INITIATION—Even in southeast Asia, university freshmen are initiated. But at Chulalongkorn University the faculty makes it official, setting a day aside for the readings and taking part. The new students are "humbled" physically first by walking a path of leafy branches, wielded by all the other undergraduates, through a series of arches set by the faculty on the university campus. Exhausted after the three-hour ordeal they are paraded into the convocation hall for an address of welcome by the principal, followed by a sermon from a Buddhist monk on the proper approach to studies. ## Yanks Even Series With 7-1 Victory Raschi Hurls Three-Hitter

BROOKLYN (CP)—Vic Raschi's three-hit pitching, undaunted Yankee power displayed in a five-run sixth inning gave the New York Yankees a 7-1 triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers today in the second game of the 1952 World Series.

The victory evened the series at one game each.
 In the sixth inning, the Yankees looked like the old time murderers row that used to swamp all opposition but it was just a climax to a series of scoring threats that saw Yankee runners on bases in each of the first six innings.
 Carl Erskine, Brooklyn pitcher, was in constant trouble before he was finally removed with bases filled. The teams move to New York tomorrow.

Japan Ousts Communists

TOKYO (CP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida and his Liberal party have won a clear majority in Japan's House of Representatives, virtually assuring the continuation of the country's pro-American policies.
 Voters refused to return a single Communist to office in yesterday's election. In the old Diet (parliament) Communists had 23 seats.

Premature Report on Blast Hinted

LONDON (CP)—The Evening News today splashed an unconfirmed report that the first British atom explosion has taken place on the Monte Bello Islands off Australia.
 The Evening News says there are strong reports in London that the blast has taken place and has been successful.
 A Reuters correspondent on Onslow, 85 miles from the island test site, cabled at the time of the News edition appeared that strong high altitude winds were delaying the blast and would unlikely take place at least until tomorrow.

Former Korean Commander Forecasts Armistice—But Doesn't Know Why

VANCOUVER (CP)—Maj.-Gen. A. J. H. Cassels thinks there will be an armistice in Korea in six or nine months—but he can't say why.
 It isn't for security reasons that he couldn't say why, the former commander of Commonwealth troops told reporters in an interview here.
 "I have a hunch there will be a Korean armistice within six to nine months," he said.
 "Why, I don't know."

GOLD VANISHES—The wire cage in the cargo room at Malton airport near Toronto holds three boxes of gold similar to six boxes which vanished after armed guards delivered them for a Trans-Canada Air Lines shipment. The small padlock at left was the only guard on the consignment, awaiting shipment by plane. Police are investigating the quarter-million-dollar loss, revealed more than 12 hours after the gold had vanished. (CP PHOTO)

He will be accompanied by W. H. Brett, president of the Prince Rupert club.

Representatives from all northern ridings will attend the conference at which Frank Snowsall, CCF organizer for B.C., will speak.
 Following the meeting, which takes place Saturday and Sunday, Mr. Hills will leave for the annual meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities at Vernon.

Mayor Harold Whalen, Mr. Hills and city clerk Bill Long will represent this city at the UBCM convention.

CITY ROD & GUN CLUB PLANS TRAP SHOOTING

Police Use Tear Gas But Bedlam Continues

By The Canadian Press
 Police moved in shortly after 1:30 p.m. with tear gas but bedlam continued.
 One report said the riot started when the warden refused prisoners request for program of one man to a cell instead of three men as at present.

VANCOUVER—Two prison guards are being held as hostages by rioting prisoners at Oakalla jail in adjoining Buraby.

The riot is reported to have broken out at noon today in the prison farm which houses 800 men.
 Police reinforcements were rushed from Vancouver by car and RCMP were called in from suburban districts. The prison is located about nine miles from downtown Vancouver.
 Details were not immediately available but one report said 90 men were involved in demonstrations.
 Prisoners could be heard shouting as police cars entered the gates.
 Prison officials refused to give any information over the telephone.

"There is trouble. That is all I can say," one official said.
 There are less than 100 prisoners involved in the rioting, said a later report. One prisoner is in a barricaded cell block, Alexander Valtkin, sentenced yesterday to hang January 8 for slaying Joseph Hyland.

POW Riot Signal For Break-Out
CHEJU ISLAND, Korea (CP)—Yesterday's rioting of this prisoner of war island was the prelude to a planned mass escape of 5,884 Chinese Communists, United States authorities said today.
 Maj.-Gen. Thomas W. Herren told correspondents the riot was to be the signal for a mass breakout but that U.S. troops moved in and broke the back of the planned revolt.
 Fifty-six of the rioting prisoners were killed or fatally wounded. More than 100 others were injured.
 Herren said the break was planned for Oct. 1, the third anniversary of the Chinese Communist regime.

Missionary Charges Reds In Courtenay

COURTENAY, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. Rose Wong, an American missionary recently returned from Red China, charged here that Communist agents are operating in Courtenay.

