STEAMER BURNED TO WATER'S EDGE ON ST. LAWRENCE

Constitutional Changes Being Brought About as Result of the Imperial Conference in London

Plan for diplomatic exchanges being considered with Governor General representing the King and not the British Government

LONDON, November 19.—A plan for a kind of diplomatic exchange between Great Britain and the Dominions is understood to be receiving consideration from delegates to the Imperial Conference. Under the scheme, if adopted, the Governor-General would be a representative purely of the Crown and not of the British Government. Communications would then practically pass direct to London with the Dominion High Commissioner exercising a semi-diplomatic function and the British Government would be represented in each Dominion by a special officer who would keep the Dominion informed of the course of policy of the British cabinet.

OPERATIONS AT TALTAPIN MINE

MACHINERY WILL BE TAKEN IN DURING WINTER AND SHIPMENTS EXPECTED TO START IN MARCH SAYS MANAGER

During the past summer the road from Burns Lake to the mine has been in shape so that it will be a fairly good winter road and camp buildings at the mine have been extended so as to accommodate a larger force of men. A. Wood, manager of the Taltapin mine in the Babine Lake vicinity north of Burns Lake, who was in town tonight on his way from the interior to Vancouver.

As soon as the weather tightens up and traffic over the snow crust becomes possible a compressor, diesel engine and other machinery will be taken in to the mine said Mr. Wood who states that shipments will probably start in March.

One of the principal owners of the Taltapin mine is W. C. Stearman, a well known Vancouver hardware dealer.

CURSED RUMORS IN VANCOUVER

POLICE DISTURBED OVER ANONYMOUS LETTERS AND REPORTS OF SHOCKING CONDITIONS

100 BLIND PIGS THERE

MAYOR EMPLOYS SECRET AGENT TO CHECK UP ON CHIEF AND CONFIRMS STATEMENT

VANCOUVER, Nov. 19.—Producing excerpts from a letter, whose author he refused to reveal, Commissioner McPherson at yesterday's session of the police commission demanded an explanation of the report that there were two thousand bootleggers in Vancouver. "Shocking conditions" prevailed at these places. The letter referred to white slavery and gambling, assertions which were denied outright by Chief Long.

Mayor Taylor announced that for two months he employed a secret agent who he paid himself, checking up illicit sales of liquor in the city. The agent reported, he said, that Chief Long's assertion that there were less than one hundred blind pigs within the city limits and that most of these were barely making a living, was correct. "I can't understand where these accursed rumors and anonymous letters come from," said Chief Long. "If we paid attention to all the rumors and anonymous reports received the entire police force and all the police commissioners would be in jail for false and malicious arrest."

Steamer Montreal Burned to Water's Edge and is Beached; Five Members of Crew Lost

MONTREAL, November 19.—Five members of the crew of the Canada Steamship liner Montreal are believed to have perished, three are in Sorel Hospital badly burned and many of the remaining thirty narrowly escaped with their lives when the vessel burned to the water's edge early today, three miles above Sorel en route to Montreal from Quebec for freight.

The steamer is the crack passenger ship of the fleet but on this trip was carrying no passengers. When the fire was discovered the vessel put full speed ahead and was beached. It is believed that five men who were trapped in the fore-castle were overcome by smoke or jumped overboard and were drowned.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Moore will sail tomorrow morning on the steamer Catalpa for Vancouver.

Discussion of Traffic in Liquor out of B.C. Occupies Most of Day

Ottawa hearing of Customs Commission taken up with illicit export from Pacific ports to United States

OTTAWA, November 19.—The existence of extensive traffic in liquor between British Columbia and the United States was alleged in evidence given before the Royal Commission investigating the Customs Department Thursday. C. P. Blair, chief executive assistant, told the commissioners liquor was shipped from British Columbia ports such as Vancouver, Victoria, Prince Rupert or other points along the B.C. coast where it awaited the arrival of United States vessels, which took it aboard without the formality of obtaining clearance papers and smuggled it into the United States.

Mr. Blair said he knew of nothing to prevent shipment of liquor to B.C. coast points, but the apprehension of vessels which called for liquor at those points would deal a blow at the traffic.

