U.S.S. BOXER ASHORE WHITECLIFF ISLAND

MEMBERS OF EDMONTON BOARD OF TRADE INVITED TO VISIT PR. RUPERT

United States Cutter Boxer Ashore on Whitecliff Island Fifteen Miles South of Rupert

At about half past five this morning when navigating in a flurry of snow, the U.S. Revenue Cutter Boxer went ashore Whitecliff Island. Wireless messages were sent out and picked up by the local station and Captain Saunders, superintendent of the marine station, at once ordered the lighthouse tender Newington to prepare to go to the scene and render any assistance necessary. She left during the morning and the latest report this afternoon stated that she was standing by. A wireless report received from the vessel this afternoon indicated that she expected to get off on the high tide this evening at 6.21.

Whitecliff Island is about fifteen miles south of here in Arthur Passage between Kennedy Island and Lewis Island. It is close to the fairway and the tide there runs rather fast. It was nearly high tide when the Boxer went ashore. The Boxer is well known on this coast, having been used by the United States Government for many years, plying in Alaskan waters. She figured in connection with the Lady Kindersley relief. She is registered 346 tons and is 198 feet long. She was built at Portsmouth, N.H., in 1905 as a naval vessel.

He plans to go to the scene immediately to make claims.

SETTLEMENT OF GRAHAM ISLAND

Most of Early Residents Went Away to the War but Development is Again Proceeding

SKIDEGATE, March 6.—It is now 21 years ago that the first settlers took up land at Tlell River and Lawn Hill. The first to arrive were W. D. Coude, P. Prosser, W. Pressy and E. C. Stevens, each of whom took a quarter section at Tlell. To reach that place it was necessary to tramp in over the beach and goods had to be packed on the back taking two days to make the trip.

Built Trails
The early settlers got through the first trail to Port Clements and there was no post office there at that time. They also cut a trail to Skidegate at their own expense.

After struggling along trying to make a living on their places for a year, they had to throw them up on account of the difficulty getting in and out. Four years later more settlers came and took up the places abandoned by the others. Among them was a well-known character known as Mexican Tom. The same year settlers began to take up land at Lawn Hill.

The C.P.R. boats were the only ones running at that time. The Amur with Captain Locke in command, always stopped and dropped anchor off Lawn Hill and put off what settlers there were so as to save them the long trip to Skidegate. They also agreed to stop and pick up anyone waving a white flag when he was passing.

White Flag
Captain Locke used to tell a story of one occasion when he was passing he saw a lone figure frantically waving a white flag and he ordered the vessel to stop and a boat to be lowered. He sent an officer ashore and after making a difficult landing through the surf the settler said he did not want to go aboard, all he wanted was to check up the time with his Big Ben. What the officer said was so uncomplimentary that it cannot be recorded.

In 1914 when the war broke out Lawn Hill was a thriving settlement. All the boys enlisted and most of them never came back. The result is that the shacks in which they lived are falling down, fences are broken and the place is deserted.

Revival Lately
There are now motor cars plying along the coast road and the telephone is installed. Motorboats are seen plying the waters and once more progress is being made and development is going on.

The board decided to extend to the visitors the same hospitality that was given the Vancouver board and to heartily endorse the invitation. When Recreation Becomes A Business.

Recreation becomes a business when we think more of it than we do of our business. If business is our first thought, our business will succeed. If recreation is our first thought, it will succeed and business will not. We can't do our best in both lines of endeavor.

Every man has important work to do but it would seem as many have nothing important except to amuse themselves after their work is over. The whole thought is to get away from the work in order to devote time to recreation. Then recreation ceases to be recreation. It becomes an obsession.

The idea of recreation is to make one fit to do work. With most of us what we call recreation wholly unfit us for work. The result is that in the work of life we fail.

Anyone Can Borrow If Credit is Good.

Anyone can borrow if his credit is good. Bankers are almost always too glad to lend. It is their business. They have surplus funds that they like to have working. They have no use for tying up cash in their vaults when it may be made productive, but they do not want it to be out too long.

