Charges Russia With Attack on Plane

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States today charged in a note to Moscow that Russian planes "attacked and unjustifiably attacked" on an B29 plane missing out of Japan since declared the B29 was shot down off the coast of Japan, was unjustified. The note said the bomber was over the Japanese territory. The note said the bomber was over the Japanese territory. The note said the bomber was over the Japanese territory.

The accident, described as "the explosion of an unidentified object in the midst of a group doing small arms training," occurred at the divisional battle school at Hara Mara.

Names of the dead and wounded are withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

Four boys appeared in juvenile court here and were given suspended sentences after hearing of police evidence against them.

Parents of the boys agreed to make restitution for goods taken by the boys from a number of city firms between March 1 and mid-September.

Every hill in Korea more than 100 feet high has its own private number—its height in metres on the old Japanese military maps of Korea.

Until July, 1951, with a few exceptions, soldiers and war correspondents all used the numbers. But U.N. troops and the Communists both use the same old Japanese army maps. So when you said something about Hill 1451 the Communists knew exactly what you meant.

So last year Van Fleet issued an order—no more hill numbers in news stories.

Probably few other wars have generated so many hill names. The main reason is that Korea is practically all straight up and down. As the war goes on there will be more and newer names.

But there is one name that everyone is waiting for—the last hill.

Communist Casualties Hit Record

SEOUL—Communist dead littered the frost-whitened battlefields of Korea today as Red casualties mounted to a record in 1952 totals.

In a bloody week ended Tuesday, the U.S. Eighth Army estimated Communists lost 10,186 soldiers, including 5,866 killed. The Ninth division reported it inflicted 11,652 casualties on Communists in nine days of fighting for White Horse Mountain which ended Wednesday.

Today, nearly 1,000 Chinese troops assaulted Sniper Ridge on the central front, but South Koreans held control of the hand-to-hand fighting.

Salmon Fishing Closed Down in Northern Sector

All commercial salmon fishing, except trolling, north of Cape Caution has been closed for the balance of 1952.

Federal Department of Fisheries officials said the closure is made as a conservation measure and also due to the fact there is no salmon in commercial quantities left in the region.

Cape Caution is the northern point of entrance to the Queen Charlotte Sound.

Salmon trolling in the region resumes next Monday.

With the exception of trollers, all fishermen have been on strike throughout British Columbia since Sept. 6 over a price dispute and only yesterday Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said in Victoria he expects the fishermen to resume operations on Monday.

Fishing grounds in the northern region have been kept open longer than usual in the hope that the strike, which has seriously hit native seine fishermen in the Queen Charlotte area, would be settled.

The workers, members of seven unions, had voted to strike for higher wage demands. No date was fixed for the walkout.

Sale of Beer and Wines In Grocery Stores Urged

Daily News Story Locates Person Sought by Red Cross

For the second time in less than a month a Daily News story has led to the location of a person sought by the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Dimitrios Samoladas, an engineer aboard the fisheries patrol boat Arrow Post, had been sought by his sister in Salonica, Greece and asked the Red Cross for help. A story seeking him was carried last Friday.

Known as "Jimmy, The Fish," because he is an ardent fisherman when not on duty, he is expected here some time today from Bella Bella.

Samoladas served with the Greek army in Crete during the last great war before joining the Royal Navy. He worked for the CPR here in 1951 and then joined the Fisheries Department.

Navy Sends Balloons Above World

WASHINGTON—The United States Navy announced last night it has launched rockets from giant balloons, high above the north geomagnetic pole, and sent them to altitudes of about 40 miles—literally above the top of the world.

The instrument-laden balloons, tall as 10-storey buildings, were released from the Coast Guard icebreaker Eastwind in Baffin Bay, west of northern Greenland.

The soaring rockets radioed back cosmic radiation measurements at one point on the globe where the earth's magnetic field has least influence on incoming cosmic ray particles.

Indonesians Riot Against Parliament

JAKARTA, Indonesia (CP)—Thousands of Indonesians rioted in Indonesia's capital today in the wake of a parliamentary vote censuring defence minister Hamengku Buwono IX, popular Sultan Jogjakarta.

Order was restored after President Soekarno assured the rioters the demands for Parliament's dissolution would be considered. But the capital remained tense as rumors spread the government might fall.