The question of the traffic in liquor in British Columbia occupied a prominent portion of the day's sitting. Mr. Blair told the commission that the customs department at Victoria and Vancouver were holding a number of uncancelled bonds for liquor shipments because they doubted the genuineness of the landing certificates furnished them. In answer to Newton Rowell, K.C., Mr. Blair said the traffic from British Columbia into the United States in liquor was very large but unless the U.S. vessels calling for liquor could be seized, the customs had no right to interfere.

PRINCE GEORGE MURDER TRIAL IS TRAVERSED

OWING TO ILLNESS OF DR. BAKER OF QUESNEL, MAIN CROWN WITNESS — DISAGREEMENT ON STATUTORY CHARGE

The charge of murder against Aaron Kosta which was to have been heard at the Prince George Assizes this week was traversed until the next Assizes because Dr. G. R. Baker of Quesnel, one of the main witnesses for the crown and the physician who performed a post-mortem examination on the allegedly murdered man, Maurice Orioli, was unable to appear in court having just recently undergone an operation for appendicitis. The accused was brought to the city last night in custody of Constable M. Martin of Prince George and was taken on this morning to Okalla where he will remain pending trial in the spring. Kosta is alleged to have killed Orioli at Ten-Mile Lake north of Quesnel on September 26 of this year. Both were settlers and were neighbors.

PRINCE GEORGE CASE QUASHED

CROSS QUESTIONING OF PRISONER BY SERGEANT AND ADMISSION OF ANSWERS WAS INCORRECT

VANCOUVER, Nov. 19.—The court of appeal unanimously quashed the conviction of A. Bellos, who was found guilty at the Prince George assizes of assault, occasioning bodily harm and was sentenced to two and a half years imprisonment. A new trial was ordered. Their Lordships concluded that there had been a miscarriage of justice through the admission of certain evidence. Provincial police sergeant Walker of Prince George relating answers he had elicited from Bellos in evidence. According to the court this would give the impression that Bellos did not tell the truth. This evoked comment from Mr. Justice Martin who said the Sergeant exceeded his duty when he cross-examined prisoner.

CHANGED ATTITUDE AT VANCOUVER.

The Vancouver Sun the other day went out of its way to challenge the statements made by the managing editor of the Edmonton Journal, who was here in a delegation from that city recently and who sent a long account of the entertainment and a description of the port and its advantages to his paper. The Sun thinks it sees disadvantages as well as advantages at this port and thinks these should also have been mentioned. This, of course, is amusing. Even if there were disabilities, such as the Sun suggests, it would hardly expect we should advertise them. Does Vancouver shout about its fogs, its difficult harbor entrance, its long and tortuous passage to the open sea. Neither do we worry over them and should not mention them now if the Sun were not so discourteous with us.

While the Sun takes exception to Prince Rupert claiming advantages which it undoubtedly possesses, it is noticeable that there is a marked change of attitude on the part of that paper. Instead of ignoring this report and speaking of us as if we were of no account, it now speaks of the Pacific Coast as a "single unit."

Ignoring the claims which the Sun makes of advantages of Vancouver, which everyone here knows are wrong, just as the old statements made about our court house and other institutions were wrong when made by the same paper a year or two ago, we quote just the last small paragraph of the spiteful article, which after all is the most interesting. It says:

"The Pacific Coast is a single unit and should go after business in a unified manner. Misrepresentations on the part of Prince Rupert will not injure Vancouver, but the entire Pacific Coast."

HOLDUP OF GRAIN FAVORS PACIFIC.

The holdup of grain shipments as a result of the scarcity of ships following a very late harvest, which we have been deploring, may really be beneficial to the Pacific Coast ports and thus in part to Prince Rupert. Grain has been passing to the Great Lakes just as slowly as to this coast in comparison to the amount usually shipped, and the result must be that more will go out this way and the season of shipping will last longer than usual. Ships should be leaving here with grain well on into the spring. The closing of the lakes to navigation will throw practically all the business this way and we should benefit.

The Edmonton Journal in an editorial article says in part: "Alberta is credited with 112,466,000 bushels of wheat in the latest federal report. This is about 9,500,000 more than last year's yield, but 7,000,000 less than the bureau's estimate of two months ago. Both the provincial government and the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association have put the production at a higher figure. The former on October 23 looked for 119,225,000 and the latter on October 9 for 128,858,000."

