing and mining, and rail and water transportation. What is now required is power for manufacturing purposes, is simply a matter of getting a sufficient initial load to start the undertaking and to this end the citizens are now bending their every effort."

"There is a new spirit in Prince Rupert. Where formerly many who went in did so with the idea of eventually moving elsewhere, the contrary opinion is now held. Those who came in the early days have all done well, and when conditions are compared with conditions in other portions of the world they believe that their lot is a happy one. People can both make money and live under most pleasing conditions."

"Adjacent to Prince Rupert there are hundreds of nooks and bays that are delightful to the eye, with the best of fishing and hunting on the Coast. In the early days the government placed a reserve on practically all government lands adjacent to Prince Rupert. The residents are now asking that these lands be offered for sale as they are desirous of purchasing suburban homes in the numerous beauty spots."

PRINCE RUPERT HAS SMALL FIRE LOSSES

City Occupies Envidable Position in Report of Fire Marshals for Province

Perhaps the abundant rainfall this city gets or the efficient fire department it possesses or perhaps both are factors in the enviable position Prince Rupert holds from a fire standpoint. The annual report of the provincial fire marshal which has just made its appearance shows that during the year 1924 the city suffered the small loss of $1,345 from fire. Of the 31 city municipalities in the province, there were nineteen that had greater fire loss than this. They were

Chilliwack, Cranbrook, Fernie, Kelowna, Ladysmith, Merritt, Nanaimo, New Westminster, North Alberni, Port-Georgina, Port Alberni, Port Moody, Prince George, Revelstoke, Rossland, Salmon Arm, Vancouver, Vernon and Victoria, many of which are much smaller cities than Prince Rupert in point of population.

The loss in Prince Rupert fire district, totalling $22,804, was smaller than in all the other fifteen fire districts of the province with the exception of Hazelton and Kamloops.

The reports shows that of the 4,682 fires in the province during the year 261 were caused by sparks from chimneys. Chief other causes of fires were defective chimneys, exposure and smokers' carelessness.

such a good girl lately that we hate to drag her fair name into disrepute, but facts are facts, and here she goes. Alex was not quite sure of the waters in the passage so engaged the services of skipper McEwen to do the piloting, who evidently knows where the rocks are and can find one on the least provocation. The story is that Maggie became nervous on the return trip, her nervousness being accounted for by the funny noises emanating from the gadgets. Both men aboard went below in an endeavor to nurse the engine and it was then that Maggie seized the opportunity to climb up on a rock and rest herself. It was not so much the getting of Maggie flooded again that worried the sailors but the complications which arose in the engine room. As Alex put it, it was as complicated as dressing a baby with cold hands. However, eventually things got righted and the mariners returned to Seal Cove safely, little the worse for their experiences.

Mrs. Hubert Ward, accompanied by her son Harry, and a party of friends will leave early next month aboard their coastal cruiser Bonanza to spend a two week's vacation in the vicinity of Welcome Harbor.

A cargo of 100 tons of fish meal will be loaded aboard the Princess Ena for the south over the week end from the Rupert Marine Products plant, Tucks Inlet.

While canvassing on the waterfront this week in connection with the Fair Board's ticket selling contest, Miss Adeline Henriksen, a former Exhibition queen, had the misfortune to slip from a plank into the water in the vicinity of the Hunt dock. Wiping hands immediately extricated her from the perilous position and but for a severe wetting the young lady was little the worse for her unwelcome experience.

Power boat Dear P., fishing for the New England Fish Co. at the Wales Island cannery had pump work done at the Akerberg-Thomson shops while in port this week.

Launch Joy Bird, Capt. Jack Cook, having terminated her contract on towing piles for elevator construction work, is now on the McLean ways undergoing a general overhaul and re-painting.

Vic Markland, skipper and owner of the trolling boat Cub, who has been trolling in the vicinity of North Island, west of the Queen Charlottes, returned to port this week for supplies. Vic reports that the trolling season has been fairly good in that district.

The activities of the Yacht Club members this week has been confined to swimming parties at Salt Lakes. Every afternoon and evening boats have been pulling out for the popular aquatic rendezvous.

Charlie Starr and C. A. Kirkendall, of fish buying fame, were out to Khatada Lake over last week end on a fishing trip and brought home a good catch of trout of various species.

Dr. W. T. Kergin's power cruiser Sunbeam III, is on the McEwan ways for a complete overhaul, including some new planking work on the hull.

A lady tourist recently asked a local storekeeper how many pellets a silver fox gave a year. The lady was evidently getting fox ranching and chicken ranching slightly mixed.

"Here comes the bride" was the slogan on the westbound passenger train on Saturday last, and it arose by George Bushby, the tugboat king, parading up and down the train with a beautiful bouquet of flowers obtained at the Hazelton flower show, which he attended last Friday.

George White, an old timer in local nautical circles, has recently purchased the popular merry-go-round apparatus at the exhibition grounds from Ben Self. George says he is not too old yet to ride the bucking broncos and give the rising generation something to talk about. With this end in view, the new owner is busy putting his re-

FRENCH CONSERVATIVES PLAN NEW LEADER WHO MAY REPLACE MEIGHEN

EDMONTON, Aug. 29.—A special despatch to the Journal says: The latest contribution to political discussion is the announcement in the French press of Montreal of a strong movement to induce Hon. E. L. Patenaude to re-enter politics and take the direction of an independent Conservative party in Quebec.