Several thousand persons mobbed the residence of the Netherlands High Commissioner, tore down the Dutch flag flying and ripped it to shreds.

Some banners rioters carried indicated Communists had part in the disturbance. The rioting involved no bloodshed.

Coal Miners Protest Delay In Payments

WASHINGTON (CP)—A protest strike of 150,000 miners crept through U.S. coal fields today.

The strike, unauthorized by John L. Lewis, head of the miners' union, is in protest to the delay in paying the recent $1.90-a-day wage boost to the men.

Payment cannot be made until the increase is approved by the Wage Stabilization Board, scheduled to meet today.

Two City Groups Presents Briefs on Liquor Policy

Beer and wine should be sold in grocery stores and no restrictions should be placed on the number of liquor licences to be issued in any one centre.

This is the recommendation of the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce for a new B.C. liquor policy, contained in a brief which will be presented to George Hills, CCF MLA for Prince Rupert.

The Jaycee brief, approved by the entire membership, also calls for liquor by the glass to be sold at cocktail bars, night clubs, hotels and private clubs.

Another brief has been made public by the Conrad Street Parent-Teacher Association which urges that food and entertainment be provided at places where liquor is sold.

Other points brought forward by the P-TA recommend:

1. No bars or places of liquor distribution be opened in residential or school areas.
2. All premises licensed for the sale of liquor be strictly supervised and that no liquor be sold to intoxicated persons with stiff fines for violations.
3. The public be better educated in all phases of the liquor question.

HOURS OF CLOSING
The Junior Chamber brief recommends further:

1. All premises which dispense liquor by the glass should meet government requirements for licences, these requirements to be determined by the Legislature.
2. That beer and wines be dispensed in restaurants with the service of meals only; in cocktail bars, night clubs, hotels and private clubs.

3. Private clubs should be allowed to set their own time of opening and closing. Other establishments should observe the following hours: 8 a.m. to 1 or 2 a.m. on week days; 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. on Saturdays, and remain closed all day Sundays.

4. That government liquor stores continue to sell bottled liquor provided that one store in each city remain open for a full 24 hours each day except Sundays.

The brief gives as reason for its recommendation that no restrictions on number of licences be imposed in order "to give full reign to the principles of free enterprise while at the same time negating any possibility of licences becoming political plums."

It urges that grocery stores be permitted to sell wine and beer on their ordinary municipal licences and recommends that private clubs be permitted to have a club licence with no restrictions on hours of closing, or the usual qualifying period of three years with a club steward.

Mr. Hills, MLA, has advised all city organizations that he will collect their briefs on recommendations which he will forward to the liquor inquiry board now making its inquiry following the June 12 election which endorsed the sale of liquor by the glass in B.C. by plebiscite.

A three-man board headed by H. H. Stevens will in turn make recommendations of its findings to the government.

Men With Sweat and Blood

W Korean Hills Get Their Names

PRINCE RUPERT—From the start of the war, the names of hills have marched in pages.

All but forgotten, for example, Triangle, Lone Pine, Old Baldy, and Fool's Mountain.

Others are pretty obvious. Triangle, Lone Pine, Old Baldy, Pork Chop and T-Bone all look that way from the ground or on a map.

Bunker Hill is full of bunkers. Kelly Hill honors an unknown hero. Capitol Hill belongs to the South Korean Capitol division.

The naming is done sometimes by the troops that take the heights with sweat and blood, sometimes by staff officers back at division headquarters, and some by war correspondents.

The man mostly responsible for the colorful string of names is Gen. James A. Van Fleet, the Eighth Army commander.

No Jail on Main Street

HERE seems little doubt, from past and present evidence, that Prince Rupert needs a new city jail, but while the suggestion by Ald. Darrow Gomez that it should be included in the future telephone exchange building has merit, there are several outstanding factors against it.

The merits of the suggestion that the basement of the old liquor store be converted into a jail concern finances probably more than any other factor. It likely would not take as much money to rehabilitate the basement into suitable, sanitary cells and police offices than erecting a new building.

On the other hand, the very fact that the new jail would be located on the city's main street, at the confluence of heavy traffic at all times of the day, seeks against such a move.

It is against public feeling to have a jail block in the heart of the city. To have one could measurably affect the real estate value of surrounding property. Parading of prisoners on the main street, which likely would occur at times, is not a refreshing sight.

