CHRIS MOELLER CASE BEING PRESSED

KINGSWAY HOTEL IN VANCOUVER IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Minister of Customs Issues Statement on Pacific Rum Running

OTTAWA, Dec. 28.—Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of customs, in an interview this morning, said the pressing of the Chris Moeller case was merely incidental to the department's endeavor to meet the bootlegging situation on the British Columbia coast. "We have information," he said, "that cargoes are not only diverted from stated destinations into the United States but also into Canada. There is no doubt the Chris Moeller cargo was not really going to San Blas, Mexico. We propose to protect the revenue of Canada and enforce the terms of the treaty with the United States."

PROPRIETOR'S NEPHEW AND OTHER
MEN HAD TO JUMP FOR LIVES

VANCOUVER, Dec. 28.—The Kingsway Hotel with furnishings valued at $50,000 is a complete loss as a result of this morning's fire. Charles Russell, proprietor, and wife are visiting Seattle. Russell's nephew, Lloyd Russell, was awakened by a barking dog in the basement where the blaze, it is thought, originated, probably in the furnace room. Escape by the stairway being cut off, Russell aroused four other white men and two Chinese on the premises and all jumped to the ground from the second storey sustaining only minor injuries. The dog is believed to have perished. As the Gladstone Hotel in the old days the structure was a historic landmark.

TWO HUNDRED YEAR OLD WATER CLOCK VANCOUVER MUSEUM

VANCOUVER, Dec. 28.—(By C.P.)—A water clock two hundred years old, a reminder of the age when sundials and hour-glasses provided the most common means of telling the time, has been presented to the Vancouver museum. It looks like an ordinary clock until its door is opened for an investigation of the works. The case is of age-blackened oak. The face is marked for twenty-four hours and is wrought in brass. The motto "Time wears away our days; use well these hours" is rudely engraved on a brass plate, with the figure of Time as a winged old man with a scythe, and on his brow is a solitary forelock. On the door of the clock is a figure in brass wearing a royal crown. At the bottom of the clock is a brass tank which was designed to hold the water which dripped from within. A tall brass tube takes the place of the pendulum, and from here the water dripped away; and as it dripped it drew down a float which controlled the hands, and so time was marked.

Malamute Dog Carries Note and Saves Lives of Two Men in Freezing Central Alaska

LITTLE SQUAW, Central Alaska, December 28.—Carrying a scribbled note from two miners who were crippled by an explosion, a malamute dog crossed a three-thousand foot pass in the Brooks Mountains by night with the temperature standing at forty below zero to his master's cabin here. The injured men arrived yesterday on a sled.

Oscar Ottersonin, a Little Squaw miner, was awakened early one day last week by his dog, Nigger, whining and scratching outside the door. When he was admitted, the husky was found to have a note attached to his neck reading: "Come. Both seriously injured. Explosion."

Ottersonin last Wednesday had lent his dog to H. S. Shaw and C. Dunlap, who were mining on Tobin Creek beyond the pass.

Two men, hurrying over the pass in response to the summons with a dog team, found Shaw and Dunlap badly injured by the explosion of a box of dynamite, Dunlap being blinded. They were brought home and an appeal has been made by radio to Fairbanks for an airplane to come and convey the patients to hospital there.

CHINESE WOMAN IS NOW LONDON LAWYER

Passes Final Examination and is Completing Her Term as Articled Clerk

LONDON, Dec. 28.—One of the happiest women in London is Miss Kathleen Hoahing, aged 23, the first Chinese woman to pass the solicitors' final examination. At the end of this month she will have completed serving her articles to a London firm of solicitors, and will be fully qualified. "I want to go out East and start a practice of my own," she said yesterday, "perhaps in Singapore, where I have an uncle who is a barrister." Born in British Guiana, Miss Hoahing was educated at a convent school there, and when she came to England seven years ago finished her education at Salisbury. Afterwards she studied for a time at an agricultural college in Kent, and then became articled. Before she goes out East, however, she will make a tour of the world. Much of her spare time is spent in travel. Her mother was the first Chinese woman to become a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, Ireland. Her young sister studied as a barrister, but was married before she was called.

COTTON WOOD LOGS REPRESENT NEW TRADE ON COAST

VANCOUVER, Dec. 28.—(By C.P.)—A new trade with the Orient has been started in British Columbia lumber, when a recent shipment of 500 cottonwood logs was sent to South China to be made into matches. The initial shipment is being watched with interest, as it is considered a good market may develop in the Orient for this class of wood which meets with little demand in the building line.

OVER $2,000 NEEDED TO KEEP FAMILY

Over two and a half million heads of families have a net income of $2,500 or less.

CANADIAN-JAP TRADE TO INCREASE.

Canada stands to increase her share of trade with Japan on an enormous scale next year. Already the volume of business between this country and Japan has vastly increased since the period following the earthquake, but it would undoubtedly be on a much larger scale were it not for the heavy obligations of the Tokio government and private interests as a direct result of that disaster.

The Japanese money market is prevented from returning to normal by the problem of these "earthquake bills," amounting to approximately $115,000,000, according to advices received by business interests here.