Some people go to the banks for credit when, if they looked at it from a business point of view, they might be sure they could not borrow a dollar. Bankers want to get their money back and that without having to put pressure to bear on their customers.

Banks do not lend money on real estate although they will accept real estate as collateral security.

Considerable Change In This City.

A few years ago it was most difficult to borrow money on real estate in this city. Today that is changed. Money is now available for good mortgages on income bearing property. You can borrow on a store or on a good house. There is money offering most of the time here now whereas a few years ago it was almost impossible to get a dollar. As the city increases in size and importance, the borrowing powers will increase.

Curing The Blues Sometimes Difficult.

Men and women are emotional creatures. Today they are full of hope, joy and enthusiasm, and tomorrow they descend to the lowest depths of despair. Life is well worth living while they are on the mountain peaks, but when the depression sets in, a cheery companion or a cheery word is worth a million dollars.

Women are more apt to get moody than men. They are different in their natures and have a habit of relying on others for sympathy.

These periods of depression may not come to everyone, but the majority of people get them. They depend largely on bodily health and mental attitude. At such times some people take to drink or drugs but the sensible person relies on his own resources for a cure. Determination not to give way and the society of cheerful friends will do a great deal to bring back a normal condition. The way to avoid the "blues" is to keep physically fit and to always have some outside interest. Introspection is not a good thing, except perhaps, as a brief Lenten exercise.

PARENT-TEACHERS WHIST AND BRIDGE HELD LAST NIGHT

Enjoyable Time Spent at Booth School; Refreshments Served in Sewing Room

Last evening the Parent-Teachers Association held a whist and bridge drive in the Auditorium of the Booth School. It was the first of a series of such affairs being undertaken in aid of the P.T.A. funds and proved such a success that similar evenings may be looked forward to during the year.

The arrangements for the evening were left in the hands of Mrs. Winslow, Mrs. Smith and Miss Mercer and were carried out without a hitch. Miss Marsh was at the door and Mr. Elkins acted as master of ceremonies. The hall was nicely decorated with plants. Twenty-four tables of whist and bridge were filled. At 11 p.m. the players adjourned to the domestic science sewing room where the tables had been artistically arranged with daffodils. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Smith, assisted by Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Dalby, Mrs. Viereck, Mrs. West and the Misses Evelyn Dalby, Laura Frizell and Vera Smith.

The bridge prizes were won by Mrs. Frank Moore and Mr. Gulick; the whist prizes by Mrs. Dalby and R. T. Anderson. The evening pleasantly concluded with a short impromptu dance, the music for which was supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Gulick and Miss Bessie Derry.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

YOU can't understand all Mussolini says, but you can see his teeth when he opens his mouth to growl.

A UNIVERSITY student eloped with another man's wife and claims it would have been immoral not to do so because she loved him and did not love her husband. That is a new slant.

SOME people are not rich enough to be unhappily married.

YOUNG people know such a lot these days. If it were all true it would not be so bad.

NO one cares for a person who is always throwing mud. That is what I don't like about a Ford.

THE editor says he wants a cure for the blues. I suggest a funeral. Let him cut out one of his dullest editorials and bury it.

OH, an editor blue
 In a deuce of a stew
 Was in search of something to say.
 He scratched his dull head
 And wished himself dead,
 So he drowned himself out in the bay.

Then beware of the fate
 Of that editor late,
 And try to be cheerful and happy
 For the bay is no place
 To disfigure your face
 So keep your mind clear,
 Bright and snappy.

NOT FAIR TO PRINCE RUPERT

Former Head of Railway Said Railway Nearly as Good as One to Vancouver

Has Wrong Conception D. B. Hanna Writes Book in Which he Says Thing Said to be Incorrect (Omineca Herald) D. B. Hanna, one-time president and general manager of the Canadian National Railways, having succeeded to that position when the C.N.R. and G.T.P. were amalgamated, has blossomed out as the inspiration of a book known as "Trains of Recollection."

Information supplied by a man who has filled the important positions that Mr. Hanna has usually taken, and rightly so, authoritative by the rest of the world. Thus he should be particularly careful of his facts and more particular in not allowing his personal prejudices to run away with his obligation to be fair.

