GREAT OVATION GIVEN LIBERAL LEADER

STORK OPENED HIS CAMPAIGN LOCALLY AT THEATRE ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Greatest Crowd of Campaign Greets Liberal Leader When Speaking at Montreal Meeting

Battery of Seven Microphones Carries Message of Liberalism to People: Constitutional Question Featured

MONTREAL, Sept. 7.—The greatest crowd which he has yet faced in this campaign greeted Right, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King here last night. Nearly twelve thousand people rose to their feet when the cheering announced the arrival of the former premier.

Speaking into a battery of seven microphones Mackenzie King said: "I am sure that your presence here is not so much a personal tribute as it is a desire on your part to express appreciation and support of those Liberal policies initiated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier." Speaking on the constitutional question, Mr. King said the stand of the Liberal party was that relationship of the ministry to the Governor General of Canada should be in all particulars the same as the relation between the ministry and the crown in Great Britain. It is only on that basis we can talk of self-government. It is because I wish to see the Crown firmly established that I wish to see self-government in this country, for self-government is the corner stone of the British Empire."

KETTLE VALLEY LINE ACCIDENT

Four Killed When Freight Train Derailed on Bridge Near Jessica.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 4.—Four trainmen were killed and a fifth slightly injured when a heavy freight train on the Kettle Valley line was derailed on the bridge near Jessica, 100 miles east of Vancouver Sunday and crashed to the bottom of a one hundred foot canyon. Fire later destroyed the bridge and partially burned 26 freight cars which were precipitated into the canyon.

Train Was Runaway

HOPE, B. C., Sept. 7.—Late reports here state that trainman Brookmore, the fifth member of the crew of the Kettle Valley train which plunged over a bridge Sunday was killed. Also it is reported that several men stealing rides lost their lives, but this is not confirmed. The train ran away for a distance of 17 miles before jumping the track at a curve on to the bridge.

David Glennie left on the steamer Prince Charles yesterday afternoon to make the round trip to Stewart, Anxox and Massett Inlet.

AN EXTRACT FROM MEIGHEN'S SPEECH

The following is an extract from a speech delivered in Montreal on September 1 by the Hon. Arthur Meighen as reported by Canadian Press:

"Mr. Meighen denied the rumor he was present at a political picnic in North York, when a Conservative speaker was said to have suggested that immigrants of the first generation be denied Canadian franchise. Mr. Meighen said that he did not consider himself bound by any but the settled and expressed policy of his party. The Conservative party, he said, was ready to welcome all good citizens to Canadian shores."

SPANISH PLOT TO SEIZE THE KING WAS SUPPRESSED

LONDON, Sept. 7.—A Daily Mail despatch from Henraya on the Spanish frontier, asserts that a plot to seize King Alfonso and force him to sign an agreement of abdication was frustrated only by prompt suppression of the military revolt and the King's departure from San Sebastian to Madrid.

Later despatches state that several branches of the Spanish artillery in various centres revolted early Sunday but the government announces this has been put down with little bloodshed.

COAL STRIKE NEGOTIATIONS AGAIN FAILURE

Winston Churchill Chides Owners For Attitude in Regard to National Settlement.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The conference between the government and coal owners Monday failed, the latter persisting in refusal to consider a settlement on a national basis. As a result the strike seemingly will continue indefinitely unless the government uses its authority to impose a settlement.

Winston Churchill reminded the owners that before passing the eight hour act, the owners had acquiesced in negotiations on a national basis, but bluntly stated that the government never would have passed the act if it had supposed it would be shutting the door to a national agreement.

Local Liberal Campaign Opened Saturday Night in Westholme Theatre

Fred Stork and Edmonton Visitor Enlighten Electors on Policies now before Electorate of Country

