Veteran Newsman Retires From Daily News Office

There are not many pioneers left who came to Prince Rupert in the early 1900's.

Of those that are left, few, if any, still hold the same type of job at which they started.

And only one of those left is a newspaperman, but today he did not show up at the office at 7:30 a.m. sharp as he has done for more than 40 years.

Bill Raymond has decided to leave regular routine for the younger members of the staff and at 75 years of age will go into semi-retirement after 52 years of newspaperwork.

The well-known, well-loved Daily News columnist whose writings have brought back many memories to the old-timers and have given many a chuckle to all his readers, will still continue his column in the News.

"But I'm just going to take things a little easier from now on. I hope to travel a bit, now and then, to become more familiar with our own back yard," said Bill yesterday as he cleaned out his desk.

Bill has been a newspaperman for 52 years and his coming to Prince Rupert is synonymous with the history of journalism in this B.C. port city.

Arriving here in May, 1909 on the steamer Princess May, Bill took a job with the first newspaper here, started by John Houston amid a turmoil resembling a near revolution.

FIRST NEWSPAPER

Houston brought his press here by steamboat in 1907 when this northern B.C. railroad terminal consisted of only a few tents but the fiery newsman was strictly forbidden to operate a newspaper.

The place didn't need a paper, didn't want one and wouldn't

Silver Jubilee Honors Village Old-Timers

Special to The Daily News

TERRACE — Tales of the early days in Terrace were the vogue here today as this village of some 2,500 residents celebrated the 25th anniversary of its incorporation.

All schools and business firms remained closed.

A dinner will be held tonight in the Civic Centre at which a special table has been set up for old-timers.

A number of Prince Rupert residents arrived last night and today to take part in the celebrations. Among them are Mayor Harold Whalen, veteran alderman George Casey, Ald. John Currie, Ald. Mike Krueger and city clerk Bill Long.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Applewhite arrived this morning by train.

Quebec Editor Attends China Peace Talks

MONTREAL — A hard hitting Roman Catholic newspaper editor is among a dozen Canadians attending the Communist sponsored peace conference in Red China, it was announced Tuesday.

The man is Gerard Filion, 43, who directs Le Devoir, a Montreal daily which guides the Nationalist opinion and promotes Roman Catholic social doctrine in Quebec province.

Mr. Filion's presence at Peiping aroused interest since he is the first newspaper man without Communist attachment to enter Communist-run China in many months.

BULLETINS

Ontario Bank Looted

PRINCETON, Ont. — Two men looted the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch here of $5,000 today and escaped in a car, witnesses said was driven by a woman. A member of the bank staff, R. R. Butson, was slugged and bound hand and foot by the bandits.

Ralph Kiner For Sale

NEW YORK — Ralph Kiner, seven-time home-run king of the National League, has been placed on the market to the highest bidder, it was learned today. Chicago Cubs and Boston Braves are reported interested in the Pittsburgh Pirate slugger, but balking at the "skyscraping" price put on Kiner.

More Convictions for Boyd

TORONTO (CP) — A jury today convicted Edwin Alonzo Boyd, his younger brother Norman, and William Jackson of robbing a suburban Leaside branch of the Royal Bank of Canada of $46,207 last Nov. 30. It recommended leniency for Norman Boyd.

From Fire Into Pan, Man Escapes Highway Perils

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Elmer Lammie ran the gauntlet of highway perils Tuesday including being run over by a truck and emerged with nothing more serious than bruises and scratches.

Lammie, police said, was in an automobile which collided head on with another car on the Pattullo bridge here and the impact tossed him from the car into the path of a moving truck.

But, police added, while the truck passed right over Lammie none of the wheels touched him and he was able to scamper to his feet almost immediately.

Civic Centre Drive Opens Tomorrow Night

The Civic Centre Association membership drive goes into high gear at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

All canvassers are asked to be at the Civic Centre at 7:30 p.m. at which time Bill Stone, association vice-president, will answer any problems.

