Equate Financing by Municipality

Prince Rupert Backward in Library Work

Prince Rupert is one of the backward municipalities in the province in supporting its library.

Meeting with the city Public Library Committee, Mr. Morison said that in 1951 the Public Library Commission had made grants in the area from Prince George to Prince Rupert totaling $1,100.

We have been pleased to note some increase in library development here," Mr. Morison told the Daily News.

This compares with the total of $85,000 made to local public libraries throughout the province. The Commission grants equal the support given by each municipality.

Mr. Morison urged the library committee to appeal for more civic interest in library patronage, saying:

"We widen our horizons by reading. Many may think they are too busy—but reading is an essential part of anyone's way of living."

Other members of the Commission are W. C. Mainwaring, chairman; Cecil Hacker, publisher of the Abbotsford-Sumas-Matsqui News; B. S. Robinson, librarian of Vancouver Public Library; Norman Lister, city solicitor of New Westminster; and Miss Margaret Clay, retired librarian of Victoria Public Library.

On Mr. Morison's tour of the province, he was accompanied to Prince Rupert by Paul Wright, assistant librarian and former staff reporter of the Vancouver Daily Province.

Mr. Wright, on an annual inspection tour of the Bulkley and Skeena River valley centres, said in the area are 12 travelling libraries and two public library associations, one at Burns Lake, the other at Hazelton.

"We find an increasing readership among the native people in this area and the library commission is quick to encourage this. We often find that our travelling libraries are patronized more by natives than by the white residents."

Among centres where rapidly advancing interest is shown in library work is Terrace, he said, where a library association is now being formed.

Mr. Wright works under the direction of Miss Jeanette Sargent, head of the north central branch of the commission with headquarters at Prince George.

3 Dead in Bus Crash

TORONTO (CP)—Two women and a man—passengers in a Toronto-bound Grey Coach bus—were killed last night when the coach crashed into a stalled dump truck on the new four-lane Barrie Highway.

At least 25 persons were injured, all of them bus passengers. Six of these suffered serious injuries.

Two of the dead are identified as Dr. Ulrich Schachter and Ruth Crouther, both of Toronto. Third victim was not identified pending notification of relatives.

Brazil Reports Plane Crash

RIO DE JANEIRO (CP)—The Meridional News Agency reported today that a Brazilian DC-3 plane with 18 persons aboard was missing en route from Rio de Janeiro to Porto Alegre, in southern Brazil.

The dispatch said the ship, owned by Aerovias Brazil Airlines, is believed missing in a region of mountains and dense jungle near the Rio Grande, about 720 miles southwest of Rio de Janeiro.

B.C. Men In Cabinet As Mayhew Goes To Japan

'IKE' DECLARES INCOME—MOST CAME FROM HIS BOOK

NEW YORK (CP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower made public Tuesday his income for the last 10 years totalling $888,303 of which $635,000 came from his book, "Crusade in Europe."

He said he paid $217,082 in taxes, leaving him a net income of $643,148. Without the book, Eisenhower's net was $166,898.

The Republican presidential candidate added in a statement released here by his executive assistant, Arthur Vandenberg, Jr.:

"I am now, in every sense of the word a private citizen, and without income except from investments."

Probation Officer Mooted To Curb Juvenile Crime

Skeena MP Visits Stewart Area

E. T. Applewhite, Liberal Member of Parliament for Skeena, is expected back here Thursday from his annual visit to Alice Arm and Stewart.

Mr. Applewhite, who plans to leave shortly for Ottawa for the re-opening of Parliament, left here by plane Saturday to visit in Alice Arm and district and expected to spend today and tomorrow at Stewart.

Accused Tries To Slay Self In Prison Cell

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Albert Fairweather, scheduled to go on trial for murder at the fall assizes which open Wednesday at Nanaimo, was taken to hospital here last night after what prison officials described as an attempt to kill himself.

