Uncrowned King of a Happy Valley

LAKE WINDERMERE, B.C., THE HAPPY VALLEY

ONE OF LIEUT. GOV. BRUCE'S INDIAN FRIENDS

BRUCE (SEATED RIGHT) BEING MADE AN INDIAN CHIEF

Robert Randolph Bruce has recently been appointed Lieut. Governor of British Columbia, as the representative of King George in that province of Canada. Like many another successful Canadian, he came from Scotland, about thirty years ago, bringing with him a frock coat, a tall hat, and a bundle of introductory letters. He was the son of the minister of the parish from which George Stephen later Lord Mountstephen, then President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, had come, and so the first office where he presented himself was that of T. G. Shaughnessy, then general manager. In a very few minutes he was given a job, but as he was going out the door, "T. G." called after him, "Young man, if you want to get on in this country, shed that coat."

Mr. Bruce must have obeyed instructions, for he has been "getting on" until his recent appointment seems to be as near the top as any Canadian could ever be. And, coincident with his own development, has come about the development of the Windermere Valley in British Columbia, where he has made his home for some years. Mining interests first took him, back in 1889, to the upper reaches of the Columbia River, where he commenced operations on the Sitting Bull claim on Boulder Creek, a tributary of Horse Thief Creek, near the spectacular Lake of the Hanging Glaciers. Later he left this for a new claim called Paradise, from which has sprung the appellation Happy Valley. The village of Windermere, on the eastern side of Lake Windermere, was the first to take root, and here Mr. Bruce settled. He built a bungalow, and planted a garden, a garden which today is a riot of exquisite flowers, a regular flower show for those visitors at the Canadian Pacific Bungalow camp opened a year or so ago a short distance along the lake shore from the Bruce estate.

Not only did this indefatigable gardener plant lovely flowers in his garden, but realizing the difficulties of keeping miners at their jobs, he planted fresh vegetables in sufficient quantities for his men to have a diet of fresh vegetables instead of a diet of tin cans. His ores are mined with never a strike.

Appointment Of A Port Warden.

A port warden has been appointed for Prince Rupert, another necessary step in the process of creating a deep sea shipping port. Step by step the way is opening up. It takes time, persistence, energy, and often diplomacy to smooth out the snags in the way. Some time ago the insurance rates were adjusted and still there are some further slight adjustments to be made. All these things will come but we must expect difficulties and must be prepared to fight our way in the future as we have done in the past. Creation of business for a port, a city or an individual means a series of persistent fights with the forces that oppose.

Business Is About Equally Divided.

It is interesting to know that the business in hauling grain from the prairies to Vancouver has been about equally divided between the Canadian National and the C.P.R. The National is slightly in the lead but the difference is small.

The C.P.R., it would seem, is making a mistake in not trying to get a railway with a better grade to the coast in order to be able to compete on an equality with the other road. Just now the Canadian National has a decided advantage in that respect.

Spring Wheat As Crop For Farmers.

F. G. Dawson, who has been investigating the results obtained in the growing of wheat at interior points, suggests to farmers that this is the time to begin growing spring wheat since the operators of the elevator will provide a market for the product. With a cash market available a good many lands, which formerly were used in producing other crops, may well be turned to grain growing.

What Is Outlook For Real Estate?

Nobody except the speculator would like to see real estate jump to an inordinate price. However, with the growth of the city there is bound to be appreciation in real estate values. This may not come soon but it will come eventually. The question that always confronts the person holding real estate for a raise is whether values will increase as fast as taxes and interest pile up as a charge against the property.

If the land is income producing there is no difficulty. This type of property may be called an investment. But vacant lots are never an investment. They are always a speculation and often they lose the owners a lot of money. The thing is that when real estate begins to get active, the vacant lots are better to handle than improved property.

Using First Name In Small Towns.

A small town is a place where a person is liable to be called by his first name. Prince Rupert is a notable example. Practically all the early residents know each other familiarly as Tom, Bill or Dick. Newcomers may have the polite prefix but the men who struggled shoulder to shoulder against the pioneer conditions of a few years ago feel differently toward each other and the result is seen in the manner of address. To be admitted to a first name comradeship is a great step toward being really accepted as an old timer.