More than 150 volunteer canvassers are expected to "cover" the city in a two-hour drive to obtain 2,500 members.

When membership cards expired last night — Sept. 30 — there were 1,800 members of the association.

Directors have pointed out that a membership of at least 2,500 is necessary to operate the centre without a loss. A deficit of some $5,000 has been shown on the books each year since 1946.

Mr. Stone, in urging everyone to join the Civic Centre said: "If you can't be home when the canvasser calls, fill out the form that appears in today's paper and leave it with your neighbor."

"Let's all leave our porch lights on as a welcome light to the canvasser.

"It's your Civic Centre. Your money made it possible.

"We want you to join your Civic Centre and take an active part in its social, physical and cultural programs. These are many and varied.

"An example is the roller skating session which gets started Friday night. Join the Civic Centre and support it.

"Welcome the voluntary canvassers by taking a membership in your Civic Centre."

FAMED AIRSHIP

World's longest airship flight was by the Graf Zeppelin from the U.S. to Germany, 3,967 miles, in 1928.

Rookie Pitcher, 2-Run Homer Decide Victory

BROOKLYN — The National League's Brooklyn Dodgers won their first game over the New York Yankees in the World Series opener today by crushing last year's world champions 4-2.

A two-run homer by Duke Snider in the sixth inning was the deciding blow in the duel between rookie pitcher Jo Black of the Dodgers and veteran Albie Reynolds.

Jackie Robinson and Peeewe Reese also homered for the Dodgers while Gil McDougald sent one over the wall for a Yankee round trip.

Several great fielding plays got Black out of trouble in the middle innings and Black and Reynolds waged a brilliant pitching duel until Snider made his four-base wallop with Reese on second in the sixth.

Robinson belted his homer as the first hit of the game which started with fine weather and 34,861 spectators.

Black, making only his third start in major league baseball, went all the way for Brooklyn. Reynolds gave up five hits before he was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth inning.

Reese's second home run in world series competition, came off Ray Scarborough in the eighth.

SNIDER HOMERS

With two out in the sixth, Reese connected for a single and Snider clouted a mighty wallop that cleared the scoreboard and the high screen atop the right field wall and landed far out in Bedford Avenue.

Yankees, who had been in threatening places in the fourth and fifth innings, fought back in the eighth and came within a run of tying the game up.

Gene Woodling, held out of the game because of a groin injury, came in as a pinch-hitter for Reynolds.

He clouted a towering triple against the screen in right centre and scored after Hank Bauer's fly. But Black, pitching superbly in pinches, retired the next two men and Reese's homer in the last half of the inning iced the game for the Dodgers.

The divisions of chemicals and explosives and of newsprint were closed out. Their directors and the director of the non-ferrous metals divisions are returning to civilian jobs.

Yoshida's Liberal party captured 55 of 80 seats, decided in early returns.

Man Sentenced by Court For Beating Baby Daughter

VANCOUVER — A man who told a North Vancouver court "I love children," Tuesday was sentenced to a year in jail when he pleaded guilty to beating his seven-month-old daughter.

The court was told that during a fit of temper Jean Pierre Foinvin fractured his daughter's jaw and tried to strangle the child.

Potvin said "I love children. I'm from a large family and I was never mistreated but I had to stop my wife from nagging and the baby was driving me crazy."

Air Force Denies Error In Bombing

SEOUL, Korea — The United States Fifth Air Force today denied Allied fighter-bombers had dropped bombs on Greek troops atop Mt. Nori Hill in western Korea last Sunday.

Four F-80 Shooting Star jets swooped down on the hill as the Greeks braced to meet a counter-attack by Chinese Reds. U.S. Eighth Army communique Sunday night said four dropped bombs that landed where the Greeks were fighting.

Today air force announcement said investigation showed "no bombs fell on friendly positions" and the fighter-bombers "did not fire their guns."