Several moratorium arrangements have been made by the Japanese government since the earthquake to relieve the financial crisis and when the Imperial Diet met last October a further extension was granted for one year for the discounting of losses up to $50,000,000.

The "earthquake bills" originally were about $215,000,000 and about $100,000,000 of them have been redeemed. In other words, the country is gradually rebuilding its credit and is becoming more able to buy extensively in world markets. Evidence of this is shown in the fact that Japan will be the heaviest foreign buyer of British Columbia this year, with the single exception of the United States.

IS THIS REASON FOR MILD CLIMATE.

Although stories told by seafaring men are not always given the credence that might be due to them, there is persistent speculation on the mild climate of the B.C. coast among the sailors who cross the Pacific from China and Japan to this coast, and the majority of them contend that the Japanese earthquake has been the cause of the mild weather during the last few years.

The Kuro Siwo, or Black River, which originates in the semi-tropical waters off the coast of Japan, has for many years swept across the Pacific and down the western coast of this continent and has been held responsible for the warm climate of California and the mildness of the winters on the British Columbia coast. It is claimed that as a result of the Japanese earthquake and the upheaval which resulted in the sea bottom, the course of the current has been deflected so that it strikes this coast closer to Vancouver Island. There is not much doubt that the earthquake caused a severe shift in the ocean floor just west of Japan for soundings have determined that water once known to be exceptionally deep is now comparatively shallow.

FIFTY PER CENT DIE BEFORE THEIR TIME.

Fifty per cent of the people in Canada die before their time, in the opinion of Dr. H. M. Speechley, one of the leaders of Winnipeg's Health League.

The most prevalent of human ailments in the Dominion were the social diseases, pneumonia, cancer, influenza, diphtheria, measles, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, and tuberculosis. All were preventable except pneumonia, cancer and influenza, Dr. Speechley said.

Many Happy Returns to Alex. Yule, Real Western Pioneer, 82 Years Today

Eighty-two years ago today Mr. and Mrs. Yule of Perth, Scotland, were presented with a bonnie lad whom they called Alex, the same Alex who landed in Prince Rupert in June, 1907, and the same Alex who enlisted in the 238th Regiment and went to France and did his bit for King and country. Of course he was younger then, much younger—he had to be—for no one who had passed beyond the youthful age of forty-five was allowed in uniform to serve King and country. Yet when many, whose declining years forced them home Alex still remained and did his bit—and still remained "forty-five."

Today he is the popular proprietor of an emporium on McBride street and delights to tell his friends of the "old days" in Ontario or Montana, the days of cattle thieves and vigilantes, the days of Indians and cow-punchers. It was then that a rather memorable, but not pleasing incident occurred.

Many of the large cattlemen had complained of losing substantial numbers from their herds and a gang of men struck out to the terrorize the country side. This day they had already killed three men when they came to Alex and, with little questioning, placed the noose around his neck. There was no use of argument, he was a stranger to them all, but then, in that frightful dilemma, a neighbor's son hove in view on horseback and ordered the release of our friend, who was ready to fight single handed any one of them with fist or gun.

The Great Falls Tribune of recent date recalls in part an incident which occurred about forty seven years ago in which Alex played a very important part. An Indian had been savagely attacked by a grizzly bear and Alex sought to get him to a doctor. A box, in which the sufferer lay was placed on the wagon and, with his trusty mules, Alex set out for the doctor some forty-five miles away. There had been heavy rainfall and at that time the little streams were swollen. It was as he was driving across one of these creeks that the box and patient floated way while the driver was endeavoring to make the other side. No time could be lost, for already the current carried the raft and human freight hastily down the swollen creek. Finally, where the raft floated near some bushes, the rescuers were able to reach box and sufferer and drag them ashore and the journey continued.

The Great Falls Tribune reports the accident as told by the Indian as follows:

"In a terrific hand to hand fight with a huge male grizzly bear in the Armells creek country in central Montana nearly half a century ago, Joe Deschon, a young Chippewa Indian was frightfully wounded, having the entire left side of his lower jaw torn out and an ugly gash cut in the top of his head by the tusks of the infuriated beast.

Deschon lived to tell the tale of his hair-raising encounter with the grizzly and at his home on the Blackfeet Indian reservation a few miles east of Glacier Park station he is frequently called upon by tourists to relate the details.

HIS INJURIES

"Deschon, who is better known as Joe Bushaw, or Joe Bush, bears an ugly scar along the left side of his face where he was bitten by the bear and from where his jaw bone was torn, and he has left only the right side of the jaw with which to chew his food.

According to his story Deschon was 17 years of age when his battle with the bear took place, 47 years ago. He was riding the range for James Fergus, pioneer stockman after whom the county of Fergus was named and who had about 4,000 head of cattle on pasture between the bad lands and the Moccasin mountains.

"At the time Alex Yule, who in later years was a well known resident of the Belt creek valley engaged in the saw mill business, had a contract getting out timber for buildings and fences on the Fergus ranch, and Deschon, with his two uncles, Tom Lawrence, a French half-breed, and Alfred Walker, a white, was engaged in putting up a 15-mile fence and was cutting timber on a flat in the foothills about 15 miles from the mountains.