WILD, WILD SUSAN WITH BEBE DANIELS IN A STELLAR PART

Romance of a Chauffeur Who is Not Really a Chauffeur For Mid Week

New York taxi drivers may be a dark and sinister mystery to the average person, but to Rod La Roque they are like an open book. Rod's knowledge of the flivver chaperons comes from an intensive study of their lives and problems made in the interest of his two latest film appearances. Both in Allan Dwan's "Night Life of New York" and in "Wild, Wild Susan" with Bebe Daniels in the star part, La Roque has played the role of a taxi driver.

In "Night Life of New York" he is a money-burning youngster from Iowa who comes to the big town to show its denizens some real action in the way of fast stepping. In his none-too-sober meanderings he acquires a taxi. While conducting his gas buggy through New York's traffic-jammed streets, he gets himself mixed up in a first class gem robbery, of the kind that win front page space in the metropolitan dailies.

Sees The Girl

But the job of a taxi pilot is not without its compensations. For instance, in "Wild, Wild Susan" Rod sees Bebe Daniels from his driver's seat in the cab and decides on the spot that she is the one and only girl. Rod is not really a chauffeur, but the son of a rich man, with a lively imagination and a desire for a literary career which impels him to become a member of the hacking fraternity in search of adventure. Trying to catch up with Bebe in her ramblings around New York looking for thrills provides the adventure with a capital "A."

"Wild, Wild Susan is the mid week showing at the Westholme.

PRINCE IS IN LOVE BUT DUTY STRONGEST

Barthelmess Plays Royal Part in Play Being Shown at Week End

Richard Barthelmess as a Prince and Lois Moran, beautiful screen star, as a Princess! In the whole world of make-believe nothing more rapturously romantic can be imagined.

If all happens in the mythical kingdom of Koronia, a dominion of pomp, ceremony, grandees—and love. It is "Just Suppose"—two of the happiest words in the English language.

Barthelmess, who in many ways in the picture resembles the Prince of Wales, woos a young American girl. But the death of an elder brother suddenly places him in direct line of royal inheritance, and his country supersedes his love. However, though Cupid seems routed and love is apparently sacrificed for the throne, all is rearranged at the end, and the sun shines smilingly on a happy Prince and a happy Princess. It is all like a beautiful fairy tale—and yet nothing like it at all.

Barthelmess gives a distinguished performance. This sort of excellence has come to be taken for granted in him. As for Lois Moran, a relative newcomer to the screen, she is priceless. Such delicacy, reserve and restraint has rarely been seen in the films before. She has an in-born genius for pantomime that will place her among the really great before she is very much older. She is only sixteen now. "Just Suppose" is based on

HELL'S HIGHROAD IS STORY WITH MORAL

"Hell's Highroad," the DeMille supervised production which is showing at the Westholme to-night only, is unique in that while it is a story with a moral, at no times does the moral stand out nor does the audience feel that it is being taught a lesson.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

OF course everybody has heard of the four distinctive agencies: wind, water, fire and boys.

ONLY those who live in a boarding house know what a food merger means on hash day.

AS you walk around town you hear a lot about enforcing laws. It might be better if one heard a little more about obeying laws.

TWO may live as cheaply as one but not if they smoke.

AT the end of the race there's a spurt. It's like the speed with which the last half ton of coal leaves the cellar.

A TIGHT-WAD is a man who refuses to be victimized by the soft soap artists.

I don't mind a person being good, but I hate to be looked at with that oily expression.

YES, Sir, there is something good at Victoria. The tax rate there is going down.

One Good Cook Tells Another

A successful cook is always glad to pass on little secrets of her success. One of the practical hints most often given is "use Borden's St. Charles Milk wherever the recipe calls for milk." Its creamy richness makes it the ideal unsweetened cooking milk, whether for soups, sauces, cakes or pastry. If your baking results have been disappointing try St. Charles Milk in place of ordinary milk and note the improvement.