Social Credit Originator Dies in England

LONDON — Death of Major C. H. Douglas, originator of the Social Credit movement and central figure in the stormy early years of Alberta's Social Credit government, was announced Tuesday night. Seventy-three, he died at his home in Pearnan, Perthshire.

Major Douglas led a movement that excited economic and political thinking in many parts of the English-speaking world during the depression of 1933. He claimed 2,000,000 followers.

The British engineer and economist came to Alberta in 1934 at the invitation of Premier R. G. Reid's United Farmers' government. His visit paved the way for the sweep to power the next year of William Aberhart's Social Credit party.

The Dangerous Side Road

BEFORE these words are uttered the scene may change again, but by last report we are going to have an early election after all. Since a session of the House is also to be held, by Premier Bennett's declaration, the situation arouses curiosity as to what kind of legislation the Social Credit government plans to subject to such a quick death.

Within fairly broad limits, the government can expect support from the Liberal and Conservative members whose strength is sufficient to keep the session going almost as long as desired. As it is now evident, however, that the government has no intention of cruising along for an indefinite length of time with its present representation, bold developments appear to be in the offing.

Whatever happens, it will undoubtedly be well to the right. In taking this starboard course, the government will be guided not only by party principles but by the need to shake off its allies who have found that going too much in that direction is dangerous.

It will be dangerous, too, for the Premier and his cohorts, but it will also be strategic. While June 2 is still reasonably fresh in the public mind, a quick election is so much to their advantage that it is worth almost any risk to get one.

Their main problem, therefore, is to get off the middle of the road as soon as possible and deliberately head for defeat in the House.

More Explanation Needed

Officials of the Aluminum Company of America were serious in their announced intention to establish a giant project near Skagway, they would be well advised to step into public print again and do some further explaining.

It would be a good public relations move, if nothing else, for the impression has been created that in some mysterious way they expect to bull their way through into using Canadian waters with only token gestures towards the Canadian governments concerned.

This, of course, is manifestly impossible and no one watching the picture can have any doubts that some stiff bargaining lies ahead. Yet the tone of ALCOA's pronouncements so far leaves little room for anything but this startling interpretation.

Having stated with a certain amount of detail and a considerable amount of confidence their plans for the area, company executives add in an incidental way that unidentified Canadian officials are co-operating. From this it would almost appear that the whole matter is being handled through our trade commissioners, or equivalent representatives, in the States. This also is an absurd conjecture, but the company's extraordinary approach to publicizing its project allows no other.

A more conventional and more acceptable method would have been first to go into consultation with the appropriate federal and provincial authorities in Canada and then, if agreeable to both sides, to release a joint statement that the scheme was under consideration.

Without this or some further explanation, we are forced to assume that either ALCOA has little concern for the Canadian part in the scheme, or that the announcement was thrown up as a trial balloon to see how somebody unknown to us would react.

In any case, it is not good public relations, and those citizens who are madly buying up real estate in Skagway probably do not think so either.

LETTERBOX

Editor, Daily News:
We are indeed pleased with your summing up of our brief in your leading Editorial of the 24th. We believe that this is a serious matter of concern for the entire province and an issue which for several reasons should be considered the most important the new Provincial Government has to face.
One relevant paragraph was inadvertently omitted from our brief:
"A Toronto Mining Company is diamond drilling at present and other mining companies have done a large amount of work, drilling, drifting etc., in the mountains to the west and south of Whitesail Lake. The results indicate large mineral bodies and the likelihood of good mines being opened. Transportation by water is the only possible outlet. These, too, would be wiped out."

Highway Secretary,

Board of Trade.

As I See It

by Elmore
Philpott

Letter to Abbott

Dear Mr. Abbott: I see by the papers that you are worried by the size of your surplus. It seems you have too much money in the bank because, once again, your taxes have brought in a great deal more than you figured.

I see also that the fact the U.S. dollar is now at a discount is playing hob with some of our most important industries in Canada, namely the wheat farmers, the pulp and paper makers, the gold and base metal miners, and so on.

