BLACKMAIL ALLEGED IN HI-JACKING CASE

ELECTION BATTLE AT HERRIN, ILLINOIS, BETWEEN KLAN AND OPPONENTS

Weird Story of Blackmail Told by Milo Eggers to Judge of the Superior Court in Self-Defence

TAGOMA, April 14.—Fighting to avoid extradition to British Columbia as a hi-jacker, Milo Eggers before superior court judge Ernest Card yesterday, revealed the inner working of what he declared to be a liquor and blackmail ring in Seattle.

Eggers charged that he was the victim of a blackmail conspiracy engineered by William Elwood, whom he alleged to be in partnership with Lizzie Madsen of Seattle in the liquor importing trade.

Elwood, Eggers alleged, was actually the man who hi-jacked Haisel on March 3, 1924, stealing his own liquor so as to avoid payment for it to the Consolidated Exporters Limited.

Then Eggers charged that Elwood attempted to blackmail his father in Seattle and a Tacoma fish merchant and failing in his purpose instituted the legal proceedings now pending.

TORONTO, April 14.—"If the statesmen of the time had only realized the tremendous value of Alaska when the United States picked it off the bargain counter it would be of great value to Canada today," said George P. Mackenzie, who will head the Canadian Government expedition to the Arctic this year. "Although only on the verge of development, Alaska is worth twelve times the purchase price today," he said.

FAMOUS GOING TO VANCOUVER

Repairs Made and Steam up, Vessel Left Balmoral for South Under Own Power

Her hull and tank tops which were holed in striking Louise Boek near Balmoral tannery a week ago last Sunday being patched up with lumber, the coast freighter Famous got steam up yesterday and sailed last night from Balmoral Cannery for Vancouver under her own power. Local salvage outfits, which had been working on the steamer for the past week, returned to the city during the night.

After having been beached on Saturday near Alexander Cannery, temporary repairs were made to the Famous and she was towed to Balmoral where her cargo of tinplate was unloaded and her engines put in operation again. The local gasoline boats Zanardi and 28 assisted the vessel in the work.

The tinplate having been sold to a Seattle purchaser, part of it is already on its way south aboard the freighter Mervin, formerly the Cogitiam, and the balance will be taken from Balmoral by the Selkirk.

It is estimated that about $5,000 damage was done to the Famous as a result of her stranding. Capt. Berquist, the owner, is proceeding south with the vessel.

GOLDEN GATE REACHES PORT

Norwegian Vessel Had Good Voyage Across Pacific Until Nearing Queen Charlottes

After a twenty-one day voyage direct from Moji, Japan, the Norwegian freight steamer Golden Gate, Capt. A. Kolsto, arrived in port at 8 o'clock last night to clear customs and take on oil and stores here. This being done, the vessel cleared at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon for Queen Charlotte to load one million feet of lumber. She will complete at Englewood and other southern mills with lumber cargo for Boston and New York.

Capt. Kolsto reported a good voyage in ballast from Japan until nearing the Queen Charlotte Islands when she ran into a stiff southeaster which delayed her two days in arriving here.

The Golden Gate, which is a vessel of 2,950 tons net, was built in Seattle in 1917 for her Norwegian owner, Knut Knutson. Her home port is Haugesund, Norway, but she has only been there once in 1921. Toward the end of the war she was in service on the Pacific Ocean. Two years ago she called at Swanson Bay to load lumber for the Southern Alberta Lumber Co. which was then operating there and which now conducts the Queen Charlotte City mill.

Fisherman's Death Result Scuffle when Thrown Overboard

Wesley George confessed to police being cause of death of Patrick John Burchall in Warke Channel, April 2

That Patrick John Burchall came to his death by drowning in Warke Channel on April 2 as a result of a scuffle in a boat with Wesley George was the verdict brought in by the jury yesterday afternoon at the inquest into Burchall's death. George is now being held by the provincial police and his preliminary trial on a charge of murder will proceed on Thursday before Stipendiary Magistrate H. F. McLeod. Burchall's body was interred today in Fairview Cemetery by the B.C. Undertakers.