"With a settlement of the British coal strike in prospect there is a good chance of a further strengthening of the market. This served to restrain the bearish influence exerted yesterday by the Dominion figures. If the prolonged tie-up in the Old Country is now ended, ocean rates should soon come down, these having been much increased through the demand for ships to supply British coal requirements.

"Provided a settlement is reached, the Pacific ports ought to have very busy months ahead of them. Shipments have been delayed by way of the lakes, which will soon be closed to navigation, as a consequence of the high prevailing rates and the hold-up of threshing operations. The benefit of the western route to Alberta should be more apparent than ever before."

Vancouver's Friendly Ears Perk Up When This Port Is Mentioned Says Bert Morgan

Local Business Man Gives Some Impressions of Southern Metropolis Where People are keenly Interested in Prince Rupert

"All the business people of Vancouver have great hopes for the north and are very much interested in Prince Rupert," states Bert Morgan, manager of the Grotto Cigar Store, who returned this week from a combined business and pleasure trip to the southern metropolis. Mr. Morgan says that the old spirit of unfriendly rivalry in the south is disappearing and that Vancouver people were just as pleased as were those of Prince Rupert when grain shipping started out of this port. They realize that Vancouver may no longer lay exclusive claim to being the Pacific Coast port of Canada and they are not only gratified that the port of Prince Rupert should be getting on its feet but hope that its business will continue to expand. Vancouver people have at last come to realization of the fact that the development of Prince Rupert will ever redound to the benefit of their own port.

"It seemed to me," says Mr. Morgan, "that everywhere I went, when I said I was from Prince Rupert, people's ears perked up and they wanted to ask questions about this town. I can assure you that I answered plenty of questions and did my best to make them understand that we took back water from them in no shape or form outside of admitting that, so far, they had a larger city and bigger population than we have."

Mr. Morgan found that there had been great growth and progress in Vancouver since he was last there five years ago. There is no boom but steady growth. The building industry is going strong and many business blocks as well as residences are under construction.

LACK OF SHIPS
The grain movement through Vancouver Mr. Morgan found had taken quite a slump. Whereas in the early part of 1925 the harbor was girted with ships waiting for grain loading berths, this year there were few if any boats loading there. The lack of ships, owing to the British coal strike, is being felt in Vancouver as well as in Prince Rupert.

With the ever-expanding volume of business in Vancouver, Mr. Morgan declares that the day of little business men in the centre of the city, at least, is almost a thing of the past. Competition is so keen and margin of profit so close that there is not much chance for the little man with a small turnover.

CHANGED APPEARANCE
The whole downtown appearance of Vancouver has greatly changed in the half decade Mr. Morgan says. In the downtown strip from Granville Bridge clear along Granville and Hastings to Main Street there is scarcely a poor front. The Hudson Bay Co. and William Dick have the most outstanding fronts.

The traffic on the streets Mr. Morgan found was very congested and it has come to the stage where a person, who has several places to go downtown, is better advised to walk than to take a street car or automobile. Cars are so numerous that a person may not be able to park within five blocks of his objective.

The bridge across the Second Narrows, Mr. Morgan says, has not helped the North Vancouver ferries. In fact, he predicts, that it will be only a matter of a short time before the ferries will have to go out of business unless the service is greatly improved.

GROUSE MOUNTAIN
One of the newest and most attractive places in Greater Vancouver, Mr. Morgan says, is the new hotel on top of Grouse Mountain which was opened only three weeks ago. From Vancouver city, the hotel is a wonderful sight at night when it looks in the darkness like a cluster of bright stars suspended from the sky as there are no other lights within miles of the hotel. It was a pleasant drive from the city to the mountain top but, owing to the grade, gas tanks have to be almost full in going up and, in descending, good brakes are an essential requisite. To travel over the road it is necessary to pay tolls as one also has to do in crossing the Second Narrows bridge.

Mr. Morgan found that there were a great many unemployed in Vancouver. It is the centre for men from all over the province to assemble about this time when summer industries are over.

MANY SCOTS
Speaking humorously, Mr. Morgan says that one of the things that struck him most forcibly when in Vancouver was the huge assemblage of people numbering into the thousands at one of the large departmental stores for a 95c day. "I didn't know before there were so many Scotch people in the whole of Canada," says Mr. Morgan in a Welsh crack at the Scots.

