TELEGRAPH LINE TO DAWSON AGAIN OPEN

Failure of Wireless to Fill Need, Change Back to Land Wire Was Necessary

The telegraph line between Hazelton and Telegraph Creek, the link which temporarily closed to traffic on March 23 with the idea that the business could be handled by wireless, was reopened for business yesterday. Numerous complaints had come in that the service was too intermittent and could not be depended on, owing to the frequent presence of static.

Supplies have been sent in for the linemen at the various stations and everything is working through as of old.

The tryout of the wireless system was in the nature of an experiment, the business being handled by way of Edmonton and Fort Simpson, with a view to effecting economies. Finding that it was not possible to give good service that way, the change back to the old system has been made, and from this time on the business will go by wire.

Privy Council

Takes Initiative.

While Canada has been talking about abolition of the right to take Canadian cases to the Privy Council the Privy Council itself has taken action to forward the idea and has decided to restrict cases coming before it to those only which are recommended by the Governor in council or for which leave is granted by the courts themselves. The hope is also expressed by them that the courts will not see fit to grant permission except in constitutional cases.

It is often claimed that the British constitution is largely a growth rather than a set of enactments. So we find it in this case. The British court has sensed public opinion and has forestalled any drastic action on the part of Canada by itself withdrawing from functioning in a manner distasteful to a large section of the Canadian people.

Discussing the new ruling L. A. Cannon, addressing the Canadian Bar Association said:

"This indeed is more than evolution. It nearly amounts to a revolution. What a contrast with the British attitude in 1876; even where, as in Quebec, an appeal exists de piano to the privy council in certain cases, it will now be necessary to obtain in all such cases, leave to appeal from the colonial court appealed from. It is to be hoped that our Canadian courts will discourage such applications and by their decisions will help the privy council to adopt a policy restricting the exercise of the prerogative to very important constitutional cases. They should consider as final the judgment of our supreme court in all cases where the interest of the general public is not concerned. In private litigation, leave to appeal should be curtailed, as the costs are so high that even the successful party considers a favorable judgment of the privy council an expensive luxury."

Bigotry And Ignorance In Canada Says Visitor.

A New York preacher, Dr. W. S. Rainsford, visiting in Toronto a few days ago showed himself critical of religious life in this country. In a newspaper interview he is quoted as saying:

"You have had a union of three churches and I see the head of the United Church is reported to have said: 'Now that we are united we shall be able to strengthen the Sunday blue-sky law.' That is not Christianity -- it is the subjection of Christian principles to tradition and legalism. If that is the only kind of good the United Church can do, then the sooner union is blasted the better. That is the sort of downright bigotry which is driving young people from the church today."

"The trouble here in Canada is that you are smothered in ignorance," he said. "There was something wrong with your education system a generation ago, and as a result people are afraid to think along intelligent lines. Clergymen dare not teach the truth. They must teach tradition and bigotry. In religious knowledge and progress the United States is far ahead of you."

Needless to say we do not agree with Dr. Rainsford. We believe the degree of intelligence in this country is quite equal to that in the United States and that the educational system a generation ago was as good as it was in the United States and as great deal better than in some states of the Union. The illiteracy in this country does not compare with that of the country to the south.

United States Leads In Many Things.

Still it must be admitted that in many things the United States gives us a lead. There are some educational institutions from which we have been able to learn much and from which we may yet learn. They have experimented with education but that has been in spots and not generally throughout the country. We do not think it is very good taste for the eminent clergyman to come to this country and talk like he did.

LIKEABLE LAD WAS CAMPBELL

Vancouver Journalist Tells of Past Life of Boy Who Attempted to Rob Bank

W. A. DeGraves, a clever Vancouver newspaperman, in an article dealing with the boy who attempted to rob the Bank of Commerce but was caught in a trap, says:

Fred Campbell, 18-year-old "two-gun" bank bandit, is a "mystery boy."

Three times in the hands of the juvenile detention officials, once the instigator of a daring break in which a guard was severely beaten up, and later an escape from the Boys' Industrial Home at Coquitlam, Campbell has yet a warm spot in the hearts of the men who handled him on those occasions.

