MAN CONFESSES TO MURDER OF 14 PEOPLE

QUEEN CHARLOTTE ISLANDS VISITED BY UNUSUAL MILLIONS OF JELLYFISH

Confesses Murder of Fourteen Men; Two of Them Near Hazelton

SEATTLE, Aug. 2.—Tom Smith, 45 years of age, who claims to have started his criminal career in Canada, walked into the police headquarters here Saturday night and described himself to the police as a murderer of at least fourteen persons. He proceeded to confess to six killings and more than one hundred robberies.

The police at first doubted the man's story of crime, but last night declared they believed the man was telling the truth.

To the police, Smith said his real name was Thomas Johnson and that his father was a Canadian.

According to the story told by Smith he robbed when eleven years old a grocery store near Salmon Arm, B.C. When 20 years of age he said he left the home of his father "near Ontario." His first murder, he told the police, was committed shortly before the San Francisco earthquake when he killed a young companion in that city during an attempted robbery. He covered up the crime by burning the victim in a ditch near a windmill which the murdered man had been erecting.

At Hazelton
The next murder was committed in 1914 when he declares he shot and killed two railroad workers in Hazelton, B.C., during a robbery. The men had declined to remove their shoes in which they had secreted $4,000; he escaped with the money after killing them.

Smith told of several murders, allegedly committed in various parts of United States from late in 1917 to 1919 and said he worked with accomplices. He told of holding up harvest hands in New Brunswick while working with a gang of bandits. A number of shots were fired on one occasion and he expressed the belief that he had killed at least one man.

From 1919 until this summer, Smith said, he wandered through the middle west robbing harvest hands and committing holdups in numerous cities.

Ponder Thinks Untrue
Constable R. P. Ponder of the provincial police, states that he was on provincial police duty in Hazelton in 1914 and so far as he knows no such murder was committed there at that time. However, there were a lot of railway men working there and it might have been possible to get away with two men without the crime being discovered although it was not likely they would have disappeared without it being reported that they were missing.

Word received by the provincial police later today state that it may have been 1913 the Hazelton murders were committed at which time Constable Ponder was not in the district.

MOTOR STOCK ON THE JUMP
General Motors Lead Advance Passing Two Hundred Mark This Morning
NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Leading another vigorous upturn in the stock market today. General Motors crossed the two hundred dollar mark and established a record for high prices. A tremendous buying movement of the stock had been under way for more than a week. Fresh facilities improved the price in excess of ten points above last week's closing figures.
Many other motor issues were heavily bought.

PROSECUTION OF McPHERSON IS WITHDRAWN
Evidence Against Famous Evangelist Too Vague and Case "Blows Up"
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2.—District Attorney Keyes announced last night that he considered the case of James McPherson "too vague" to prosecute. The case had been "blown up" as far as further investigation by his office was concerned. He said he believed the evidence brought here by officers from Carmel was "too vague to successfully prosecute on a perjury charge." He will go before the Grand Jury tomorrow and explain the situation to the members after which he proposes to withdraw the case.

ZANGWILL DIES IN ENGLAND
Famous Jewish Author and Publicist Passed Away From Pneumonia
LONDON, Aug. 2.—Israel Zangwill, the noted playwright and author of letters, died yesterday. He had been undergoing treatment for two months but the direct cause of death is given as pneumonia.

Zangwill was born in 1864 and was perhaps the greatest contemporary Jewish life, being an ardent Zionist and founder of the International Jewish organization.

Mr. Zangwill made a hit with "The Premier and the Painter" in 1888, and afterwards edited a comic weekly called Ariel. He then began novel writing. He had also written plays, of which "The Melting Pot" is a prominent example.

BROOKLYN IS BALL MENACE

Chicago Cubs Ditched Into Second Rank Taking Fourth Place in League.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Opposition to the western monopoly in the first division of the National League broke out anew today when the Chicago Cubs were ditched into the second rank and Brooklyn again came forward to menace the leaders.

The Brooklyn Robins took a two to one decision in a pitching duel with the Cubs and are now in fourth place, with three consecutive victories behind them and only six games from the leading pirates.

LOSSES HEAVY BY HURRICANE

Whole of Sponge Fleet That Was at Banks Thought to Have Gone Down

NASSAU, Aug. 2.—The known death toll from the hurricane to the Bahamas last week is placed unofficially at 126, missing 409, boats sunk 100, property damage $8,050,000.