Holding that Prince Rupert and other British Columbia ports for their own benefit should co-operate with the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan by endorsing Mackenzie King and the Liberal policy of western development at the polls on September 14, J. C. Bowen, former leader of the Liberal party in the Alberta legislature, was the speaker of the evening at a campaign meeting on Saturday night at the Westholme Theatre in the interests of Fred Stork, Liberal candidate for re-election in Skeena at the federal election. Mr. Bowen, who is a quiet but impressive and pleasing speaker, dealt with many issues of the campaign emphasizing the desirability of western development which he declared would only be put into effect by a Liberal government and which he said the Conservative party could not and would not undertake with all its interests centred as they were in the province of Ontario. Mr. Bowen dismissed the customs scandal as an issue in the campaign, deploring that a real issue, however, was the constitutional question. Mr. Stork also spoke, answering questionnaires that had been submitted by the Trades and Labor Council and Native Sons of Canada, putting the fish trap question as far as he was concerned at rights and referring briefly to general matters, including the Liberal policy for the port of Prince Rupert and the Grand Trunk Pacific end of the Canadian National Railways. The meeting, which was well attended, considering its short notice, was presided over by Dr. W. T. Kergin.

Mr. Bowen said it was a delight for him to be in Prince Rupert. The development of Pacific coast ports he said was a matter of great importance to the prairies and Prince Rupert alike. It had been the Liberal policy to develop the west. The Mackenzie King government had done many things that directly affected the homes such as reducing the income tax and removing the tariff. It was in such things as these that the people were lively interested and, if for nothing else, women as well as men, on September 14 should express appreciation for the Robb budget of 1926.

COLONEL PECK CAMPAIGNING

Gone to Stewart to Help Try to Defeat His Old-time Opponent

To give his assistance in the energetic campaign that is being waged by the Conservatives to win the seat of Skeena from the Liberal column, Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., formerly M.P. for Skeena and now M.L.A. for the Islands, arrived from Victoria Sunday evening and proceeded through to Stewart and Anxox to address meetings on behalf of J. C. Brady, the Conservative candidate.

Col. Peck was accompanied from here by T. S. Baxter, former mayor of Vancouver, who arrived from the Cariboo district where he has been campaigning for J. A. Fraser. Later in the week, Col. Peck and Mr. Baxter will support Mr. Brady on the local platform at the final Conservative rally.

Fred Stork went north on the same boat to Port Simpson.

LOCAL LIBERAL CAMPAIGN
OPENED SATURDAY NIGHT

instituted an investigation into the customs trouble. They picked out the best men possible to conduct the investigation, including Mr. Duncan who was sent to Montreal to investigate clothed with almost absolute authority. He found that there was a great deal of wrong doing and prepared a report incriminating among others Bisailon who was found very guilty and whom the government immediately dismissed. The Tories, of course never said that Bisailon had been appointed by a Tory government.

Continuing his account of the customs matter, Mr. Bowen declared that some one connected with Duncan surreptitiously obtained his report and handed it to Mr. Stevens. He immediately, through the press, raised the hue and cry of a terrible and outrageous scandal and, before the government had completed its investigation and made its plans for a clearing up, sprung the thing on the House and country. A committee was forthwith appointed which spent four months investigating and in its report, the committee did not bring in a single direct charge against the government or any of its ministers. Then a nonsensical diary was referred to by the Conservatives and allegations were falsely made of joy sails on the steamer Margate.

"The whole thing is this," declared Mr. Bowen. "The Tories wanted a smoke screen to hide behind, something with which they could mislead the electorate. There is nothing to it but noise and talk and, for talking about nothing, the Tories have everything beat that I ever heard of. Arthur Meighen knows better than I do that he hasn't a ghost of a show of being Premier after September 14. They spend all their time talking of the terrible customs scandal but they have not offered a single policy or pointed to anything they had done themselves for the benefit of Canada in their regime."

Constitutional Question

The constitutional issue, however, said Mr. Bowen, "is a real issue. The people of Canada are free and liberty loving and when any party steps in and takes the voice from their representatives, they will resent it to the last. The people are resenting the action of Meighen in usurping power, when he knew he had no right to it and could not possibly be sustained in the House."

Recounting the events leading up to dissolution, Mr. Bowen stated that Mackenzie King could foresee what, through political intrigue, was going to happen and that it would be impossible for him to carry on. He asked, as he was properly entitled to, for dissolution and His Excellency refused, denying a request that had not been denied to any Premier in Great Britain for one hundred years. It was for the governor General to act constitutionally and not politically in such a matter but for some reason, Lord Byng had failed to do so. Mr. Bowen stated that no man had more respect and admiration for Lord Byng than himself. He had served under him in France and knew of no finer gentleman. He believed that Lord Byng had not meant to be unfair but had been ill-advised. Then Mackenzie King resigned and Meighen took over the premiership with five cabinet ministers who looked as much like the real thing as they possibly could without being it. They asked, as ministers of the crown, for Parliament to vote money but had to say they were acting ministers. They were facing two horns of a dilemma. If they were not sworn in they had no business asking Parliament for money and, if they were sworn in as real ministers, then their seats should have been vacant till they were re-elected.