Is Likeable Youth

"There are very likeable things about Fred. He is a mystery to me. Never whining; never making rash promises to mend his ways, and never reviling his luck, when he wished he could be very sociable. He appeared to take everything as a matter of course, the smooth with the rough, and had a rather fatalistic way of looking at life," said Captain H. W. Collier, probation officer, who admits that Campbell had every possible chance to work out his own salvation under the approved probationary methods, but he did not "make good."

"He has not responded to the probation system," is Captain Collier's way of putting it. "A smart boy; with a good ordinary education, very bright, with more than ordinary determination for a youngster, and possessed of an adventurous spirit, Fred would have made an ideal soldier under proper leadership. The trouble is he got away to a bad start."

Although young in years, Campbell has apparently had the experience of men years older than himself. He has been a sailor, worked around wharves, and has always mixed with men his senior. It is that fact which officials believe has been his undoing.

"He is a boy of impulses, and when the urge takes him he just follows the line of least resistance," said Captain Collier, "but you can't help liking the way he takes his medicine."

At the Boys' Industrial Home the news of Campbell's latest escapade drew an amazed "Well, the little rascal. Did he do that?" from the matron, and it was plain from the tone that the young bank bandit had another friend there.

Home is Divided

There is another angle to Campbell's story. Apparently the young bandit is the victim of a divided home and the lack of home environment is said to be responsible for his waywardness.

Campbell's mother, now occupying a responsible position in an Eastern city, is apparently of a very high type. Twice since he has been in the hands of the juvenile authorities she has written asking to be kept fully informed of his welfare and requesting the authorities to keep an eye on him and do everything possible for him.

His father's whereabouts are unknown, but the first time that Campbell came into the hands of the probation officer, when 15 years of age, was on a charge of stealing money from his father. Later he was again held on a petty theft, and then on a burglary charge, and it was while detained for this that, with another inmate of the house, he overpowered a guard early one morning and escaped. The guard was able to hold on to the other inmate, but Campbell was not picked up again until the city police secured him some days later.

Eighteen Years Old

For this escape he was sent to the Boys' Industrial Home, where he made another successful break for liberty, and he was on the wanted list at the police station when he essayed the bank robbery on Friday morning which led to his arrest.

According to the official records Campbell was 18 on August 22, so that he is now six days over the age at which he would be dealt with under the Juvenile Offenders' Act.

WHEAT POOL AND FARMERS

Wheat Pool member thinks it has been of advantage although price only about $1.65 a bushel

(By G. F. Bannerman for Canadian Press) WINNIPEG, Sept. 2.—Estimates as to the amount of the final payment to be made by the Wheat Pool on account of the 1924 crop are varied but tend to centre around an additional ten cents per bushel on No. 1. All estimates are of course purely speculative since the officials of the pool show a great aptitude for keeping the business of the pool to themselves. If, however, an additional ten cents should happen to be a correct estimate, it will bring the price obtained by the pool up to $1.65, and will represent the estimated economic value of 1924 wheat as apart from fluctuating exchange and market values.

While undoubtedly here and there it is possible to find members of the Wheat Pool who, remembering that 1924 wheat was quoted at over two dollars on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, will not be satisfied with the price secured by the pool. It is also true that the majority of pool members are well satisfied with the result to date. It is interesting to note that the attitude generally among the members whom it has been possible to meet is that the duty of the pool is not to gamble for the highest price quoted on the Exchange, but to market the wheat in such a manner as to ensure stable conditions and to return a reasonable profit over the cost of production insofar as world conditions will allow.

Interim Payments

It is the consensus of opinion throughout the three prairie provinces that whatever other benefits the Wheat Pool may have got its members its greatest benefit has been the system of interim payments. By this system the farmer has had his returns from his wheat crop spread out over the crop year and in the case of the payment recently made finds in the majority of cases that he has cash on hand with which to purchase his twine and other requisites for this year's harvest.