It is to be considered, too, that the unfortunates landing in jail would be much more susceptible to public view and derision if led to, and confined, in cells right on the main thoroughfare, which would be contrary to the principles of a people in a democracy.

Meanwhile, there may be considerable difficulty in making cell quarters in an underground basement in Prince Rupert livable from a sanitary point of view. It is likely such cells would have a tendency to become dank dungeons before long.

We have, however, a problem to face—that of providing more suitable quarters for a jail than are at present available. It is a problem on which little action has been taken, yet has been an urgent one for some time. The dilemma is one which requires immediate attention.

If some way can be found, the most desirable solution to a new city jail would be to have it and the police office in an entirely separate building, off the main street.

Canadian Economic History Reviewed in Bank Report

By The Canadian Press

Canada's years of adjustment, from 1870 to 1900, are given an interesting study in the latest issue of the monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Looking at this period of slow economic growth and profound change through the banking records, the reviewer notes that "the stresses and strains of these post-Confederation years were particularly serious in the Maritime provinces."

These provinces, suffering from the appearance of the steamship, "had to adjust not only to the larger economic unit but to a new economy."

"The rapid decline of ship-building and its many subsidiary industries after the mid-'70s, the ousting from ocean-carrying trades of ships owned and operated by the Maritimes—these were serious blows to the whole economy of the area, and brought the decline of many a thriving small port."

"In addition, the period saw times of special difficulty for the basic industries of fishing and lumbering."

"There were frequent severe depressions in the world's timber markets, and the rise of beet-sugar production in Europe resulted in low prices and low purchasing power in the cane-sugar producing West Indies, the very important market for dried cod."

But arraigned against the difficulties there were new opportunities. Maritime industries started to expand, industries which were to become important during the next century. Railways and steamships, together with tariffs, stimulated coal mining and the iron and steel industries.

New manufacturing was attracted to the railway centres and car shops. Moncton, N.B., now the rail hub of the Maritimes, "in 10 years increased from . . . a squalid village of 7,000," according to an 1822 account.

By the 1870s some 20 banks were operating in the Maritimes, all but two being "native" banks. Of these natives, only two survive today, the greater number having lost their identity by amalgamation between 1900 and 1910.

As I See It

• THE NEW BIBLE

THE BIBLE has long been the world's best seller though whether it is the world's most read book is a different matter. There has been a marked change in newspaper writing even since I began. There was a time when every good editor and almost every public man sprinkled his output with quotes from the Bible. That is not so today, for the good reason that many readers are not familiar with Bible quotations.

But the Bible, like Christianity, has a wonderful power of revival. The new Standard version of the Bible had booked orders for a million copies even before it came off the press.

MOST of the familiar passages in the Bible are pretty much the same in the new Standard translation as they were in the one most of us know best namely the King James.

The Lord's prayer, for instance sticks to the lines Our Father Who Art in heaven. But there is a clarifying change:

"And forgive our debts, as we have also forgiven our debtors." This seems to me to be a much stronger wording than the one most of us learned "And forgive our debts, as we forgive our debtors." The new translation makes forgiveness of man by the Father in heaven, conditional of man's own forgiveness of his fellow man on earth.

The beautiful Twenty Third Psalm is printed as poetry, as it should be. There is very little change from the King James version. Instead of saying "He maketh me to lie down in green pastures" the new version says "He makes me . . ."

THERE is one important deeply controversial change. The famous prophecy about the birth of Jesus Christ, as given in Isaiah 7:14 is changed. All previous translations have given it "Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold a virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel." The Standard translation is "Behold a young woman shall conceive and bear a son." A footnote to that particular verse says "or virgin." Fundamentalists, like Dr. Carl McIntyre of New York sharply protest that the new translation is directly out of line with the original Hebrew and claim it "undermines the authority of the Bible."

I SUPPOSE we always love best the things we grew to love in our childhood. I am a King James fan myself, in fact, though some readers may not believe this, I am a die-hard Tory in all

New Table-Top Fashions Solve Problem

Setting a gracious table is a complex business for the modern young woman. There are such a great variety of styles now available in furniture, dinnerware, crystal and silverware that it is no easy task to select china, silverware and crystal that harmonize both with each other and with the home decoration.

In recent years there has been a noticeable trend toward stark functional lines in both furniture and table accessories. This meant that all decorations which did not contribute in some practical manner to the serviceability of the article were eliminated.