Why not kill two birds with one stone? Why not use your hundreds of millions of dollars now lying idle in Canada to buy Canadian stocks and bonds on the open market in U.S.A.?

By my layman's figuring the treasury of Canada would net a clear profit of three per cent every time you exchanged an idle Canadian dollar for an interest-bearing bond held in U.S.A. Also, by my figuring, you could use this same painless process to restore absolute parity between the Canadian and U.S. dollars with great benefit to those, like wheat farmers and miners, whose ultimate prices are fixed on the world market value of the U.S. dollar. I am, yours truly, etc.

THE FACT that the Canadian dollar has been at a heavy premium over the U.S. dollar in recent months gives many a Canadian a mild chuckle—especially when so many visitors blow their tops at having to pay the exchange rates. Many Canadians not unreasonably remember the time when earlier contingents of tourists were cashing in handsomely the other way around.

Who did not get a smile out of the story of the Canadian top banker who opened his speech to assembled New York bankers thus:

"Unaccustomed as I am to speaking in soft currency countries . . .

But over a period of years a Canadian dollar, valued even five percent over the U.S. dollar would be a disastrous thing for this country. It would be an extra five percent tariff on Canadian exports to U.S.A. and it would be a like penalty on U.S. investment and tourist money coming into Canada.

I WOULD like to hear from Mr. Abbott on the above uncopied plan, either by letter or better still by action. But just in case the Minister of Finance does not answer I should also like to hear from readers:

What do you think of a plan to reduce the exchange differences between the countries by using idle Canadian funds to reduce Canadian interest-bearing debts held in U.S.A.?

Would such a plan work, and if not why not?

I would also like to get readers' ideas as to whether or not it is a good thing to have the Canadian dollar valued higher than the U.S. dollar, and also whether it is ever a good thing to have the U.S. dollar valued higher than our own.

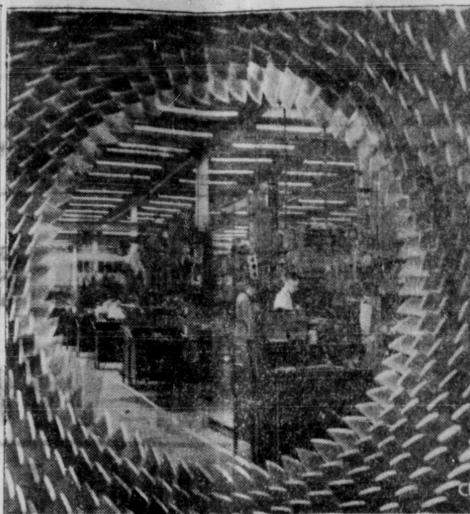

OUR TROUBLE with ordinary Canadians is that they think such things as gold prices, money exchange rates and so forth are far too complicated for them to understand. Yet only a few months ago we had a good example of how public pressure can change and unwise policy. Our Minister of Finance, urged on by mounting Canadian protest, finally led an international revolt at the arbitrary fixing of gold selling prices by the U.S. treasury. Canada re-won a tiny slice of her freedom to sell some gold wherever she could get the most for it.

11 Dead in Latest Korean Casualties

OTTAWA—The Army Tuesday issued its 138th casualty list of the Korean war, reporting one man dead of wounds and 10 men wounded in action. The last previous list was issued Sept. 24. CHURCHILL, Man.—Several tons of Eskimo carvings have been sent from Ungava Bay to the Candian Handicraft Guild at Montreal. Most of the work was done in soft stone since ivory is scarce, partly due to the fact there has been no organized walrus hunt by Ungava Eskimos in recent years.

NEW JET PLANT—A 700,000 square foot, multi-million dollar jet engine plant at Malton, Ont., built by the federal government and operated by Avro Canada, was officially opened Monday by Production Minister Howe. ## VICTORIA REPORT

by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA—Ah, the vagaries of politics, its ups and downs!

Mrs. Nancy Hodges and Mrs. Tilly Rolston, two doughty legislative fighters, are perfect examples.

