COAL STRIKE IN GREAT BRITAIN ENDED

FASCIST PLOT DISCOVERED IN GERMANY TO REPLACE THE HOHENZOLLERNS

British General Strike Ends Today and Coal Strike Basis of Settlement Has Been Arranged

Latest industrial move of modern days closes without any very untoward event marring its conduct

LONDON, May 12.—The great British general strike which more than a week ago to back up the miners was called off shortly after noon today when the Trades Union Congress announced, which initiated the strike, called upon Premier Baldwin and the cabinet ministers and announced that the strike was over. This action was taken, Chairman Arthur Pugh said, in order to enable resumption of negotiations for settlement of the miners' grievances, which negotiations the government has declared could not be resumed while the general strike lasted.

Individual unions were immediately notified and it is expected the wheels of industry will begin turning immediately.

No action toward the return of the miners to work will be taken until after a conference of delegates called for Friday at noon at which the men will be given an opportunity to decide what action they desire to take.

Basis of Settlement

LONDON, May 12.—The British general strike was called off today after a conference between the Baldwin cabinet and the Trades Union Congress on the basis of the basis of the government subsidy to the coal industry being resumed temporarily. The lockouts against the miners will be withdrawn.

Sir Herbert Samuel, as chairman of the Royal Coal Commission, was the go-between in the settlement. His memorandum, which the general council of the Trades Union Congress accepted as the basis for calling off the strike, contains the following points:

Coal subsidy to be renewed for such considerable time as may be required.

Creation of a national wages board with the understanding there will be no revision of the previous wages without sufficient assurances that the reorganization of the coal industry as proposed by the Royal Commission shall be executed.

A committee to be named by the government with representation for the miners which shall prepare legislative and executive measures necessary to effect reconstruction of the coal industry.

Simpler Wage Scale

The memorandum suggests that the revised wage scale be on simpler lines if possible than the old ones and that they shall not adversely affect the wages of the lowest paid men. It also

People Flocking to Join Civil Constabulary Reserve Formed in Britain of Military Men

LONDON, May 12.—"The government expects the strike to be settled without firing a shot or fixing a single bayonet," the official announcement stated last night, in explaining the purpose of the new civil-reserve constabulary to which volunteers are flocking by thousands.

The government's strongest line of defense is the regular police force, according to the announcement; the second is the special constabulary force, which today reached 40,000 in London and 200,000 in the provinces, and the third is the new civil reserve constabulary which consists of men with military training but wearing plain clothes, the badge of authority being the helmet and truncheon and an armband.

German Fascist Plot Discovered in Berlin Replace Hohenzollerns

Government resigns following defeat in Reichstag; documents found incriminating leaders of movement

BERLIN, May 12.—The discovery of detailed plans for the establishment of a German Fascist dictatorship, whose object was the restoration of the Hohenzollern Empire in renewed splendor, was announced by the police today.

Continuing raids on the homes of alleged German Fascist leaders, the police reported, had unearthed a mass of documents, which included a detailed plan for the concentrating of an attack on Berlin, the forcible resignation of President Von Hindenburg, and the overthrow of the federal and state constitutions by armed force, the dissolution of all parliaments, the execution without trial of strikers as well as other opponents, expulsion of the Jews from Germany and the confiscation of their property.

The documents, the police said, revealed that the ringleaders of the conspiracy maintained a steady correspondence with the former kaiser and with Bavarian reactionaries like Hitler.

Amundsen said he would keep Nome advised by radio as to the time of arrival here.

Four anchors, known as "dead-men," to which a circular cable is attached to the hold of the dirigible have been placed around the Nome landing field. Amundsen said he would deflate the Norge here and ship it to the States by steamer.

Do It Now; Don't Put Off.

"Do it now" is a good maxim in business and in every other walk of life. Putting off is always dangerous. Anything that it is possible to do now should be done, for the morrow will have all kinds of duties of which we do not think.

Of course there are many duties that cannot be done now. Often work has to be done according to its relative importance. There are many exceptions to the rule but it is also true that many duties are put off that might be done at once and the putting off results in a gradual slackening of speed and is a cause of general inefficiency.

Strikes Are War Of Industrial Nature.

Strikes are war. While only a few people usually lose their lives in a big strike, there is pretty much the same bitterness engendered as between two countries at war with each other. The scars take years to remove and often are never cleared away. The despatches yesterday stated that the general strike has been declared illegal. The strikers are outlaws. If, however, half the country is on strike, what can be done about it? There is so much illegality always about a strike that a decision of a judge does not make much difference.

Strikers Always Resent Military.

Strikers always resent the presence of military forces. When strikers upset buses, break the engines and forcibly stop people going to and from their work, no objection is made, but when military forces or armed police are used to correct these illegal actions, there is always an outcry against them. It is very much like what happened during the great war. At that time every little incident was seized on by either side to show what barbarians the others were. It was war, and this and every strike is war. It may not be as bitter as war between countries but in degree it is similar. People are influenced, not by the righteousness of the cause so much as by a desire for their side to win.

Welcome Visitors At All Times.

Let us all get together and welcome the visitors who are coming tomorrow. We may not belong to the order. We may not even agree with what they stand for, but let us forget these things and remember only that they are our guests and that we as citizens of Prince Rupert are the hosts.