Does That Cough Stick On Your Lungs?

Mr. Islay MacNab, Bognor, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with a terrible cough that I could not get rid of, and my doctor told me that I had a slight touch of bronchitis. Nothing I took seemed to give me any relief until I got a bottle of

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

I got such relief by using it that I would advise all those who are subject to bad colds or coughs to keep a bottle of this remedy in their homes all the time.

You don't experiment when you buy "Dr. Wood's" as it has been a household remedy for the past 37 years.

BANQUET GIVEN BILLIARD MEN

Trophies Presented by Stanley Newman with Richard Howe Presiding

Various trophies won during the winter billiard season were presented by Stanley Newman, the British professional, at a banquet which was held on Saturday evening in the St. Regis Cafe. Richard Howe, president of the Prince Rupert Billiard League, was in the chair and there were about 40 persons present.

Fred Pyle was presented with the cup and medal, significant of city individual championship, and George Waugh received a medal for being the runner-up and also a pair of cuff links for making the highest break.

The Bulger & Cameron Cup, emblematic of senior team championship, was received on behalf of the Great War Veterans by the captain of the team, Sergeant Jelson. Individual cups were presented to each player of the team and a pair of cuff links was presented to Col. S. P. McMorris who made the highest break during the season.

The Besner Cup, for second division championship, was presented to the Prince Rupert Billiard Parlor and received by Dick Howe. There were also cups for each of the team players and a pair of cuff links for W. J. Nelson who made the highest break during the season.

In the course of the evening, there was a brief impromptu program of music, songs and speeches.

NEWMAN SCORES MORE VICTORIES OVER WEEK END WITH LOCAL MEN

The best score made by any of the local players against Stanley Newman, the British professional billiardist, was that of Sgt. Jelson Saturday night when, after being spotted the usual 400, he made a score of 664 against Newman's 800. Newman's high break was 165 and Jelson's, 23.

Meeting Charles Balagno's last evening, Newman played his best game of the series, making an average of 42.10. Besides making average breaks of 163, 103 and 100, Newman had three runs of over 90. The time was one hour and 14 minutes and the score: Newman, 800; Balagno, 489. The latter's high break was 14.

Newman is remaining here for a week longer to give exhibitions and lectures.

SPORT CHAT

While naming favorites for the Kentucky Derby to be run at Louisville on May 15, it might be mentioned that Flying Ebony, winner of last year's Derby, has been retired to the stud as has also been Black Gold, the Golden Jubilee winner in 1924. Coventry, which captured the $52,700 Preakness Stake last year has also been retired. Thus have now disappeared from the "sport of kings" a trio of America's most famous modern horses.

It has been estimated that Burbank's 100,000 or more experiments with plant life involved the planting, pollenation, observation and propagation or destruction of a billion individual vegetable growths. From this vast number, however, only 385 were selected and recommended by him as of value to humanity. Some of these were under his observation for 25 years before being given to the world.

Several fine varieties of spineless blackberry, now grown around the world, were bred from a wild variety that was considered useless in its native state. A certain variety of rhubarb, under Burbank's magic touch, increased its stalks from the size of a lead pencil to that of a man's wrist, and was made perpetual, instead of bearing for a few weeks only. Canners appealed to him for a perfect pea, one which would mature all of its crop, retain uniformity of size and all ripen at the same time. After three years of work he met the demand.

Flowers, fruits, grains, grasses, vegetables, even orchard and forest trees, were improved and given to the world in new usefulness through months and years of patient and frequently plant breeders and leader in modern creative plant development, the name of Luther Burbank became a household word throughout the civilized world. Virtually his whole life was devoted to scientific plant breeding and many of his more than 100,000 experiments with various forms of vegetation attained such marvellous results that they won him the title of "Plant Wizard."

