SALVAGE OUTFIT GOES TO FAMOUS

Hubert Ward and Capt. Alfred Swanson Left for Skeena River to Raise Sunken Vessel

In charge of Hubert Ward and Capt. Alfred Swanson, the Vancouver dredging & Salvage Co.'s derrick scow, Prince Rupert Boat House building saw and the tug El Cole left at 6 o'clock this morning for the Skeena River to commence work of salvaging the steamer Famous, formerly Amur, which struck Louise rock near Balmoral Cannery and sank on Sunday evening. The outfit, which expects to be away for two or three days, will attempt to pump the Famous out and refloat her.

Louise Rock, where the Famous struck near Balmoral Cannery, got its name from the old C.P.R. paddle wheel steamer Princess Louise which struck this rock in the spring of 1890 when she was taking in supplies in the cannery there. The old Louise was holed but was able to float across to Gunningham's at Port Essington where repairs were effected.

Gerald Chapman, Notorious American Bandit, is Hanged on New Connecticut Gallows

WETHERSFIELD PRISON, Conn., April 6.—Gerald Chapman, notorious robber, who waged a bitter fight until the end to escape the gallows for the murder of a New Britain policeman during a robbery on October 24, 1924, died on the state's new hanging machine early this morning.

Gerald Chapman led a varied criminal life for nineteen years, starting when he was a mere youth of sixteen. He became known to the police of the nation as a "super bandit."

His earlier crimes, however, were mostly petty larcenies and it was not until 1921 when he engineered the daring "million dollar" mail robbery in the heart of New York City, that he staged his biggest "job." His arrest followed a few months later and then came two sensational escapes from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, where he had been sentenced for twenty-five years.

After his final escape, he eluded a nation-wide hunt until 1924, when he was captured after shooting and killing a New Britain, Conn., policeman. Possessed of an intelligence higher than that of the criminal of his type, and fairly well read, he aided his counsel in carrying his appeal from conviction through the high courts.

He was born George Chartres, the son of Irish parents, who died when he was a boy. Under that name in 1907, he was first convicted of petty thievery and was sent to Elmira reformatory. From that time he spent more than one-third of his life behind prison walls.

Released from Elmira in 1908, he was sentenced the following year to Auburn prison for two years for theft. In 1912 he went to Sing Sing Prison to serve ten years for grand larceny, but obtained a parole in 1919. He left prison with George "Dutch" Anderson, of Rochester, N.Y., who became his partner in crime.

Captured a Million After illicit liquor ventures in the west, the two, together with Charles Loerber, held up a New York post office truck laden with a rich shipment of registered mail while it was en route from a downtown sub-station to the General Post Office uptown. It was one of the boldest, as well as one of the richest, mail robberies in the annals of the post office. The loot totalled $1,454,129 in cash and securities.

Chapman and Anderson were arrested on July 3, 1922, in Chapman's Studio-apartment in fashionable Gramercy Park, in New York. On the testimony of Loerber, who was arrested and turned state's evidence, the two were sentenced to 25 years each in Atlanta.

During the trial Chapman made one break for liberty, but was captured on a narrow ledge of a building high above Broadway. He made two different escapes from Atlanta, and it was while at liberty after the latter jail break that he was charged with having killed Patrolman James Skelly, during a store robbery in New Britain.

Shot Three Times His first escape from Atlanta was on March 27, 1923, when he and Frank Gray, a forger, eluded the guards. Two days later they were surrounded about fifty miles away. In the gun battle which followed Chapman was shot three times. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital at Athens, Georgia, but escaped within a month.

He was reported in various parts of the country at different times but nothing definite he (continued on page six)

GOOD ADVICE FOR SETTLERS

Given by Old Countryman in Writing on Immigration

LONDON, Eng., April 6.—(By Canadian Press.)—Old Country papers are overflowing with letters progressive and conservative on the subject of emigration to Canada. In the Glasgow Herald, "Winnipeg" gives his views on the matter as follows:—

"I have just read the long articles sent you by A. C. Hunter, of Walkerville, Ontario. As I also know the Dominion fairly well (from Halifax to Vancouver), I would just like to say that what he states is pretty near correct. Emigrants are getting a great opportunity in getting out for £3. They ought to jump at the chance, but as A. C. Hunter tells them so clearly they must go on the farm and stay with it. I might just say in passing that many emigrants get lonesome on the prairie and drift into the towns, or perhaps into one of the big cities, where they get more life. To succeed you must be a handy man with the hammer and saw, and 'forget' about working only eight hours per day. If interested in your homestead you will get plenty to do. Get some of your friends to locate reasonably near you.