STEEP PITCH

"Later Deschon mounted a steep pitch for the purpose of there cutting some fence posts and through an opening in the timber he described the grizzly. He had previously shot a bear from the back of his horse and having received quite a large sum for the pelt and in bounties from stockmen, and he decided he would cash in on this more recent arrival. Returning to where his uncles were at work he told them of the bear and of his intention to return home for his rifle.

"Mounting his horse he rode back to the camp and told his aunt to bring out his gun, a 45-70 single shot, while he saddled another horse. When ready to go his aunt handed him his own gun, and a 44 rim fire rifle carrying five shells for one of his uncles. A white man, Dick Dean, who was at the camp, mounted his own horse and armed with a 44 caliber Winchester carbine, accompanied him. Reaching the brush where the two uncles were waiting they left their horses and started to track the bear through the brush.

"At the second opening Deschon saw the bear where it had stopped for a lunch at an ant hill. Deschon shot the bear, merely wounding it, and it disappeared into the brush with the young Indian following. The bear had jumped sideways from the trail without leaving any tracks to show which way he had gone. Deschon started back and met his uncle coming and it was decided the uncle should go around the clump of brush while Deschon went through it.

"Dean was following Deschon at some distance when the young Indian finally came upon the bear in the brush and it made for him. He fired a shot which but momentarily stunned the big brute. The shell stuck in Deschon's rifle and before he could extract it from the weapon the bear was upon him.

"Mr. Grizzly grabbed Deschon and threw him to the ground, caught him a second and third time, each time hurling him some distance and the last time threw his enormous bulk upon the Indian boy, fighting as he came. Forgetting about the six-shooter in his belt the youth fought back with his bare hands endeavoring to hold the bear's jaws from him by grabbing him by the ears, but the bear bit and clawed his hands and finally sunk his tusks into the boy's jaw and then bit him across the forehead. In the meantime Deschon had recalled the fact that he still had his six-shooter and drawing the weapon he discharged five bullets into the bear which then fell away from him.

SUMMONED HELP

"Then it was that his companions got him out and summoned help. He was placed in a wagon and driven by Alex Yule 45 miles to the hospital at Fort Maginnis, where he finally recovered and 25 days after the happening he was out and returned to the scene of his conflict, for the purpose he says, of recovering his pipe which he has lost in the fray.

"His jaw bone, with five teeth, still adhering to it, had been picked up by his uncles, and when, nearly a month after the fight he returned to get his pipe, he found the body of the bear, then badly decomposed.

"Deschon says it was a 'dog' meaning a male, and that it must have weighed about 800-pounds.

"Deschon is a full-blood Chippewa Indian now about 64. He was born in Wisconsin but has been in Montana since as far back as memory can carry him. He thinks he came into the northwest with horses and travois. He says in those days the Indians carried their babies in pack pockets slung on the sides of horses and that he can remember when he and a girl cousin, riding in pockets on the opposite sides of the same horse, pulled each other's hair across the back of the horse.

"Most of his life he lived around Choteau, where his mother lived and died, and he came to the Glacier park region about 11 years ago, now being employed on a ranch on the reservation about three miles from the Glacier Park hotel on the opposite side of the Two Medicine river. Deschon lived among the Crees a great deal, sometimes up in Canada. He speaks English, French, Chippewa and Cree."

MANY HAPPY RETURNS

"This little story would hardly be complete without wishing our good friend Alex "many happy returns of the day." It is the sincere wish of his hosts of friends in the older lands and in this new land that he may enjoy good health in the years to come, and never be any older than "forty-five."

Months of care to make PURE and Wholesome Beer

THE wholesome beers made for the people of British Columbia by the Amalgamated Breweries are not made in a day or a week. There are months of care before the high grade grains, choice hops and pure mountain water become the brilliant and full flavored beverage that is PURE BEER.

All beers made by the Amalgamated Breweries of B.C. are fully fermented and aged for months before they reach the public. They will not continue to ferment after you drink them; they do not cause the ills that hastily made, badly prepared and half fermented "HOMEBREWS" are responsible for.

Vapors Check a Cold Overnight

There are many ways to treat a cold but only one DIRECT way—with vapors that can be inhaled.

Vapors penetrate immediately into every corner of the air passages and lungs, soothing and healing with every breath.

Vicks is so remarkably successful in treating cold troubles because it acts like a "vapor lamp in salve form."

When rubbed over throat and chest the body heat releases vapors of Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Turpentine. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster.

This double, direct action often checks the worst cold overnight.

PREMIER MINE REAL BONANZA

WILL KEEP ON PAYING DIVIDENDS FOR TWENTY YEARS AND PROBABLY LONGER

The Premier Mine will show the largest production of gold and silver in its history when the annual report for the current year comes to be compiled, says the Mining and Industrial Record. Ore reserves are conservatively estimated at $12,000,000. Values on the lower levels have recently shown an improvement in gold. This is in line with the expectation of the geologists who investigated the mine shortly after it was first opened. The Premier is now paying $1,500,000 a year in dividends, and competent engineers who have recently examined its ore reserves consider that out of its own mines the Premier can keep on paying dividends for the next twenty years, and most probably for a much longer period. Premier is under first-class management.