All of the eighty vessels of the sponge fleet which had gone to the banks when the hurricane struck them are believed to have been lost with 350 members of their crews.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE

Premier of Spain Escapes Pontard Thrown at Him When Driving

BARCELONA, Aug. 2.—An attempt to assassinate Premier Primo de Rivera of Spain here yesterday was frustrated. It is officially announced that the Premier is safe and sound. A pontard was thrown at him when he was driving to the railway station but he missed and the man who threw it was arrested by the police and will be tried on a charge of attempted murder.

JAP STEAMER BEING TOWED

Tail Shaft Broken and Vessel Helpless Until Picked up

VICTORIA, Aug. 2.—Helpless with a broken tailshaft the Japanese steamer Yoham Maru is today being towed toward Portland, Ore., by the steamer Yogen Maru, according to word received last night at the Gonzales Hill wireless station. The tug Salvage King is also proceeding to the vessels to give assistance. Last night the Salvage King was reported to be two hundred miles from Estevan.

Portland reports said the Japanese vessels were eighteen hundred miles northwest of Astoria. C.P.R. steamer Princess Alice, Capt. T. Cliff, docked at 9:30 o'clock this morning from Vancouver en route to Skagway, Alaska, for which point she sailed at noon. The boat carried a complement of 166 round-trip tourist passengers.

Tropical Jellyfish Invade Waters of Queen Charlotte Islands in Countless Millions

SKIDEGATE, Aug. 2.—This summer has seen a new species of jellyfish here known as the Portuguese Man of War. They are all along the coast in countless millions so that the water looks like a large field of glass.

The jellyfish average about two inches in diameter and are a dark purple in color with a green top. They differ from all other local jellyfish in having a fin on top which they hold up like a sail and by means of which they move from place to place. This fin is about the thickness of writing paper and is transparent.

It is said that usually these jellyfish are seen only in tropical waters. It is the first time they have been seen this far north. Some think they have been forced north by the continued southerly winds and others state they believe the waters here are getting warmer.

FISHERMEN OBJECT TO FISH TRAPS BUT PROTEST IS VAIN

A special despatch sent by Charles Bishop of Ottawa to the Vancouver Province says:

"Apparently the government orders licensing the Canadian Fishing Company to fish with traps in the Portland Canal is producing considerable unfavorable reaction. A good many telegrams of protest from the fishermen are being received here, but they are not likely to avail. The new government has decided to permit trap fishing this year and this action is not likely to be rescinded."

FISH ARRIVALS

Five American and Eight Canadian boats sold a total of 178,000 pounds of halibut on the Fish Exchange this morning. Of this total the Americans landed 151,500 pounds and Canadians 26,500 pounds. American caught fish averaged around 15c and 8c and Canadian around 14c and 9c. The arrivals were:

- American
- Sitka, 44,000 pounds, to Pacific Fisheries.
- Kanata, 38,000 pounds, to Royal Fish Company.
- Rainier, 38,000 pounds, to Atlin Fisheries.
- Lituya, 28,000 pounds, to Booth Fisheries.
- Wave, 3,500 pounds, to Atlin Fisheries.
- Canadian
- Johanna, 4,000 pounds, and Point May, 2,500 pounds, to Atlin Fisheries.
- Helen, 5,000 pounds, to Booth Fisheries.
- Toodie, 2,500 pounds, to Canadian Fish & Cold Storage.
- Unome, 3,000 pounds, to Royal Fish Company.
- Marguerite, 2,000 pounds; Ring-leader, 2,500 pounds, and D.S.T., 5,000 pounds, to Canadian Fish & Cold Storage.

ASKING FOR DEATH PENALTY IN MURDER CASE AT SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Aug. 2.—As the opposing attorneys marshalled their forces here today at the opening of the trial of Wallace Gaines, accused of murdering his daughter Sylvia, it was announced by the state that the death penalty would be asked.

Vicious Attack Made on Elevator at Prince Rupert by Conservative

A vicious attack was made against the Prince Rupert elevator and the Prince Rupert Grain route a few days ago at Edmonton by A. U. G. Bury, Conservative representative for East Edmonton in the last Parliament and again a candidate for the same position in that city. According to a report of his speech in the Edmonton Journal he urges that the whole of the western movement should be directed to the port of Vancouver and speaks of the expenditure as a "grossly flagrant instance of the expenditure of public monies for purely political purposes."

