Will Stand by Their Guns Say Premier and Minister of Finance

Get three thousand people engaged in automobile industry in Ontario and uproar follows

OTTAWA, April 23.—When Finance Minister Robb, accompanied by Premier King entered a mass meeting of 3,000 representatives of the automobile industry from Ontario and other Ontario centres this morning and announced that while the government would be glad to consider the arguments to be presented "we intend to stand by our guns and leave the matter as it is insofar as we are concerned," the uproar started with "so will we stand by our guns."

Premier King was received with applause and stated that government action was taken for the benefit of Canada as a whole.

STORM DROVE IRENE AWAY

PARKS BOARD IS TO HOLD MEETING WEDNESDAY NEXT

A very brief meeting of the members of the Provincial Parks Board was held yesterday and it was arranged to have another meeting next Wednesday evening to consider what action is to be taken in connection with the administration of the Salt Lakes Park and what recommendations, if any, are to be made to the Government or swimming club in regard to it. Those present were W. T. Kergin, chairman, J. H. Thompson, Colonel Mordie, G. H. Orme and H. F. Pullen.

C.P.R. MANAGER SAYS CROP OUTLOOK GOOD

Charles Murphy Says People More Optimistic Than Ever Before

CALGARY, April 23.—"I have not seen better or more encouraging conditions for spring farming operations within the past twelve years than right now," remarked Charles Murphy, general manager of western lines of the Canadian Pacific, in the course of an interview here, "nor do I think that the people have felt more contented, hopeful and optimistic than they do this year," he said.

Mr. Murphy said that this latter feeling had been brought about owing to the good prices that had ruled for all farm products during the past two years and the general outlook of business.

TARIFF BOARD IS DULY CONSTITUTED

OTTAWA, April 23.—The advisory Board on Tariff and taxation has formally constituted itself and announced its readiness to place its services at the disposal of the country.

PRINCESS ENA IS ON BEACH

Struck Rock at Entrance to Esperanza Inlet on West Coast Vancouver Island

VICTORIA, April 23.—The steamer Princess Ena is lying beached at Queen Gove, Esperanza Inlet on the west coast after striking a rock at the entrance to the inlet.

After hitting the reef known as Lowe Rock, the vessel backed herself off and was beached when it was found that her condition seemed to be serious.

Esperanza Inlet is between Nootka Island and the Vancouver Island on the north and is a short distance south of Kyuquot.

MALASPINA WILL PICK GIVENCHY UP SATURDAY

Local Members of Official Party Returned to Port on Fish Packer Yesterday

J. H. McLeod, collector of customs; Adam Mackie, fisheries inspector, and James Boyd, fisheries overseer, who were on board the fisheries protection steamer Givenchy, which lost her propeller on Monday last near Watun River, Massett Inlet, returned to the city yesterday aboard the Wallace Fisheries packer P. W.

It is expected that the Malaspina will reach the Givenchy on Saturday and tow her to Prince Rupert for dry docking. The other members of the official party aboard the crippled steamer will return here with the Givenchy, it is expected.

SKELETONS OF FUR TRADERS

Men Were Lost on Trapping Expedition to Far North in Year 1922

VICTORIA, April 23.—The remains of two fur traders who apparently perished from cold and hunger that were found on the banks of the Fontas River on a remote district of British Columbia north of Fort Nelson are definitely identified as those of Samuel Timmins and Leonard Stevens, who left Beaver Lodge, Alberta, in September 1922 on a trapping expedition.

According to word received at provincial police headquarters, two constables made their way early this spring to the camp where part of the skeleton of one of the men was found last August. After searching in the vicinity, they found the skeleton of the other.

Inspector Spiller of the provincial police force here says two of their men Constables Barber and Forfar found the remains of the trappers mentioned in the despatch. They visited the spot in the course of their regular northern patrol, arriving back at Fort St. John on April 8. Word was sent to the relatives and they fetched the remains and took them to Beaver Lodge for burial.

British Deadlock; Miners' Wages.

An impossible position obtains in connection with the coal mining industry in Great Britain. It is kept going by means of a government subsidy. Last year there was a dispute between miners and operators over wages and a general strike was threatened. As it was considered that this would be a calamity the government offered to recoup the mine operators their losses if they would continue to operate at the same scale of wages. This was done and the work went on.