"If you are thinking of going out I would say—Keep outside your door every man who pleads with you to take a mortgage, don't listen to him, thousands have lost their homes through listening to these men; pay for what you need, or do without it. Under this new £3 scheme you have a great chance and I would certainly say, Go. Don't take much with you except dollars, you can easily buy there cheaply just what you need. Take all the dollars you can gather and lodge them in a bank. (The banks are tumbling over each other in Canada.) They will often help you if they find you straight in your statements. The bank managers soon get to know you, also your affairs. If you are a steady hard worker, they will often be your best friend. Remember this—you cannot expect to get more than your food for a few years; it takes a matter of four years before you can possibly see much progress. So don't be disappointed. It is bound to be all "outlay" and hard, hard work before the return is seen. Many lose heart and throw up their homesteads. Yes, you must have grit and some determination to succeed, for remember it is bitterly cold for around three months (some say five months), and then the summer is often very, very warm, when you must be hard at it.

Work Not Play

"If you buy a car don't run away to every baseball game, and leave your ground to grow weeds, as too many are now doing. If you keep your homestead it will keep you. One man tells us how he worked for several months and got nothing from the farmer but promises. That complaint is too true. I've heard that tale often. So ask your banker about your employer if taking a job for a few months. Homesteaders are much better off now than they were 20 years ago. What with a car, telephone, wireless, etc., they are not so isolated from the world. If you understand about farming and have the grit to stick it, my advice is to go, providing you can get out under this new £3 scheme. You have a rare chance, as you will be assisted in many ways. Before, emigrants had a very poor chance of making good, unless they had several dollars behind them. A. C. Hunter's article is very correct; he had some bad luck. I could give many brighter pictures. If any think of going out, I'm sure I will be delighted to have a chat with them."

CAPTURING BOOTLEGGER

Exploit of Flight Lieut. Earl MacLeod is Described in MacLean's Magazine

Dorothy G. Bell, well known Canadian writer, is the author of a series of articles appearing in MacLean's Magazine entitled "Canada's Peacetime Air Conquest." Activities of the Royal Canadian Air Force are dealt with and in the current number of the magazine appears the following account of an exploit of Flight Lieutenant Earl MacLeod, who is well known here, having been in charge of the aerial fisheries patrol at this port during the past three years:

"In the location and running down of rum-runners' craft which infest the Pacific coast, the flying boats have been of inestimable value to the Customs. One of the cleverest bits of flying ever reported in Canada was done by Flight-Lieut. Earl MacLeod, on one of these expeditions, with the result that a desperate band of bootleggers was arrested and the contraband cargo captured.

"With a customs official on board, the seaplane set out in search of a tug said to be somewhere off the coast of Vancouver Island with a cargo of liquor. After making a careful survey the tug was sighted. Knowing her to be heavily armed, MacLeod dropped down behind an island and skimmed along the water out of sight and sound of the unsuspecting tug. Judging his distance to a nicety he suddenly lifted the machine up over the timbered shore, and cutting off his engine the moment he had cleared the tree tops, he dived, struck the water with scarcely a splash, and gliding up behind the tug, ran the front cockpit of the plane to within two feet of the stern of the boat. The customs officer stepped from the plane to the tug, and, emerging from behind the pilot house, presented the muzzle of his gun to the astonished crew. Had MacLeod been a moment late cutting off his engine, had he misjudged the speed of the plane or the boat by a hair's breadth, had he bumped the side of the tug in landing, the alarm would have been given and the crew undoubtedly would have opened fire with disastrous results."