This created a big problem for Canada's homemakers. Functional table settings, while lovely together, caused chaos when placed on ornate Victorian or Chippendale tables!

Table-top fashions for 1953, however, have been designed to solve this problem. The stark functional lines of 1952 have been softened to blend in with the furnishings of any period from Hepplewhite to modern contemporary.

In china, soft greys and beiges are expected to gain in popularity over the deep greens and maroons of 1951 and 1952. Fashion interest will be centred on the borders where simple decorations, such as platinum edging, will be used to soften the stark effect of the solid colored dinnerware.

Glassware for 1953 is being designed along casual lines with the emphasis being placed on medium-high stems. The result is a stemmedware style that is delicate enough to compliment heirloom china yet simple enough in design to go well with modern pottery.

Plan Special Area For Women Trappers

PELICAN NARROWS, Sask. (CP)—A "no man's land" has been set up in the Pelican Narrows area 175 miles northeast of Prince Albert and near the Saskatchewan-Manitoba boundary.

Trappers in the area decided to set aside a 60-square-mile area, rich in muskrat, for women only.

The Pelican Narrows District Trappers' Council decided the distance to outlying trappings and the severity of the northern winter created hardships for women who earn a living by trapping.

Only those women who depend on their own efforts for their livelihood are eligible. The first two "trappers" or "trapperettes" to be given the right-of-way in the exclusive area were Jean Iroquois, a widow, and her daughter, Bernadette.

It is expected the women will harvest muskrats but leave the few beaver to multiply and build their colonies for better harvest later.

A member of the Pelican Narrows Trappers' Council is Mrs. Nancy McCallum, Saskatchewan's famed woman trapper. She told the council that any man found guilty of trespassing in the "no man's land" would be immediately and thoroughly dealt with.

And Mrs. McCallum's warning was taken seriously by the men.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. Muzzy Flubbed One, But Wouldn't Admit It

"Well, I had a two-way finesse in hearts," alibied Mr. Muzzy after he went set at his three no trump contract. "It was purely a 50-50 guess and I just guessed wrong."

Actually, Mr. Muzzy had no excuse. He did not have a two-way finesse in the heart suit. As the cards lie, he could go only one way—if he wanted to have a chance for nine tricks.

Do you see why? Mr. Champion opened the queen of spades and Mr. Muzzy properly ducked. A spade was continued and won with the ace and returned the suit.

At this point Mr. Muzzy correctly figured that he didn't have time to try and set the clubs. To do so he would have to lose the lead twice—and the first time he lost it, the enemy would surely knock out his last spade stopper.

But he could make his contract without any club winners if he could bring in four hearts. He led to the ace of hearts, returned the 10 and let it ride. Mr. Champion won the queen and after that there was no chance of taking more than eight tricks.

The proper play of the heart suit represents a situation which is often missed. Mr. Muzzy should have led the deuce first and fished the ten. This is not because Mr. Champion had overcalled and is therefore more likely to hold the queen. Mr. Champion must hold the queen, not over three long, or the contract cannot be made.

There is only one exception to that statement and that is if Mr. Abel held the queen singleton—a very remote chance.

Let's look at it the other way around. Suppose Mr. Abel held the queen with one or two other hearts. If you play to the ace, as Mr. Muzzy did, and return the ten, the queen will cover and you must play your king. Thus you would be forced to play two of your heart honors on one trick and the nine in Mr. Champion's hand would stop the suit.

If Mr. Abel held the queen

Walking Champ Sits Out 96th Birthday

TEANECK, N.J. (AP)—Former walking champion James H. Hocking, 96 years old but still spry and chipper, won't take the long hike with which he usually ushers in his birthdays.

Hocking had every intention of walking 20 miles through Palisades Interstate Park to mark the occasion today, but his son and family physician talked him out of it.

Hocking, winner of several walkathons between 1910 and 1920, sounded off about what highway traffic has done to his pastime of walking.

Said Hocking, now assistant managing editor of a physical culture magazine:

"There's no place to walk safely nowadays. Main highways, secondary roads, even country lanes—traffic!"

He says he walked 2,854 miles during his 95th year and more than 250,000 miles in his lifetime.