Naturally the British taxpayer is not going to continue such a system indefinitely. It would not be fair to other industries where no such subsidy is paid and which also find it difficult to continue. Just now there is a deadlock but whether it will result in a strike or a reduction of wages or both no one can say. What does seem clear is that the British government is not likely to continue paying the subsidy indefinitely.

As a strike of coal miners is likely to spread to other industries, particularly the transportation industries, it is easy to see the dangers that are looming ahead but which may easily be dispelled.

Value Of Mother To Any Child.

The value of a mother to a child was emphasized in a judgment of the United States courts yesterday which awarded $32,000 for the loss of a mother but only $12,000 for the loss of a father who is the bread winner. Those who have mothers may feel happy in the fact. The world is ruled by its loves and hates but to be influenced by mother love is one of the great privileges of mankind. Nothing else is like it. There is power in the sex appeal, there are wonderful deeds accomplished for friendship or honor or philanthropy but mother love excels them all in its efficacy.

Just A Little Advice To Mothers.

It is presumptuous, perhaps, to advise mothers what they should do, but there are wise mothers and unwise mothers. It is in connection with the treatment of children as they grow older that they often fail. In the first place the child should be taken into the confidence of the mother and told at an early age the mysteries of sex and the value of purity.

Also it is desirable that mothers do not protect children always against the results of their errors. Children take advantage of such protection and get to feel that there is no such thing as punishment for wrong doing. There are mothers who think their own children never do anything wrong but who see all sorts of faults in the children of their neighbors. Usually they spoil their own children through an excess of mother love and the result is the breeding of criminals, of wasters, of men and women whom their fellows shun. Bringing up of children has always been one of the great problems of the world and it continues to be just as difficult as ever. Mothers are largely responsible if their children go wrong and also their influence keeps many a man or woman straight in after life.

Zeebrugge Affair Anniversary Today.

This is the anniversary of the naval engagement at Zeebrugge in which Prince Rupert was represented by at least one man, Alex. Young, now a Prince George barrister, son of Judge Young of this city. The event was one of the most spectacular of the war and is one that will be used to fire the imagination of naval men for many years to come. It was one of the many cases during that bloody conflict in which Britshers proved themselves true heroes.

LEIGHTON ON FOREST FIRES

Speaker Tells Rotary Club of Efforts Being Made to Save Timber

ANTI-FOREST COMPLEX

At One Time Man Was Hostile to Present Source of Industrial Activity

There was enough timber burned in British Columbia last season to keep the big Ocean Falls paper plant running at full capacity for 16 years, declared R. B. Leighton of the provincial forestry department in addressing the Rotary Club yesterday afternoon on the preservation of the forests. That company had an investment of $24,000,000, kept up a community of 2,500 people and used annually 65,000,000 board feet of logs.

Mr. Leighton spoke eloquently and well on behalf of caution and care in the protection of the forests. The movement was particularly important to British Columbia where over 70 per cent of the total stand of timber in Canada was located. They were the custodians of the industry for Canada and the Empire.

Tremendous Loss

Quoting a few figures Mr. Leighton showed that 75 years ago the stand of timber was 1,000 billion feet whereas today it was estimated to be only 350 billion feet. During that time 50 billion feet had been cut and 600 billion feet destroyed by fire. Happily nature was repairing the loss and it was very desirable to protect the young trees for generations to come.

The timber industry, Mr. Leighton showed was the greatest in the province, $190,000,000 being invested in it. The provincial revenue from it was $3,500,000 and it was constantly expanding. Last year was the most disastrous in history since a fire protection system had been inaugurated when over a million acres were burned over. Of the fires last year 25 per cent originated from lightning and the other 75 per cent from human carelessness, often amounting to wilfulness.

Difficult to Eradicate

Mr. Leighton went on to tell of some of the cases of carelessness, which had resulted in great loss and expense to the province. The only way in which he could account for the attitude was that man had a natural antipathy for the forests, inherited probably from his savage ancestors. The forests were gloomy and were thought to be the habitation of evil spirits. They sheltered man's enemies and this "anti-forest complex" was difficult to eradicate.