Mrs. Wong, who described her missionary work in China during an address here, claimed Red agents work among Chinese in Victoria and other Canadian cities as well as in Courtenay.
 Fear of reprisals on their relatives in China has kept local Chinese from saying who is sending money back to China, she said.
 She said she knew of an area the approximate size of Victoria in which 5,000 inhabitants were slaughtered by Communists because money had not been forthcoming from America.

Iraq, the former Mesopotamia, often has temperatures of 120 degrees in summer, and severe frosts in winter.

AT PRINCE RUPERT
 From Oct. 17 to 19, governor-general will spend a private holiday at Qualicum, near Victoria. He boards the Sioux again to visit coast towns of Friendly Cove and Mackenzie Rock.

The Sioux will carry the viceregal party to Prince Rupert. After visit there, the party boards the train for a visit to Prince George.

ICY REGION
 Greenland has a total area of 827,000 square miles, of which more than 700,000 are ice-capped.

Civic Centre Drive Aims At 2500 Membership Total

Mayor Harold Whalen today issued a call to all citizens of Prince Rupert to support the Civic Centre.

"Tonight you will be asked to join the Civic Centre. Don't hesitate in your decision. The Civic Centre is our greatest asset.
 "It is a centre for all and everyone should support it, even if we do not all take advantage of the many facilities.
 "The indirect benefits to the community as a whole can not be measured, but as juvenile delinquency is a problem which is the responsibility of all citizens and the operation of a Civic Centre is the most dominant factor in the fight against this problem, I feel that we must all rally behind this membership drive and make positive of the down.

They Are Our Concern

WHEN cases are reported of children in tragic or unfortunate circumstances, it is timely to focus our attention on all those small citizens among us whose welfare we are too often inclined to take for granted.

There is a common assumption that children are not our business unless they belong to us. To a very limited extent, this is true. Unless family life afforded some protection from interference by others, it would have perished long ago and a child's life would be primarily a fight for survival.

At the same time, a community governed entirely by this theory would be aloof beyond bearing or it would be overrun by a mob of young bandits. There would be no playgrounds, no summer camps, no recreation rooms, no youth organizations, no supervised games and, if carried to the ultimate, no schools.

It is, therefore, a dangerous and callous fallacy to suppose that we have no responsibility for children in general. To get to the truth of it, they should instead be the object of our main collective attention.

The fact is that children as a whole are at a disadvantage. Although they make up a large part of any community, they have no voice in that community's affairs. If neglect is to be their lot, they must accept it and in a desperate, undisciplined manner find their own amusement.

If they are too young even for that, they must remain where they are, the passive victims of whatever disaster should move their way.

On the parents rests a good share of the responsibility to protect them, but not so much as many complacently imagine. Neighborhood conditions are frequently too rank, as applied both to humans and property, for even the most conscientious and devoted parents to combat them. The Prince Rupert area has such conditions and they are a blemish of shame.

In other cases the influences working against parents are less obvious but equally destructive. If the germ of neglect is abroad, it will have little respect for property value. It may be transmitted through companionship, regardless of surroundings.

In many respects, Prince Rupert is more generous than most communities in providing for its children. It has good schools and a number of individuals and organizations who are on the alert for young people's happiness. In the Civic Centre it has recreational facilities probably unexcelled anywhere in Canada by cities of comparable size.

But these by themselves cannot cope with the task if they are competing with public indifference. The plight of our children is the concern of each one of us. If a child dies from malnutrition, that is our concern. If a child is wandering the streets at night, that is our concern. If a child commits a public offence, that is our concern. If a child is left without care, that is our concern.

These junior citizens need our help, not our horror.

All Eyes on the 'Series'

IT IS here again, the World Series, the greatest attraction in the world of sport which each year draws thousands of spectators, millions of radio listeners and of late millions of television viewers.

Typically an American show, the World Series however, draws high equal attention from its neighboring country, Canada. The Series appears to draw more interest in every quarter of the continent than presidential elections, wars, success stories or tales of human conflict and tragedy.

Perhaps it is because baseball in itself represents the core of drama and when the champions of two lineups of the best in the sport from the American continent meet for world supremacy, the plot is well laid for the height in dramatics.

And while the whole continent is split in its support of the two sides which strain for victory, it is at the same time drawn to one focal point. Therein, perhaps, lies the greatest benefit of the World Series, for likely no other event than it and the National Hockey League playoffs so have drawn together two nations—the U.S. and Canada.

Even from Prince Rupert, which geographically is the Canadian city farthest away from New York and the World Series vicinity, spectators have travelled to the big event.

As I See It

Movie Saucers Silly

MANY things that Hollywood movie makers do hardly make sense to me. But one forthcoming movie on Flying Saucers seems to me not only not to make sense but to be evidence of gross irresponsibility.

Collier's magazine for October 4 has a full color preview article on Paramount's forthcoming film "War of the Worlds." It is a re-write of H. G. Wells lurid but silly novel written fifty years ago. Many of us can remember the panic in 1938 when Orson Welles did a far too realistic broadcast, based on the Wells book. Notwithstanding the fact that news of the U.S. city panic was printed all over the world, the same radio show, repeated in South America, produced an even bigger panic.