Inspector William Spiller appeared on behalf of the crown at the inquest and Milton Gonzales represented Wesley George.

The first witness was Dr. J. A. West who performed a post-mortem on the body of Burchall. He went at detail into a description of the body and declared that there were no marks of disease or violence, death in his opinion having been due to drowning. Five of deceased's upper teeth were missing and the rest were loose.

Harold Urquhart, trolling fisherman, told of Burchall and George leaving shore in a boat. Burchall at the prow and George in the stern. About twenty minutes later, he saw Wesley George come ashore by himself. Witness said to George: "I hear that your partner has been drowned." George replied short: "I don't know. I wish I was drowned, too, only I haven't the courage to drown myself." Witness said to George: "You don't want to tell everybody around here that you had a scuffle in the boat with your partner," George replied: "I don't care. I will tell the truth anyway."

About three-quarters of an hour later, Urquhart went to George's shack. George was sitting on his bed with blood flowing from his wrist and a safety razor blade in his hand. Witness said to George: "You have cut yourself." George replied: "Yes, I did it on purpose. I am crazy and I want to die right now." Urquhart said: "You don't look crazy." George replied: "I am crazy." Witness said to George: "Don't commit suicide." Saying that "There's the girl right there," George pulled his suitcase from under the bed and handed witness the photograph of a girl with himself standing beside her. George then took the photograph back and placed it in the suitcase which he kicked back under the bed saying "I don't give a damn. It's all off now anyway." Wesley George was a bigger man all around than Burchall. Witness did not see the row in the boat. He had heard from neighbors that Burchall had been drowned.

Could Not Agree

C. B. Flewin, the next witness, told of George and Burchall having arrived the Monday previous at his fish camp. Wesley George complained of nervousness and that he had not been sleeping. Later he said that he was not satisfied as things had been misrepresented to him. From George's conversation, witness had obtained the impression that George and Burchall could not agree. He had advised George that if he and his partner could not agree, it would be advisable for them to separate. First Burchall had said that he would (continued on page two)

Save The Forests Once More The Cry.

Canadian people are usually reasonable and they are willing to be shown. Today there is need for education and co-operation in the movement to save the forests from destruction. It is a reasonable proposal and one that all will endorse.

Much has already been done in this respect. The young boys and girls who are growing up and leaving school are thoroughly imbued with the idea that forest fires are a menace to the whole community. The difficulty is with the older people and with the immigrants. It will take years of campaigning to make people understand that when one source of wealth in a community is destroyed the whole community suffers.

Wealth From Poles, Ties And Piles.

This last winter fewer ties than usual were taken out because they were not needed by the railway. The result has been that the interior country was not as prosperous as usual. The production of ties, poles and piles in the past five years will give some idea of what the business means.

The local production of ties in five years was 3,957,000 valued at $2,374,000, of which there was distributed in wages $1,424,000, in supplies and equipment $475,000, and the government received in stumpage and royalty $277,000. These amounts are very large and mean an immense lot toward the general prosperity of the place.

Take another example, that of poles and piling. There was cut in this district during the five year 8,863,000 lineal feet valued at $1,152,000 of which there was distributed in payrolls $691,000 in supplies and equipment $230,000, and the government collected $115,000 to take the place of taxes. No further argument is needed.

Boys' Week Is Latest Idea.

The latest movement for education is the institution of Boys' Week. It is from May 1 to May 8 and is a very worthy object. The purpose of the originators of the international movement is as follows:

To develop loyalty on the part of the potential manhood of the nations.

To turn May Day into a loyalty demonstration of youth.

To give the public an opportunity to review its potential citizenship.

To awaken an interest on the part of the public in organizations engaged in work for boys.