Popular education, he thought, was the remedy and he looked to such organizations as the Rotary Club to aid in the work. They were especially keen in educating the young people to a different attitude. With the older people it was more difficult and at they could hope was that they would soon be removed to a sphere where the forests were fireproof.

Good Results Here

One of the means of checking forest fires was the appointment of honorary firewardens to supplement the paid wardens throughout the country. Here each paid warden had charge of over a thousand acres of timber whereas in most countries they had a warden for little over 100 acres. In this district good results had been obtained last year most of the disastrous fires having taken place in the south. Only three-fifths of one per cent of the losses occurred in this district.

One of the difficulties they had in enforcing the law was to secure convictions against offenders. People often were not willing to give evidence against neighbors who offended in this way, whereas they would do so in the case of a thief who stole other goods. He appealed for help to cultivate a public consciousness of the value of the forests and of the offense of endangering the public heritage.

WILD HORSE MESA IS MELODRAMATIC PICTURE

Zane Grey's Novel Filmed for Movies is Something Out of Ordinary.

For action, spectacular thrills and the most gasp-provoking climax ever dashed on the silver sheet, the melodrama "Wild Horse Mesa," which George B. Seitz produced from Lucien Hubbard's adaptation of Zane Grey's gripping novel, has them all.

Imagine a tremendous herd of five thousand terror-stricken wild horses charging at top speed across a vast stretch of tableland, headed straight for a treacherous barbed wire corral! This stampede—the final, smashing高潮 in the photoplay—is pictured in all its terrifying realism and was filmed at great personal risk to cameramen and players, many of whom narrowly escaped death from the thundering hoofs of the wild steeds.

And this scene comes as a fitting and high-powered finale to a series of tense, dramatic events which have their beginning when Jack Holt, hero of the picture, comes into open and bitter conflict with a gang of outlaws and horse thieves, captured by Noah Berry. Billie Dove is the lovely heroine and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., portrays the fourth featured role, that of Holt's dare-devil younger brother.

Just to prove that the story does depart from the regulation western plot formula, it is only necessary to point out that although several hundred Indians play a stirring part in the film, they are on Holt's side and provide invaluable assistance at a very crucial moment.

The rugged and magnificent wilderness backgrounds are not the least of the photoplay's worth while features. All of the exteriors were photographed at Red Lake, Arizona, where they found an almost unbelievable duplicate of the Wild Horse Mesa—the actual locale of the story—with thousands of wild horses inhabiting the place.

"Wild Horse Mesa" represents the ultimate in melodrama.

JUDGE GOES NORTH TO HOLD TRIAL OF ESKIMO PRISONER

EDMONTON, April 23.—Judge Dubuc, who has already had connection with the trials of Eskimos in the far north, expects to leave for Aklavit on June 1, to preside over a hearing resulting from another killing in the northern territories. An Eskimo named Ikayena will be the accused, having been apprehended by the R.C.M.P. detachment at Tree River, acting under Sergeant F. A. Barnes, in January or February of 1925, for the shooting of a native, Ulusak, on Parry River in the summer of 1924.

Judge Dubuc will have with him, when he commences his journey to the north, two lawyers, one for the prosecution, the other for the defence and a personal secretary. These further appointments have not been made, according to the judge.

It is possible that there may be more than one trial held in the northern areas during the coming summer, but Judge Dubuc as yet has received no word of any but that concerning Ikayena.

CARTER-HALLS GET CONTRACT

Secure Preliminary Work Toward Rebuilding of Banff
Hotel Recently Burned Down

BANFF, April 23.—Operations in connection with the clearing of the debris following the recent disastrous fire at the Banff Springs hotel, at which close to $2,000,000 damage occurred, have been commenced by Carter-Halls-Aldinger, Limited, of Vancouver and Winnipeg. Contract for this initial phase of work that will result in the rebuilding of the huge wing that was destroyed has just been awarded by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

Detail plans of the proposed new wing to replace the old structure and to join up with the new extension just recently completed are in course of preparation by the engineers of the railway company. These are expected to be ready very shortly now and construction operations will be undertaken immediately. It is estimated, according to preliminary plans, that the new north wing will cost approximately $1,791,000. The new building will have about 600 rooms with baths and will accommodate about twice the number of guests that could be booked in the old wing. It will be of stone, concrete and steel throughout and its architectural lines will closely follow those that up to now have fitted so well into the mountain panorama.