Remember that these panics occurred years before the numerous reports of strange swift, mystery aircraft.

THE COLLIER'S article says that the movie is "properly terrifying" as the movie-imaged saucers are shown "devastating the city of Los Angeles, wiping out an entire Army command post, levelling mountains, demolishing sky-scrapers."

It seems to me that this sort of a movie can do real harm at a time like this. (But I'll sure see it anyway.) There are between 400 and 500 well authenticated cases of "mystery craft" having been seen in the past few years. But there is not a single case where any of the flying saucers made the slightest hostile gesture toward orthodox planes or towards people on earth. We laymen are no nearer to solving the mystery as to whether or not they are secret weapons, made by and for the U.S.A. or whether they really are space ships.

But an idea once planted in millions of minds can be a deadly thing. If space ships ever do arrive here from Mars or any other planet they will not be manned by super-killers who come only to kill and destroy. They will be manned by creatures at least as advanced as we are scientifically and morally. We should be prepared to meet friends not enemies. If Mars space men get here before we get there.

OUR OWN planet has often been described as "the lunatic asylum of the universe." If scientists from Mars, or elsewhere, are really making systematic observations of our queer species the folks back home must surely be getting an earful.

The Martian scientists could report that the chief industry of Homo Sapiens in the first fifty years of this century has been self-destruction and mutual slaughter, and that the earthmen were now nearing the point where they could not only annihilate themselves, but blow up their entire planet.

IF MARSMEN ever do land here with weapons in hand the present big power struggle between bloc led by USSR and USA will be over before you can say Jack Robinson. Overnight Uncle Sam and Uncle Joe will again be as pals-walsy as they were when an earlier menace to both—Hitler—compelled them at the point of a gun to become allies.

There is nothing like a new and bigger enemy to make the pint-size fighters forget smaller enemies.

But for my money—that is a poor bet. If another planet has creatures advanced enough to fly here they will also be advanced enough not to come as killers lower than beasts.

SHIFTING POPULATION WINNIPEG (CP)—The city of Winnipeg lost more than 500 civic voters within a year, according to the assessment department's preliminary count for the October civic elections. So far the voting list has 162,819 names, compared with 163,335 a year ago.

Reflects and Reminisces

Canadian statesmen have accepted funds during, and not during elections. Press and public remained silent, for no one could think of being otherwise. Macdonald, King, Lapointe. Fielding were only a few who had wealthy admirers. Lapointe, who by the way has been in Prince Rupert, is said to have been a poor man indeed and needed all the aid or co-operation that could come his way.

Announcement to the effect that to drink beer standing up risks a heavy fine seems like an absurdity. To be much safer is to drink sitting at a table. In the old brass rail days, it was the other way around.

A MERE EIGHT YEARS Of the thousands of unsolicited manuscripts mailed in the U.S. each year, only a tiny percentage ever get into type. One house recently looked back over its records, and found that in eight years it had received sixteen thousand such manuscripts. Three were published.

Korea, Burma, Joseph Stalin and Joseph Walcott may as well say there will be no real news for the rest of the week. But there might be something doing by getting in touch with the World Series.

It's orchard time in Prince Rupert. Believe it or not, there are apple trees, with juvenile sized fruit, heavily laden boughs, a northern color (whatever that is) and a melancholy taste.

AMPHIBIAN TACTICS With approach of cold weather, an amphibian campaign will soon be under way on the Labrador coast. In other words, bitter gales and snow, and if not actual warfare, so close to it, the polishing of one's eye-glasses becomes at once essential.

Four moose, two bear and a coyote in less than a week's hunting trip in Central British Columbia is a distinguished reward for five Prince Rupert hunters.

Since the zoo took its departure from Prince Rupert, bound for Vancouver, it's exhibits of interesting looking animals along the way proved deeply interesting. Some folks are reported to have said that had a horse been included, the show would have been a knockout.

"It may not be so far away," remarks Premier Bennett of British Columbia, speaking of election possibilities. Another one of these super-careful little remarks. Making guarded statements is becoming a habit.

The twenty-fourth of this month will be the seventh anniversary of United Nations Day, when there took place in San Francisco the launching of the greatest effort in history to create a lasting peace and bring about the economic and social advancement of mankind. It's a significant opportunity for people everywhere to reaffirm their faith. There is still need.

Railroad Head, Former Drydock Manager Retires in Vancouver

VANCOUVER—Retirement of Bernard A. Allen, Vancouver, manager, British Columbia district and coast steamship service of the Canadian National Railways, after a long career in the Canadian transportation field was announced here by J. R. McMillan, vice-president, western region.

The vice-president also announced the appointment of J. J. Behan to succeed Mr. Allen. Mr. Behan comes to Vancouver from Winnipeg where he has served as general superintendent of transportation.

A native of Port Williams, N.S., Mr. Allen's early railroad career embraced car ferry terminal operations, shipbuilding and repairs throughout the Maritimes. After successfully holding the position of assistant engineer on the Grand Trunk and the Saint John Drydock and Shipbuilding Company, he joined the CNR as assistant engineer in the railway's bureau of economics in 1924.