On the first vote in the House of Commons, Meighen was defeated and, instead of resigning as was the usual course, Meighen asked the governor general for dissolution which was granted. He was afraid having been defeated in the House, so took this means to precipitately dissolve the House without notice to the members and get hold of the election machinery. The remaining legislation of the session was not even passed and the members had to go home with Meighen as premier and his shadow cabinet in control. "It was a most daring affront to the people and the people's representatives. It was a violation of parliamentary procedure and the people will not stand being flouted in such a manner in this great Dominion."

No Blue Ruin

Mr. Bowen referred to the fact that the Conservatives in this campaign no longer declared, as they did last year, that the country was being ruined by the Liberal government. They did not talk that way now because the fact was just to the contrary and the people knew it. Instead they had out-up a smoke screen in the customs scandal to delude the people.

Your Vote and Influence is Respectfully Solicited for

FRED STORK
Liberal Candidate

Referring to the tariff, Mr. Bowen said that its lowering or implements of production was all to the benefit of the people. The Tories said that to reduce the tariff would ruin the country but it was noticeable that there had been a great increase in Canadian manufacturing. Factories were running full time more men were being employed and Canada today was enjoying an era of prosperity greater than she had known since 1910 because the Liberal government had been courageous enough to legislate not in the interests of the few but in the interests of the masses. The reduction of the tariff on automobiles had not ruined that industry in Canada. Instead, Canadian automobile factories were being enlarged and money was put in the pockets of the people by the reduction of prices of cars.

Another Robb

With all the benefits derived by the people as a result of the Robb budget, Mr. Bowen said that the slogan of Canadians in this election should be "Give us another Robb in 1927 such as that in 1926." Forecasting that the Liberal party would be returned to power on September 14, Mr. Bowen predicted there would be further reductions in taxation, etc. for the benefit of the masses. With such a record behind it as the Robb budget, Mr. Bowen declared that no party had ever gone to the country under more favorable auspices. It was a record not of vain and empty promises but it was a record that was a challenge to the people of Canada. The speaker then went on to show how the Liberal government in five years had cut the per capita taxation of the country from $41.92 to $31.34 and how an adverse trade balance of $30,000,000 had been converted to a favorable balance of $50,000,000. This came about through the government looking after the interests of the people by finding greater markets for Canadian goods and more agricultural products to the world than ever before. The lowering of the tariff wall had resulted in the markets of the world being opened to Canada with the result that the country was enjoying the greatest period of prosperity since the days of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. After the Conservatives were returned to power in 1911 and had put their policies into effect, the country had experienced such a wave of depression that, when the War came, men were forced to enlist in order to get a job.

For the West

Mr. Bowen held out as the only assurance of western development the return of the Liberal party to power. He pointed out that Eastern men had been given the important portfolios in the Meighen cabinet. What could Western Canada hope for in the way of railway development with a minister of railways from the Maritimes? All Conservative utterances had been against the west. What could be expected from a Premier who characterized the equalization of western freight rates as "utterly indefensible"? If a Conservative government were returned to power, Western Canada would lose what it had gained under the Liberal regime. The movement of grain would no longer follow the more economical western route. The elevator at Prince Rupert would be left empty and the farmers would have to pay the greater cost of shipping their grain east through American ports in order that the East might get the benefit of its movement. Mr. Bowen predicted, so anxious was that province for western development, that not a single seat would go Conservative in Alberta and that even Hon. R. B. Bennett would be beaten in Calgary. Mr. Bowen said he was not an advocate of sectionalism but explained that he felt that Canada could best progress if there was harmony through all parts of getting a fair deal. Canada could never be united if the west was discriminated against.