For over a year plans have been in the course of preparation for entire reconstruction of the north and south wings of the famous hotel. Work on the north wing was to have commenced in September. However it will be undertaken at once and will be ready for the 1927 tourist season.

SURPRISE GIVEN TO PRESBYTERIAN CHOIR

Social Event Followed Practice
Last Night Arranged by Ladies of Congregation

The choir of the Presbyterian Church was last night surprised by some of the members of the congregation who arranged a party for them following the regular Thursday night practice. The event, which was arranged by Mrs. James Simpson, assisted by Mrs. (Dr.) Cameron, Mrs. John Mitchell, and Mrs. Robert Cameron, took place in the Church Hall soon after nine o'clock last night at the close of the practice. An enjoyable evening was spent in games and music and refreshments were served. Songs were given by Mrs. Jarvis McLeod, Mrs. James Waugh and John Davie, while recitations from Dr. Cameron and William Smith were also greatly enjoyed. Twenty-three members of the choir were present.

IRELAND TO MINT HER OWN COINAGE

DUBLIN, April 23.—Ireland is to mint her own coins for the first time in a hundred years. The law assimilating Ireland's currency with that of England was passed in 1825, but the Free State parliament recently decided to establish a token silver, nickel and copper coinage for amounts up to forty shillings (about 10 dollars). Eminent artists have been asked to assist the government in the designs of the new coins.