Four years later he was appointed assistant economist in the bureau of economics and in 1939 was appointed assistant economist in the department of research and development.

AT DRY DOCK

Mr. Allen made valuable contributions to Canada's military effort during World War II. Early in the war, he was sent from Montreal to Halifax to organize lighterage facilities at that busy port. Under his direction, Halifax doubled its tonnage capacity.

As assistant to the general manager of the CNR's drydock and shipyard at Prince Rupert, he helped supervise the construction of warships, 10,000-ton cargo vessels and marine repair work for the Canadian government. In 1944, he became manager.

Following wartime experience in the field of marine transportation, Mr. Allen was appointed assistant general superintendent of the British Columbia district in 1946 with headquarters at Vancouver. Appointed general superintendent March 11, 1947, he was made manager the same year.

A bachelor of science graduate from the University of New Brunswick, Mr. Allen gained a wide knowledge of the transportation field. Associated with shipbuilding concerns on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, he also studied bus and truck operations with a New York consulting group.

Mr. Allen, prior to his joining the CNR, was associated with the Dominion Atlantic Railway as an instrument-man, later assistant engineer, at the Cape Tormentine, N.B.-Borden, P.E.I. car ferry terminals.

One of his main jobs in the CNR economics bureau was in connection with the integration of the many railroads which now form the Canadian National Railways. During his career, Mr. Allen also studied transportation practices in the United Kingdom.

James J. Behran has been railroading for more than 41 years. Born in Toronto on February 27, 1896, Mr. Behran began work there in 1911 as a clerk in the accounting department of the Canadian Northern Railway. He served overseas in World War I and later returned to Toronto and railway service in the office of the general superintendent. In 1923 he was transferred to Montreal and was appointed district superintendent of car service there in 1927.

In 1939 he was transferred to the western region as superintendent of car service. Eight years later he was appointed assistant general superintendent of transportation and in 1949 became general superintendent of transportation at Winnipeg, from where he now moves to his new position.

Square Dance Club Planned

All persons interested in forming a square dance club are requested to attend a meeting in the Civic Centre Saturday night. The object of this club is to plan a square dance session in the Civic Centre every other Saturday night during the coming season.

This club is to be run in connection with the Civic Centre and will be one of the many programs presented to Civic Centre members.

Mayor Whalen congratulated the village on its development and said he hoped it would continue to strive ahead.

Ald. Currie was making his first visit to Terrace in 30 years. Believed to be the oldest active alderman in Canada, he came here first when there was only a railway station, a sawmill and a couple of farms.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Miss Brash's gambling three-no-trump bid should have been defeated. That is, the defenders could have won the first five tricks in the heart suit. But Mr. Muzzy effectively loused up the play at the very first trick.

Mr. Champion opened his fourth best heart, the six. Trying to show no sign of distress, Miss Brash bravely played low from the board. Mr. Muzzy obligingly played the king—and the chance to beat the hand was gone.

Mr. Muzzy is completely unpredictable. Often he will refuse to go up with the king third hand in a situation where he should make that play. His reason at those times is that he doesn't want to "sacrifice" his king to declarer's ace.

For some reason he didn't have that fear in today's hand. "Why not play your 10 on the first trick, Muzzy?" inquired Mr. Champion savagely.

Mr. Muzzy had an answer ready. "Because Miss Brash might have had the lone jack," he replied.

"She couldn't have the jack," said Mr. Champion. "She could not have any card higher than the six spot. Use the rule of 11. Subtract six from 11 and that leaves five. There were five cards outside my hand, higher than the six. You had three higher hearts and the dummy had two. Therefore Miss Brash didn't have any."

Mr. Muzzy was confused. Falling back on one of his old alibis he said, "I always play third hand high—and most of the time it's the right play."

Mr. Champion never gives up.

COMMAND 3RD—Lt. Col. H. F. Wood of Toronto is the commanding officer of the 3rd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry which will sail for Korea next month. The unit, under Lt. Col. Wood, has been training for several months at its Wainwright, Alta., base. On arrival in Korea to relieve the 1st Battalion, the 3rd will undergo a short period of "theatre" training. "Sometimes it's the right play," he yelled. "You've got to know when it's right and when it's wrong." "Well, why didn't you open the jack of hearts," said Mr. Muzzy desperately. "Then with the queen on the board, right under my king-10, I couldn't have gone wrong."

This sensational suggestion silenced even Mr. Champion.

Politician's Double Retires From Long Railroad Service

VANCOUVER—Russell J. Burland of Victoria, Canadian Pacific Railway district passenger agent on Vancouver Island since 1943 and known to hundreds of U.S. tourists as a close double for the late Wendell Wilkie retired Tuesday after 47 years service.

Succeeding him is Charles L. Burpee, formerly CPR general agent in Washington, D.C., and a member of a well known Canadian Railway family.