Bury also says he considers the elevator useless and not worth the small amount the wheat pool is called upon to pay for it in rental. The report of the speech follows:

USE AIRPLANES IN CAMPAIGN

Alaskan Candidate to be Quite Up to Date in Effort to Dislodge Dan Sutherland.

JUNEAU, Aug. 2.—For the first time in the history of Alaska airplanes will be used as a means of travel in a political campaign when former Mayor Thomas A. Marquam of Fairbanks, who has completed a tour of Southeastern Alaska, announced before leaving for his campaign in other divisions that he would use planes in covering the fourth and second divisions. He will travel by that means to Nome, the Kuskokwim, Koyukuk and other points. He expects to devote all his time to the campaign until November 2, closing in the first division.

Marquam is running as an independent against Dan Sutherland and is supported by the Democratic machine and by most of the big interests of Alaska.

TWO SWIMMING ACROSS STRAIT

Clara Barrett and Dr. Brewster Both Making Good Time Today

DOVER, Aug. 2.—Late this afternoon the attempts to swim the English Channel by Clara Barrett, New York, and Dr. George Brewster, London, developed into something of a race. At 2 p.m. the latter was five miles off Dover, three hours after leaving the coast. Five hours after the start Miss Barrett was twelve miles out, she thus having covered half the distance in record time and is still going strong.

It was anticipated that the gun practice of the naval units in the channel might prove troublesome to the swimmers.

CAUGHT TAKING FISH FROM TRAP

Grand Jury Indicts Men on Charge of Fish Piracy at Juneau.

JUNEAU, Aug. 2.—Olaf Oleson, John Jorgenson, Harkon Thomsen and Andrew Halvorsen, seiners on the Mildred and Philip, winter trap fishermen for the Sunny Point Packing Co., were bound over to the grand jury today and charged with fish piracy. They were caught taking 1,500 salmon from the company's trap by Gilbert Skinner, president of the concern. He said they paid $200 for the fish.

'Tis a Bitter Fight, But Let It Be Clean.

The forthcoming federal election, it is forecasted, will be one of the bitterest on record. In the East, it is already taking on the aspect and the battle is already on with personalities very much in prominence. It is the personalities, not the straight political arguments, that embitter the fight and those who engage in these personalities very rapidly lose ground. Such methods are regarded in the political ring as hitting below the belt in the pugilistic ring and the offenders in both cases are looked upon with equal disfavor.

With two candidates of the high standing that the riding of Skeena has in the running, the electors are looking for a clean battle here, fought on the issues of the day and not with mud slinging and personal abuse.

Truth and Falsification.

There is an inclination on the part of those who are opposed to the Liberal candidate in this riding to belittle his efforts and to deliberately falsify in saying that he and the government which he supported had not carried out promises that might have been made. Those who argue thus are most certainly "out of court." If there is a feeling that the Mackenzie King government was not satisfactory nationally, let such feelings be expressed, but let it not be said that that government has done nothing for Prince Rupert.

It is stated that the Liberal government has not endeavored to carry out the Laurier policy with respect to the development of this port. If that government did nothing else, in face of the tremendous opposition that was voiced against the project in the East and elsewhere and in face of the financial stringency that is being felt even today by this city's municipal government, than build the Prince Rupert elevator and get it in operation this year, it would seem that it has gone a long way toward the carrying out of the Laurier policy for this port.

A thing that is hard to understand is how anyone can sincerely support a candidate in opposition to Fred Stork in the belief that that candidate will do any more for this city or district than Mr. Stork has done or the government which he supported. It is nothing but nonsense uttered by thoughtless persons who permit their political leanings to overshadow the true state of affairs. The average voters will see the right of things and, in the forthcoming election as in previous ones, will render their preferences in favor of the candidate and government that may be expected to do the most for Prince Rupert.

This Monster Will Not Be Downed.

The Okanagan "sea-serpent" refuses to be downed, and those who have been skeptical of its existence are confronted with another eye-witness who graphically describes a friendly race with the monster while motoring north to Peachland.

Human nature accepts the unusual reluctantly, and those who are confident they have seen the mystery creature of Okanagan Lake will doubtless continue for some time henceforth to have difficulty in convincing their brethren that they are not suffering from hallucinations.

Not until the "monster" is stretched out on the sands in plain view will the majority accept its existence and give credence to the statements of others in this and kindred matters, however readily they may accept pronouncements by the same people regarding the ordinary affairs of life.