Warden Hugh Christie of Oakalla prison farm reported the 25-year-old logger, originally sentenced to death but granted a new trial by the British Columbia Court of Appeals, stabbed himself in the abdomen with a broken spoon.

Authorities at the Royal Columbian Hospital here said Fairweather is in fairly good condition but would give no further details.

Fairweather, arrested in Edmonton, is charged in the slaying Sept. 20, 1951, of Raymond Boyce. Boyce was fatally stabbed during a fight on Vancouver Island Highway near Duncan.

The Business and Professional Women's Club has taken the initiative and has appointed a committee of three to probe the matter.

The club reached their decision following an address by Alistair Fraser, prominent young lawyer, on "juvenile delinquency."

Their action is in line with a suggestion made several times before by magistrate Walter D. Vance that a probation officer and juvenile court committee be established here to combat any spread in juvenile delinquency.

Miss Honora L. Silversides has been named chairman of the Business and Professional Women's Club committee to investigate. She will be assisted by Mrs. C. Worsley and Miss E. Clements.

Mr. Fraser, speaking to the women in the ladies lounge of the Canadian Legion, stressed that "our criminals today are the result of delinquent children."

"These organizations must have the support of the parents. Generally speaking, parents who are interested in their children's welfare and who take an active interest in their children's activities do not have delinquent children."

"Poor homes," said the speaker, "and delinquent parents are breeding grounds for delinquent children."

Mr. Fraser stressed that juvenile delinquency is a "major problem" in this city and one that must be solved before it takes a greater hold.

"To reduce crime, we must attack it at its roots. We must help our youths before they go wrong instead of trying to correct them by punishment after they have committed an offence."

He suggested formation of a Juvenile Court Committee—a board of trained personnel to help the magistrate in a juvenile case and more foster homes.

OTTAWA.—Hon. R. W. Mayhew, Minister of Fisheries since 1948, today was appointed Ambassador to Japan and two British Columbia MPs were named to cabinet posts.

Mr. Mayhew was replaced in the cabinet by James Sinclair, 44, parliamentary secretary to Finance Minister Abbott. Ralph O. Campney, 58, parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister Claxton, becomes solicitor-general, a post now filled by Justice Minister Stuart Garson.

The appointments were announced by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Mr. Mayhew, who visited Prince Rupert last Sept. 7 with the Prime Minister, represents Victoria in the House of Commons. He is Canada's first post-war ambassador.

Mr. Sinclair, member of Commons for Coast Capilano, was first elected in 1940. He has been Mr. Abbott's assistant since 1949.

Mr. Mayhew's appointment takes effect Nov. 1.

WEATHER—

Synopsis

In the last 16 days no measurable rain has fallen in southern Vancouver Island or the lower mainland. A large, well established high pressure area which has been anchored just off the coast has regularly deflected Pacific disturbances to the north.

This is now showing signs of breaking down. A disturbance has managed to penetrate at least the northern part of this barrier to give rain in the northern sections and increasing cloud to the interior this morning. The disturbance should bring cloud to the south coast tomorrow.

Significant rainfall in this area however should have a somewhat further delay.

Forecast

Cloudy today and Thursday. Intermittent rain. Rain in the northern part today spreading to the southern part this evening. Showers tomorrow. Not much change in temperature. Winds southeasterly 15. Low tonight and high tomorrow at Port Hardy, Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 45 and 53.

An Epitaph to the Nechako

THE NECHAKO RIVER is dead. Suitable tribute has been paid to the churning, ageless waterway and the tragedy of its passing has been recounted in many written words.

It is true, that to remove any of nature's handiwork is to defile in some way; it is to lose. But in nature's code of law which is one of compensation, there must be a loss for every gain and vice versa. In this case, a giant industry has come to British Columbia in the Aluminum Company of Canada which is a big gain to the entire province, already felt in many quarters.

We cannot expect this gain to come to us without payment in one place or another with the sacrifice of some of nature's grandeur.