Is Your Back The Weak Point

Very few people are in perfect health. There is a weak spot somewhere. When you get tired or your system gets a little run down you feel the effects at your weak spot. If your weak spot is your back, then you may suspect that your kidneys are not in perfect order. The back aches or is weak and sore; you may have headaches; there will be dryness of the skin, pains in the limbs and disorders of the bladder. The quickest way to regulate the kidneys is by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They are bound to be effective because they arouse the action of the kidneys, liver and bowels and thereby ensure the elimination of poisons from the system.

Motorists Already Benefit By NEW TIRE WARRANTY

Instituted January First, 1926

IT is now three months since the Tire Manufacturers of Canada put into effect the 90-day Warranty on tires.

It will be remembered that, starting Jan. 1st, 1926, all standard tires have been sold in Canada under a full guarantee against defects of workmanship or material for 90 days from the date of first road-wear (180 days in the case of solid tires).

The benefits of this policy to the motorist were pointed out at the time of its announcement.

You were told of the great improvements made in tire construction. You were told of the high average mileage being given by standard tires—mileage so good that the old basis of adjustment had ceased to mean anything. You were told why Tire Manufacturers now sell their tires under this Warranty, knowing that any defect will show up within 90 days.

The success of the 90-day Warranty's operation in the United States, during the past two years, was reasonable assurance that the Warranty would also benefit motorists in Canada. Already those benefits are apparent. The practically complete elimination of the professional adjustment-seeker is reducing tire costs to the motoring public. Using the old adjustment as a bait to sell poor tires is almost a thing of the past. Every honest motorist who wishes only to get good value for his tire money is protected as he never was before.

Now that the motoring season is really beginning, the benefit of the 90-day Warranty will become more and more apparent.

SENDING DELINQUENT WOMEN ONTO FARMS

Interesting Address Given in Toronto by Dr. Lillian Langstaff

TORONTO, April 6.—(Canadian Press).—"Delinquent Women as Seen in Penal Institutions," was the theme of an address given by Dr. Lillian Langstaff at a meeting of the Social Hygiene Club. "We should have hospitals for drug addiction cases," she said, "to which they could be committed in exactly the same way that insane cases are committed to hospitals for the insane." Contending that Toronto does much for sex offenders who constitute the largest group among delinquent women, Dr. Langstaff stated that their treatment from the time they are arraigned in court until their release from sentence is not an effort to punish them for misdeeds, but an attempt to reform their mode of living. Life on the farm had taken the place of the old-time confinement behind walls and bars, and among favorable surroundings they gain in health of body and mind.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Earl Carroll on Perjury Charge

NEW YORK, April 6.—Earl Carroll's bathtub party, which startled New York, February 23, has resulted in a perjury indictment against the theatrical producer.

A federal grand jury has indicted him on six counts for swearing that the party was dry, and that there was no nude or otherwise, in a bath-tub filled with liquid, variously described as fruit juice, ginger ale and wine. The grand jury found that the party was wet and satisfied itself that the presence of someone in the bath-tub from which guests subsequently were served, was all to true.

The maximum penalty on each count of the indictment is five years' imprisonment and $2,000 fine.

Carroll, who is the producer of several Broadway shows, was arrested immediately, pleaded not guilty and furnished $2,500 bond. His counsel requested an early trial.

Among the witnesses who appeared before the grand jury was Joyce Hawley, a show girl, who retained a lawyer to bring suit for $1,000 against Carroll, which she said he promised her for her model appearance in the bath-tub revel. The producer gave her $20 and told her to forget it, she said.

The fire department responded to a call at 11.15 o'clock this morning to Cemetery road. Upon arrival, a small bush fire was easily extinguished.

Fair Board Proposes Having Indian Day During Exhibition Week With Possible Band Contests

At the regular monthly meeting of the Fair Board last night it was decided to change the date of the Hayseed dance from April 23 to April 19 after it was found that the date originally set would interfere with other events occurring the same night.

The holding of an Indian Day, with a possible native band contest during Fair Week, was proposed at the meeting and further action on the matter was left in the hands of the sports and attractions committee which will meet tomorrow night.

The meeting engaged in other business of routine nature.