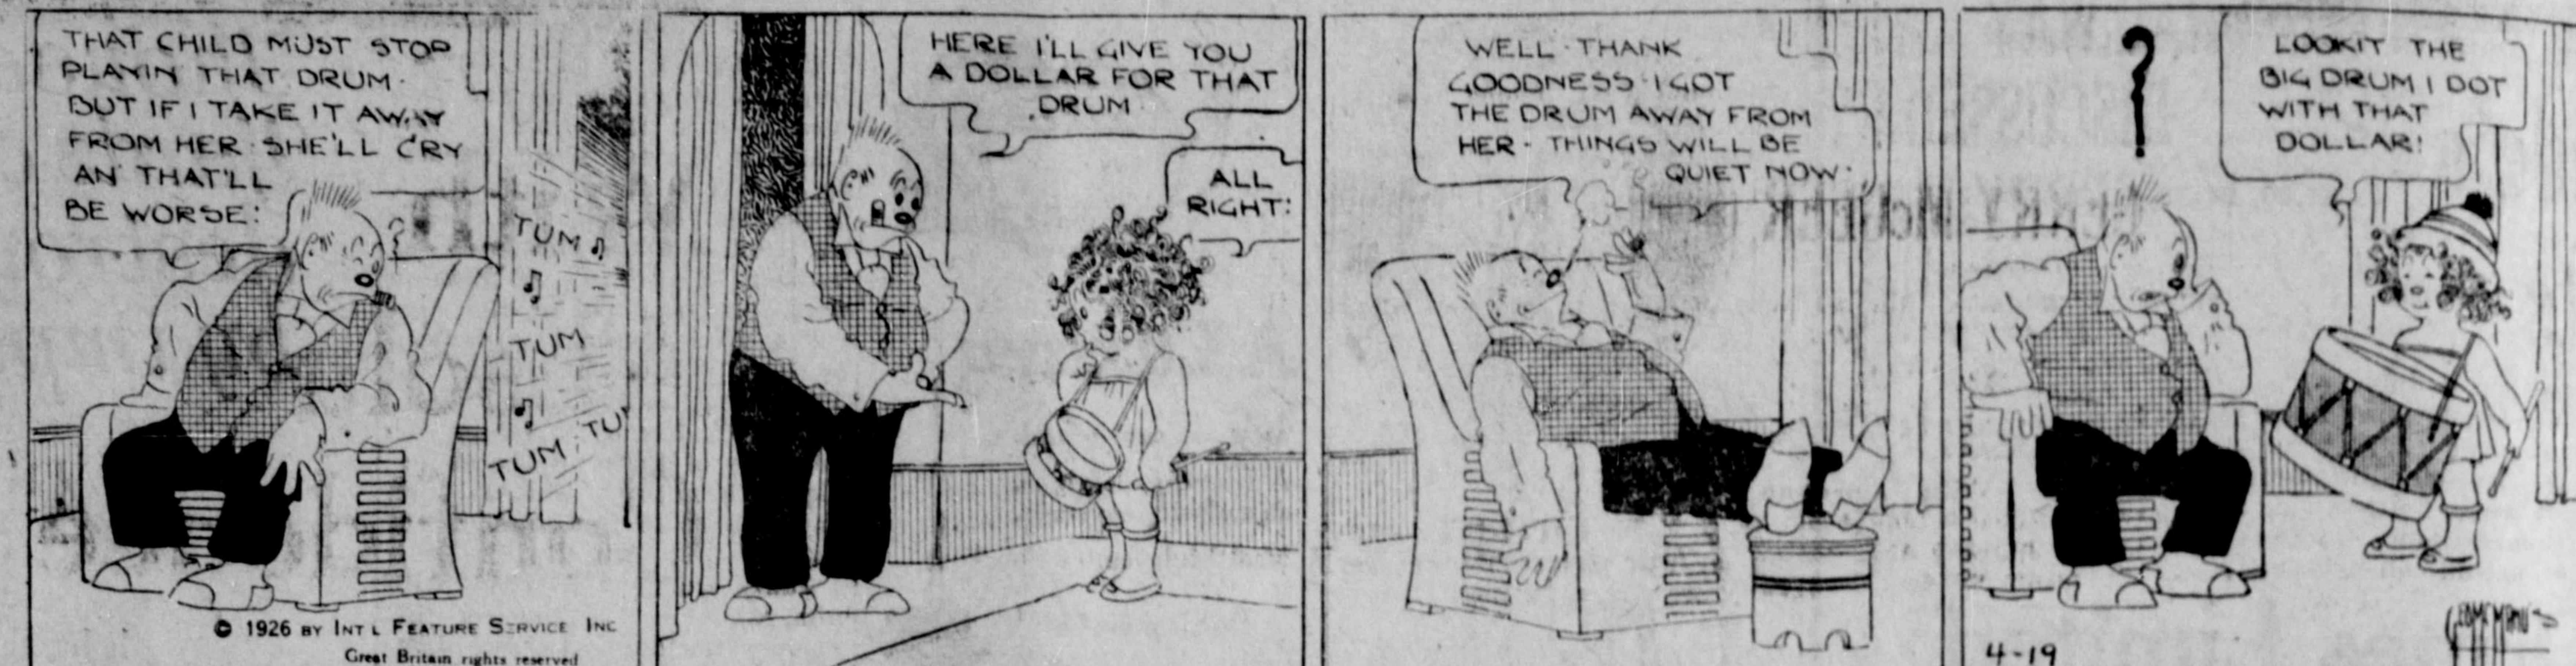

The first Irish coins were struck by the Danish Kings of Dublin in the tenth or eleventh century, and in mediaeval times there were mints in Dublin, Waterford, Trim and Drogheda.

SIMPLIFIED SPELLING OF MANY YEARS AGO

LONDON, April 23.—English advocates of simplified spelling who are at the present time petitioning parliament, have found their cause an ancient one.

FOOTBALL TO OPEN MAY 14

First Games to be in Series for Stuart Shield

The football season in the city will open on May 14, when the first game in the Stuart Benefit Shield series will be played. At a meeting of the Association last night, the schedule for the Stuart Shield was set as follows:

May 14. Moose vs. Grand Terminal.

May 17.—Grand Terminal vs. Cold Storage.

May 20.—Cold Storage vs. Moose.

May 28.—Grand Terminal vs. Moose.

May 31.—Cold Storage vs. Grand Terminal.

June 8.—Moose vs. Cold Storage.

A benefit match for the family of the late Referee Tom Jones will be played on June 3 between the two selected teams.

In the event of only three teams being entered, each team will play off each other once during June for the Dominion Day Cup, the final to take place as usual on July 1.

G. S. Russell and G. Krause were appointed official referees for the season.

INSECT PESTS ATTACK SPRUCE

Large Area Infected on Queen Charlotte; Prince Rupert Townsite Also Suffers

In his address to the Rotary Club at their luncheon yesterday R. H. Leighton of the provincial forestry service, told of an insect pest that was attacking the spruce trees in this district, including those on the townsite here. This pest was robbing the trees of their foliage but it was not yet known whether or not it would kill the trees.