We do not get many conventions or gatherings of outside people in this city. We are only just beginning to feel our feet. The way to get established is to extend a friendly hand to all and especially to those who come here to spend a little time and to enjoy our hospitality. Later we shall have the hospital convention here and as we become more important we may expect to have other larger and more important gatherings.

We cannot all be mystic shriners but we can join with the local members in helping to entertain the guests.

Definite Date For Taking Over Elevator.

A definite date for the taking over of the Prince Rupert elevator by the wheat pool has been set and we now know what to look forward to. It means that everything will be in readiness for grain to be shipped this way at the opening of the next season. That, perhaps, is all we could expect in view of the preparations that are necessary before cargoes can be loaded here. It will give time for arrangements to be made for lining the ships and for any other work that is needed.

HOW HERRING GET TO TABLE

Millions Caught Every Year and Millions Lose Lives in Every Stage of Development

KIRKWALL, Orkney Islands, May 12.—An expedition of naturalists is investigating from here the greatest of natural mysteries—how a herring ever gets to the dinner table.

Englishmen are almost reared on herrings. They have them as kippers for breakfast, and then as white bait, small fish, and pickled, smoked, broiled, or fried. They are always obtainable at even the small restaurants.

Millions of herring are caught, eaten and relished every year. But scientists know that many more millions rarely ever pass the spawn age, and equal millions never get to adolescence, yet they travel in such numbers that they have been known to stop a steamship.

Prey of All Others

They are the prey of all other fish and human beings from the cradle to the stomach and yet they are the pests of their own world. What the expedition of the Royal Zoological Institute wants to solve is the problem of how these creatures form the breakfast, lunch and dinner for fish life and home sapiens, and yet are found in such robust numbers.

The expedition has spent two years investigating the habits and trials of the herring in their "alma mater," the Orkney Island and adjacent wet spaces. The scientists have learned there are enough father and mother herrings to lay billions of spawn each year. This spawn is awaited by millions of fish, mostly greedy codfish, who fatten and float themselves on the choice savour thus provided. The codfish, jelly fish, and many other varieties get their substance for weeks by sucking the herring spawn from the rocks and other places in which they nestle.

Despite these marauders, the adhesive eggs survive the incubation period and produce teeming masses of tiny thread like fishes.

Acres of Fish

The scientists found other fish life chasing the herring into the beach or any other place of safety. At times acres of the small herrings were seen, big splashes accounting for the codfish and other pursuers, and the little splashes the escaping herrings.

Man starts the catch while the herrings are in the minnow age, epicurically called white-bait. What ravishes the sea life makes at this time has not been accurately discovered, but dozens of herrings in various stages of digestion were found in cod and mackerel caught by the expedition. Even up to the time when the herring is large enough to slay in a net, the other fish swim about waiting for them to drop over the side of the trawler.

All things work against the herring. It becomes the prey of the trawler more easily than any other fish, for the trawler is led directly to the herring shoals by the other and larger fish.

CONSERVATIVE PARTY AFFAIRS IN EDMONTON IN BETTER CONDITION

(Edmonton Journal) Anyone who has been inclined to depreciate the Conservative party as a force in Alberta affairs would, if he were present at last night's convention, have come away with his opinions regarding it very much altered. The gathering was a large one, drawn from the most varied elements in the community and it was marked by unity, earnestness and confidence to an exceptional degree. The new spirit which has been infused into this political body by Mr. McGillivray, since he has assumed the leadership and brought to his duties such ability and energy, was clearly manifest.

YOU can tell a Prince Rupert man because he complains of the weather.

THE first third of a man's life is spent deciding what he wants, the second third getting it and the final third wondering what he is going to do with it.

THE worst thing about being Premier is that there's no chance for promotion.

A SUPERBILIOUS visitor from the south was wandering up Third Avenue the other day when a resident politely asked him if he was seeing the town? "No," was the reply. "I'm looking for it."

DUE to the wires being down, the world was cut off from Prince Rupert the other day. Yet it kept moving.

WAGE REDUCTION AS PROPOSED TO MINERS OF WALES

The draft agreement as proposed by the colliery owners to the miners of South Wales against which the men are now out on strike is summarized as follows:

1. Reduction of the 14.2 per centage addition to piece workers, given when the hours were reduced in 1919 to 5 per cent.

The South Wales owners have proposed a minimum which it is claimed by them will still leave a majority of the collieries unprofitable.

SPORT CHAT

There seems to have been a renewed interest taken in game matters in the interior following the recent tour of Major Furber, chief game warden for the province.

In Alberta soil conditions are generally satisfactory with ample moisture for germination. Wheat acreage will probably show a ten per cent increase. High winds prevalent recently may cause some re-seeding.

In the western area wheat seeding is 60 to 90 per cent completed in the northern portion and 40 to 60 per cent in the southern portion. Sugar beet acreage is 10 to 50 per cent completed and conditions are favorable.

The surface soil in Saskatchewan is dry in places, but there is no immediate lack of moisture. Conditions are generally favorable. There is about five per cent increase in the wheat acreage.

In the northern area wheat seeding is general and about 50 per cent completed. There is ample moisture and the seed beds are in good condition. In the southern area 75 per cent of the wheat is sown.

Following a mild winter in British Columbia, the season is from two to four weeks earlier than usual. Seeding of grain is well advanced and hay in excellent condition. Grasshoppers are causing anxiety in the interior.