The fact that the farmer thus has the cash for his necessary purchases means that he is not subject to the expense of borrowing from the banks in order to harvest his crop, and the full advantage of this last payment will be felt when he finds out that, instead of having to pay out seven or eight per cent for borrowed money he has that additional purchasing power from his 1925 crop with which to reduce his outstanding debt.

LIBRARIAN ASKING BOOKS BE RETURNED

Regular Meeting of Board Last Night Heard Reports on Work of Month

At the meeting of the library board last night with all the members present, the librarian reported that during the month there had been 2283 books loaned, an average of 87.8 a day. During that time there had been 36 new registrations and 19 had cancelled, leaving at the present 1929 cards out.

A few new books had gone on the shelves, five by gift and 22 by purchase, while five books had been cancelled. The total number of books now numbers 4,445.

The librarian asked that those who had not yet returned books since the summer vacation do so at once. Miss Mortimer is leaving at the end of the month and is anxious to have everything in good order before her successor takes charge.

CLARES HECLA The Furnace that Saves One Ton in Seven

The ease with which the home can be kept warm during the winter, when the Hecla is used, has endeared it to thousands of women who have to look after the furnace while the man of the house is out at work. It requires one-seventh less coal and therefore less shovelling. It is easily cleaned and correctly trimmed without waste of live coals by the independent action of its individual, triangular grate bars. Perfect heating can be maintained with the least amount of coal, with a minimum of labor, and no fuss or muss.

Its steel ribbed fire pot gathers all the heat from the coal and delivers fresh and pure air to the rooms, its fused joints preventing leakage of gas and dust. The heat is properly humidified by its circular water pan.

The Hecla will make your house a home—of comfort, peace, health and contentment during the long, arduous winter. No other furnace at any price will give you as long and satisfactory service—or save you as much trouble and money as the Hecla. Our dealer in your neighborhood will tell you the whole interesting story. If you cannot locate him, mail the attached coupon.

RUM RUNNING SWEDEN LESSENS

Immense Quantities of Liquor Was Confiscated Last Year, But Much Less This

GOTHENBURG, Sweden, Sept. 1.—Sweden's rum-running problems are rapidly decreasing, says Count Posse, head of the coast guard service. In previous years there usually were a dozen vessels in rum row on the west coast, while now there are never more than two or three that need watching. The decrease has been proportional on the east coast.

This particular work of the coast guard service is expected to become easier when the Helsingfors convention, signed recently by the Swedish government goes into effect. The convention, which increases the territorial limit to 12 miles, has been signed by 12 states.

DRUGS PICKED UP WEST VANCOUVER

Supposed to Have Been Thrown Over from Outbound Vessel by Smugglers

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1.—Wrapped in layers of cork and packed tightly in a packing case with Oriental characters marked on the outside, a big consignment of drugs has been found on the shores of West Vancouver. The find marks the third big package which has been picked up outside the Narrows in the past few months, and as a result customs officials and R. C. M. P. narcotic details are making an intensive search of the various landings along Howe Sound, the assumption being that a drug cache is located along the sound.

It is believed that the drugs are thrown overboard from outboard Oriental liners, as customs men on board the vessels when they arrive report that their watch makes it impossible for the drugs to be thrown overboard on the inward voyage. No customs men are aboard when the liners leave, however. Finding of the three consignments, valued at together about $30,000, all in the one vicinity, indicates that the dope runners are supplied with boats, according to the officials, and it is believed that the real activities of the men are cloaked under a towing service.

AMUNDSEN'S BOOK IS REJECTED BY HIS GERMAN PUBLISHERS

MUNICH, Sept. 1.—Roald Amundsen's last book has been declined by the explorer's former publishers in Munich. The manuscript was rejected because "Amundsen severed all connections with the German nation when, during the war, he returned his German decorations and resigned his honorary membership of German societies." The publishers in their statement conclude: "Not until Amundsen has made proper amends for his offensive behavior to Germany, the result of misrepresentations by the anti-German press, will this firm consent to publish any more of his works."

Amundsen is scheduled to deliver a series of lectures in Berlin prior to sailing in September for America.