One may believe in the "sea-serpent" or something resembling it, but it is a good thing, perhaps, that credulity in such matters is not too widespread, otherwise in what an intellectual medley would we live?—Penticton Herald.

George Bernard Shaw Seventy Years Old.

George Bernard Shaw celebrated his seventieth birthday last week. He has been working steadily right up to the present time, mostly devoting his attention to the writing of plays. He is the world's great iconoclast in that his breaking of idols is done rather gently and subtly, but quite surely withal. He is looked upon as Britain's greatest literary genius and even though a socialist he commands the admiration and respect of people of all shades of public opinion.

TOM MIX AND TONY TONIGHT

Tells How Hero Wins Love of Girl and Shows Superb Horsemanship.

The dynamic Tom Mix and his horse, Tony, are presented in a different setting in "The Everlasting Whisper," a stirring drama of the Northwest, which opens at the Washholme Theatre tonight.

Jackson Gregory's colorful narrative serves admirably as a screen story for the popular star. There is enough action to satisfy the most ardent admirers. With Tony, Tom registers several new thrills guaranteed to bring shivers of delight to the most "thrill-proof" movie fan. The superb horsemanship of the film star again adds greatly to the enjoyment of the story.

Tom is cast in the role of Mark King, a wealthy young man who loves the carefree life of the giant pine forest. A girl from the city is hurled into his heretofore peaceful life and events follow quickly upon one another. In a short time Mark discovers himself madly in love with the girl, Gloria.

Gratton, the villain, attempts to trick Gloria into a hasty marriage but is balked when Gloria discovers his plot. Maddened to think Gratton would so deceive her, Gloria weds King to spite him. Tom is suddenly acquainted with the fact that Gloria married him to avoid a scandal. Disillusioned, determined to hold Gloria to her bargain and they start for his mountain home. Gratton, with the aid of a gang of ruffians, endeavors to pry the secret of the lost mine from Old Honeycutt, a hermit. Mark learns of the plot to steal the old man's holdings and, after a series of desperate fights, overcomes the thugs, shows Gratton up in his true light and wins the love of Gloria.

"THE FIGHTING HEART" COMING WEDNESDAY

George O'Brien Stars in Thrilling Picture and Battles With Villain.

In "The Fighting Heart," the screen version of Larry Evans' thrilling story, "Once to Every Man," which opens Wednesday at the Washholme Theatre, George O'Brien, handsome William Fox star, demonstrates beyond all doubt that he can act with the best of the cinema stars and out-punch all of them.

George exhibits a skill with boxing gloves that has never before been witnessed among the male stars of motion pictures. "The Fighting Heart" is not only a boxing story; it is a pulsing human drama.

This Saturday evening Post story fairly teems with exciting moments. In the ring sequences when Smiling George hits his opponent it is a genuine punch.

Stalwart George gives one of the best performances of his career. His portrayal of Denny Bolton is filled with just as much human appeal as was his Davy in the celebrated production "The Iron Horse."

"The Fighting Heart" is built around Denny Bolton's attempt to overcome an hereditary failing, craving for drink. At the crucial moment his sweetheart fails him and he enters the prize ring. At the height of his career he broods over his lost love, and loses a championship battle. Then the young man commences his fight to the top again. In a scuffle with the villain, who is also the world's champion, Denny thrashes him in a corksling street fight.

Realism
Dramatic realism is the keynote on which the picture was made. In order that the background might be true to life in the woods, the Canadian Government Motion Picture Bureau offered all its resources to Hudson during the making of this picture.

Strenuous Struggle
This fight, described by Sills as the most strenuous of his whole career, took more than a week to film. Starting in the interior of a cottage, it continued until almost every stick of furniture in the place was smashed. From there the fight was waged outdoors. Locked in each other's arms, the battlers fell from a sixty-foot bridge into the river, but they fought on. At the height of the fray a huge dam is blown up and thousands of logs are released, and carried by the flood tide, sweep toward the fighters, now imprisoned in the rising waters.

PURE BEER PURE BEER

Facts

of the Brewing Industry in British Columbia

THE Brewing Industry of British Columbia employs hundreds of men with an annual payroll of about three-quarters of a million dollars, using per annum nearly ten million pounds of malt, made from barley grown in Canada, and over one hundred and fifty thousand pounds of hops produced in British Columbia.

It requires over one hundred thousand dollars for fuel, mined in British Columbia, to produce the Beer consumed in this province. Many hundreds of thousands of dollars are paid by the Brewers annually for materials such as bottles, cooperage, crowsstoppers, labels and bottle wrappers—all of which are manufactured in Canada.