Burpee has been with the CPR since 1918, starting in his native city of Saint John N.B. as a stenographer. He is a son of the late F. F. Burpee, former secretary to the Board of Railway Transport Commissioners, a nephew of the late G. Bruce Burpee, once CPR general passenger agent at Vancouver and a cousin of A. O. Burpee, retired general superintendent of transportation at Winnipeg, now residing in Woodstock, N.B.

He brings to Victoria a valuable background of 34 years in passenger travelling experience having served at east coast ports and in Quebec City, Cleveland, Toronto, Dallas, Texas; New York, Pittsburgh and Washington. Mrs. Burpee will join him shortly in Victoria.

Their daughter Nancy is a secretary in Paris.

Russ Burland, a native of Rapid City, Man., where he started as a freight and passenger agent, has become a well known figure in Victoria's business and fraternal life since coming there in 1940 as general agent for the CPR.

Earlier in his rail career he served at Yorkton, Sask., and for many years was ticket clerk and ticket agent at Regina before leaving there for Victoria in 1940.

Standing out in his memory is the experience he had years ago when Wendell Wilkie, the U.S. political figure, was in his heyday.

"Hundreds of people—mostly American tourists—would stop me and exclaim surprise at meeting Mr. Wilkie in Victoria," he recalls. Many were the times, he said, when he had difficulty convincing them there had been a case of mistaken identity.

Shipping Ships Gave Pietro Many Friends, Big Business on Baltimore Waterfront

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pietro a line?" Tony grabbed the heaving line when it was thrown over and pulled the hawser to the pier. He got $3 for the helping hand. The officer promised $2 more if he would throw off the line when the ship sailed. That started him thinking. One ship, $5. Lots of ships, lots of dollars. He started making calls to the steamship lines and found his services were welcomed. Soon he and his son were busy enough meeting ships to give up the lunch shack. For years Tony had no office other than a public telephone booth. He called steamship agents again and again to learn what ships were docking and when. Soon his voice became as familiar as a sailing list to the agents. Finally he received permission to tie and untie vessels at all the major public piers in the port. He was made. A few years ago he opened an office in a small hut only a few blocks from the old lunchroom. Mike takes over the business with 20-odd employees.

'Missus' Night Draws Many At Legion Hall

A capacity audience enjoyed the monthly "Bring the Missus" dance and entertainment at the Legion Auditorium last Friday at which Keith DeWitt was master of ceremonies.

He and Nora Thompson played for dancing and during the program he sang two solos with the audience joining in the chorus. He was accompanied by Dyke McMillan.

Alfred Bequet, who came here a short time ago from Belgium, played several piano selections to the delight of the crowd and before the evening was over won the raffle—a child's chesterfield suite made and donated by Rose Marshall.

Margaret Kane received many encores for her Scottish songs and Mrs. Crawford, with Mrs. J. S. Black as accompanist, sang two lovely numbers.

National Health Program Comes Under Stiff Review

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, — The Federal government's multi-million dollar national health program is to be reviewed and probably revised within the next few months.

The program, which will be five years old next May, was designed to assist the provinces to improve their hospital and health services. When the program was inaugurated in 1948 the federal government stated it would be reviewed at the end of five years.

A Health Department official said the 10 provincial governments have been asked to outline their hospital construction plans for the next five years. Their replies are expected to indicate the need for revision of the original program.

In 1948, a target of 40,000 new hospital beds was set for the first five years of the program. A total of 65,000 new beds was set as a 10-year target.

Early this month, the five-year target was reached. It now is expected that 43,000 or 44,000 new beds will be available at the end of the five-year period.

The officials said if the provinces stick to their original plans only 25,000 new hospital beds will be provided for in the next five years. But there is a possibility the provinces will boost their original estimate in view of the continued shortage of space in some hospitals.

The federal government contributes from $1,000 to $1,500 a bed toward new hospital construction. To qualify the hospital must receive a matching grant from the provincial government.

If the federal government's expenditures on hospital construction are reduced—they totaled $9,000,000 last year—additional amounts may be made available to the provinces for other health services.

Under the national health program, grants are made to the provinces for such things as tuberculosis and cancer control, research, mental health treatment, the care and rehabilitation of crippled children, and the training of hospital and medical staffs.

It is not yet known how much will be spent this year on hospital construction. In the first four years of the program, the federal government made approximately $13,000,000 available annually for that purpose. The actual expenditures ranged from $2,223,356 in 1948-49 to $9,166,471.

This year, the government put all the unspent amounts at the disposal of the provinces. Coupled with the regular annual grant, the amounts made a total of $30,673,733 available this year for hospital construction.

So far projects have been submitted covering expenditures of approximately $16,000,000.

The total amount made available to the provinces under the national health program in 1948-49 was $30,123,369. Only $7,660,774 was spent that year. Since then the amount available has increased steadily to a total of $53,900,000 for 1952-53. Expenditures for this year may total $35,000,000.