Among former Prince Rupert people whom Mr. Morgan saw in Vancouver were Jimmy Richmond who is working in the Commodore Cafe, and his father, George, who is further up Granville Street in the Ritz. He also visited George Shaw in the drug store which he owns at the corner of Powell Street and Dunlevy Avenue and says that "Hunky" is doing a nice business and wishes to be remembered to all his old Prince Rupert friends to whom he sends a cordial invitation to visit him when in Vancouver.

"It is a pleasure to go to Vancouver for a holiday," concludes Mr. Morgan, "but it is a much more pleasant feeling to be back home in good old Prince Rupert which is quite big enough for me."

Every fall for 25 years Jim Bark, retired cattleman, has searched for the "Lost Dutchman" gold mine in the vicinity of Four Peaks in the Superstition Mountains of Arizona.

REAL SNAKES NOT BAD AS HUMAN VIPER

(Vancouver Star)

It is perhaps an injustice to the reptile division of the animal kingdom to give its name to the class of persons who write slanderous letters under the veil of anonymity. Snakes, real snakes, have the merit of minding their own business. They seldom interfere with anyone who does not first interfere with them. They are cleanly things, too. They do not delight in raking up filth. And when they attack, they attack openly, even warning the intended victim by rattle or hiss.

But the snake in human guise strikes secretly and delivers himself of all the venom he has gathered from the noisome places he infests. Taking pen or typewriter—he prefers the latter because he thinks it safer—he indicts words calculated to wound and alarm the recipient. He makes the meanest insinuations, alleges the lowest motives and, in general, attributes to the person addressed the despicable machinations which reveal the contemptible mind in which they have been conceived. Newspapersmen are fairly familiar with this sort of document, which they seldom read beyond the first few lines. Every election produces its crop, few candidates being fortunate enough to escape the plague entirely. There is, perhaps, one consolation for those who find libellous and threatening missives in their mail. They may be quite sure that they have disturbed some noxious creature which ought to be disturbed.

The author of anonymous slander, however, is by no means always so effectually concealed as he imagines. The fact that no action is taken is no guarantee that the sender is not known. A man may be pretty sure where an unsigned letter comes from without having the legal proof that would justify beginning proceedings, even if there were anything to be gained by that course. Short of complete exposure, absolute silence is the best answer to a spiteful epistle. It is also a good trap for the writer, who, tortured by the suspicion that his screed was never read, may give himself away in trying to find out.

"TRAMP, TRAMP, TRAMP" HERE THIS EVENING
With the completion of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," showing here tonight, his initial feature-length comedy for First National release, Harry Langdon enters the super-comedy class of Chaplin and Harold Lloyd.

Langdon has every qualification for this distinction. His comedy is unique. It has a universal appeal. In the short time that he had been making comedies for Mack Sennet prior to his recent contract with First National he gathered an army of enthusiasts. With the greater opportunities permitted him by the feature-length comedy it is prophesied that he will soon command the popularity of the world's greatest screen funsters.

Langdon's misanthropy is strikingly individual. No other film comic can quite appropriate the wide open wonderment of his eyes, the quizzical twist of his mouth or the peculiar lank of expression in his face.

Without doing a single thing Langdon is funny. A photograph of the comic provokes mirth. There is something inherently comical about the moon-faced actor.

Similarly Charlie Chaplin is funny to look at. He resembles Langdon in that he can create a laugh merely by showing himself.

LANGDON SERIOUS-MINDED
Langdon's greatest resemblance to the great screen comedians is his seriousness in private life. It is almost an accepted fact that the greatest fun-makers are the most serious when they are with themselves.

COMMUNITY DeLuxe Stainless Knives

A Triumph in the Art of Silversmithing

Keen as Carving Knives With Blades that Gleam Like Polished Silver.

COMMUNITY PLATE WEEK in Prince Rupert---Last Day

DINNER KNIVES have always been a problem to the housewife who likes her table to be above reproach. If she bought plated knives they looked "nice enough", but would not cut and could not be sharpened. If she bought stainless steel knives for their sharpness, she found that the dull grey of the steel blades "looked ugly" by contrast with the gleaming beauty of the other table pieces. What was she to do? The perfect knife had not yet been invented.