Early in life Burbank evinced a great love for growing things, selecting plants rather than animals as his pets. His first notable success was achieved at the age of 22, when he happened to find a seed ball of the Early Rose potato, which rarely bears seed. From this he developed the world-famous Burbank potato that has spread to every portion of the globe and which is said to exert a greater influence upon the food supply of humanity than any other single food plant.

Was a Laborer

Soon after breeding this potato, which brought him neither fame nor money at the time, Burbank moved to California, where he obtained employment as a farm hand. He continued as a laborer until able to acquire a small farm in the town of Santa Rosa, some 50 miles north of San Francisco. With this small beginning, he undertook the series of experiments which long had been uppermost in his mind. Thereafter his work was continuous and tireless, occupying nearly 14 hours a day on the average.

Was an Englishman

Burbank was born at Lancaster, Mass., March 7, 1849, son of Samuel W. and Olive (Boss), of English and Scotch ancestry. He was the 13th of 15 children born on his father's 200-acre farm. He attended the Lancaster Academy, from which he was an honor graduate.

Next to the potato, the accomplishment which brought first fame to Burbank was the spineless cactus, whereby he turned a worthless desert growth into a vegetable forage and fruiting plant. In recognition of this work he received in 1912 a United States' grant, Congress under special act turning over 7,680 acres of non-irrigable land to be located either in California, Nevada or Arizona.

100,000 Experiments

It has been estimated that Burbank's 100,000 or more experiments with plant life involved the planting, pollenation, observation and propagation or destruction of a billion individual vegetable growths. From this vast number, however, only 385 were selected and recommended by him as of value to humanity. Some of these were under his observation for 25 years before being given to the world.

Several fine varieties of spineless blackberry, now grown around the world, were bred from a wild variety that was considered useless in its native state. A certain variety of rhubarb, under Burbank's magic touch, increased its stalks from the size of a lead pencil to that of a man's wrist, and was made perpetual, instead of bearing for a few weeks only. Canners appealed to him for a perfect pea, one which would mature all of its crop, retain uniformity of size and all ripen at the same time. After three years of work he met the demand.

Flowers, fruits, grains, grasses, vegetables, even orchard and forest trees, were improved and given to the world in new usefulness through months and years of patient and frequently

Patience and Brains

Wonderful as many of Burbank's achievements with vegetable, plant and flower life seem to the layman, the methods by which they were accomplished were not in themselves remarkable. Patience was the chief requisite to his success. Deciding first what he wished to create, re-make or improve upon in the vegetable world, he began by carefully selecting robust specimens, allowing them to go to seed, then experimenting with the seeds under widely different conditions of climate, fertilization and nourishment. The product would in turn be submitted to radical changes from its natural elements and the product of this would undergo further experimentation and so the artificial evolution progressed until the final result either met the wizard's requirements or was abandoned as useless.

Queer Anomalies

When experiments with seeds alone were not entirely satisfactory, grafting upon the seeds or upon fresh young shoots often was employed. It was through a combination of these methods, fortified by his inexhaustible patience, that enabled Burbank to impart delightful odors to naturally ill-smelling flowers; to grow gigantic plants from dwarf varieties, and to produce a perfect calla lily only one inch in diameter when full grown. These are but a few of the queer anomalies resulting from the heretofore unheard of liberties he took with nature's vegetation.

Burbank's experimental farms at Santa Rosa and Sebastopol, a nearby town, became a Mecca for statesmen, kings, princes, philanthropists, horticulturists, biologists, botanists and humanitarians as the fame of their owner spread. Never of a commercial turn, Burbank permitted an association known as The Luther Burbank Society, chartered by the State of California and endowed by wealthy patrons, to disseminate the knowledge of plants and vegetables which he worked out.

Received Honors

In addition to the Congressional grant of land, his work was recognized by the Carnegie Foundation in 1905 by a gift of $10,000 annually for a period of 10 years to insure a continuation of his experiments. In 1921, when the city of Santa Rosa completed a new $300,000 park, it was named after Luther Burbank. He turned the first shovel of earth in the construction, and later laid out the gardens, which cover a 44-acre tract.