RETIRING—Cyrus S. Ching, 76, Canadian-born director of the United States Mediation Service, retires Oct. 1 after five years as the U.S. government's top labor trouble-shooter. ## Murderer On Gallows

LONDON (CP)—Denis Muldowney, 41, club porter, was hanged yesterday for murdering a beautiful Polish-born countess who served as a British secret agent during the Second World War. Muldowney had confessed to stabbing Mrs. Christine Granville, 37, in the lobby of Kensington Hotel June 15 after she spurned his affections.

Western Livestock For Toronto Fair

TORONTO (CP)—There will be a big entry of western livestock at the Royal Winter Fair here Nov. 14-22 despite the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease among south Saskatchewan herds earlier in the year.

Last year Manitoba and the other western provinces sent some 40 carloads of livestock and produce to the fair. These included about 120 horse, 300 head of cattle, 100 swine and 50 sheep. Officials say this year even more entries may come from the west.

In beef and market cattle classes last year, one-fifth of all animals came from western Canada. They won more than one-third of all prizes awarded.

This year again, judging of the grand champion steer and Queen's guineas steer will be held in the fair's main arena. Judging of these two classes will be held Nov. 20.

The sale-of-the-stars—in which prize breeding cattle are sold to the highest bidder—will again be held. Introduced in 1949 when an Aberdeen Angus was auctioned, there will be six classes this year—three beef breeds, plus dual-purpose short-horns, jerseys and Ayrshires.

A total of 120 breeding animals was sold for $120,920 in the 1951 sale of stars. United States buyers this year are expected to be fewer because of its continuing ban on the import of Canadian cattle.

In addition to this sale, the fair also features an auction of dressed carcasses or live animals for slaughter. Last year this sale, together with separate sales of poultry, cheese, butter and honey, yielded $193,949.15 to exhibitors.

Uplands Airport, Ottawa, Sept. 23—Defence Minister Claxton today told the men who will pilot the biggest movement of jets across the Atlantic in aviation history that within a few months two wings of RCAF Sabre jets would join them in Europe.

Speaking at a farewell ceremony for members of the three jet fighter squadrons flying to Gros Tanguin, France, Sept. 30, the defence minister said No. 1 Fighter Wing, now based at North Luffenham, would join them on the continent.

Air Vice Marshal Hugh L. Campbell, 44, C.B.E., C.D., of Salisbury, W.B., has been appointed officer commanding the new Canadian air division overseas, Mr. Claxton said.

"Headquarters for the air division are now being put in shape at Metz," the minister said. "We expect the four airfields and the headquarters of each other within 75 miles to go overseas will be based at Zweibrücken, Germany, where construction of the base is well underway."

Storage Biggest Problem in Record Grain Crop

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A dawn autumn sun baking a field of waxen-hued stubble is symbolic of the prosperity of optimism evident these days across 1,000 miles of western Canada wheatlands.

From Winnipeg to the foothills of the Rockies, farmers are garnering the greatest grain crop Canada has ever seen.

A staggering amount of grain, estimated at 1,310,468,000 bushels or enough to fill a train of box-cars 5,731 miles long, is being harvested by jubilant farmers.

The mammoth yield is choking elevators, taxing shipping facilities and in many cases grain is being dumped on the ground.

Clacking combines, ingenious machines which cut, thresh and load grain in one operation, are methodically gathering are last of the golden treasure before the onset of cold weather.

MAY BE BEST EVER

In a region of which it is often said, "four good years and you're a millionaire," and where dungaree-clad farmer driving a Cadillac is a not uncommon sight, this year may rank as the best ever.

The bare statistics are a story in themselves. Wheat production, the staple grain in the west, is expected to reach 654,000,000 bushels, 169,000,000 more than the previous record in 1928. The yield per acre is estimated at 25.9 bushels, equal to the all-time high of 1915. For all grains combined, this year's figures should exceed the previous record set in 1942 by more than 3,000,000 bushels.

The western economy revolves almost entirely around the fortunes of its farmers. Even urban city-dwellers in the west's principal centres maintain a keen interest in the crop's progress. The bountiful harvest indicates there will be plenty for all in the months ahead.

For the country as a whole, the crop is just as important, in an indirect way, as it is to westerners. As a major item in Canada's export trade, a failure of the crop or a big crop or a big drop in market price would be felt everywhere in the land.

Twenty-five years ago, the farmer seldom faced the problem of finding a place for his grain. Then harvesting was slow, back-breaking work. Elevators and railways were always able to handle the grain as fast as it came in.

TAXES SHIPPING POINTS

Today, with the big threshing gangs and teams of horses replaced by efficient combines and trucks capable of handling huge loads, the grain arrives at shipping points all at once.

Emergency storage of all kinds is being hastily thrown up on farms. In many cases grain is being dumped on the ground, at the mercy of the weather. Some farmers are covering the wheat with bales of hay to protect it.

Canada's two trans-continental railways, with about 55,000 box-cars shuttling grain to the lakehead, the west coast and Churchill on Hudson's Bay, are making a great effort to relieve the pressure on country elevators. But for the time being at least, the grain will go wherever there's a place for it.