VANDERHOOF

W. T. Hunter, superintendent of the Dominion experimental station at Summerland; A. F. Richards, supervisor of illustration stations in the province, and C. Tice, chief agronomist for the provincial department of agriculture, were visitors here last week. They inspected the Vanderhoof illustration which is conducted by David Turcotte.

A. B. Laird has arrived in Vanderhoof to become manager of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, succeeding J. M. Blackstock, who has gone to Vancouver, where he will be attached to the superintendent's department.

After having spent six weeks visiting here with her daughter, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. J. W. Secord has left for her home in St. Catharines, Ontario.

E. C. McGillon, prominent attorney of Omaha and former governor of the state of Nebraska, was here recently to inspect his extensive land holdings in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McCorkell and daughter have returned to Vanderhoof after a motor trip through the southern part of the province and the northwestern states.

Fred Borhaven has gone to Chilliwack with a number of cattle for show and sale.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. George Ogston have returned from a three weeks' motor trip to Seattle and Vancouver. Mrs. Robert Reid and her daughter, Miss Moore have left for Vancouver. Mrs. Reid will spend a month on the coast and Miss Moore will attend Normal

PLANE DUE BACK FROM ISLANDS ON WEATHER ALLOWING

Flight Lieutenant Earl MacLeod, in flying boat GA of the local fisheries patrol detachment, will return from the Queen Charlotte Islands the first day now that weather conditions permit. He will bring with him Major E. J. Ashton, commissioner of the Soldiers' Settlement Board, whom he took across last week. On the return of Lieut. MacLeod one of the planes will go back to the Islands to be engaged in patrol work for the balance of the season. It is possible that Squadron Leader J. H. Tudhope may make the next flight himself.

FLIGHT PLANNED FROM LONDON TO CAPETOWN

Ambitious Feat to Be Attempted in Order to Test Out Route

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Plans have reached an advanced stage for a flight from London to Capetown and back by Alan J. Coghlan and A. B. Elliott, who last winter flew to Burma and back. It was at first hoped that Sir Sefton Brancker would accompany them, but he is unable to do so.

The trip, it is hoped, will be made late this year in a DH-50 of the same type as was used on the flight to Burma except that the 240 h.p. Puma engine will be replaced by a radial air-cooled Jaguar engine of 385 h.p. In 1920 Sir Helerus van Ryneveld flew from London to South Africa on a Vickers-Rolls Royce and found that owing to the altitude at which the aerodromes on the route through Africa were situated there was great difficulty in getting the machine

CROPS FAVORABLE ALL PARTS OF CANADA

No change of importance has taken place in crop conditions during the past week, says the Bank of Montreal weekly report. Harvesting is in full swing in the Prairie Provinces, although there has been some delay from rain and with favorable weather threshing will be general within the next few days. Slight frost with possible small damage is reported from northern sections. In Quebec Province general conditions are still very good and in Ontario harvesting of abundant grain crops is being completed in warm dry weather. In the Maritime Provinces the outlook is promising, except that appeals are only fair. In British Columbia heavy rains have been of benefit to all crops.

RATE TO CHINA IS CHEAPER THAN COAST

Plan to Encourage Export Trade Seems to Work Hardship on Local People

Canada is selling bread to China cheaper than it is selling it to Vancouver, says the Vancouver Star. That is, the wheat of our Western prairies is laid down in China at a lower cost than that same grain is delivered to Vancouver bakers. In return Chinese living in this city are boycotting the trade of this port. They aim to garrotte the very people who are feeding them. Here's the proof:

Railways give a special freight rate on grain through this port intended for export. That rate is, per ton, $1.50. Ocean rate to China is, per ton, $2.75. Total rate to China from Calgary, per ton, $7.25. Railway rate to Vancouver from Calgary, per ton, $8.30.

In another way, the domestic railway rate on grain to Vancouver from points in Alberta is 4½ cents per 100 pounds. That same grain laid down in the elevator here for export is 22½ cents. On a bread basis—Canadian bread at that—it is cheaper by $1.05 a wheat ton to live in China.

Canadian railways give that cheaper freight rate to encourage export trade. If that trade boycott against British Columbia ships keeps up Canadian bread in China must be made dearer.