THE taxes paid by the Breweries to the Government amount to over eight hundred and seventy thousand dollars per annum, exclusive of income taxes.

THE citizens of this province must recognize the importance of such an industry and help to build it up; payrolls and industries are building cities and are the foundation of prosperity.

THE Amalgamated Breweries of B. C. are manufacturing good Beers, fully matured and aged, a product recommended by physicians on account of its nourishing and health-giving qualities; these Beers contain only a very low percentage of alcohol and therefore are the proper stimulant needed when exhausted or overworked, as recognized by medical authorities.

THE Vancouver Brewery Limited, Rainier Brewery Limited, Silver Spring Brewery Limited and the Victoria Phoenix Brewing Co. Limited, members of the Amalgamated Breweries of B. C., are under supervision of the Liquor Control Board, and their Beers are analyzed from time to time by expert firms of the continent upon instigation of the Liquor Control Board, which gives ample assurance to the public that they receive only pure and wholesome Beers when bought either in the Government Vendor Store or in licensed beer parlors.

This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Liquor Control Board or by the Government of British Columbia.

TWO LEADERS ARE COMPARED

By Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Premier Meighen Compared by British Paper.

In a recent number of the Manchester Guardian is a very fair comparison of the two Canadian leaders, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Hon. Arthur Meighen. The article says: "The two Canadian political leaders do not make so vivid a contrast, in personality and method, as Stanley Baldwin and Lloyd George, but they are a good deal more unlike one another than, say, Mr. Baldwin and Lord Oxford. Almost the only things they have in common are age and place of origin. Both were born in 1874, and both spring from the central British province, Ontario."

W. L. Mackenzie King, who was Dominion Prime Minister until a fortnight ago, succeeded the magnificent Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1919. The events and stages of his career make an unusual record, with which Conservative speakers are apt to make much play at election times. Mr. King is a graduate of Toronto University; he did post-graduate work at the University of Chicago, and later gained a travelling Fellowship from Harvard. After his entry into Canadian politics the problems of labor and immigration occupied him for many years. His experience in this field was remarkably thorough and varied. Few men in the Empire have had more to do with labor affairs than he, through administrative departments and Imperial and international commissions. He was Minister of Labor in the last Laurier government, which was overthrown in the famous reciprocity election of 1914. From 1914 to 1917 he was employed in his special field in the United States under the Rockefeller Foundation, and later he was active in the promotion of war industries and in labor conciliation. He became Prime Minister of the Dominion in 1921, upon the break-up of the Borden coalition government.

Mr. Mackenzie King is not of the type that is called a magnetic leader. He is a skillful party strategist, knowing probably better than any of his rivals the exceedingly difficult business of adjustment between the maritime provinces, Ontario, and the great prairie regions of the West, with Quebec as the constant and unique problem of Canadian Liberalism. Mr. King as Prime Minister was gripped by Quebec, threatened by the prairie provinces and steadily opposed by Ontario. Today, by reason of his dissolution crisis, he is being accused by his opponents of separatist aims. Nothing in the election campaign will be more interesting than Mr. King's reply to the Conservative challenge, and especially his handling of it in French Canada.

Conservative Leader
Mr. Arthur Meighen, the Conservative leader and Prime Minister, has had no such wide experience of the North American continent and the world as his Liberal opponent has enjoyed. In a most particular degree he belongs to Ontario, and, except for his attendances at the Imperial conferences, his lifelong field of action has been his native province and Manitoba. He grew up on an Ontario farm. After leaving Toronto University he was teacher and business man in Winnipeg till 1900, when he turned to the profession of law. He entered the Dominion Parliament in 1908, and in 1917 became Minister of Mines and of the Interior in Sir Robert Borden's government. Mr. Meighen is a thorough going if cautious Conservative, an uncompromising protectionist, an Imperialist of the present-day Canadian pattern. In the heat of his mind he may be described as an old-fashioned Canadian statesman, although there is nothing in his character and habit that recalls the spaciousness of the Macdonald-Laurier epoch. As Stanley Baldwin seems to be the representative of an older and simpler England, so, in a not dissimilar way, Arthur Meighen, now Prime Minister for a second time, makes one think of the older British Canada that still provides the bone and sinew of the great Dominion.