But Community craftsmen were working on this very problem. They discovered the perfect knife—COMMUNITY DE LUXE STAINLESS, with blades that gleam like polished silver, keen as carving knives and even more immune to rust, stains and tarnish than ordinary stainless. And they never lose their wondrous brilliance. The silver finish is part of the steel itself.

And so knives have become the most beautiful pieces of the table service—the least bothersome to keep gleamingly lovely. Drop in and see COMMUNITY DE LUXE STAINLESS KNIVES. You will find them an irresistible inducement to modernize your table service.

FINAL TRIBUTE FORMER PASTOR

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR REV. DR. CAMERON WAS LARGELY ATTENDED YESTERDAY

The congregation that gathered last night in the First Presbyterian Church to pay its last respects to the memory of the late Dr. Charles J. Cameron, pastor of that church, was so large that it completely filled the spacious pit of the large assembly place and overflowed into the galleries. From the complexion of the gathering it might well have been judged that many persons had waived their religious adherences to mourn for a man who had, in a brief space of time, become highly popular and generally esteemed. The service was conducted by Ven. Archdeacon G. A. Rix of St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral, assisted by Rev. George G. Hacker, pastor of the First United Church, from a draped pulpit before which reposed the flower banked casket. The rites were solemn and impressive.

ARCHDEACON'S ADDRESS

In his address Archdeacon Rix referred to the Christian belief of spiritual life and immortality. The truth that the soul went on after mortal life had passed and that there was no spiritual death was but too superficially believed, when it was really a truth that should be a tremendous comfort to those in bereavement. Even though death came there was no break in the spiritual existence. The spirit but left its earthly tenement and the great personality and wonderful love went on. There was no death for the soul had departed from the weak and frail body to enter upon a new and greater life. The death and resurrection of Jesus Christ, the archdeacon declared, was the greatest example of immortality.

Reviewing the pastors that had served it, the archdeacon declared the Presbyterian Church should have in its membership many fine types of Christianity. The minister for whom the congregation now mourned had been a man of extraordinary energy and zeal and his career had been a most unusual one. Living his life at concert pitch, he was a poet in his heart and a dramatist by nature. In the East he had occupied some of the most important posts in the ministry and he could not keep out of the pulpit! At length he had come to Prince Rupert and there had found, amid disorganization and difficulties, just such a situation as it would be his choice to cope with. He had brought here many fine attributes, among which was as fine a use of the English language as had ever been heard in the city and a clear gospel message, the latter of which was most important. Though his sojourn in Prince Rupert had been but brief, the people of the city and those of the Presbyterian church particularly were undoubtedly much the better for his short ministry.

UNUSUAL EXISTENCE

Just as he had lived an unusual life, so he had died an unusual death. He had been in harness until the end and that was probably as he would have had it. To her with whom his life had been so beautifully knit together, would go the entire sympathy of the community. For him there should be no sorrow for he had answered, after a colorful and useful life, the call of the Great Master to the greater and better life beyond where soon he would be joined in the great and eternal life by all those who had been near and dear to him in earthly being.

Rev. G. G. Hacker read the scripture lesson and led in prayer. The choir was in attendance and the hymns were "Breathe on Me Breath of God," "Fight the Good Fight" and "When on My Day of Life the Night is Falling." John E. Davey was organist for the service while Mrs. H. C. Fraser took the organ for a duet "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" by Mr. Davey and Alex Clapperton.

This morning the remains were forwarded by the steamer Prince George to Vancouver where interment will take place. The pallbearers were J. W. McKinley, Thomas McClymont, George Abbott, W. F. Cameron, Howard White and Ald. W. M. Brown.

Those sending flowers included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stork and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Little, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell and family, Little Miss Mary Evans, Mr. and Mrs. D. Jabour, Sam Jabour, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mackenzie and Loyol Orange Lodge, Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Andrews Society, St. Andrews Society, Mr. and Mrs. D. ### TELLS OF WORK NAVY LEAGUE

CAPTAIN MORRIS ADDRESSES ROYAL CLUB AND MAKES Eloquent Appeal For Support

"For God, for King, for Canada and for the Empire" is the motto of the Navy League, according to Captain G. F. Morris, organizer for that body, who is here reorganizing the local branch of the league and who has already secured the election of officers and a strong executive committee.