To focus the attention of the public upon the boys as the medium through which all problems of society can eventually find a solution.

To create a healthier attitude toward the boy.

To develop in the boy himself a respect for the ideals of his country, and the opportunities which await him in the community.

To provide an opportunity for the schools and the organizations working with boys to demonstrate their programs of work.

To cultivate in the mind of the citizenship at large the idea that the boy is the foundation stone upon which a nation is built either strong or weak.

Alberta Crop Is On The Increase.

The amount of land being cultivated in Alberta is constantly on the increase and this will affect very materially the status of Prince Rupert as an export centre. Since the Alberta Wheat Pool has arranged to take over the elevator we are much more interested in the happenings and development of Alberta. We must more and more realize that their prosperity will mean greater prosperity for us and that if depression hits them it will affect this port. For that selfish reason we are glad to see Alberta developing rapidly.

BAND CONCERT LAST NIGHT

Good Crowd Out to Greet Lads at Westholme Theatre Entertainment

The splendid progress made by the boys' band since their last public appearance was the general theme of conversation after the concert last night at the Westholme Theatre, which had been arranged by the Rotary Club in aid of the youthful musical organization. The feature of the evening was the playing of the boys, who gave eight or nine selections, in a manner which might have done credit to a much older organization.

During the intermission, Thomas McClymont, president of the Rotary Club, explained that the band was not a Rotary band but a civic organization backed temporarily by the club until it was able to become self-supporting. Excellent results had been obtained through the efforts of bandmaster Wilson, whom he complimented. Efforts to form a band of older people had been made on many occasions and failed. The present effort he was glad to feel had succeeded and he thanked all those who had taken part in the concert or in any other way contributed to the financing of the band which they were hearing with such enjoyment that evening.

Of the other performers it is more difficult to speak. All acquitted themselves with great credit and their efforts were much appreciated, the following being the complete program:

leave and then George said that he was going. Referring to fishing, Burchall had said that it was a "mug's game." There was nothing noticeable in the attitude of either man toward the other.

On the morning of the incident, witness saw George on the rocks calling for help and asking that a boat be brought as a man had been drowned. George's clothes were all wet. Men and boats were immediately sent to pick up George and attempt to save the man who was said to be drowning. Later, on shore, George said to witness: "I will give myself up to you or anyone who will take me in charge."

Had a Scuffle

Telling of the incident, George told witness that he and his partner had had a scuffle in the boat. George had accused Burchall of putting dope in his food and Burchall had called him a liar. Then George went after Burchall and both went in the water. George said that he had tried to save Burchall. It was a very short distance to shore to which George had said that he had swum. Flewin also gave evidence as to recovering Burchall's body.

Provincial Police Constable Smith told of making the investigations after the drowning. In the course of a search of George's cabin, a pad was found on which was written the words: "Two lives for Mabel George, 3711 38th Street W., Seattle." The officer then interviewed George in the Port Simpson Hospital. Speaking of the drowning, George said: "It was no accident. I threw him overboard." George was immediately placed under arrest and duly warned. The officer then told of searching Burchall's body after it had been found. Among the effects was an identification disk reading: "P. J. Burchall, 16 Sackville Terrace, Toronto." In the hospital, George appeared to be quite normal. His right arm was bandaged.

Body Identified

Provincial Constable Cann gave evidence corroborating that of Constable Smith and Inspector Spiller took the stand to identify the body which had been recovered by himself and Constable Ponder.

The jury then retired and returned, after fifteen minutes deliberation with its verdict.

Patrick John Burchall, the man who was drowned, was 28 years of age and was born in Surrey, England. He had been 16 years in Canada, the most of the time around Toronto where a brother is believed to reside. Two years ago, he came to this coast and was employed as a dredgerman at Vancouver from which place he came north about two weeks before the accident.