Peace River

Referring to the Peace River country, Mr. Bowen declared that it would never have an outlet to the Pacific Coast but would be made tributary to the East if a Conservative government were in power. Did it not mean anything to Prince Rupert that the Peace River should be made tributary to Prince Rupert through a railroad joining the Grand Trunk Pacific? "We in Alberta want you to join us in the fight for the industrial and economical development of the west in the interests of all the people of Canada."

"I believe in Canada," concluded Mr. Bowen. "I was born in Canada and love it. In the west there is an Empire in the making but I believe the destiny of Western Canada is in the balance in this election. The Many friends of Arthur G. Little, the well known news-vendor, were pleased to see him out this morning after having been confined as a patient in the Prince Rupert General Hospital for the past few weeks.

Mrs. Matheson, lady superintendent of the Hazelton Hospital, and Miss Ralphenia Winch were passengers arriving from the interior on last night's train and sailing for Vancouver on the steamer Prince Rupert.

BAISLER IS BUSY IN ALASKAN TERRITORY

Former Prince Rupert Pastor is Establishing New Lutheran Churches.

JUNEAU, Sept. 7.—Rev. P. E. Baisler, organizer of the United Lutheran Church in America, who recently returned from a trip along the Alaska coast, over the Alaska Railroad to Fairbanks, where he went in the interest of his church, is optimistic over the material prospects of the interior and of Fairbanks, as its business center, and over the outlook for his church there.

"I was particularly astonished by the fine class of people I found in the interior," said Mr. Baisler, "and by what they have done and the possibilities of the future of that country."

"Services were held and children baptized in all the larger towns that I visited. Many people seem to be hungry for the Gospel, and my supply of catechisms was soon exhausted. Many more were ordered. About one-half of the Protestant population of the interior towns are of the Lutheran faith.

"Especially at Fairbanks was a keen interest manifested and a tentative organization was effected and a committee appointed with which we are keeping in touch until a pastor can be stationed there. Fairbanks is the center of the interior of Alaska as Juneau is for Southeastern Alaska."

Juneau Work Progresses

Mr. Baisler is well satisfied with the progress of the work of Resurrection English Lutheran congregation in Juneau. He said "things are progressing favorably and the outlook is promising." Rev. H. R. Allen pastor-elect of Resurrection congregation, has returned from his European trip, and after a brief visit in Chicago with his father-in-law, Rev. Dr. George P. Kabels, at Hayes, Kansas, he will arrive in Juneau about September 15.

"EAST LYNNE" HERE FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY

Famous Stage Play Done in Pictures is a Gorgeous Production.

The photoplay production of Mrs. Henry Wood's phenomenal stage hit, "East Lynne," which is to be shown Thursday only, is heralded as one of the most gorgeous productions ever made under the Fox banner.

The film story is produced in the period of 1870—a most romantic and picturesque portion of the world's history—with the beauty of rural England as the background.

Realizing the unusual opportunities for magnificent production features, Mr. Fox enlisted the services of the best technical artisans in the motion picture field.

Not alone does the splendid production and beauty of the photoplay lend charm, but a series of thrilling incidents, culminating in a terrific train wreck, adds a touch of realism that is hard to surpass.

A magnificent cast of popular screen stars and feature players grace the more important roles of the production. Edmund Lowe and Alma Rubens, both now starring under the Fox banner, are seen in the roles of Archibald Carlyle and Lady Isabel. Lou Telegram, Frank Keenan, Margjorie Daw, Leslie Fenton, Belle Bennett, Paul Panzer, Martha Mattox, Harry Seymour, Lydia Knott, Virginia Marshall and Richard Headrick are seen in important roles.

"WET PAINT" GRIFFITH COMEDY HERE TONIGHT STORY OF GIRLS AND MAN

"Wet Paint," showing here tonight and tomorrow, is the ridiculously funny tale of the rich young man who is tricked into a proposal. He really loves the girl, but she has only entered into the affair because of a bet. Itay swears they are through and makes a vow that he's going to marry the first woman he meets.

Of course in his endeavors to get away from anything that wears a skirt, he meets practically every pretty girl that Hollywood harbors with the possible exception of Pola Negri, Bebe Daniels and Gloria Swanson. Oh yes, and then there's the episode in which he enters another's house, thinking it to be his own, only to discover a beautiful woman, who is the sole owner of the world's toughest husband.