The State of California also honored its distinguished resident some years ago by naming March 7, Burbank's birthday, as Bird and Arbor Day and the occasion has since been celebrated as a school holiday throughout the state.

A POPULAR AIR!

A schoolmaster, giving a music lesson, inquired whether the pupils had any favorite anthem they would like to sing.

"God Save the King," sir," responded one of the lads.

"A very patriotic suggestion, Tommy," said the master, beaming over his glasses. "Now tell me what made you think of the National Anthem?"

"Because," replied the boy, glancing toward the clock, "it's time to go home." — Yorkshire Post.

FANCY FLIGHT OF AN EDITOR

Humorous Account of Things that Might Have Happened at Stephens Island. Recently

THE DERELICT SCRIBE

(P. W. Luce in Vancouver Province)

Newspapermen are always getting into difficulties. H. F. Pullen, a Prince Rupert editor, proved this once again during the Easter holidays when his launch broke down and forced him to spend four days in a Robinson Crusoe on Stephens Island, without a dog or a man Friday.

It is an axiom in the newspaper world that a journalist never gets away from his work. There is always something to write about. Knowing this, Mr. Pullen had launched forth fully prepared. He had lots of blank paper, four lead pencils, and a head full of brains.

Spoke Reproachfully No sooner had Mr. Pullen finished talking reproachfully to the engine for breaking down than he hunched himself comfortably in the cockpit and composed a masterly editorial on "Whither Are We Drifting?"

The subject has been touched upon in the past, but never under such ideal conditions. No editor has yet answered the question satisfactorily, and Mr. Pullen did not break the old tradition. In fact, long before he got through he admitted he was hopelessly at sea and steering blindly through troubled waters with breakers ahead on an unfriendly shore.

At 6 o'clock in the morning Mr. Pullen made shore on Stephens Island. There was nobody there to welcome him; nobody to interview; no old subscriber to complain that he had printed an ampersand upside down in the water notices last week.

Pioneer Association Having ascertained by holloping right-out loud that he was the only inhabitant of the island, Mr. Pullen immediately organized a Pioneer Residents' Association.

DEFENDS ORDER AGAINST CROW

M. B. Jackson, Chairman of Game Board Gives His Point of View

A letter has been sent to the press by M. B. Jackson, chairman of the game conservation board, in regard to the criticism of the order of the board offering a bounty on crows.

The Letter Sir—Perhaps I may say a word in view of the expected spate of letters in the columns of the press since the announcement of the crow bounty.

The Nestlings I have then, again, heard that people of admirable instincts are concerned over the possibility of the mother crow being destroyed and the young in the nest perishing.

IRON HOUSES FOR ENGLAND

About 250 Being Built at Derby to Solve Housing Problem

LONDON, April 12. — Neville Chamberlain, minister of health, visited Derby and addressed a Conservative and Unionist meeting in the evening, and he took advantage of the occasion to see what Derby is doing to solve the housing problem.

Derby is the first town in the country to undertake on a large scale the erection of cast-iron houses. About 250 of them are being constructed on the Osmaston Park estate, which is a couple of miles from the centre of Derby and in proximity to new brick houses which have been built and others which are being built.

Quite Modern The greatest interest naturally centred in the iron buildings, which consisted of three bedrooms, one living room, a kitchen, and a bathroom.

Success in Sight Mr. Chamberlain added that on October 1 next he had to consider the cost of the housing subsidy of the past two years and what it was likely to be in the next two years.

ANNUAL BALL OF AUTO CLUB

Smithers Event Proves Popular and Enjoyable, Continuing to Four O'clock

SMITHERS, April 12.—The annual ball of the Bulkley Valley Automobile Club held in the Town Hall, Friday evening proved to be one of the most enjoyable dances of the season. An exceptionally large crowd was in attendance among whom was a strong representation from Telkwa, and the committee in charge had backed up their promise of a big night, the repeated encores and happy mood of the dances, showed that efforts were well appreciated.