While the Nechako has plowed for many years to help feed the Fraser, create beauty along its way and provide the home of many fishes, an epitaph to its former existence will be a giant inland sea 145 miles long which will feed power to one of the largest hydro-electric developments in the world. This is industry, and the progress of our present century.

But B.C. must not forget what it does pay for the path swathed by the wheels of progress. Its people must see to it that it does not pay too much.

One big sacrifice in the making is not the flooding of Tweedsmuir Park, but the possible grim spectre of miles of shoreline studded with dying trees and snags and the loss of many thousands of feet of timber.

There may or may not be a solution to this problem, but at any rate it is yet not too late for our government and the Aluminum Company of Canada to join in serious planning of what might possibly be done to make the loss of a beautiful park area less shocking.

Nature may pay for the gains of industry, but such is not an excuse to be indiscriminate.

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA—If Herbert Anscomb wants to remain leader of B.C. Conservatives, E. C. Carson won't oppose him.

Mr. Carson will be House leader of the four Conservatives who survived the June election. He can probably be B.C. chieftain if he chooses.

But one of Ernie Carson's most outstanding characteristics is loyalty—which comparatively few politicians have, unfortunately. They blow with the winds, ride with the tide. Carson is loyal to Anscomb, always has been, always will be. A splendid characteristic—loyalty.

There are indications Mr. Anscomb wants to remain as head of the party, make at least a last desperate effort to recoup his fortunes, so badly down at heel. We'll soon know.

Dr. Larry Giovando, MLA-elect for Nanaimo, has completely changed his mind about hospital insurance. As a Tory, he lined up with his party, on election eve, came out for voluntary hospital insurance, which, of course, means no hospital insurance at all. Now Dr. Giovando, horrified at what the Social Credit government is doing with hospital insurance—jeopardizing it—says he thinks his party was "crazy" in advocating voluntary hospital insurance.

At the same time, Dr. Giovando came up with what many people believe a good idea—increase the sales tax to pay for hospitalization, wiping out the bothersome premiums and co-insurance and the expensive machinery of collecting. People now pay the three per cent sales tax without complaint; they'd pay five per cent just as easily, and they'd get hospital care when they need it. It does seem the best way—the palmer way of providing a great social service that must not be allowed to collapse.

A bouquet to the Government for the speedy way it moved to clean up a badly overcrowded situation at Oakalla jail. Young Attorney-General Bonner had a long talk with Warden Christie; he took the warden's advice, and the government took Bonner's advice. Now there are 56 additional guards on staff and plans are afoot for temporary hutment accommodation for 600 men. Space is the crying need of Oakalla.

Crime and discomfort flourish in crowded jails, just as they flourish in crowded homes. Hutment accommodation seems a

Ike's Boom Blast

WHEN the U.S. election campaign began I was a strong Eisenhower man. I have always liked Ike and admired his genius for getting different nationals to work as a team.

But as the campaign went on, Ike's stature seemed to me to shrink or melt, like a snowman in the sun. As Taft, Jenner and even McCarthy all climbed on the campaign train, to be hailed as pals by Ike, the changing picture spoke for itself. Ike was being taken for the ride.

But on one issue Ike has raised I think he is 100 per cent right. He says the present prosperity in the U.S. is a "war-born boom." Governor Stevenson's caustic retort to that seems shallow.

I WAS writing this column from the United States just before the Korea war and reported facts and figures about unemployment and other clear signs of a slump or recession.

The vast expansion in the allied arms program which followed the North Korean aggression has provided an outlet for the production of U.S.A. which otherwise might long since have gone begging for markets.

That is the fundamental difference in the position of the U.S. and Britain. The Korea war has played havoc with Britain's economy. Apart altogether from what it made necessary in direct military expenditures, it made all sorts of imported materials scarce, and hence dear.

WHERE it seems to me doctrinaire socialists go wrong in their criticisms of American capitalism is in jumping to the conclusion that real peace in Korea, and on the world front generally, would inevitably mean a great crash like 1929. Not necessarily.