Indicative of the size of this harvest is the fact that for the first time in many years combines from the U.S. are travelling north to help. Previously, Canadian combines went south. The demand for harvest labor this year was well above normal.

USEFUL FROSH

MONTREAL (CP) — "Hazing Week" at Sir George Williams College starting Oct. 1 will be turned to good use. Freshmen are scheduled to wield paint brushes, brooms and mops in clean-up operations at many welfare centres operated by various red feather agencies.

RECKLESS WHALE

PINKEY'S POINT, N.S. (CP) — Robert Doucet thinks whales should blow their horns. A big whale almost upset his fishing craft in thick fog off Trinity Ledge, near this Digby area community. The whale hit the boat with its tail and dashed away while Doucet managed to right the craft.

Canadian Airmen Enjoy English Life

By JACK GOLDING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NORTH LUFFENHAM, Eng-land (CP)—Children of Canadian airmen stationed here with the RCAF's No. 1 fighter wing carry on in the lush Rutland countryside, with its quiet little villages, just as naturally as they might in cities such as Saint John, Toronto or Winnipeg.

There is a school for all the local children housed in a former barracks. Of the 135 there are some 90 Canadians between the ages of four and 14. The youngsters wear tartan skirts and "jeans" ride bikes and carry on much as they would in Canada.

The Canadian "married patch" has 79 brick duplexes, 17 temporary married quarters buildings and about 75 caravans. Cost of living is reasonable in these circumstances, as most of the wives agree. Special facilities for washing and playing in inclement weather are provided for the caravan dwellers.

RURAL HAMLET

The village from which the fighter station gets its name is North Luffenham. This rural hamlet, set in rolling hills, has a population of about 450 persons. Most of them either farm or work for the RCAF.

Much of the village is walled with six-foot stone enclosures. The parish church dates back to Norman times.

"The Fox and Hounds," one of two pubs, sports a ghost. The story goes that the pub was once a bakery and that the baker, in a moment of annoyance, stuffed his girl friends in an oven. Her white footprints appear now and then, but some locals say the cause is not so much spiritual as chemical—a reaction of atmospheric conditions on the stone floor.

Another little village on the air base fringe is Edith Weston. It has about 350 people and three shops. Airmen and their wives often go to the "Wheatheaf Inn," now renamed by Canadians "Stinky Joe's." Some of the grey limestone cottages in this village, occupied by Canadians, now have television aeriels pushing up through thatched roofs.

NAMED FOR QUEEN

The little community gets its name from Editha, wife of Edward the Confessor. It was the western part of estates given her by Edward, founder of Westminster Abbey in the 13th century.

Today you can hear Canadian accents, Canadian childish laughter and baseball jargon on the vacant plots any time at all.

Historic Canal Drains Big Area

OTTAWA (CP)—More than 120 years ago Royal engineers built a 131-mile-long waterway from the Ottawa River to Lake Ontario. It provided a line of communication between Montreal and Toronto that was safe from raids from the United States.

Today, the Rideau Canal as a defence work rates zero. Rail and air communications have robbed it of its significance and provided better commercial transport. Furthermore, the canal costs thousands of dollars to keep up. It lost a net $394,400 in the 1951-52 fiscal year alone.

Despite the heavy loss, the government maintains that the canal still serves a useful purpose never foreseen by its builders.

It is the key to control of the watersheds of the Rideau and Cataraqui River basins. Government experts say that without this control spring run-off waters would wreck havoc in eastern Ontario towns and farmlands.

BIG STORAGE BASIN

The canal impounds 255,000 acre-feet of water from the Rideau watershed, one of the main drainage areas of eastern Ontario. This compares with the storage basin of 46,000 acre-feet at the head waters of the Grand River which flows through the Paris-Brantford area of western Ontario.

It cost $2,350,000 to build the Shand dam at the Grand's source for storage facilities less than one-fifth the size of those in the Rideau which had a capital investment of $4,200,000 at March 31, 1951.

Aside from its flood-control job, the Rideau canal provides one of Ottawa's most beautiful scenic features. It wanders through the city, flanked on each side by spacious lawns, parks and residences.

Although cargo boats have disappeared, pleasure crafts are on the increase. Last year 19,716 small pleasure boats and 1,638 craft more than 40 feet in length passed through the 47 locks between Ottawa and Kingston. Revenue declined from $19,716 in 1950 to $17,464 last year.

The canal is ideal for a summer trip. Hotels, tourist cabins and camping grounds are scattered along its banks.

FAMOUS ROUTE
The Pony Express between California and Missouri, 1,980 miles, operated in 1860 and 1861.

The bank said some pick-up in consumer demand was apparent in April, but in May Canadians seemed to loosen their purse strings suddenly, spending $1,053,000 on consumer goods, more than in any previous month on record.

Retail trade was less spectacular in June, but picked up sharply in July and first reports show sustained buying in August.

The bank said that from the summer of 1951 until March last, the sale of durable goods slumped, although more perishable, less expensive commodities went well. But, since March, durables have led the pick-up, while sales of perishables have been "less buoyant."