GROW HAIR ON BALD MICE; TRY ON HUMANS

TAUNTON, England, Dec. 28.—Bald mice have been made to grow hair in experiments designed to discover a cure for baldness among humans.

To grow hair on humans is easy, scientists explain, but the trick was to make the mice bald.

Dr. F. A. E. Crew, principal of the Animal Breeding Institute of the Edinburgh University, has discovered that mice may be made to shed their coats by extracting certain gland substances. Dr. Crew also says that by extracting a substance from normal mice and grafting it on the bald ones, he has been able to promote growth of the coat again either completely or partially, according to the amount applied.

The experiments are being continued with a view of ascertaining if human baldness may not be due to the same glandular deficiency, and therefore curable in a similar way.

WHICH MUST GO SALMON OR SEAL?

SUCH IS PROBLEM THAT HAS ARISEN IN NORTH PACIFIC WATERS

VICTORIA, Dec. 28.—Which is more valuable—the fur seal or the salmon? Which is the more easily dispensed with by humanity? Which one, if threatened with depletion, should be allowed to go? This is the problem which has arisen in the North Pacific as a result of the claims of fur traders that fur seals are decimating the salmon, most important of all food fishes in this part of the world.

Since the enforcement of the pelagic sealing treaty in 1911, sealing has been restricted, except in the case of natives, to the Pribilof Islands of Alaska, where the slaughter is under the close supervision of the United States government. It is estimated that this protection has permitted the herds to increase to 2,000,000 head of seal.

"It is a conservative estimate that each seal kills twenty-five pounds of salmon every day," said one veteran trader. "That means that the Pribilof herds destroy 50,000,000 pounds of salmon daily—or ten times as much salmon as is canned for the whole world. Hundreds of thousands of dollars is spent yearly to propagate the salmon. Yet the seals are allowed to prey upon them to that extent. Salmon has become a necessary article of food. Seal skins are a luxury."

Which should go—the salmon or the seal?

MOOSE THICK IN PROVINCE

MORE OF THEM NOW THAN EVER BEFORE SAY BIG GAME AUTHORITIES

Moose are thicker in British Columbia than ever before and they have increased to such an extent in some districts that the caribou herds are threatened, according to big game authorities.

At the beginning of the present century many districts that are now teeming with moose did not even know the species. There were, however, favored haunts of caribou which were so plentiful that they formed the principal food supply of the nomadic Indians which used to follow the herds just as the prehistoric reindeer men followed the reindeer in Northern Europe.

The caribou and moose, however, do not get along well together, according to big game men. When the moose move into a region populated by caribou in large numbers the caribou move out. This has been going on over a vast area in northern and central British Columbia during the past twenty-five years.

"The caribou is too hardy a breed to vanish altogether," said one authority. "The moose and the caribou seem to gain dominance over each other according to cycles. We happen to be passing through a moose cycle now. In a few years an epidemic or some other disturbance may weaken the moose and the caribou will have his day again. In any event, there is no possibility of serious depletion of either species for many generations."

The wapiti or elk, another antlered family, was in danger of being annihilated as a result of ruthless hunting some years ago, but since restrictive measures have been adopted, the remaining herds, two on Vancouver Island, one in the Kootenay district and another in northern British Columbia, have grown to large proportions.

PYTHIAN XMAS TREE IS GREAT SUCCESS

Many Youngsters and Adults Attended Affair Last Night in Boston Hall

A very successful Christmas tree and program was held last evening in the Boston Hall by the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters. Over one hundred children gathered for this annual treat of Santa Claus and he did not disappoint them. In the early part of the evening an excellent program was provided, it being arranged by the Knights and Sisters, after which Santa, in the person of P. H. Linney, appeared and remembered each little one. The kiddies were then further treated to dainty refreshments, while the older folk enjoyed dancing, the music being furnished by Arthur Sharp, S. V. Smith, W. N. Hoss, and Mr. and Mrs. Gulick. The general committee responsible for the arrangement of the evening's entertainment consisted of Mrs. M. L. Stepp, Mrs. W. N. Hoss, Mrs. E. Large, Mrs. Geo. Johnson, Frank Hart, Harry Blake, W. Burken, and W. Hoss. The program, which called for much favorable comment, included an Irish jig by Enid Morris, piano solo by Mabel Iverson, violin solo by Katherine Bulger, dance by Annie Gilchrist, reading by Bruce Stevens, piano solo by Margaret Gilchrist, playlet by scholars from Mrs. Hamblin's Sunday School class, and an address by M. L. Stepp.