There is absolutely no reason why business in U.S.A. and Canada could not be kept going by precisely the same techniques as we use in times of war, or armament to prevent war.

North America does not need to pour out billions for tanks, battleships, planes and atom bombs simply to give orders to factories and jobs to those who want and need them. North America could make tractors for tanks, tourist ships for battleships, atomic power plants instead of atom bombs.

North America could re-house the entire population, could build bridges, schools, swimming pools, rinks and any one of a thousand things that would improve the country.

IF WE CANNOT find outlets in our own country for our surplus food, lumber, metals and construction work, then all we need to do is to apply the Marshall Plan principle on a world wide scale. We can give it away, to the same percentage as we have shot it away.

We don't need to shoot at Germans, Italians, Japanese, Chinese, Koreans, nor Russians to keep business booming at home. We can use all these things for construction, not destruction. And we can finance all that exactly as we have done it from 1914 to 1918 and from 1939 till now—by a combination of private and public enterprise. The socialist-capitalist controversy is beside the point.

If we ever do get a peace slump it will serve us right—for it is so completely unnecessary.

Kenney Dam Won't Hurt Salmon Spawning

Editor,
The Daily News:
Contrary to the general opinion, the sealing of the Diversion Tunnel at the Kenney Dam should not affect the salmon spawning areas of the Nechako and upper Fraser Rivers.

On the Nadina River flowing into Francois Lake owing to over fishing by the natives years ago it was found necessary to plane in salmon spawn under the direction of the department of fisheries.

This was done, and under close observation this run is known to be increasing annually. The spawn areas of Francois Lake cannot in any way be affected by the Kenney Dam.

The spawn areas of Stuart River and Lake were once known to be some of the best in the Central interior although the natives of Port St. James nearly ruined the Stuart Lake areas some fifty years ago by building a dam right across the outlet of Stuart Lake to the Stuart River.

In some seasons the Hudson's Bay Co. at Fort St. James would buy over one hundred thousand dried salmon from the local natives to be sold and traded to the visiting Sikan Indians and other Nomadic tribes during the winter months.

Consequently few salmon ever reached the spawning grounds which depreciated rapidly for years. This came to the attention of the department of fisheries, and in late years a few salmon have been allowed to pass through to the spawn areas, but the harm had already been done.

The Stuart River, joins the Nechako near Prince George, just above the confluence of the Nechako and the mighty Fraser, the spawn areas of which are more extensive than those of the Upper Nechako.

Conservation of the early runoff of the water may be necessary.

West Coast Ship Sails On 'Milk Run'

VANCOUVER — The cargo freighter Mapledell will sail for the Orient about Nov. 29 on a genuine "milk run."

The Unitarian Service Committee of Canada announced today the freighter will carry 70,000 pounds of powdered milk for Korean children.

The shipment will be the first of an anticipated 200,000 pounds of milk to be sent to Seoul to provide a glass of milk a day for primary school children during the coldest months of the year.

It is expected the Mapledell will take the first shipment as far as Japan where it will be transferred to another vessel.

North America could re-house the entire population, could build bridges, schools, swimming pools, rinks and any one of a thousand things that would improve the country.

IF WE CANNOT find outlets in our own country for our surplus food, lumber, metals and construction work, then all we need to do is to apply the Marshall Plan principle on a world wide scale. We can give it away, to the same percentage as we have shot it away.

Until lately that all year round base for big bombers in Greenland has been to a large extent, a secret. But now, Washington has slammed it off the front page. And what a base! Known as Thule (pronounced Tooley), almost on top of the world and looking right down over Russia, five hours flying time distant, 480 acres of barracks, force of eight thousand, weeks of light and weeks of darkness, 10,000 feet of air strip—an orchestra and a weekly paper called the "Polar Post."

Formosa Interests All Nations Professor Tells Women's Club

Formosa is a country of interest to all nations because of its location, Dr. John Ross MacKay, professor of geology and geography at the University of B.C., said here last night.