SETTLERS AND WORKERS DUE

Many People for Canadian Farms Arriving From Europe

MONTREAL, Aug. 2. — Agricultural workers coming to Canada to participate in this season's harvest form a large proportion of immigrant arrivals who are due at the Atlantic ports of Quebec and Halifax during Saturday and Sunday.

There are on board the various steamship lines co-operating with the Canadian National Railways a total of 2030 third class passengers some of whom are going directly on the land to settlers and others to find work on farms in Ontario and the prairie provinces. There is a very large proportion of British settlers and workers on the steamers making for Quebec and Halifax and with them a number of Scandinavian people who have always been welcome in the Dominion. Another section is made up of selected farm workers from various countries in continental Europe who are assured of immediate placement on farms through the agency of the department of colonization, agriculture and natural resources—Canadian National Railways.

On three steamers due at Quebec during Sunday there are 1305 third class passengers. On the Athenia there are 517, on the Regina there are 485, and on the Ausonia, 303. Three steamers are due at Halifax on Saturday with settlers and workers for Canada, and two more on Sunday. On Saturday the arrivals will be the Seydlitz, 201 third class passengers, Estonia, 208, and the Regina, 50. On Sunday there will arrive the Slavangerford, 181, and the United States, 82, a total of 725 settlers and agriculturists due at this port during the week end.

Waterfront Whiffs

Swam For It
You must hear this one. Geo. Tite Jr., took a party out to Crippen's cannery site recently in a certain well known power boat. Having landed the party safely George, like a good sailor, made a speedy getaway. The getaway was quite O.K., but a stupid rock changed its position meantime and, not noticing the obstruction, the little old boat piled right up. This left the skipper high and dry but he soon got wet. With no skill along, and if he wanted to join in the day's fun, he had to swim for it, and swim he did in his B.V.D.'s. However, the boat was not damaged and, though unfortunately the tide was a little late, it being about 11 p.m. before the boat would float, the party got back home safely.

Last Friday morning the good launch Argo, skippered and owned by Jack Lawrence, pulled out for Anxox. The skipper was accompanied by Kenny Reed. There were a couple of people to see the doughty mariners off. The Argo looked resplendent with pennants flying and water jars string along the deck, to say nothing of a small bottle of "rodine" for first aid purposes. The Argo certainly made the northern pleasure boat owners look to their laurels.

Dr. W. T. Kerzin, accompanied by his sons Will and Fred, and Miss Dorothy Thompson and Miss Dorothy Gillingham, returned recently from a trip aboard the power launch Sunbeam to the Estall River district. The party left the launch at Clearwater and proceeded via the "kicker" route to Johnson Creek and from that point hiked up to the lake. They enjoyed good fishing and returned to the city slightly fly bitten but little the worse for their happy outing.

Cornelia Maersk, for Callao, 96,000 bushels.
Point Bonita Puerto, for Columbia, 12,000 bushels.

MINING CAMP LOOKING WELL

Manager of Alaska Bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce Visits Hyder.

KETCHIKAN, Aug. 2. — Charles D. Garfield, manager of the Alaska bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, who has been making a tour of Alaska since the middle of June, returned from a visit to Hyder and is much impressed by the steady increase in development of the mining camp since his last visit there in 1919. Mr. Garfield made his first trip to Hyder in 1909, when the camp was in its first boom and at intervals of several years had made three other trips there prior to his present visitation.

Bonded Property
He was surprised at the development accomplished since his last trip and says the Premier mine and buildings perched neatly on the mountain side is indeed a work of wonderful engineering. He spent some time with Superintendent Pitt of the Premier and was informed the Canadian company has bonded a mine on the American side opposite the Premier which promises to develop into a big gold producer.

The B. C. Silver, Big Missouri and Dunwell mines are at present the best producers of the camp outside the Premier, but numerous other properties are being developed which are promising.

Guest at Dinner
Following his inspection of the mines, Mr. Garfield was guest of honor at a dinner given by Hyder Commercial Club, at which more than sixty members were in attendance. The needs of Hyder in the way of government assistance were discussed at the dinner at which it developed that the two major propositions are roads and protection from the Salmon River.

Dykes Necessary
The silt from the glacial waters of the Salmon River are continually changing the course of the stream and the construction of dykes are considered by Mr. Garfield to be a necessity to amply protect the camp from danger of floods through a sudden swerving of the course of the stream.

OBJECTION TO MEIGHEN CODE

Deportation Clause Still on Statute Books un-British it is Declared

VICTORIA, Aug. 2. — One part of the speech which Hon. Chas. Dunning delivered in Vancouver on Monday last has caused quite a stir among Old Country people in various parts of the province if messages which have reached the coast may be taken as any indication.