The purpose as outlined would be to renounce the leadership of Mr. Meighen and to appeal to the province on a protectionist policy. Incidentally such lieutenant as Messrs. Monty, Belley and Fauteux would be supplanted. It is stated that a very large delegation is shortly to wait upon Mr. Patenaude and urge him to accept leadership of the new movement, which he is expected to do.

Political speculation continues as to the date of the election, but as to the probability that parliament is to be dissolved little doubt is displayed. Likewise the election is looked for in October, but no date has been particularly discussed. It would depend upon the time required by the election bureau to get ready. The prime minister in his speech on Sept. 5 is expected to foreshadow dissolution, but not to announce any date for an election.

Waterfront Whiffs

Tugboat P.R.T., Capt. Harris Kerr, returned from Georgetown on Wednesday morning with a scow load of lumber for the Big Bay Co.'s yard.

A new 6 h.p. Palmer engine arrived this week consigned to Akerberg-Thomson for installation in Capt. Ed. Paulson's trolling boat. Ed. arrived in port on Wednesday afternoon from North Island and Hippo where he has been fishing all season, and the installation of the new engine will be made immediately. When the engine has been installed Cap is going down to the Barnard Cove floating cannery to add to his stake for the winter.

Bob Frizzell is installing a 200 h.p. Emmerson engine in the special boat Miss Rupert in readiness for any speed trials that may crop up during Fair Week.

While in port this week the Canadian schooner, Rose Spfl, Capt. Axel Olson, had repair work done on her gurdy.

Molars and "Monks"
"Doc" Clapperton came off the dental dry dock on Thursday and is now sporting a wonderful new set of molars. Doc, it is said, will inaugurate a new fashion in face trimmings and intends to have half his moustache shaved off to give the onlookers a better view of his lunch finders.

By the way, did you hear the story about Doc and the Buller's circus animals. When the C.P.R. boat Otter arrived, disguised as a miniature ark having aboard ponies, mules, goats, dogs, bears and monkeys. Mr. Buller was fearful lest the animals caught cold and asked Doc if he could put them inside the government shed until morning. Of course good-hearted Doc agreed but soon wished he hadn't. Just as he got to bed the animals seemed to be trying to start a war and sleep was out of the question. Quickly donning some clothes Doc marched downstairs and into the shed there to find that one of the monkeys had managed to grab the tail of a dog in the cage next door, which to show its resentment had in turn taken a firm mouthful of brother dog. After several unsuccessful attempts to loosen the monkey's hold of the dog's tail Doc had a brain wave. Getting on his hands and knees he pulled several wry faces at the monk, and that did the trick. The monk quickly let go of the dog's tail and slunk back into the corner of his cage blinking as much as to say "I'll promise to be good if you'll quit the funny faces."

Steve Ridley of Kitkatla was forced to put into port this week aboard his power boat Kay, having stripped his camshaft and crankshaft gear. This trouble was fixed at the Akerberg-Thomson shops and Steve left on Tuesday to continue his seining operations for the Somerville cannery.

Capt. Julius Johnson, owner and skipper of the power boat Lily, arrived in port on Tuesday from Port Esington to have a Manzell automatic oil feeder installed. Cap is fishing on the Skeena river.

Capt. Walter Green of Port Simpson was an arrival in port this week to have new piston rings and a new cross head pin fixed on his engine.

Power boat Prospect Park, tender to the Wallace Fisheries, was in port this week for minor repair work.

Gy Roberts of Port Simpson is having a new 6 h.p. Vivian engine installed in his trolling boat Condon which is nearing completion on the Gow Bay Creek ways. The new craft is 26 ft. long, 7 ft. 6 in. beam and has a draft of 3 ft. 6 in.

Foxes Doing Well
Andy Ness, who with his brothers is running a blue fox farm on Ness Island, Kitkatla Passage, arrived in port on Thursday after a three months' visit to the fur farm. Andy states that this year the farm has been enriched by the arrival of a number of young foxes, two separate litters of eleven pups being included, which is considered very good returns among fox farmers. The climate seems to be admirably adapted for fox raising, and Andy is very satisfied with the manner in which things are going.

INCREASE FINES TO AUTOMOBILE SPEEDERS

VICTORIA, Aug. 29.—"I am going to increase all fines against those persons who are convicted of driving automobiles to the common danger," said Magistrate George Jay, following the conviction of two drivers in the Provincial Police Court. "Fast driving along the highways, which are often enough crowded with cars, is likely to lead to serious accidents and so for the sake of the general public the offenders will be prosecuted and dealt with more severely unless speeding stops."

"Broken Laws"

A compelling, tensely dramatic story of the life of to-day. Jazz parties on Christmas Eve—swaying, half-drunken couples slithering around on the polished floor while the children watched wide-eyed from the stairs. Later, her mother's lover—later, her father drinking—the children pitifully young at a notorious roadhouse—the tragedy—manslaughter—the shadow of the chair—a little mother pleading for her son's life—the awakening. A great entertainment with a big moral. Mrs. Wallace Reid in a role which stamps her as one of the screen's greatest artistes.

Notable cast, Mrs. Wallace Reid, Percy Marmot, Ramsey Wallace, Arthur Rankin, Pat Moore, Jacqueline Saunders, Virginia Lee Corbin, Jane Wray.