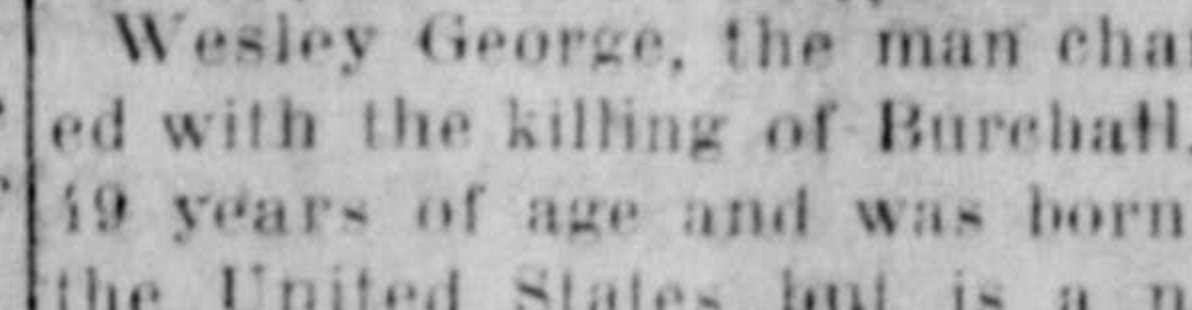

Wesley George, the man charged with the killing of Burchall, is 39 years of age and was born in the United States but is a naturalized Canadian. For some time he lived at Marpole but came north recently from Seattle where his wife, Mabel George, and two children now reside.

Council Decides to Withdraw all Properties Until Next October

The city will hold a bargain sale of reverted lots during the month of October and, for the remainder of the year, tax sale lots will be withdrawn from the market unless offers are made for them equal to or exceeding the assessed values. This will be the effect of the following recommendation that was presented to the council last night by the finance committee and adopted.

Your finance committee recommends that all reverted property from this date be withdrawn from the market until October 1, 1926, when a list of all reverted property at that time will be prepared and advertised in some manner agreed upon by the council and tenders will then be received for the period of thirty days for the consideration of the council when all properties will again be withdrawn until October 1 of the following year, always provided that the council will consider at any time the application of any one offering the assessed value or over for any of said property, this resolution to have no bearing on applications now on file with the city clerk.

BRINGING UP FATHER

EARLY MISSION CHURCHES DECAY

Catholic Pioneers in California Harassed and Discouraged by Indians and Government

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—Ruins of twenty-one missions in California, fast crumbling back to the earth from which they were reared by Franciscan fathers more than a century ago, are monuments to the blight of government opposition encountered by the Catholic faith in its relations with official Mexico.

Pioneer's Task The task of these missionary pioneers had the wavering support of Old Spain and the slender financial backing of the Pious fund, contributed by church leaders in Mexico.

Secularization As early as January 1831 a decree of secularization was issued by the government at Mexico City. A change in governmental administration prevented this being made effective but in November 1834 the act of secularization was adopted by Governor Figueroa.

Missionaries Returned Many years after secularization, a few of the missions were returned to the padres, but not until after their wealth had been dissipated and their grandeur clouded in decay.

Missionaries Returned Many years after secularization, a few of the missions were returned to the padres, but not until after their wealth had been dissipated and their grandeur clouded in decay.

The architecture of the missions—a mixture of Moorish, Spanish and Mexican, has been adopted by California as its own, and each year more buildings are conforming to this style.

SAVE FORESTS FROM FIRES

Appeal Again Being Made During Week Devoted to Purpose of Education

LOSSES LAST YEAR

Northern Part of Province Did Well and Expected to Continue Good Work

Once again the Governor General has declared by Royal Proclamation a "Save the Forest" week and from April 18 till 24 all Canadians are requested to give their thought to the consideration of one of Canada's most pressing problems, the salvation of what remains of our once mighty timber stands, from the annual attack of their most deadly enemy, the forest fire. While the problem is nation wide no province in the Dominion is it more vital and important than the Province of British Columbia.