"BEHIND THE FRONT" IS WEEK-END PICTURE

In the parlance of the movie studios, "Behind the Front," to be shown here at the week-end, is nothing short of a "wow!" Not since such pictures as "A Regular Fellow," and Harold Lloyd's "Freshman," has such a genuine producer of laughs been thrown on the screen. "Behind the Front" is a true mirror of the humorous side of soldiering in France. The story concerns a couple of dumb doughboys played by Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton, and their love affair with an exceptionally beautiful and vivacious girl, Mary Brian, who never appeared more alluring and charming than she does in a Red Cross worker's uniform in the picture.

Before joining up with Uncle Sam's raiding party, the two, Beery and Hatton have been sworn enemies; the first—a detective, and the latter—a burglar. But since they both took to wearing the same uniform, they have become buddies.

BURNS LAKE

A. G. Tennen of Endako has secured a location on the east end of Francois Lake on which he is establishing a tourist camp. A capacious lodge has been erected for the benefit of fishermen and hunters on the beautiful spot and the construction of cottages is under advisement. The place, which will be known as Glenannam, will be six miles from Endako by a motor road which is to be built by the provincial government.

Several men are being employed in development work of the Gerow-Reid mineral claim south of Burns Lake.

H. J. Macdonald has left to attend a meeting of the directors of the Silver Island Mining Co. Ltd. in Vancouver.

The first church service at Palling was held in the school house last week. There was a very satisfactory attendance before Rev. W. R. Asford, the pastor.

A. E. Richards of the Summerland Experimental station is paying his regular visit to the Francois Lake illustration station this week.

Miss Grace Woodsworth, daughter of J. S. Woodsworth, the well known Labor member of parliament for Winnipeg, arrived in Burns Lake this week and is the guest of Mrs. S. Godwin.

A largely attended dance was given in the Francois Lake Community Hall last Saturday evening in honor of Misses Lucy and Mary Gain who left this week to attend Normal School in Vancouver.

People from all over the district were in attendance at a reception given last week in the Decker Lake community hall by Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Saul.

Fish Traps
Mr. Stork then proceeded to explain his attitude on the fish trap question which he stated had been misrepresented by the Conservatives. He outlined the circumstances leading up to the application of the Canadian Fishing Co. for licenses and the granting of them in 1925. He had consistently opposed fish traps and only with reluctance had acquiesced in them being granted in 1925 after an assurance had been given the company, unknown to the minister or himself, by a departmental official. He read the telegram with regard to the matter and charged that the Conservatives themselves had allowed the operation of the traps and had attempted to blame him for it. "I want to say," Mr. Stork declared, "it is not the truth when they say Fred Stork was responsible for the licenses being granted and as long as I am at Ottawa and a Liberal government is in power there will be no such licenses granted."

Mr. Stork then went on to recount the history of the G.T.P. railway and the port of Prince Rupert. During the regime of the Conservatives even the most optimistic people of Prince Rupert realized that the railway and port were getting nowhere. In 1921 when Mackenzie King was returned to power steps were taken toward getting business for the road so that there might be some return for the investment of $125,000,000 between Red Pass Junction and Prince Rupert.

The Elevator
With that end in view the Prince Rupert elevator had been conceived and built. It had been the only ray of light in eighteen years and it would mean a great deal in the development of the port of Prince Rupert. Every Conservative but one, Dr. Tolmie of Victoria (and he wished to give credit where credit was due) had opposed the building of the elevator and "condemned it as 'the most outrageous project before the people of Canada.'" It was heralded all over the Dominion as one of the "primes of the King government. Finally the elevator had been leased to the wheat pool as an experiment for two years at a nominal rental with the understanding that at the end of that time a rental equal to its interest would be paid or the plant bought outright. The scheme had been supported by the mayor and council of Prince Rupert, whom he congratulated. This deal, too, had been condemned by the Conservatives.

"Even one of the Prince Rupert papers said that Mr. Stork had nothing to do with the obtaining of the elevator but the Progressives had got it. The next thing they will be saying I suppose will be that the Tories built it."

Good Faith
The building of the elevator, Mr. Stork said, was an evidence of the good faith of the Mackenzie King government which believed in the project and the port.

"The Conservatives are the people who showed no faith in the project," declared Mr. Stork. "You will have an opportunity in September 14 of saying what you think and I have no hesitation that you will express the logical conclusion."