A few days ago this reporter went to Cowichan Lake to see a logging operation for the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association. It was an interesting day, and exciting to see a high-rigger take the top off a 140-foot tree and then to see falling and bucking, the most hazardous operation in the woods. Mrs. Rolston and Mrs. Hodges made the trip. This time last year Mrs. Hodges was Madam Speaker of the Legislative Assembly. Mrs. Rolston was a back-bencher, at odds with the Coalition government. Mrs. Hodges had all the prestige.

Now it's the other way round. Mrs. Rolston is a member of the cabinet, only woman cabinet minister in Canada's history.

Mrs. Rolston drove up to Cowichan in the government's shining chauffeured limousine; Mrs. Hodges went along in a bus; she's now a back-bencher.

However, they're good scouts, Nancy and Tilly, and they're looking forward to legislative battling. They've been in the Legislature 10 years, but the exigencies of politics were such that they weren't allowed to fight. Tilly was elected a Conservative in 1941, and Nancy a Liberal the same year. But last was the year Coalition came about and they had to hide their political differences to present a bold front so that the CCF could be kept down. No doubt, more than once, during those years, Mesdames Hodges and Rolston wished they could have snapped at each other, but they bridled their feelings in the interest of Coalition. No, they did not like so doing, any more than the men.

In the last three sessions, Mrs. Hodges, as Madam Speaker, couldn't make speeches or take part in legislative debate. Much as Mrs. Hodges liked the prestige of the Speakership, and the extra $1,800 a year, she didn't enjoy being silenced. More than once she itched to get into the fray, but she held her tongue. Now she's free. The Legislature will be a brighter place with her in there scrapping and punching. She and Madame Minister Rolston are bound, you may be sure, to have some differences of opinion. Next session, too, the CCF will have a woman member, Mrs. Laura Jamieson. She's also a good fighter in the House. She was there before, and she could take on Mesdames Hodges and Rolston at one and the same time. No one could ever decide who won, but everyone enjoyed the scrap. Those were the good old days, when there were five women in the House—Mrs. Jamieson, Mrs. Dorothy Steeves and Mrs. Grace MacInnis of the CCF, Mrs. Rolston and Mrs. Hodges. They fought among themselves, sometimes, but every now and then they ganged up on the men—and five of them could usually get their way. The trip to Lake Cowichan was featured by four women in public life. In addition to Mrs. Hodges and Madame Minister Rolston there were Senator Annabelle Rankin of Australia and Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Conservative MP for Hamilton, the only woman member of the House of Commons. It was quite a mixture of political thought, but the ladies had a fine time chatting among themselves and gawking, like the men, as a high rigger climbed a 140-foot tree and, topping it, tarried the city folk by shouting "timber!"

Veteran Newsman

time to get out of this part of the country. Newspapers keep a fellow pretty busy."

But that may be changed now, allows the veteran reporter. It is just likely, he says, that he will be walking along Granville Street in Vancouver some day. "Just for a short trip, of course."

Born in the seaside village of St. Martins, New Brunswick, Bill took his first schooling in Seattle in 1887. Previous to this, he lived with his parents in Butte City, Montana and in Helena, Missoula and in the Bitter Root Valley in the same state.

The family returned to New Brunswick in 1888 over the Canadian Pacific Railway route through Vancouver, Calgary Regina and east.

BOER WAR VETERAN
When war broke out in South Africa in 1899, the 22-year-old youth who had not yet given newspaper writing a thought, enlisted and went overseas with Canada's first contingent of 1,000 men. Throughout the Boer War he served in G Company under Col. W. D. Otter.

After recuperating from enteric fever in an English hospital Bill Raymond sailed for home. He recalls one characteristic of the English.

"A complete stranger there, but I made many good friends. They called me 'Yankee' however, because I said 'I guess' instead of 'I say, there.'"

On his return to Saint John, New Brunswick while wondering what to do for a living, Raymond found he had unwittingly become a war correspondent during his absence.