The proceeds of the dance are to be used in establishing an auto camp and play grounds at Lake Kathleen, the famous Smithers summer resort, and the huge financial success of the dance will enable the club to start this work immediately.

The music was supplied by the five-piece Crescent Orchestra, this being their first public appearance this season and many compliments were heard on their rendering of the various numbers. When the regular closing time came it was found the dancers were still going strong and at their request the orchestra continued the program until 4 o'clock.

CITIZEN'S ASSOCIATION AT SMITHERS WOUND UP

Balance of $70 to be Used For Fire Alarm Siren at Round House

SMITHERS, April 12.—The old Smithers Citizens' Association finally passed out on Saturday night, when a meeting was held in W. S. Henry's office to dispose of a balance of some $70 standing to credit of the association at the bank.

The Citizens' Association was disbanded on the formation of the board of trade, and their assets consisting of town sidewalks and fire fighting apparatus had been turned over to the village authorities when the town was incorporated.

The need of a better fire alarm was brought up at the meeting as one of the ways of using the balance, and as this was thought a most worthy object the last secretary, H. G. Windt, was asked to turn the money over to the town council to be used towards installing a steam siren at the Round House with signalling stations in town.

Mrs. J. Pawchuk and family called this morning on the Prince Charles for Powell River to join Mr. Pawchuk who recently left here for the paper town.

Mrs. J. H. Rife of Smithers reached the city on this morning's train and proceeded to Vancouver on the steamer Prince Charles.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 21 years of age, and by alien on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series. "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 8,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 5,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price for first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stampage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partly free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travelers, up to ten head.

LUMBER DEMAND IS IMPROVING

Vancouver Island Points Report Greater Activity in Mills and Logging

VICTORIA, April 12.—There is a distinct improvement in the lumber situation, and this is reflected in shipments from the coast section to eastern points. It is reported there is a considerable advance in rail movements from the Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island.

Some of the Island mills which were running one shift, have increased to two, on the strength of improved orders.

Indicative of increased call from the Japanese market is the announcement that the Norwegian ship Ferndale has just loaded a million feet of cedar logs, cut to fourteen-foot lengths, at Fanny Bay for Japan.

Better Demand

Mill operations in the larger mills on the Island shows development, as instanced by the movement of logs from Gwichan Lake and other areas to the mills, and to the booming grounds at Crofton and Gwichan Bay for disposal. Companies which had been accumulating their stocks in the water are now finding demand for them.

Construction of several smaller mills is progressing, in the neighborhood of Alberni, on the Malahat, and at other points.

SALT MINERS LIVED TWO THOUSAND YEARS AGO IN NEVADA STATE

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—Several new discoveries throwing additional light on an ancient race have been made at Pueblo Grande de Nevada, the buried city of Nevada.

The archaeological finds were described here by Governor Scruggam who has followed with interest the excavating work in his state. They include the remains of the works where these ancient people obtained their salt, ledges where they mined for ornaments, and remnants of clothing indicating familiarity with the use of cotton.

"The salt was gotten from a series of caverns a short distance from the buried city," Governor Scruggam said. "Some of the walls and floors of these caverns are formed in part of pure rock salt and here the ancients conducted their salt mining. The workings, showing where large blocks of salt were removed, are in the same condition of about 2,000 years ago.

"One of the relics was a pair of sandals of a type never before found in this country. They are in a good state of preservation and were made of deer hide and equipped with cotton cords for fastening."

Only traces of turquoise workings have been uncovered as most of the work of excavators has been directed toward the salt mines.

WOMEN POLICE TO DEAL WITH FLAPPERS

More Feminine Officers Recommended for London Police Force

LONDON, April 12.—Women police know better how to deal with modern flappers, in the eyes of the National Council of Women, and on this account the organization's members are eager for more police women on the London force.

At a conference Miss Effie Beckett, of the Church Army, proclaimed that when excitable flappers, who were perhaps newcomers to the street crowds, saw a policeman they took fright and often disappeared, but often were willing to be guided by women.

Other council members pointed out that women police had been especially successful in districts near saloons where women congregated.