Addressing the monthly meeting of the Women's Canadian Club, Dr. MacKay said he believed the ultimate position is to link Formosa with China.

He said that while Formosa now is under the rule of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government, he is of the opinion that it will eventually become part of China.

"I don't think it will ever go back to Japan," he said.

Using maps to illustrate his points, Dr. MacKay, who was born in Formosa where his father now is a missionary worker with the Presbyterian Church, showed the similarity between Formosa and Vancouver Island in size but pointed out the difference in population and production.

He said there are some 8,000,000 people on Formosa, mostly of Chinese descent who moved there from the mainland of China many years ago.

The island produces more than it needs and under normal conditions has always had a big foreign trade, exceeding ooth Yugoslavia and Turkey.

Because of its strategic position it is an important country to China as well as the United States and Japan.

"Formosa's importance is not one so much of size, but because it is situated in the midst of a great island group."

Dr. MacKay, who served with the Canadian Army Intelligence Corps during the last war, told of the development of Formosa, stating that the Chinese first moved to the island in the 17th century.

CUT OFF HEADS
The population increased and while the Chinese remained on the east side of the island, closest to their own country, the aborigines were driven into the mountains.

He told how the aborigines used to "raid" the east side and cut off heads of the people.

During a sports day in 1930, he said the aborigines had been invited to watch and when they saw an opportunity "suddenly pulled out their knives and cut off the heads of the people."

Style Show Staged With a Difference

LEEDS, England (P)—Barbara Goalen, one of Britain's leading cover-girl mannequins, brought a one-woman dress show to housewives here. It was a show with a difference.

Instead of silently parading models, Barbara was out to get reactions from the audience. So, when she appeared in such a style innovation as a black rep suit with calf-tight skirt and soft-shouldered middy jacket tightly buckled around the hips, she cried: "hands up those who like it."

After the initial shock, a few wavering hands arose. Leeds, centre of Britain's cloth industry, is noted as a centre of fashion criticism and has a reputation for sticking to simple, tailored styles.

"We've all got the willies," said Barbara at the start, "so if you like anything, for goodness sake clap."

She showed 13 models made from the most exclusive fabrics of the West Cumberland silk mills and valued at £2,000. The audience gave an enthusiastic reception to a grey wool and acetate mixture suit with belted jacket and narrow slit skirt, worn with a red Garbo hat and cravat.

"You can't sit down in it," someone challenged, Miss Goalen obliged but wound up the demonstration with a resounding "ouch."

Barbara imparted a personal touch to the show by such tricks as clipping earrings to her shoes instead of her ears and wearing a pirate scarf twisted tightly round her head, with an ultra-smart cocktail dress.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Genuine Expert Knows When To Pass Up Finesse

Undoubtedly Mr. Muzzy, the self-confessed "expert" on finessing, would have gone down one on today's hand. But not Mr. Masters, a real expert at all phases of the game. He knows that one of the principal elements in being a finessing expert is knowing when NOT to finesse at all.

In today's deal Miss Brash opened king of hearts and Mr. Masters ruffed. He picked up the defenders' trumps in two leads. How would you play from this position?

Obviously, the problem is how to prevent the loss of as many as four tricks in the minor suits. The king and jack of diamonds and the queen of clubs are the key cards. The odds are 7 to 1 that one of these cards will be right—that is, favorably placed for your purposes.

But, as Mr. Masters correctly figured, 7 to 1 is not good enough. Not when there is another play which is an absolute certainty. He couldn't afford to go to the board with a trump to lead a club. That would leave him with just one trump and that one would be knocked out when the enemy got in with a club and forced him again in hearts.

Mr. Masters forgot about finessing. At trick four he simply led a small club from his hand. Miss Brash won with the queen and returned a diamond. The 10 was finessed and lost to the jack. Mrs. Keen made her best return, a heart, and Mr. Masters ruffed.