Mr. Stork dealt briefly with the constitutional question and pointed out that, with the House dissolving as it had done, the supplementary estimates providing $1,000 for boulder removal at Osland, $14,000 for surfacing the Stewart-Hyder road, $13,000 for new wharf at Stewart, $3,200 for new wharf at Tow Hill, and $15,000 preliminary appropriation for the fishermen's float at Prince Rupert had gone by the board.

"We will have ample opportunity to discuss the issues at a later date," concluded Mr. Stork in announcing that there would be another meeting next Monday evening. "In the meantime, let me assure you that there is every evidence that Canada will return the Mackenzie King government on September 14. The people will not be misled by the smoke screen of smuggling when the greatest smuggling of all was the smuggling of Meighen into office at Ottawa."

ODDFELLOWS VISIT ANYOX

Excursion at Week-End With Grand Master Was Successful and Enjoyable.

Members of the local Oddfellows' Lodge had a successful excursion at the end of the week accompanying B. A. Perry of Vancouver, grand master for British Columbia, on his official visit.

The party left here on Saturday evening from Swanson's float at 11 o'clock and arrived in Anyox at 10 o'clock Monday morning. They were met at the dock at Anyox by F. Dresser, district deputy grand master, and, after inspecting the hall where the meeting was to be held, the local members were given a luncheon at the "Blue Bird." The afternoon was taken up with sightseeing at the smelter, mine and other points of interest.

The meeting took place in the evening at the Elks Hall and was attended by a very large part of the Anyox Lodge. After the meeting, a banquet table was spread in the "Dugout" where over 80 persons were seated. The Noble Grand of Askew Lodge No. 38 A. H. Kirby, was the first speaker and introduced at the close of his remarks the speaker of the evening, Grand Master Roy A. Perry. The Grand Master gave a very interesting and instructive address. He was followed by D. D. G. M. F. Dresser of Askew Lodge, Noble Grand of Prince Rupert Lodge, Peter I. Solem, D. D. G. M., B. Ferguson of Prince Rupert, Grand Lodge representative J. Wilson of Askew Lodge, Past Grand B. Kent and S. Downs and Bro. W. Blackburn. Interspersed between addresses were a piano solo by F. Dresser, songs by Ed. Blundell and E. Craigs of Askew and J. McLean of Prince Rupert, and a duet by Steve Jones of Askew, saxophone, and A. E. Woods of Prince Rupert, violin. After singing "For Auld Lang Syne" and "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," the meeting broke up at 11:30 by singing "God Save the King."

The visiting brothers were escorted to the dock by Askew Lodge in a body and left at 12 midnight amidst cheers and the strains of "Aloha Oe."

Hazelton and Kitwanga Prove Interesting to Visitor.—Useful Work Being Done.

HAZELTON, Sept. 7.—The village of Hazelton was made trim and neat this week for the visit of the Sales Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, who came to inspect the store and was the guest of W. W. Anderson, the local manager. He was taken by a costumed Gitksan Indian in a huge dugout cottonwood canoe past the totem of Gitsegyuella through the rapids of the same name and on down to Kitwanga where he was landed at the outdoor totem pole museum, through the garden of native plants and heard suggestions in regard to the building of a replica of an old Hudson Bay fort to serve as a store where furs might be bought and sold and souvenirs of native manufacture and photographs of totem poles and native plants offered for sale.

All Indian employees of the totem pole committee are gathering seeds of wild flowers of the Skeena River to plant in the garden of native plants at Kitwanga. The work is being done without expense to the government, but a fund is needed to replace the temporary labels with weather-proof duplicates.

Plea That He Would Starve to Death Because of Blood Poisoning Not Accepted.

WILLIAM'S LAKE, Sept. 4.—Reversing the decision of Stipendiary Magistrate Dodwell, who acquitted Otto Kroner of the charge of setting a fire on his ranch at Torseley Lake district after it was explained that he chose this method of attracting attention when riddled by blood poisoning of the pet, Judge Calder of the County Court fined him 25 or a week's imprisonment.

Kroner's explanation that he would starve to death on the lonely ranch because he could not move his feet which were infected by poison ivy was not allowed by Judge Calder as an efficient motive to justify lighting a blaze which spread to adjacent timber.