Demand rose with the post-Korean expectation of shortages, price and tax increases and with the actual tightening of credit controls, the boosting of excise taxes and the curbing of house-building.

Demand lessened when the fear of shortages proved groundless, the number of new houses declined, and the public decided to concentrate on paying off its earlier heavy credit buying.

The bank said the higher standard of living, the greater are the choice of goods and the possibility of deferring less essential items, which would force the salesman to sell again to move his particular wares.

Rail Man Named to Head Western Region

WINNIPEG—Appointment of Robert A. Craven as general superintendent of transportation, western region, Canadian National Railways, is announced by western vice-president J. R. McMillan. Mr. Craven succeeds James J. Behan who has been promoted to manager of the B.C. district.

Mr. McMillan also announced the appointment of W.S. Ziegler as assistant general superintendent of the Manitoba district. This new position has been established by the C.N.R. because of the increasing industrial development in Manitoba and north-western Ontario.

Mr. Craven, who will have his headquarters in Winnipeg, began work as a car checker at Barrie, Ontario in 1911, later serving at Kamsack, Sack. He served with the Canadian Expeditionary Force from 1915 to 1918 and returned to the railway on discharge.

After holding a number of posts in Ontario and on the Prairies, he was appointed dispatcher at Kamloops in 1930. He returned to Winnipeg as rule instructor in 1937 and four years later was made superintendent of transportation for Manitoba. In 1915 he was named superintendent at Port Arthur, and early this year became assistant general superintendent of transportation at Winnipeg.

Mr. Ziegler is an engineering graduate of the University of Alberta. He served with the Royal Canadian Artillery during World War II in England, Italy, Germany and Holland, holding the ranks from captain to brigadier.

From 1945 to 1950, Mr. Ziegler's services were retained by the British foreign office as an administrator with the control commission for Germany. He returned to Canada at the end of 1950 and shortly afterwards, joined the Canadian National Railways at Montreal as assistant to the vice-president of research and development.

For the past year he has been assigned special duties in the operation department at headquarters and now moves to Winnipeg as assistant general superintendent of the Manitoba district.

Volcanic Reef Scatters Ashes Over Searchers

TOKYO (CP)—Yellow smoke belched three miles into the air when the volcanic Myojin reef exploded, scattering rescue boats searching for a missing survey ship with 31 men aboard.

The volcano—named after the fishing boat Myojin which sighted it—rose out of the sea 200 miles south of Tokyo.

Five Japanese patrol boats and three United States planes combing the area around Myojin reported still no sign of the 210-ton survey vessel Kayo Maru, missing since Wednesday with nine scientists and 22 crew members.

Rescue boats plowed away from the reef at full speed when it exploded at noon, sending sulphurous slush into the sea for a mile around the red-hot islet of ashes.

Versatile Actress With London Group On Tour of Canada

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Attractive, tawny-eyed Jacqueline Lacey, now appearing in the British stage production of Agatha Christie's thriller, "The Hollow," has her fingers crossed. She's hoping Canada will like her.

Jacqueline, whose hair matches her light-brown eyes, is one of a London theatre group of 14 players who sailed for Newfoundland, recently. They open at St. John's Oct. 6 in "Pink String and Sealing Wax."

The company, under the direction of Leslie Yeo, hopes to tour Canada. It will go to Halifax Nov. 9 return to St. John's for Christmas Pantomime, and then perhaps to Toronto and Ottawa. Yeo and business manager Ray Ellison now are in Canada arranging the rest of the tour.

PLAYS MANY PARTS

Jacqueline's scheduled Canadian parts cover a wide range. She plays all types of characters from Portia in the "Merchant Of Venice" to the principal boy in "Cinderella." Other parts are Kate in Goldsmith's "She Stoops To Conquer" and the female lead in James Hilton's "Random Harvest."

Miss Lacey was picked for the Canadian tour because of her versatility. Since her schooldays, this 26-year-old girl from just outside Dublin has thought of nothing but a stage career.

She left school to become assistant and general run-around for the stage manager at a provincial theatre, and fought her way to lead parts in west end plays. After wartime service with the Royal Navy, she spent a year on scholarship at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

From touring parts in 1947 Jacqueline climbed to a part in Orson Welles' 1951 west end production of "Othello."

Here she shared a dressing-room with Edmonton-born Dianne Foster, who played Bianca. Dianne has just landed the coveted part of Alan Ladd's leading lady in the film "The Red Beret."

APPEARED ON TV

Recently, Miss Lacey made several appearances on television and one of her dearest ambitions is to appear on Canadian television.

"I thoroughly enjoy working on TV," she said, adding with a laugh, "maybe because my face comes up so well under TV lighting."

Jacqueline is travelling to Canada with the rest of the company on the Nova Scotia, a small ship carrying only 200 passengers.

"I want to stay at least two months after the tour and see something of Canada," she said. One of her first ports of call will be the home of cousin Michael Jarvis at Port Hope, Ont.