DR. PRICE RETURNING

EDMONTON, April 6.—Dr. Price, whose evangelistic activities in Edmonton caused some comment two years ago, again is coming to this city in June. Exhibition directors decided on a rental of $50 a day for the arena during the campaign. On his last visit here Dr. Price was charged $25 a day, although the regular charge is three times that amount.

FLY TOX

SPORT CHAT

Benny Leonard's half-promised intention of coming out of retirement this summer will stimulate interest in the lightweight division and invigorate the other classes. Tex Rickard says that when the heavyweight and lightweight champions are not active, business is slack in every class. Jack Dempsey certainly hasn't been active and Leonard's retirement left the lightweight division in a hole no business has been anything but good. It is not certain that Dempsey will fight this year and it is not a sure thing that Leonard will return to competition. They both say their plans are dependent upon the public will.

Leonard who is in the middle-west on a vaudeville tour has been telling all who asked him about his plans that he would return to the ring if the public demanded it. The public might demand it but there are enough customers interested in him to make it worth while for him to return to the ring for a few fights. It is doubtful that Leonard, if he comes out of retirement, will return to the lightweight class. He would have to fight Rocky Kansas to get back his title and there would be very little money in that fight. It would be more profitable and easier, from a physical standpoint to return to the welter-weight division.

Very little steam would be needed to put over a match between Mickey Walker, the welter-weight champion and Leonard for the title and it would mean a lot of money for both. Even if Leonard does not return to the ring there will be more action in the lightweight class as everyone of the ranking boys in the division wants to get the first shot at Rocky Kansas. Kansas isn't the sucker that a lot of the boys are taking him for and it isn't any dead cinch that he will be dethroned the first time he meets any of his rivals.

Tex Rickard, if he wants to do business with Kansas, probably will offer him Sammy Mandell, the Rockford star. Rickard rated Mandell as the best lightweight of the year in his 1925 selection.

and he regards him most highly not only from a fighting standpoint, but as a drawing card. Mandell has beaten practically every lightweight of any class in the entire country, and while he may not have the punch that Leonard had in his prime he has plenty of chance to grow into one as he is hardly past the voting age. Rickard would like to use Mandell for several fights this summer in his new Garden. The ventilating system he installed at a cost of $150,000 will make it possible to stage indoor matches throughout the summer. The eyes of a lot of managers, who have been putting off matches for the indoor season were opened recently when the Harry Greb-Tiger Flowers middleweight championship drew more than $105,000.

MEMORY HOUSES HAZELTON DEAD

Interesting Relics in Indian Graveyards are Described

HAZELTON, B.C., April 6.—(Canadian Press).—The "Houses of Memory" in the Indian graveyards here are described by Holland Cox in the Edmonton Journal. "Diminutive buildings like children's playhouses," they are called. In one rather pretentious dwelling, 10 or 12 feet high, on a raised floor lies a trunk filled with those articles of adornment used in life by their owner whose full-length crayon picture—that of a woman of perhaps 45, dressed in the fashion of 1880 or thereabouts—in a tarnished gold frame rests against the trunk. Her old velvet hat hangs on a nail above.

The photograph of a young woman is inset in her headstone. The picture is faded and misty with sun and damp, but the serious eyes still look bravely forth as though defying time and the weather. In her little "home," behind the stone which is painted in what would correspond with a front yard, is a white cloth-covered stand, and in it lie her hair brush, an oil lamp and some trinkets. Above, in the centre, is her looking glass, and on the walls are hung skirts, a shawl, two pairs of corsets and other clothing. Pictures of the Virgin and saints are tacked to the front of this improvised bureau. One many-ribbed little home, erected to the memory of an eleven-year-old girl, has her dolls and toys as well as her clothing inside on miniature furniture—a quiet nursery.

FISH CROWS AND BOARD ORDER

Jack Miner Deals With Question in Letter to Eastern Newspapers

There is a difference of opinion as to the value of the fish crows such as are found on the coast. That is why a letter written by Jack Miner to Ontario newspapers recently is of interest here. This is what he says: "When I read in several newspapers 'to feed the crows in the winter, so they would not eat eggs in the summer,' I said that I was through writing Crow controversy. But the fact is that Mr. Harrison Lewis' explanation as to the fish crow's habits differing from the habits of our crow so much, is so extremely misleading that it just simply compels me to ask for a little more space in the papers of Ontario, following the controversy.