BIG SCANDINAVIAN DANCE LAST NIGHT

Splendid Affair in Metropole Hall Attended by Large Crowd of People

A very enjoyable dance was held last evening in the Metropole Hall under the auspices of the Scandinavian Glee Club. There was an exceptionally large crowd present and everybody enjoyed not only the dances of their homeland but also the popular dances of the present day. Splendid music and a fine floor left nothing to be desired by the dancers who continued to show their appreciation by keeping the dance up until a late hour. Mrs. Halverson was in the kitchen and provided appetizing refreshments near midnight, after which the dance was resumed. The music, furnished by an orchestra consisting of Miss Jean Currie and Messrs. Wickdal and Currie, was of the best and they were obliged to respond frequently to encores. General arrangements were in the hands of C. Ytreberg who also presided at the door.

CLERGYMEN ARE LONGEST LIVERS

GREAT BRITAIN GATHERS STATISTICS ON WHAT IS HEALTHIEST JOB AND PULPIT WINS

LONDON, Dec. 28.—What is the healthiest job? The British Registrar-General is now compiling statistics which may help in solving the discussion.

F. W. Pughman, the retiring assistant controller of the post office stores department has pointed out that postmen rarely grow fat, as walking is a wonderful exercise, and it is the best remedy for keeping down superfluous weight.

An official of the home office said there is no doubt that policemen are one of the healthiest bodies of men in the country.

"But it is essential," he added, "to bear in mind that policemen are drawn from amongst the fittest men in the country. It is very likely, of course, that walking and being hardened by exposure to all weathers do contribute very largely to a policeman's continued fitness, but he is required to be perfectly fit in the first place."

Yet a search among mortality statistics at Somerset revealed the fact that not postmen nor policemen can claim to have the healthiest job. It is clergymen who head the bill of health. They live longer than any other class of workers, and they are run very close by gamekeepers, printers, gardeners, and makers of candles and glue.

BIG BOATS HAVE MUCH LAUNDRY

Is Red Letter Day When Such Vessels as Aorangi Arrive in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Dec. 28.—It is a red-letter day for Vancouver laundries when the big ships come in from the Orient and Australia.

Shipping is one of Vancouver's most important sources of revenue, but the part played by the laundries generally escapes attention when the effect of the ocean ships' arrival on business is considered. Every deep-sea vessel that reaches port has a sizeable laundry bill and some of them, such as the big ships

Pacific Milk's richness

Mrs. M. Brown of Nanaimo in a letter received recently, says she has used Pacific Milk continuously for a year and gets the fullest satisfaction from it.

"In cakes and puddings I get the best results with Pacific Milk," she writes, "and for a long time I could not understand why. Yet the reason was simple enough when my husband pointed out it might be in unusual richness. That is where it is."

that sail between Canada and Australia and China, average $500 or more in their expenditures for the maintenance of cleanliness.

When the big motorship Aorangi, which plies between Vancouver and Sydney, reaches here her laundry list runs like this: 1213 white counterpanes, 294 colored ones, 2190 napkins, 250 table covers, 2922 sheets, 2850 pillow slips, 6000 towels and sufficient other articles to make 17,584 pieces for the laundry.

DR. GRENFELL BACK TO LABRADOR AGAIN

Pioneer Missionary Returns From Old Country For Another Three Years

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Travelling third class, Dr. W. H. Grenfell, missionary doctor and explorer of Labrador, and his wife, have left London to return to Labrador, by way of New York.

"I am going back to Labrador for three years or more loaded with gifts," he said. The most wonderful gift of all is the yacht Foam, whose owner, Captain Kirby, is volunteering to command the vessel in the frozen north in order to maintain our hospital services around the Labrador coast. It is not an easy task looking after the health of scattered settlers and Eskimos.

"I went to a show the other night," he said, "and I was never so repelled in my life as by that odious mixture of sex and stupidity. We do not have that in Labrador."

SPORT CHAT

Friends of professional baseball will be interested in the outcome of the latest scandal in which the names of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker have been implicated. While these two are no longer actively identified in playing the game yet there has never been any suggestion of anything of a shady character attached to their names as players during their whole baseball career.

"Dutch" Leonard, who is responsible for the charges, was released from the Detroit team at the time, Ty Cobb was manager, and complains that Cobb treated him unfairly. In the meantime Judge Landis seems to have taken the right course by giving publicity to the matter in order that the public might not be influenced by unfounded rumors. Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker should be anxious for the fullest investigation in order that their long careers on the diamond might not end ingloriously.

The possibility of the Edmonton Grads paying a visit here should stimulate considerable interest in basketball as soon as the game is resumed after the New Year. It would seem to be a good thing for the very best team possible to be selected at once and practise together consistently in order that Rupert might make a good showing. There is plenty of good material here and if it is at all possible to approach any where near to the work of the world's champions, Prince Rupert will receive some very wholesome advertisement. The citizens generally can be relied upon to give every encouragement to the ladies if it is at all possible to stage a contest.

The Burns Lake Hardware has been purchased by R. Lowe, former assistant superintendent for the department of public works here. Mr. Lowe will conduct a civil engineering business here and J. S. Brown, also of the public works department, will manage the store.