About May 1 Ralph Hopping, dominion entomologist, is coming here to investigate the cause with a view to eradication.

The pest has attacked Sitka spruce trees on Queen Charlotte Islands from Cumshewa to Skidegate and no one so far can tell what the result would be.

Lady Who Could Not Talk "Widow Thinkin'"

Some years ago at an Assize Court on the Northern Circuit in England, an old lady from one of the dales was giving evidence, and her reply to nearly every question was, "Aa think seea."

At last the cross-examining counsel got angry and said: "Look here, my good woman, stop that thinking and answer my questions properly."

The aged witness looked down on counsel for a moment and quietly remarked:

"Noo ye mun try an' keep ye's temper, Misster, an' excuse me if we can. Ye know Aa's nut like ye lawyers. Aa can't talk widow thinkin'."

Negative Calisthenics.

"Gracious! How fat Betty is getting to be!"

"That's because she daily doesn't."

SPORT CHAT

Whether or not heavyweight activity is revived this summer by Jack Dempsey's proposed defense of his title against Gene Tunney, the outdoor boxing campaign centering about the New York area promises to be the most spectacular since 1923.

That was the brilliant year culminating in the historic Dempsey-Firpo struggle. The "ballyhoo" for an affair between

Dempsey and Tunney has been on for some time with its consequent side-tracking of the challenge of the ex-stevedore, Harry Wills.

The bout, ring observers believe, will take place in August

"somewhere in the metropolitan district."

The prospect of exciting activity is held forth in nearly every other fistic class with the light heavyweights, the 175-pounders, particularly in the limelight. Paul Berlenbach, the present king of that division, has the formidable Jack Delaney as his outstanding rival and their third encounter is expected to "pack 'em in." Delaney has disposed of one persistent challenger by knocking out Mike McGinn but young Stribling, the Georgia "strong boy" also is on Berlenbach's trail.

Tiger Flowers, dusky holder of the middleweight crown, has promised a return match to the former champion, Harry Grib, who is confident he can regain the title. Delaney already has knocked out Flowers twice and if he cared to make the 160-pound limit again would be favored to dethrone the Georgia negro. Jim Slattery of Buffalo intends to fight in middleweight ranks henceforth, following disaster against heavier men, and may yet stage a comeback.

Mickey Walker, the welter-weight champion, already is carded to defend his title against Pete Latzo at Scranton, Pa., May 17, in addition to which the rugged Jerseyman has prospective opponents in Joe Dundee of York and Jack Vivie of Pittsburgh.

Rocky Kansas, Buffalo veteran, is likely to stake his lightweight title against either Sid Terris of New York or Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., in a championship match here during the outdoor season. Tod Morgan of Seattle, the junior or 130-pound champion, is matched to fight Joe Glick for the title and many expect the crown to change hands when they clash.

Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, bantam title holder, has a corps of challengers on his trail, led by Bushey Graham of Utica, N.Y., while Fidel LaBarba, the young Los Angeles holder of the fly-weight championship, is expected to engage in an active campaign.

RAILWAY RATES DISCUSSED BY GERRY McGEER

Specialist Answers Number of Criticisms and States Why B.C. Claim is Just

PUNCTURES STATEMENTS

Comparisons With American Farmer Discussed and Fallacy of Railway Arguments Shown

By G. G. McGeer in "The Bulletin"

In recent issues of the Vancouver Bulletin P. A. O'Farrell has said a great deal about Canada's transportation problem.

He assails all those who dare to suggest that freight rates are too high. He is particularly caustic in his criticism of the Manitoba Free Press because of its support of the Grow's Nest rates on grain and flour. He denounces the right of parliament to fix rates upon any commodity and deplores the fact that the Canadian farmer is not paying as much for his transportation as the American farmer is paying. He declares against a fallacy that recognizes the necessity of reasonably low rates on grain and flour in the West and alleges that such a policy can only be carried out at the expense of other parts of Canada and to the detriment of the railways.