Fatal Season

The fire season of 1925 was the most fatal to the forests of British Columbia since records have been kept of the annual destruction. There were reported in all 2,521 fires. The area burnt over comprised 1,023,789 acres. Merchantable timber destroyed was estimated at one billion fifty-eight million board feet with a net stumpage loss under the most conservative appraisal of $1,223,197. A huge acreage of young and thrifty reproduction valued at $634,544 was sacrificed; areas of unmerchantable timber and grazing range to the value of $263,964 were fire swept. Forest products, buildings and equipment worth $625,318 also fell the flames. There was also expended by the government and private parties $750,801 in fighting fire.

These figures totalled show that the people of the province lost through forest fires in one season, three and a half million dollars.

Analysis of Causes

The analysis of causes shows that only 632 or 25 per cent of the fires were attributed to lightning and the balance 1889 or 75 per cent sprang from human hands. Applying these percentages to the total loss we find that $875,000 was due to the one unpreventable cause, lightning, but that $2,625,000 was the direct result of human carelessness, apathy or indifference. The prodigality of the drunken sailor who lights his pipe with dollar bills is proverbial, but is it one whit more foolish or wanton than that of a people who waste their substance in such a fashion?

People are all prone at times to complain of heavy taxation but if we took stock of our own shortcomings we might find that in many instances we invited it, and no more convincing proof could be offered than the figures given above.

Northern Co-operation

The forestry officials of the Prince Rupert district congratulate themselves that in the black year of 1925, their timber losses struck the lowest level since the wet year of 1921. Cost of fire fighting was higher than in the two previous years, but was approximately one third of the cost in the next lowest district in the province. Throughout the interior of the district from Terrace to Fraser Lake precisely the same weather conditions prevailed as in other parts of the province. To what then must be attributed the fortunate conditions that prevailed? To one thing, and one thing only, the loyal and active co-operation of the public throughout the Skeena, Bulkley and Lake Valleys. It is impossible here to recite all the instances of this splendid co-operation but the following are selected as outstanding.

Mathias Wesley, Indian, Honorary Warden, saw lightning start a fire high up on the hillside. He called on two other natives, started right away to the fire and held it to half an acre.

Woman's Fine Work

Mrs. Bedore of Rose Lake, while her husband started for a fire they observed, jumped a horse, rode to the station and called the dispatcher at Smithers on the section house phone. He located the ranger along the track and reported the fire to him within 15 minutes of Mrs. Bedore's advice. A dangerous fire was extinguished before it had burned two acres and at a cost of only $13.80.

A pupil of Tintagel School found a fire burning and reported it to Miss Fittimore, the teacher, who at the head of her sturdy band of juvenile firefighters completely extinguished it while it was under a quarter of an acre and with no cost to the people.

Any of the fires cited above might have become conflagrations with heavy timber losses and costly expenditures. A sense of public responsibility and decisive action saved the public purse and the winter payrolls from poles and ties.

Abnormal Year

The fire season of 1926 is approaching. What is the story to be? Is there to be a repetition of 1925 with its holocaust of timber and its enormous and wasteful expenditure? Everywhere throughout the province those who have its prosperity at heart await the answer anxiously. The winter of 1925-26 has been abnormal. There has been the lightest snowfall recorded in twenty years. An early spring is promised in the interior valleys. With seasonable rains and a warm April the advanced growth may render the spring hazard light or negligible. Mid-summer will be the most dangerous period. The absence of snow in the hills and the consequent absence of local moisture will, even with a normally dry summer, produce a highly hazardous condition of affairs. It behooves people to be on their guard one and all. Exercise the utmost care with fire. Preach the gospel of forest protection to the careless. Credit the forest officer with sincerity of purpose and lend him unstinted support and co-operation. Realize the forests are yours and your children's to be cherished and protected.