Mrs. Nell Van de Veen and daughter, Lillian, of Tintagel left last week for Parkside, Saskatchewan, where she will spend a holiday visiting with Mrs. Van de Veen's parents.

Corporal Hall of Smithers is in charge of the local provincial police work here during the absence in the south of Constable Silk who is to be married.

Corporal C. Solberg of Uncha Valley arrived here last week to receive treatment for his leg which became jammed under a falling tree. He was accompanied into town by Marten Loveng.

D. A. Titus, for seven years a resident of Burns Lake and more recently employed at the Premier Mine, is here to make arrangements for moving his family to Stewart.

Sam Hepper of the Lakeview Hotel was fined $50 last week for making mince pies containing liquor. The pies were much sought after.

Mrs. C. Hartley has arrived from Vanderhoof accompanied by her son and daughter and is now residing in the rooms above the H. J. Jewell store.

Miss Jean Burns, who is attending college at New Westminster, is home for the Christmas and New Year holidays.

Dr. H. S. Wallace of Vancouver, formerly of Manitoba and who has just recently returned after spending three years in a London (England) Hospital, will arrive here next week to take charge of the Hazelton Hospital during the absence of Dr. Wrench who will be attending the Legislative Assembly.

There is snow in the bush and on the country roads and considerable skidding and hauling is being done by the pole men. The first real snow storm of the season came on Thursday.

Hugh Harris left last week to spend the holiday season with his family in Vancouver.

Pete Spooner returned to Hazelton last week after having spent several months on the prairies.

"BREAKFAST" in Baker's Breakfast Cocoa Means Something

The United States Food Standards define "Breakfast" cocoa as cocoa containing not less than 22 per cent of cocoa butter. Many cheap cocoas (which cannot be labelled "Breakfast" cocoa) contain not more than 14 per cent or 15 per cent of butter.

Baker's Breakfast Cocoa contains not less than 26 per cent of cocoa butter, almost one-fifth more than Government requirement. The phrase Baker's Breakfast Cocoa means a pure, delicious cocoa of high quality and possessing a considerable amount of nourishment.

Wild Life of Rockies to be Saved for Future Generations

Full Protection Given to Wild Animals in and Around Jasper National Park; Animals Become Very Tame

MONTREAL, December 26.—(By Canadian Press).—Canada's policy of making the national parks also game sanctuaries has saved the wild life of the Canadian Rockies for future generations, in the opinion of Major Fred Brewster, M.C., nature lover, outfitter and guide extraordinary, of Jasper National Park, Alberta, who is in Montreal on his annual visit to the Eastern Canadian and United States cities. As a result of the absolute protection given to wild animals in Jasper National Park, which is Canada's largest national playground, elk, and deer are feeding within a stone's throw of the railway yards at Jasper, where railway shunting operations are carried on day and night. Mountain sheep and mountain goats are daily visitors to the outskirts of the town while black and cinnamon bears make regular visits to the back doors of hotels and other places where they hope to find free meals awaiting them in the garbage cans and boxes.

The increase in big game animals is not confined to the park but is noticeable also in the hunting territory surrounding its boundaries. Major Brewster stated. Hunting parties in the Jasper area this year found not only larger numbers of the game usually encountered but noted also the increasing presence of moose, though these animals had been very scarce in previous years. Wild fowl are also increasing, since the water birds find sanctuary with the many lakes and breeding grounds and prairie chickens, which have made their appearance in the eastern area, are apparently following the grain trains westward and moving into the foothills in great numbers.

SURPRISING INCREASE
"There is no danger of mountain sheep or goats vanishing as did the buffalo of the plains," Major Brewster stated. "In fact, a careful survey made by the park wardens shows a surprising increase in these animals. We know there are from 10,000 to 15,000 mountain sheep and probably 6,000 to 7,000 mountain goats within the park. Elk or wapiti herds are growing steadily and this fall almost twice as many of these animals have come down to the valleys as were there last year."

"Bands of elk and deer are now pasturing on the Jasper Park Lodge golf course daily and instructions have been issued that they are not to be disturbed as they are keeping down the grass on the fairway. Occasionally they interfere with golf, which continued this year until less than two weeks ago but they are more than earning their feed by keeping the grass well cropped."

"Caribou herds are increasing also, though these animals maintain a good distance between themselves and civilization. As for bears, they are becoming as numerous and almost as tame as dogs since they realize that they are no longer hunted. The blacks and cinnamons have constituted themselves the town scavengers. The grizzlies, while numerous, are not socially inclined and prefer to remain at a distance from man and all his works. They remain on the higher slopes of the mountain where they are seen less frequently than the blacks and browns."

THIS COLD WAS MERE CHINOOK

WINNIPEG OLD TIMER TELLS HOW FRIGID IT WAS IN EARLY DAYS.

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 28.—(By C.P.)—The recent cold spell which brought about some talk of record low readings, was a mild "chinook" compared to the Northern blasts of fifty years ago. At any rate that is the contention of Alex Calder of Winnipeg, who came to Western Canada in the early '70s. "Why back in '79 the thermometer sank to 45 below zero regularly and often remained at that level for several days. During the winter of 1880 the mercury hit 50 below on New Year's Eve."