The former minister of railways in the government of W. L. Mackenzie King, who is a native of Leicester, England, startled his audience by reminding them that under a clause which the government of Arthur Meighen wrote into the Criminal Code in 1919, any Old Country man could be deported to his native land without a trial. It simply meant, Mr. Dunning explained that Old Country people were discriminated against, since the native-born could not be treated in a singular manner because there was nowhere to deport them to. In other words, an immigration agent and the minister of immigration could constitute themselves a judge and jury under the law and deliver their verdict without interference. This condition prompted Mr. Dunning to point out that Canada should be for all Canadians and not for some.

Incidentally, and in spite of Conservative opposition, on no less than four occasions the government of Mr. Mackenzie King succeeded in getting the House of Commons to sanction the re-

Buffalo Are Too Numerous

Government Forced to Dispose of Animals in Wainwright Park

OTTAWA, Aug. 2. — Despite the fact that two thousand buffalo are being shipped to the Fort Smith vicinity this year, the growth of the national herd at Wainwright, Alberta, is so rapid that the government is forced to seek other means of reducing the herd to within the park's grazing capacity. It has been decided to dispose of 2,000 additional animals on the hoof by tender, the understanding being that the animals so purchased will be slaughtered for meat, the sides being disposed of by sale in the public markets.

ALPINE CLUB ASSAULT PEAKS

TONQUIN VALLEY, Jasper Park, Aug. 2.—(By Courier).—A grim battle between the brain and the brawn of man and the forces of nature is being fought this week in this valley which skirts the dark forbidding walls of the Rampart Range, the backbone of the Rocky Mountains of Canada. Men and women from almost every province of Canada, from the east and the west of the United States, and from far-away England and Wales, are gathered here in the camp of the Alpine Club of Canada, combining the agility and enthusiasm of youth with the caution and experience of age in determined assaults upon the virgin peaks of this our wall of rock rising tens of thousands of feet into the sky for miles along this spectacular valley.

One peak several miles to the north and separate from the Rampart Range has already been conquered by one of the small, courageous bands of mountaineers who issue forth from the camp each day before the sun is up.

Cairn at Top

"Majestic" is the name of this mountain and it is as majestic in stature and contour as it is in name. It has been conquered and a cairn at the top records the fact.

But Redoubt of the Rampart Range, a tremendous pile of rock and ice and snow rising in terraced heights of sheer black rock to a pinnacle that is not unlike the spire of a Cathedral, has successfully resisted the efforts of some of the best climbers the club could muster. For more than seventeen hours this band of four, comprising Henry S. Hall Jr., of Boston, one of the conquerors of Mount Logan, Joseph Johnson, Scarborough, N.Y., Thomas B. Moffatt, of Calgary, and Hans Fuhrer, Swiss guide of Jasper Lodge, battled with forces they were unable to subdue and were forced to retrace their steps after they had climbed 2,800 feet or just about half way.

The maps do not give the altitude of Redoubt, but it is estimated to rise about 10,100 feet or approximately 4,000 feet above the floor of the Tonquin Valley. This mountain-like Geikie is now considered to be impossible of ascent from the north, and the next attempt will be made from the south.

Paget Hall in Calgary, of the 'Western Trades Route Association,' composed of members of organizations from British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and even Manitoba. This was the first formal step in the direction of the western grain route movement and proved how wide and strong a hold the idea then had acquired upon western minds. The opening of the Panama canal gave to Western Canada a new trade route to the markets of the world, and to Vancouver a new importance and value.

"There were of course many obstacles to the movement. A natural inertial prejudice to the new idea; timorousness of trying a strange route, with all its latent possibilities, difficult to estimate, of trouble, risk and loss; lack or inadequacy of equipment to handle and store the grain and of bottoms to carry it; the greater cost of freighting by such a route with all its lacks and inadequacies. But all such obstacles have been gradually overcome; and as the volume of the movement grows, the movement itself becomes easier and less costly. The grain export to the port of Vancouver has grown from a little over nineteen million bushels in 1922-23 to over fifty millions in 1925-26. The proximity of the Orient, and the increasing consumption of wheat there, especially in Japan, where, among the upper classes, it is taking the place of other grain formerly in common use, the unrivaled natural harbor facilities of Vancouver and the increasing number of bottoms there constantly available make it in growing measure, the port for Alberta, and at least the western half of Saskatchewan. With an outlet to the coast for the produce of the rich lands of Peace River and Grande Prairie, the development of these districts, adding greatly to the volume of the western grain movement, will lower freight rates, both rail and shipping, and so contribute further to the prosperity of the western farmer.