Damns Farmer

Mr. O'Farrell damns any consideration to the Western farmer but shrieks to high heaven for continued protection for the

Parliament's Right

The greatest offence that Mr. O'Farrell complains of is that Parliament has assumed the right to fix rates. Parliament has already been presented to the Board of Railway Commissioners and to parliament. These facts have all been argued before the Board of Railway Commissioners and the Governor-in-Council or a Parliamentary Committee by one or other of the three most eminent counsel in Canada. The Canadian Pacific Railway has had the services of F. H. Chrysler, Esq., K.C. of Ottawa, Dean of the Canadian Bar, Eugene LeFleur, Esq., K.C. of Montreal, and W. M. Tilley, Esq., K.C., of Toronto, unquestionably recognized as leaders of the Canadian Bar in practice today.

Railway Commissioners

Following this legislation the board of railway commissioners, functioning as it has functioned in hundreds of cases through its chief commissioner and one other commissioner, the number which constituted a quorum of the board, fully investigated the question of discrimination as between the movement of grain to Fort William and to Vancouver, and decided there should be no discrimination and that Pacific coast ports were entitled to equal treatment in the matter of grain rates. A quorum, may I point out to Mr. O'Farrell, is never a minority of the court. When a quorum of the court sits that constitutes the court.

THE DAILY NEWS

What is the principle established by parliament and by the decision of the board of railway commissioners?

- That the maxima rates agreed to by the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1897 are today just as essential to the success of the grain producer in Canada, who must find a market for his produce in world markets, as they were in 1897, and
- The Board of Railway Commissioners have established that the rates as fixed are profitable and paying rates within themselves.

The American Comparison

Mr. O'Farrell quotes a number of comparisons as between American rates and presumably draws from them the conclusion that the Canadian farmer is much better off than the American farmer. To some extent his ratio comparisons would justify that conclusion. Yet the position of the American farmer is far from happy. Wheat growing in Montana has not been successful. Wheat growing in the Dakotas is a doubtful proposition today despite the fact that the average length of haul to the markets that consume the bulk of the American farmers' grain is much shorter than that which the Canadian grain producer is confronted with, and despite an enormously high tariff protection that the American farmer receives. Recent declarations by Americans who know state the position of the American farmer to be the worst in the history of America.

Parliament's Right

The greatest offence that Mr. O'Farrell complains of is that Parliament has assumed the right to fix rates. Parliament has since its inception, and reserves to itself today, the right to the principles upon which rates for the carriage of goods in Canada shall be based. If, for the purpose of stabilizing the national wealth of the country, Parliament decides that an industry shall be assisted by having its transportation cost fixed and known, it surely has just as much right to do that as it has to protect by tariff legislation any industry the success of which possesses national value. The Grow's Nest rates, however, were not alone established upon that basis. When the Prairies were first opened and the question of whether or not they could be successfully settled was an issue, the principle that the cost of transportation of Canadian grain and flour should be known and settled was agreed to by the officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company; hence the rates known as the Grow's Nest rates.

Rates Abolished

In 1897, in consideration of a grain subsidy and an enormous grant of land, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company agreed to fix maximum rates on grain moving to Fort William and also to fix maximum rates on a number of commodities moving from eastern Canada to Fort William and all points west thereof. The American farmer is not so badly treated after all.

Comparative Rates

Mr. McGeer then gives a number of comparative rates in which he shows that many American lines carry freight much cheaper than Canadian. The cost from Vancouver to Winnipeg he shows on sugar is for the 1,466 miles $1.60 per hundred pounds and from San Francisco to Minneapolis a distance of 2,144 miles 86 1/2 cents per hundred pound. He speaks of the earnings of the C.P.R. and in conclusion says: "Whether or not the Canadian Pacific Railway Company can withstand successfully the competition of a government-owned road which is superior in every

FLOUR IS UP; BUTTER DOWN

Citrus Fruits Firm but Relief In Sight—New Vegetables Making Their Appearance

The flour market has advanced 60c per barrel during the past fortnight and the future is uncertain. A lot of money may be made or lost on stocks on hand. The butter market is declining and there is no change in sugar. Citrus fruits have been going up but it is thought that they have about reached the top. There will be relief probably with the new crop of Valencia oranges which is now coming in.

Housewives are being attracted by seasonal vegetables such as new radishes, beets, carrots, etc., which are making their appearance.

The meat market is high with advances to be noted generally in fresh and smoked lines.