Mr. Calder who settled in Manitoba before Winnipeg was even a town, cannot understand why people complain when the temperature drops to a "mere" 25 below. He belongs to a generation that did not ride in heated street cars, and regarded sub-zero weather as invigorating and healthy. It was not until the temperature dropped to 40 below that they felt entitled to say it was "getting rather chilly."

Mr. Calder came to Canada from the Old Land in a sail boat 85 years ago, but only once has he complained of the cold in Canada. That was when he was living in London, Ont., and drove into Sarnia with both ears frozen. The temperature on that occasion stood at 60 degrees below zero, he states.

"Those were the days when we were men and spats had not made their appearance west of Montreal; those were the days when wavy and wiry whiskers were as common as bobbed hair is now, when the pre-breakfast shave meant thawing a lump of ice on the kitchen stove for hot water, and when one often awoke in the morning to find shoes and other things frozen to the floor. I've seen it so cold in the house that water several feet from a red hot stove would freeze solid."

"We do not get the snowfall they used to get, either," Mr. Calder added. "In 1885 it snowed so heavily that persons riding in railway coaches in Illinois and Wisconsin couldn't see a thing except an unbroken wall of snow rising up on either side of the car. Farmers had to dig trails through the immense drifts and when they drove through all that could be seen from the side was the horses ears poking above the snow-line."

MINK RAISING IS PROFITABLE

FOLLOWED ON LULU ISLAND AS SIDELINE TO GENERAL FARMING

VANCOUVER, Dec. 28.—Raising mink for fur as a sideline to a general farming business is the pursuit of J. A. Ransford, of Lulu Island, who several years ago brought two pairs of the little animals all the way from Quebec and now has a large colony of them. He finds the Quebec skins to be superior to those of the species indigenous to the Pacific Coast and he manages to obtain prices for them three and four times as high as those paid for other grades.

Mr. Ransford feeds his minks fish. He also breeds muskrats on an extensive scale and finds that the two species can be raised satisfactorily even when comparatively closely confined. He has

The Well-Managed Home

THE manager of a household is the purchasing agent for a large proportion of the family needs. In order to do a good job she must know what, when and where to buy. She must study goods and the concerns which make goods and have them to sell. She must put her home on a business basis and run it on business principles in order to make the most of the family income.

Information is the only basis for intelligent purchasing. And the right way to get the greatest amount of necessary information is to read the advertisements.

Advertisements tell you what is new and good in merchandise. They reveal improvements and inventions to make your home life easier, more comfortable and more convenient. They give you information about a thousand and one things that are useful.

Every manager of a household--every member of the household who shares the responsibility for the family's welfare--should make a habit of reading the ads.

GRANBY DOING MUCH BETTER

COMPANY IS OUT OF DEBT AND OPERATING PROFITABLY UNDER C. A. BOCKING'S DIRECTION

Granby is telling an interesting story under the able management of C. A. Bocking, who took charge of operations about 18 months ago says the Mining and Industrial Record.

Granby has always been locally a well-managed company whose former successes were obliterated by interferences from New York in matters which the directors did not understand. In this instance Granby repeated the same mistake that so many British companies have made in their attempts to manage the affairs of their companies from London, with the result that failure resulted where often there was every reason to expect success. The Cassidy coal mine and the by-product coking plant at Anyox were products of New York management. The huge capital involved and consequent losses, gave Granby a struggle for its life. Hayden, Stone and Co., of New York, had continuous failure with B.C. Copper and Canada Copper. They came to the conclusion that the only means of pulling them out of that mess was by the acquisition of Granby. Granby officials on the other hand, regarded Copper Mountain as likely to place another millstone around the neck of Granby, as development and equipment of Copper Mountain would involve heavy capital expenditures, with little, if any, margin of profit. And they were right, for Allenby Copper, costing 11 cents a lb. to produce, leaves little margin on a low market.

INCREASE IN STOCK
However, Granby officials changed, and the burden of debt on the shoulders of the company gave Hayden, Stone and Co. the opportunity, for which they had been waiting for some years, to acquire control of Granby and effect an amalgamation of Granby and Canada Copper. They were not slow to take advantage of it, but at the cost of Granby shareholders, who found authorized capitalization of that company suddenly increased from $15,000,000 to $50,000,000 and without the gain of any real additional asset outside Copper Mountain. That is a liability, not an asset, unless it can earn substantial profits for Granby, which it does not at present doing. Allowing $10,000,000 for Canada Copper—and that is the limit of its value—the deal simply watering Granby stock by 100 per cent. That is neither an honest nor a legitimate method of financing a mine or anything else.

While the record of the affairs of B.C. Copper, and its successor in Canada Copper, has done anything but inspire confidence in this country in Hayden-Stone financial operations it must be admitted that Charles Hayden is a wizard of finance. He is president, chairman or director of 33 American companies, including such large copper operations as Kennecott Copper, Brandon Copper, Nevada Consolidated Copper, Utah Copper, etc., and it certainly looks as if he is going to succeed in pulling Granby out of the slough of despond in which it has been struggling since the war.