He then led the king of clubs which lost to the ace. A diamond return by Mrs. Keen would go right into the ace-queen on the board. On any other return, Mr. Masters could win and discard a diamond from dummy on the fourth club from his hand.

If Miss Brash had held the ace of clubs and had led another diamond, Mr. Masters would have gone right up with the ace and the final result would have been the same.

Nell McGillivray, president of the Silver Tip Mining Company, who left for his home in Victoria on the Union Steamer, says that the future of the mine is, in his opinion, assured.

The new equipment which was installed this year has enabled them to make rapid progress and they now have over two hundred tons of ore ready for shipment early in 1953. The ore shoot developed this year is three feet wide and is almost solid, carrying high values in lead and zinc and a fair amount of gold and silver.

Storage bunkers were built this year.

Owen McFadden, Harry Swan and Stanko Mikulic returned from a trip to Willoughby Creek in the Meziadin Lake district. The QCA plane which brought them out had to make two trips before the weather cleared sufficiently for the pilot to make a landing.

Repairs to the Marmot River wharf are underway. Fore and aft planking is being laid on the runway to replace the old decking. The work is being done by the Public Works.

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Humor on television is no laughing matter.

This week I had a chat with Milton Berle the longtime (four years) Mr. Television and first major comic to find gold in TV. He had some sage comments about the serious difficulties of being funny. But I think his most apt remark was: "You can't be boff every minute."

Television eats comedy material like a mammoth dredger churning on a river bottom. It is the ultimate in the growing mechanization of humor.

In the 19th century humorists like Mark Twain could write a few words and live off them for the rest of their lives. Then the focus of humor shifted to the vaudeville stage. Comics could operate the same act for 10 or 20 years without wearing out their welcomes on the various circuits.

But the age of mechanized entertainment spelled trouble for humor. Slapstick flourished in the movies then gave way to sophisticated comedy. Now that has worn out and there is little to laugh at in movies.

Radio provided an almost insatiable appetite for comedy. Stars hired large stables of writers. The end result was an impersonal, machine-age type of comedy that provided little laughter.

Now that the novelty is wearing off TV, it is experiencing the same death of real comedy.

Red Skelton is doing a weekly TV show, another on radio and shooting a movie for the theatres at the same time. Bob Hope will be doing a daily radio show and a weekly one, plus occasional TV shows and movies. Berle holds the TV screen for an hour three times a month.

It's impossible for them to be funny all of the time. Even the great Jimmy Durante doesn't always hit the mark, and he's on TV only once a month.

There's one hopeful note: The age of slapstick appears to be passing in TV. The story shows are taking over, on the heels of "I Love Lucy." We find such newcomers as Ozzie and Harriet, Our Miss Brooks, the Joan Davis show and "My Little Margie."

Let's hope the situation comedy shows can find a higher level.

Art Murray Heads City Basketball Association

A man long associated with sports promotion in the city heads this year's amateur basketball executive.

He is Art Murray, elected at the annual general meeting last night of the Prince Rupert Basketball Association.

Other officers are Sev Dominato, vice-president; Jack Marchant, secretary; Fred Jones, treasurer; Don Forward, auditor, and Fred Calderone, representative to the Civic Centre board of directors.

Basketball league play will begin Nov. 15, the meeting decided, with probably four intermediate and six junior teams participating.

Fate of senior basketball, however, is undecided but the newly elected executive, spurred by Mr. Murray, is promising to do everything possible to revive public interest in the games, which lagged considerably last year.

Tentative plans call for a Prince Rupert - Ketchikan - Metlakata circuit with no local senior league but all senior players divided into two groups to compete alternate weeks at each out-of-town centre.

Mr. Murray explained: each week would see the two local teams play each other one day and one local team play an outside team here. The other local team would be playing either at Metlakata (Alaska) or at Ketchikan.

Transportation problems are being looked into by Mr. Murray.

Alternative to this plan would be to have a three-team senior league here, disbanding last year's Elks and High School team, and replenishing Colum-