United Action

United public action, and united public action alone can stop the forest fire.

"A burning forest is a burning shame" and the shame is every citizen's of the province.

Ford Leadership Has Been Earned

EVERY product which is a leader has earned its leadership.

Over twelve million Ford cars in the hands of owners have proved Ford quality beyond question.

Recently a Ford car, immediately after it was assembled, started a transcontinental trip across Canada and completed that trip under its own power.

Countless travelers in every part of the world have made difficult trips in Ford cars to areas inaccessible to other cars.

The entire history of Ford cars is one of outstanding practical usefulness and dependability.

Ford cars lead, therefore, because they have earned their leadership.

ODDITIES OF PALM BEACH

People Rise About Eleven a.m. and Then Bathing in Surf Begins

AFTERNOON IS QUIET

Mang Girls go There for Coat of Tan but do not Touch the Water

PALM BEACH, April 14.—One of the many Palm Beach idiosyncrasies which has been in effect since the genesis of the famous resort is that bathing is indulged in between half past eleven and one o'clock.

The newcomer to Palm Beach is amazed to find the beach virtually deserted in the early part of the morning and most of the afternoon. Upon inquiry, the visitor learns that it has ever been thus and probably will ever be thus. For no one ever questions an ancient Palm Beach custom.

Fashionable Parties Late

Night does not begin in Palm Beach until eleven o'clock. The later the party, the more fashionable it is. Night clubs seldom get into their full swing until past midnight. Under these conditions, after being out late, the social set seldom arises before eleven in the morning.

It is so fashionable to be late!

LARGE CATCHES HALIBUT TODAY

Commonwealth Comes in With 80,000 Pounds and Republic With 70,000

With something like the old-time catches some of the big American halibut schooners came into port and sold their catches this morning. The Commonwealth brought 80,000 and the Republic 70,000 pounds. The Akutan, not satisfied with an offer of 12.20c and 6c a pound left for Seattle where she will sell her catch of 55,000 pounds.

Owing to the Akutan leaving, the American fish had to be re-sold and the remaining boats benefited to the extent of about half a cent a pound by the big boat leaving. The first sale was cancelled and a second took place at which prices varied from 12c to 13.50c with 6c for seconds. Canadian boats fetched from 11c to 12.50c and seconds 7c and 7.50c a pound. Sales were as follows:

- American
Commonwealth, 80,000, to Cold Storage.
- Republic, 70,000, to Booth Fisheries.

- Yellowstone, 11,000, to Royal Fish Co.
- Eastern Point, 5,000, to Pacific Fisheries.

DOMINION EXPRESS CO. CLAIMS LICENSE FEES HERE ARE EXCESSIVE

Complaining that its business had fallen off to one third of the volume in 1920 when it represented a value of about $24,000 in the year, the Dominion Express Co. again applied to the city council last night for a rebate of license fee. The company fell a fee of $50 for six months was excessive and that no more than $20 was justified. The company will be informed that a revision of the city's license bylaw is shortly to be undertaken and that its claim will then be given consideration.

MINIMUM WAGE BOARD FINAL INVESTIGATION INTO LUMBER INDUSTRY

VICTORIA, April 13.—Final investigations into the condition of British Columbia's lumber industry and the wages paid to its employees will be made by the board administering the new provincial minimum wage law during the next few weeks. After conferring with representatives of the Coast lumber industry during the next few days, the board will go into the interior about April 20 to meet members of the Mountain Lumbermen's Association and find out what wages are paid in their mills.

With these inquiries complete, the board will be ready to enforce minimum wages in the lumbering industry around June 1, it is expected. A definite date on which lumbermen must pay a set minimum wage will be fixed shortly.

The board so far has made no decision on the amount of the wage to be enforced in the lumber industry. It is generally thought, however, that it will be approximately forty cents an hour. While the lumber industry will be the first to feel the effect of the new law, it will be extended in scope to include all industries later.