BECOMES REPORTER
While in South Africa, Raymond wrote a few letters home. City editor of the Saint John morning daily lived in the same apartment as did the Raymonds and borrowed the letters for publication.

When the soldier returned home, said the city editor: "Why not join the newspaper?" And Bill did.

That was the start. From the Saint John Telegraph the reporter moved to the Montreal Herald five years later, then on to Saskatoon to join the Daily Capital which subsequently became part of the Star-Phoenix. A few weeks after his arrival in the prairie city, he read a report that a huge water tank on top of the Montreal Herald building crashed through the roof and through the editorial rooms. Casualties were men at whose side Raymond had recently been working.

In Prince Rupert there are not many who do not know of Bill Raymond. From his initial start in the city's first newspaper, the Evening Empire, "Ray" as he is often called became the paper's editor.

John Houston sold the Empire to the late S. M. Newton who served here as mayor for many years. Newton erected the building on Third Avenue which served as the Empire office until the Prince Rupert Daily News bought the paper in 1947.

Due to illness, Newton sold out to three of his employees in 1928, one of whom was Raymond, the editor. Other two were printers, the late A. O. Franks and S. D. Macdonald.

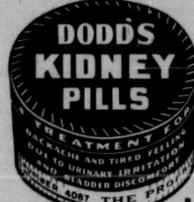

Following the death of his two partners, Raymond carried on for a couple of years until H. G.

T. Perry bought the Empire assets in 1947.

But that, of course, was not the end of Raymond's newspaper career. He came to the News—the opposition for many years—and began writing his column, Ray Reflects and Reminiscences.

And he's still going to keep on writing it with the assurance that many of his readers are very happy to continue reading it.

Once a newspaperman, always a newspaperman—that's Bill Raymond.

VICTORIA REPORT

Senator Rankin, a spinster, is a pretty woman, with reddish hair and a big-blue-eyed smile; Mrs. Fairclough is tall and slim, with grey hair, and she wore high heels in the woods as if they didn't hurt her. Mrs. Hodges was severely tailored, as usual, in her always perfect taste; her shoes were stout brogues, and she had green flowers in her hat. Mrs. Reiston looked pretty smart, too, and carried furs.

It was interesting to observe these four women who have made their mark in public life—and I realized, once more, that a woman, to reach the top, as these four have done, must have exceptional qualities. The voters are much choosier about women than they are about men. And, I decided once more, that we could do with more women in public life. There's only one weakness women have that they carry into public life, I think, and that is that they are sometimes inclined to take the rough and tumble of the political game a little too personally.

And, talking with Senator Rankin, I learned that in Australia, Senators are elected—and I decided once more that it's high time we elected our Senators in Canada, instead of appointing them for life.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

CHAMP TEACHES 'EM; MUCH TO HIS SORROW

"Why should I give lessons?" says old Mr. Dale. "My opponents are tough enough to beat as it is."

Mr. Champion doesn't go along with this thinking. He does it to prove how smart he is. And he never seems to realize how he pays for it.

His "pupils" seem to score brilliantly against him and to lose it up thoroughly when they are his partners. Even Mr. Muzzy occasionally scores against him by misapplying the great man's advice.

Mr. Champion has been haranguing Mr. Muzzy lately about the wisdom of refusing to win a trick the first time you have the opportunity to do so. This failed to sink into Mr. Muzzy's brain until today's deal.

Mr. Dale opened the six of hearts and the queen lost to Mr. Champion's ace. After giving Miss Brash a dirty look for going on to three no trump, Mr. Champion set about proving he could make it anyway.

He led the jack of clubs and let it ride. Blandly, Mr. Muzzy played the deuce. Here he had not one, but two, cards which could win the trick. This was following Mr. Champion's advice doubly.

Mr. Muzzy didn't know it at the time, but this was the only play to defeat the contract. Mr. Champion continued with the six of clubs and went into a long

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Far be it from an old National League partisan to offer false hope to fellow sufferers of recent years, but this might possibly be the World Series where we give those American Leaguers their lumps.