Mr. Bocking has been one of their successful managers, and that is no doubt the reason why he was appointed last summer to the management of Granby. He had the good fortune to arrive at a time when a long program of construction and equipment had been completed and everything was in full operation except the mill. His problems were increase of production and reduction of cost of operation, so that the company might earn sufficient profit to pull itself out of the hole and get once more on a dividend basis. He is performing his task successfully, and doing it well.

PRODUCTION AND PROFIT

Here is the record of the year's achievements:

Period	Production of Copper	Profit
1st quarter	9,390,890 lb.	$429,500
2nd quarter	9,519,032	461,833
3rd quarter	10,183,038	559,566
Totals	29,092,960	$1,450,979

Production of Allenby for last quarter was 641,584 lb. copper at a cost of 11.5c per lb. That mine is producing 2000 tons of ore a day, yielding at the rate of 20,000,000 lb. copper a year, and it is expected costs will be cut to 10 1/2c per lb. That mine earned net for last quarter $116,336.

In 1924 Granby had heavy bank and bonded indebtedness. The ore reserves at Hidden Creek Mine did not promise a life for the mine of more than ten years. Today the company is out of debt, with Anyox, Allenby and Cassidy in profitable operation. Working capital is sufficient for current needs and retiring the first sinking fund 6's at maturity, with prospects that conversion will either be called, thus forcing conversion, or exchanged voluntarily on resumption of dividends. The first mortgage bonds have been reduced since the beginning of the year by $200,000.

Recent diamond drilling and development of the company's Bonanza Mine at Anyox are stated to have proven several million tons of ore of higher grade than in the Hidden Creek Mine, increasing the life of the Anyox plant to 5 years. The average value is stated to be about 3 per cent copper, but sections of the ore-body run as high as 12 per cent.

ALLENBY COPPER

The company's Allenby Mine at Copper Mountain is now producing 2000 tons of ore a day and making copper at the rate of about 20,000,000 lb. a year. The ore is mainly bornite associated with pegmatite dykes. A recent discovery made at a depth of about 800 feet below the upper workings promises to double the ore reserves and make Copper Mountain one of the great copper mines in Canada. Owing to its aluminous nature the ore is difficult and costly to crush and treat. Present cost of copper at Allenby is 11 1/2c per lb., and the most that is hoped for is the reduction by a cent to 10 1/2c.

The Geological Survey has been conducting an intensive study of Copper Mountain under Dr. Dolmage, who is in charge of the Vancouver branch of the Survey. He has now spent two seasons in the work and his report will be awaited with much interest.

IMPROVED PROSPECTS

Ahead of Granby stock at end of 1925 were $1,353,490 of first mortgage 6's on which the conversion privilege had expired, and there were also outstanding $2,250,000 7 per cent convertibles before May 1930, at $25 a share. It is proposed to exchange the first mortgage 6's due May 1928 for stock. This will leave the amount of stock outstanding at 444,330 shares and effect a saving of $175,000 a year. The company's net current assets now amount to $2,921,431, an increase for the past nine months of $967,787.

With the Anyox production at 40,000,000 lb. a year and Allenby production at 20,000,000, Granby will have a total output of 60,000,000 lb. copper per annum. If the price is stabilized as expected by the Copper Export Association at 15c per lb., Granby can earn a profit of 5c per lb., or 50 per cent over the cost of production.

The company's earnings have been $5.06 a share for the first nine months of the year before allowing for depletion and depreciation. With these items provided for, earnings still amount to $3.00 a share net, and the directors expect to close the year with a net of $4.00 per share. With production at 60,000,000 lb. copper per annum earnings will be equal to 136 lb. copper per share which, at a profit of 5c per lb., will be equivalent to an earning power of $6.80 per share. In other words each cent per lb. profit represents an earning power of $1.36 per share.

Some hope of a still further increase in production is expected by shareholders from enlargement of the Allenby mill. It is true the original plans of that mill provided for doubling the capacity to 4000 tons a day, but the company has no present intention of taking that course. What is likely to happen is that earnings will be increased, by still greater economies at Anyox, where the mill is being increased to a capacity of 3000 tons of ore a day, and the concentrates will be sintered and smelted at the Anyox plant instead of being shipped to Tacoma Smelter as now.

DIVIDENDS AGAIN

The intention of the directors appear to be to put Granby stock on a $3 a share dividend basis after the end of the year. The par of the shares is $100; and an effort is being made to raise the stock exchange quotation to $50 to encourage conversion. It is clear that Granby is now in the best position it has experienced since the war, and that, on the policy adopted by the management, the company is about to again become a steady dividend payer. Of course it has a much heavier capitalization to cover by depreciation and depletion reserves; and these must either be provided for, by the securing of new mines to replace those now in course of exhaustion; or to provide an amortization fund for the protection of the capital provided by the shareholders. As one of the largest, and formerly most successful, of the mining companies operating in British Columbia, it is gratifying to see Granby once more on its feet and in a position to resume dividends at an early date.