Captain Morris told of the desire of the organization to establish a navy league branch in every port. This was for the purpose, not only of giving the boys training in seamanship but also to impress on Canadian people the importance of the sea interests of the country. Particularly this was needed in the central provinces of Canada.

BOX CARS VS. SHIPS
Telling of conversation with a person in one of the central provinces on this subject, the Captain said that the man remarked: "What we want is not ships but box cars." He did not realize the need of disposing of the wheat after it got to the seaboard and of protecting the interests of the sailors throughout the voyage. What was true of wheat was true of every other commodity.

While the Navy League is not a religious organization, the speaker said he believed that the cause of religion was advanced by advancing the time when the righteous rule of the British Empire would cover the earth. The maintenance of law and order was just as important today as ever. He referred to recent pirates and asked what the condition would be like were it not for the British navy. The pirates to which he referred were just as bad as those of the middle ages.

OPPOSE BREAKING AWAY
Captain Morris said he refrained from saying anything about the strengthening of the ties binding Canada to the Empire but he would simply mention and Canada, and her subsequent works, were reviewed, and Miss Wyatt closed by describing the poetess' later life and death in Vancouver.

Jack Mackay read Sir J. M. Barrie's famous address on "Courage" to the students of St. Andrew's University. He also quoted numerous incidents in the life of the famous author. His speech was exceptionally well received.

At the conclusion Bruce Stevens moved a hearty vote of thanks to those taking part. Cecil Hacker presided and Jack Deane was secretary.

JUNIOR MEETING

In the Junior meeting two very interesting and instructive readings were given by Miss Sheila Stuart and Toshi Sakamoto. Miss Stuart's subject was "The History of Canada," and Master Sakamoto's "Timbuktu, in the Sands of the Sahara." At the conclusion of the meeting Principal Peddie congratulated the speakers on their splendid work.

Miss Amelia Pillsbury was in the chair, and Miss Tomi Katsuyama acted as secretary.

As New York Sees It

Even the cats are blasé in New York. They may be seen in the busiest streets, seemingly unconcerned about the traffic that speeds past them as they industriously scrub their fur with moistened paw. The dogs are less at ease on the streets. Seldom are they seen except at the end of a leash or muzzled.

Chivalry does live in the Metropolis, reports to the contrary. A woman dropped a half-dollar through a sidewalk grating in Seventh avenue and a messenger boy fished it out while the delivery of somebody's new hat was delayed. The inevitable crowd looked on. A young woman lost the head of a cane in 46th street. A young man heroically picked his way through a fleet of taxis, halted by the traffic signal, to retrieve it.

Art is both the work and the diversion of artists. Objects and pictures, the playtime creations of members of art clubs, exhibited at the Art Center, demonstrated it. Included were sketches, water colors, etchings, oil paintings, and frontispieces for books done mostly for fun.

Director Luther Reed was making scenes along Riverside Drive and needed a sailor to make the atmosphere correct. He took a "movie" sailor along with makeup on his face and rouge on his lips. Parked on a bench waiting his call for the camera, he was spied by two real sailors. They stopped, looked intently at the actor sailor, laughed and cast remarks. Being quite husky, the "movie" gub had just taken a swing at the jaw of one of his tormentors when police dispersed a gathering crowd.

LITERARY SOCIETIES HOLD MEETINGS IN KING EDWARD HIGH

Interesting Readings Enjoyed by Members at Regularly Weekly Event

The weekly meetings of the Literary and Debating Society of the High School were held yesterday.

The Senior Society listened to three readings by W. Joe Scott, Miss Maude Wyatt, and Jack Mackay. Joe Scott took as his subject "Lumbering." He described the sawmills of Canada in detail, and dwelt on the various uses of their product. He also described the manufacturing of certain bi-products of lumber, and closed with an appeal for forest protection.

Miss Maude Wyatt took the life of Pauline Johnson. She traced the early years and education of the Canadian poetess, and her first public appearance before Young Liberal Association of Toronto, for which entertainment she wrote "The Song My Paddle Sings." Miss Johnson's tours of Great Britain

Hundreds of umbrellas appear on the streets as if by magic, when it rains, but the source is no mystery. With his wares under his arm, the umbrella merchant goes slipping along the street, at the first signs of a downpour, rescuing stranded wayfarers from packed doorways.