Victims Attack

"In my view the whole of this western movement should be directed to the port of Vancouver; and all public monies expended upon the Pacific Coast should be expended there. There never was a more grossly flagrant instance of expenditure of public monies for purely political purposes than the building of the elevator at Prince Rupert by the Liberal government. If I recollect aright that elevator cost nearly two million dollars, and yet is so worthless that the administration which built it has leased it to the wheat pool for a hundred dollars a year. Some satire was levelled in the recent parliament at the Progressives and the Alberta pool when the matter came up upon the estimates; but in my opinion, and in that I think, of most members of the house, the pool is giving the full rental value for the premises. In fact I rather believe the rent is excessive, and was only offered because the pool was willing to try whether the elevator was of any use and could not, with any self-respect, offer a lower rent.

Calls it a Crime

"One reason which makes the building of that elevator such a crime against, not only the country as a whole and the long suffering taxpayer; but in particular the western farmer, is the pressing need which then existed, and still exists, for additional elevator space at Vancouver. Had that elevator been built at the latter city, instead of lying a monument to criminal folly and political incompetency, bringing in a mere courtesy rental of one hundred dollars a year it would be filled to capacity with the grain of Alberta farmers, relieving the glut in the other elevators and mitigating the rigors and diminishing the losses involved in the, probably necessary, but certainly regrettable, permit system.

"So, of course, I believe in the western grain movement. Early in 1922 there was powerful pleading for it by public men. The Edmonton board of trade, the city councils, of which I was a member, and Mayor Blatchford, were all strong advocates and co-workers for it, and for the freight rate question necessarily associated with it. I shall gladly and freely do whatever I can to co-operate with any individual or body working towards the complete realization and success of the movement."

MEMORIAL TO HEROIC NURSE

People of Jasper Travel Twenty Miles to Worship Beneath Mountain.

JASPER, Aug. 2.—Yesterday afternoon at the foot of the great mountain which immortalizes her name, more than four hundred people gathered to do reverent homage to the memory of Nurse Edith Cavell, arrested by the Germans on August 5, 1915, and executed by them on October 12 of the same year.

Above the congregation, all of whom had travelled more than 20 miles by motor and on foot to attend the memorial service, the great ice wings of the glacier of the angels hovered like a benediction. Higher still, the magnificent snow crown of the mountain, rising to loftier heights than any other peak in the Athabasca range of the Canadian Rockies, glistened like silver in the summer sun. Down in the valley the jade waters of the Lake of Forgiveness lay still and tranquil as though symbolic of the soul of the heroine who went to her death eleven years ago in the great cause of humanity.

The service itself, conducted by Rev. H. A. Edwards, chaplain of Jasper National Park, assisted by Canon R. F. Swan, of St. Michael's Church, Edmonton, was marked by a simplicity as natural and as beautiful as that which animated the life of Edith Cavell herself. There was nothing in it that spoke of bitterness, nothing that might fan to flame again anger which the nations of the world are trying to forget, but only the ennobling and uplifting thought of a life well spent and a death heroically met; of a life that was dedicated to the service of suffering and of a death that spelled immortality.

The service was opened with the singing of "Rock of Ages," the orchestra of Jasper Park Lodge and the gowned choir of the chaplain's church leading the congregation. Then followed the reading of the beautiful twenty-third psalm and a prayer. Next came the address of Mr. Edwards into which no note of heroics crept, but the keynote of which was the purity of service consecrated to God and to humanity. The closing hymn was the one sung by Edith Cavell and her chaplain a few minutes before she faced her firing squad, "Abide With Me." Immediately following this hymn the congregation remained standing while the bugler blew "Last Post," that haunting, plaintive call of the British army which ends with an unfinished note. As the clear notes of the bugle rang out to be echoed by the mountain walls, the flag which had stood at full mast during the service dipped slowly in salute to complete a picture no one will ever forget. As the last note of call melted softly into the air the chaplain raised his arms in the benediction and, as he did so, a passing cloud moved slowly away from the face of the sun to allow a stream of brilliant sunlight to steal across the face of the great glacier overhead. It was as though Edith Cavell had heard and smiled.