Habits Similar

Now, Mr. Lewis' statement through the "Globe," tries to make us believe that the habits of the fish crow, which is a trifle smaller, differs extremely in habits from our crow. This is absolutely misleading for while the crows may differ a little in size, their murderous habits are all the same. For an illustration, let us take the habits of our Canadian wild goose. It is a very large one that will weigh twelve pounds, while in the western provinces they will weigh fourteen and possibly more, and yet their habits are exactly the same. Remember that "Crows are Crows" whenever or wherever you see them and they will all suck eggs.

and do wrong. Caught the Crows So for months I let my mind's leisure time take up the crow problem and when I had the net or trap completed the next question was how and what kind of bait to use. Well, when I was a boy, we often speared more suckers than we could or would eat, the result was some of them spoiled, and the next thing to hen eggs, the best, crow bait I ever got was dead suckers, so last fall before I started in the business I saw Art. Brown, one of our leading Kingsville fishermen, and he assured me I could have all his spoiled fish and fish heads and so forth, providing I got them off the dock before the health officers put him off, then I called one of our Kingsville draymen, Mr. Everett Bertrand, and he agreed to watch for all such fish, and run them to my premises even if there were only one hundred pounds. Well, I got the fish in November and threw them on the ground and covered them with an old oil cloth canvas allowing the sun to shine on them, and so forth; well, now, believe me, by the time I got the trap made my bait was just right and ripe. But first of all I cut an old dead horse up and put about two thirds of it under but left a portion outside, then early the next morning I went and pulled all the meat under. We took manure forks and moved the fish right under where we wanted the crows. The fish doubled and tripled the quantity of crows under the net to what there were the previous day, and it seemed that all the crows in the country were fighting to get under for just a taste of those dead fish, when to their surprise they were instantaneously in captivity.

510 in One Maul

Now the net is only twenty feet wide and seventy feet long and I caught 510 the first catch. Why, bless your life, give me a few skunk carcasses and enough dead fish and a Jack Miner crow net

Eating Corn

Now another writer seems to want us to believe crows will not eat corn. During the winter months I keep corn under my goose net which is sixty feet wide and a hundred and twenty feet long where I catch the geese to tag them, therefore my winged geese have to go under there to feed. This gets them used to going under, and educates them to be fearless of it and encourages them to lead the wild ones under when they come in the spring. Well now, this corn is on the ice and during the last month I have often seen from fifty to one hundred crows under there at once. If these crows are not after the corn they must surely be fish crows looking through the ice for more fish as we are entirely out of fish at the crown net. Again within one half mile of where I see the crows under the goose net eating corn, I found seven corn borers in one hill of corn stubble, and I view this corn borer as a very serious proposition and what few the crows eat will never be noticed, but if all the insectivorous birds the crows have destroyed the last ten years had been left and allowed to increase when the European corn borer moth was liberated in our beautiful Canada, she would have been gobbled up before she even had time to wink at a mate.

Only a Joke

In closing, in regard to the crow and the corn borer, the crows were here in countless thousands before the corn borer arrived and the corn borer has increased to such an alarming state in the midst of these crows that I understand our government is wisely taking steps to make us burn, bury or ensilage our corn stalks, for as for the crow controlling it, this is only twenty-six feet wide and one hundred feet long in each county, and I will catch seventy-five per cent of these nest robbers in that county the first winter, whether they be American crow or fish crow they are all black.

Remember, I have held an old dying crow up by the tail while seven little unhatched robins spewed out of her mouth. This was only one trip she was making to her young, but of course it was her last. Figure for yourself this crow had robbed at least two birds' nests on this one trip, how many trips will she make each day to these young crows and how long are they in nest before they fly out and work for themselves? How many is she going to destroy providing she can find them? I have watched a crow after she had stolen into my sanctuary and got a nest of eggs, tower high into the air and go a mile and a half before she started to come down. If she wanted grass hoppers, for her young why did she come past so many meadows and pasture fields where grasshoppers are by the thousands.