Harold Thom Takes Trophy In Trap Shoot

Harold Thom, vice-president of Prince Rupert Rod and Gun Club holds the Northern and Interior B.C. trap-shooting championship following the shoot-off at Terrace last Sunday.

Shooting 23 clays out of 25, Thom beat out 22 other competitors for the individual trap-shooting trophy which is currently displayed at Cook's Jewellers.

Terrace Rod & Gun Club, however with two strong teams took away the club trophy shooting 107 and 114 with two seven-man teams. Prince Rupert team scored 89 with one team which the city club president Jim Bacon said "was not a very good representation" from Prince Rupert sharpshooters.

Runner-ups to Thom for the individual cup were George Robinson, of Prince Rupert and Cecil Blackburn, of Terrace, each with 20 out of a possible 25.

As Manager Charles Dressen of our glorious Dodgers so aptly points out, they can be licked—it's just that they haven't been lately.

We've been looking over the Dodgers' record for the season and are struck by a number of things which might bring cheer, the principal one of which is the strong indication that they no longer roll over and play dead when the going gets rough, but get rough, themselves.

The last time our champions were out west, you may recall, St. Louis Cardinals were hotter than a depot stove and were threatening to move right in on the leaders. The Dodgers knocked them off four straight, and you never heard of Eddie Stanky's team again.

Then they went into that five-game series with the Giants, when people were yelling that the panic was on again. They dropped the first two at the Polo Grounds, all right, but came back swinging to take two of the next three and ease the pressure to the vanishing point. They bashed the Phillies to win the pennant.

In other words, while it is true that our heroes built up the great lead they held late in August at the expense of the stragglers, it is equally in evidence that they refused to fold here in the last few weeks when the he-wolves were howling around their door.

HOPEFUL SIGN

That is, perhaps, the most hopeful sign. For another thing, the Dodgers were remarkably consistent when one considers the confused state of their pitching for much of the season. Maybe they don't have any pitching, as some American Leaguers claim, but somebody must have ben out there with that rosin bag.

The Dodgers were in the lead or were tied for the top on all but 16 days of the race. They held undisputed possession of first place from June 1 on. They never were more than 2½ games off the pace, having trailed the Giants by that margin May 28. They held their longest lead, 10½ games, on August 25 and 26.

As a fitting reward for having knocked their league opponents bowlegged, Dressen's stalwarts enter the series fully rested and loaded, one presumes, with home runs. That will be a lot different from the last three years when our boys staggered into the series bery-eyed from winning out on the last day or in a playoff. The Yanks won't be the fat cats this time.

SCIENTISTS FORECAST

mon's wanderings. But they admit the job will be difficult.

In 1913 the B.C. sockeye catch was 648,586 cases of 48 pounds each while all other species totalled 47,463 cases. The total catch had a value of about $7,000,000 at that time.

In the cyclic year of 1937 the sockeye catch was down to 325,774 cases but the catch of all other species—because of commercial education and demand—had risen to 1,183,401 cases.

Last year's sockeye catch was 428,299 cases with a market value of $15,990,371 while all other species totalled 1,528,097 cases worth $31,377,545.

After 17 years in football, Old Joe is still tops and he says he won't quit until he's kicked out. He came to Edmonton this year as line coach and early in the season went into action at outside (end). He led the Western Conference scoring after six games. Good Hunting at Babine; Quintet Bags Four Moose

A six-day hunting trip for five Prince Rupert businessmen paid off well—for all but one, but he won't go hungry, either.

Tommy Boulter, Jr., Dom Dominato, Bud Schuman and Al Manson each got a moose. Sev Dominato missed, but as he said, "it's all in the family," referring to his brother Dom's good marksmanship.

Dom and Al Manson each got a bear as well, during the three days spent 16 miles north of Topley on the Babine Road. The quintet also bagged a coyote.