Wings Blank Hawks For Season's First Defeat

Canadiens Oust Rangers While Bruins Edge Leafs

By The Canadian Press

TORONTO.—Detroit Red Wings burst out last night in their flashing winning style of last season to hand first-place Chicago Black Hawks their first defeat in five games in the National Hockey League.

The Wings blanked the pace-setters 7-0 to leap within one point of first place and maintain their one-point edge over Montreal Canadiens who defeated New York Rangers 3-1 at Montreal.

BRUINS EDGE LEAFS

In the other game Boston edged Toronto Maple Leafs 2-1 for their first win in two games. The defeat was the Leafs' second in three engagements so far, their best effort having been a tie. They slid down into fifth place, two behind the Bruins and one point ahead of the Rangers who have yet to win or tie in three games.

CCF Launch Petition For National Health Scheme

OTTAWA (P)—The CCF soon will launch one of the largest signature-collecting campaigns ever undertaken in Canada. The party plans to ask as many Canadians as can be reached to sign a petition urging the Federal government to inaugurate a national health insurance program at the forthcoming session of parliament. Plans for the petition were announced last night by M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, in a broadcast over CBC's trans-Canada network. He spoke from Winnipeg in the CBC series "The Nation's Business."

Prince Rupert Daily News
Friday, October 17, 1952

ANNOUNCEMENT

An Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist will be in Prince Rupert from Oct. 27 to Nov. 1 inclusive. An Eye Specialist can be made available for the same dates if sufficient work is available. Appointments should be made through your family doctor. In the case of eye trouble the appointment should be made immediately to enable completion of arrangements.

Lorne Ingle, national secretary of the CCF, said in an interview he expects to have the petition in its final form today. It will be circulated as soon as it is printed. Provincial organizations of the CCF will handle the petition in their own areas. The campaign may vary from province to province, but the general intention is to have a door-to-door canvass for signatures.

M. Ingle said no estimate has been made of the number of voters who are likely to sign the petition. Support is expected from persons and organizations who believe in national health insurance, but who do not support the CCF.

The next session of parliament opens Nov. 20. Mr. Ingle said the party hopes to table its petition in the Commons early in the new year.

NO OBLIGATION

There will be no obligation on the government to act, no matter how many signatures are obtained. To comply with the rules of the Commons, the petition must be drafted in terse, legal language. It will "pray" the government to "consider" the need for a national health insurance program.

In his broadcast, Mr. Coldwell said the Liberal party has been "promising" national health insurance since 1919. For 33 years there have been "procrastination and delays."

The petition, he said, will call for a program to provide all citizens, irrespective of income, full hospital, medical, dental and optical care.

He added: "The petition will stress that while the finances for such a service must be provided on a national basis, its administration must be carried out through HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Are you a perfect wife? Chances are, you come close to being a perfect mate than your husband. A psychologist, Dr. Mason Rose, says that the man is more often at fault in imperfect marriages. Dr. Rose is advising on the film "Dream Wife," and says dream wives are more common than dream husbands.

The trouble with many marriages, Dr. Rose said, is that the men maintain an 18th century belief in the status of women. "Most men don't want their wives to work," he said. "They feel that their children can't be properly reared by a working mother. But a high-energy type of woman shouldn't be limited to being a housewife."

The perfect mates, he commented, are those who view marriage as "a fellowship of wills." "Husband and wife must have equal rights and help each other," he said. Dr. Rose offered this test to determine whether you are a perfect wife:

1. Are you troubled because your husband differs from you in beliefs and standards?
 2. Do you feel there are serious disadvantages to being married?
 3. Do you have a better time with someone other than your husband?
 4. Do you discuss intimate personal matters with your parents, relatives or friends?
 5. Do you feel your husband does not consult you regarding important decisions?
 6. Do you feel rebellious against or bored with household duties?
 7. Are you critical of your husband's small faults?
 8. Are you easily upset when things go wrong?
 9. Is your household budget usually in the red?
 10. Do you know other wives who are better treated than you?
 11. If a family quarrel occurs, do you use past disagreements as a weapon against your husband?
 12. Do you feel that your husband is less attractive and successful than the husbands of your friends?
 13. Would you like to be younger than you are?
 14. Do you find it difficult to be a good mixer at parties?
 15. Do you feel your marital responsibilities keep you tied down too much?
- If you can answer "no" to 10 of the questions, you're a good wife.