CHORUS GIRLS RIOT ON STAGE

Mother Actor Tears Clothes from Daughter's Back

GENEVA, April 6.—A riot among the chorus occurred at the Grand theatre here during the performance of an operetta called the "Danse des Labellules." When the curtain fell on the second act Mme. Toulan bitterly accused her daughter, Mme. Giry, of usurping her front place and then attacked her daughter. She tore her filmy clothes to pieces, and attempted to strangle her.

The husbands of the women, who were also in the chorus, then came to blows. The chorus girls and men took sides, and a free fight followed on the stage and wings. Firemen and gendarmes attached to the theatre were called, and they attempted to separate the fighters, but it was only when the firemen threatened to turn the hose on them that order was obtained. Gendarmes then hustled Mme. Toulan into a taxicab.

In the meantime the audience, who were waiting for the third act, could not understand the long interval, and the shrieks behind the stage, but the curtain went up and the last act passed peacefully.

GERALD CHAPMAN, NOTORIOUS AMERICAN BANDIT, IS HANGED ON NEW CONNECTICUT GALLOWES.

came known until October 10, 1924, when the New Britain policeman was killed. The policeman had surprised two safe blowers at work. One of them, who proved to be Chapman, shot his way to liberty, killing Skelly, and the other Walter E. Shean, son of a Springfield, Mass., hotel man, was captured. Shean confessed that Chapman was his accomplice.

Chapman was arrested in Muncie, Ind., and returned to Atlanta, the state of Connecticut, however, extradited him to stand trial for Skelly's murder. He was sentenced to die on June 25, 1925. His attorneys obtained a stay of execution until December 3, when they appealed the case, but the Connecticut Supreme Court affirmed the death sentence. The point was then raised that Chapman was a federal prisoner and could not be executed until his term for mail robbery was completed.

Revenge Killing

Meanwhile, late in 1925, Chapman's pal, Anderson, had killed Ben Hance and his wife, on whose farm near Muncie Chapman and Anderson once lived, presumably because they had testified against Chapman in his murder trial. Anderson himself was killed a few weeks later by a

GIVE TRAINING TO IMMIGRANTS

MONTREAL, Que., April 6.—(By Canadian Press)—If some means were afforded British youths to establish themselves on farms after they had taken courses such as are offered under the Hoadley scheme, Canada would be more successful in attracting young men of the type she wants from the Old Country, in the opinion of A. W. Waddell, of County Down, Ireland, who passed through here recently on his way west. Mr. Waddell in the fall of 1924 himself came to this country under the Hoadley scheme and during the winter months attended agricultural courses at Vermillion, in Western Canada. Last summer he worked as a farm hand in the Leduc district about twenty miles south of Edmonton, and he recently purchased a quarter of a section of his own in that region.

Mr. Waddell served during the war in India and Egypt. As a son of an Irish landed prospector he had considerable knowledge of stock-raising, and was particularly anxious to gain a thorough knowledge of marketing in this country. He therefore concluded a successful season last year by going back to the Old Country on a cattle boat to see how the cattle were moved and to compare the reception of Canadian cattle with that of Irish. He came to the conclusion that the comparison was in favor of the Canadian animals, which he thought were marketed in better condition. He also thinks that Canadian butter is better graded than Irish butter, and claims that there is more uniformity on the quality of consignments.

HALIBUT RESEARCH WILL CONTINUE AT LEAST TWO YEARS

Muskegon, Mich., policeman.

President Coolidge commuted Chapman's twenty-five year sentence in an executive order issued November 23, 1925, but three days later Chapman in his cell in Wetherfield prison refused to accept the order.

So that Chapman might have time to carry the computation order into the courts, Governor Trumbull relieved him on November 27 postponing the execution until March 3.

Chapman's next move was to seek a writ of habeas corpus which would have transferred him back into federal custody. That was denied on December 14, 1925, by Federal Judge Thomas of Hartford. The United States Circuit Court at New York upheld his ruling on February 15, 1926.