In discussing grades through the Rockies Mr. Hanna says the Canadian Northern has a grade of only twenty-six feet per mile, and adds that the G.T.P. grades are almost equally as good. As a matter of fact, the G.T.P. grade against westbound and also east-bound freight is only four-tenths of one per cent, or twenty-one feet per mile between Red Pass Junction and Prince Rupert. The Canadian Northern eastbound grade is seven-tenths of one per cent.

Mr. Hanna gives the maximum load for a freight train over the Canadian Northern as 3,768 tons. He does not refer to the more favorable haul on the G.T.P., which is 75 loaded cars, or a total of 4,500 tons.

It is true that traffic from the east to Prince Rupert means a rail haul of 189 miles further from Red Pass Junction than it would be to Vancouver. But this is more than offset by the greater load that an engine can haul. It is also true that Prince Rupert is 275 miles further from Liverpool than the southern ports, but on traffic going to the Old Country that distance would add practically nothing to the costs. Therefore, when Mr. Hanna tells his story about grades he is not quite fair to the northern route. His unfairness has also been a big disadvantage to developing traffic for the G.T.P. to Prince Rupert. He quoted big figures when referring to miles, but he told nothing of the actual cost of hauling freight. He did not mention that in common practice the railways actually give a lower rate for the long haul than they do for the short haul. He was obviously boosting the Canadian Northern branch of the Canadian National Railways at the expense of the G.T.P. branch. Unfortunately, many shippers and politicians take his story as gospel, and do not suspect the camouflage.

Hard to Educate The northern route has had much of this unfair treatment from the headquarters staff, especially when most of that staff was recruited from Canadian

FISH SCARCE IN FAR NORTH

Dogs Die Because of Lack of Usual Food in Barren Lands District

Horses to be Killed Rivers Give Every Sign of an Early Breakup Lady Traveller Says EDMONTON, March 6 - Indians on the barren lands are suffering intense hardship because of the shortage of fish in the northern waters. The consequence of this shortage is that leave their dogs in a wretched condition, thus prohibiting the hunting of caribou, which has been plentiful during the winter. Dorothy Lorenzen, the first woman to come out of the far north this year and the first traveller to reach the city from Fort Smith since the present excitement over the mineral prospects there, arrived in Edmonton on Friday, complete on her journey by way of McMurray. She states that the scarcity of fish seems to be general in the north, and adds that the dogs of the white men as well as of the Indians, are the main victims. Several of the animals have died from their weakened state due to lack of food.

May Slaughter Horses One means of saving many dogs from starvation will probably be taken, Miss Lorenzen goes on to say, by the slaughtering of some of the horses now being utilized to rush northwards the supplies of the Dumny party which, once this purpose is served, will be useless for anything else and would themselves be apt to feel the pinch of hunger. Old-timers in the north are unable to advance any cause for the phenomenal thinness of the fish catch this winter.

White Fox Plentiful The fur catch on the barren lands has been better, from current indications than that elsewhere. Marlen and white fox have been trapped successfully in large numbers, but the fur is not as heavy in quality as in previous years. Rivers in the north are giving every sign of an early break up. On Miss Lorenzen's trip out travel had to be close to the banks of the river all the way, as the ice had fallen low in the centre and, at places, the water had overflowed into the snow that lay on top. There are many camps along the road from Fort Smith to McMurray so that the party was never forced to spend a night outside.

Interesting Circumstance Led up to Writing of Letter Received by Ex-Mayor Rochester

Odd and interesting circumstances having led up to his writing, Ex-Mayor H. B. Rochester has just received a letter from an old school mate of his in Ottawa, Walter King, who is now connected with the auditor general's office in the federal capital and with whom he had not been in touch since he came west some twenty-five years ago.

Mr. King happened to have business in an antique shop in Ottawa and, while there, the proprietor showed him a handsome mahogany fire screen which was being designed for Baron Byng, Governor General, for use in his country home in England.

Mr. Rochester, in telling of the incident, is particularly gratified that the memento presented to him here should be so cherished