Fifth Avenue is leading the Main Streets of the country in the shop window blooms springing up in the path of a Queen. From the costly courtiers' mansions, with their heavily embroidered and beaded "Rumanian native costumes," to the tinnest shoe shop with its central window model labeled "Queen Marie Wears All Lizard Shoes," the stores of New York are following up Queen Marie's short visit with a prolonged exploitation of the Queenly wardrobe.

Another thing that New York women are "going in for" is the "cauliflower industry." Those so engaged are not to be seen in floppy straw hats in backyard gardens, but in the more elaborate and less rustic New Madison Square Garden, where the new crop of "heavies" and other classes of prize fighters are to be seen. Garden officials attribute the increased attendance of women to the bettered conditions under which fights are now staged.

While Queen Marie was a guest of the city it was not unusual to see traffic halted when automobiles of her party raged down a thoroughfare. Cartoonists now credit traffic policemen with addressing the question, "Who do you think you are, the queen of Rumania?" to drivers who disregard signals.

A subway gave a new excuse for walking sticks. He said he preferred leaning on a cane to hanging from a strap. However, the straps still bear the brunt of the traffic.

The Grove that gave Grove street in Greenwich village its name has disappeared. Originally a group of trees, the ravages of time reduced them gradually in numbers until in the last year only one tree remained. A recent storm swept that away and now the grove is only another village memory.

Watson Barratt, Shubert's theatrical scenery designer, says the bedroom scene of recent years have suffered him with beds.

"I have done bedrooms for the reuses and the forces until I feel like King Solomon's chambermaid," he said. "The shows have kept me busy turning out every kind from that of the adventurer or the emperor to that of the ordinary mortal." Incidentally, a bed-

They will stay two days in Fiji and will then proceed to Auckland, where they will arrive on February 22.

After spending two days in Auckland they will visit various parts of the North Island of New Zealand, including Rotorua, and will reach Wellington on March 5. They will remain there for three days. Then they will tour the South Island, visiting the West Coast, Christchurch, Dunedin and Invercargill, and will sail for Australia on March 22.

On March 28, the Duke and Duchess will arrive at Sydney and will spend 11 days in the State of New South Wales, after which a visit of eight days will be paid to Brisbane and the various parts of Queensland.

This will be followed by a five days' stay in Tasmania, and on April 21 they will arrive in Melbourne, where they will stay until after Anzac Day.

After visiting various parts of Victoria they will leave for Adelaide, which they will reach on April 30.

They will remain in South Australia until they return to Melbourne on May 6, for the ceremony of the transference of the commonwealth capital to Canberra, which will be inaugurated on May 9. On May 12, they will leave Melbourne for Western Australia, where they will spend five days, sailing for home on May 23.

The Duke and Duchess will return via Mauritius, where they hope to spend three days, and the Suez Canal. They hope to be able to pay short visits to Malta and Gibraltar during their passage through the Mediterranean. They are expected to arrive home at Portsmouth on Monday, June 27.

The satisfactory sum of $152 was realized at the bazaar of the Ladies' Aid of Rupert East United Church which was held yesterday afternoon.

FAIR BOARD HAS MEETING

DEFICIT ON THIS YEAR'S OPERATIONS DISCUSSED AT GATHERING LAST EVENING

The directors of the Northern British Columbia Agricultural & Industrial Association met last night to discuss the report of the auditor which shows a deficit of some $2,687.33 on the year's operations. The financial statement will be formally presented to the public at the annual general meeting of the association to be held in January or February.

The directors present at the meeting last night were President W. D. Vance, Bert Morgan, Harry Breen, John Bulger, Dan Jabour, Fred Scadden, R. M. Winslow, and Manager David Thomson.

In connection with this year's deficit as compared with last year when a slight surplus was shown, it was explained at the meeting that this year's paid admissions fell short of last year's by $920.29, that donations and advertising in the prize book amounted to $769.75 less, that the city grant was $450 smaller and that the rent of booths and concessions was $390 short of last year. Adding to this the additional outlay of $700 involved in the bringing here of the Fraser Valley exhibit, the shortage for this year it was pointed out was $2,624.94. With some small collections yet to be made there will be a slight reduction from the deficit of $2,687.33 now recorded.

Arrangements are being made to take care of all this year's outstanding accounts.
