BRITISH IMMIGRANTS ARRIVE IN CANADA

NUMBER WELL KNOWN RACE HORSES BURNED IN THEIR BARN AT CALGARY

Four Thousand Settlers Reach Halifax Most of Whom Are from Great Britain and North Ireland

Busiest time Halifax has seen since war; arrivals personally conducted on trains by C.N.R. officials

HALIFAX, March 29.—There was a distinct British flavor in the make up of the four thousand new comers who arrived at this port during the week end, afterwards to start their train journey to new homes in Canada, there being five Britishers to every one from the continent. A particularly interesting feature of the immigrants who landed Saturday and yesterday is the number of families included in the total, brought here under the Empire Settlement Act.

Of the number landed from the Antonia, Cunard line, and Doric, White Star line, fully one thousand had been booked by the Canadian National Railway overseas officials and the large group on each steamer travelled under the personal direction of officials of that organization.

On board the Antonia was J. S. McGowan who has been director in London of the Canadian National Railways lecture course in Canadian farming and with the men who came by the Antonia and the Doric was Alex Dickman, travelling passenger agent at Liverpool, who took care of the large British group on that steamer. In the party was included nearly two hundred sturdy men from the north of Ireland, the first large number to leave that island this season to test fortune in Canada.

CALGARY, March 29.—Fourteen thoroughbred race horses valued at $30,000 were burned to death and two others were killed by a C.P.R. train after escaping from a burning barn at Victoria Park early Sunday morning. Six men were asleep in the building but it was well afire before they awoke and it was then too late to save the animals.

Twelve of the horses which lost their lives were owned by Robert Emmert of Winnipeg. The horses in another barn, which were threatened by flames were turned loose and it took all day to round them up. Every one of the horses burned yesterday was well known on the race courses of Canada.

Hoping to Get Contract for at Least One Motorship to be Built at Prince Rupert Yards

Speaking of the five large motorships for Canada-West Indies service estimates for the building of which are now being called from various shipyards in Canada, B. C. Keeley, Pacific coast manager of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, expressed the hope that arrangements might soon be completed for the work and that at least one of the vessels might be built in the Prince Rupert dry dock. The tenders are to be at C. G. M. M. headquarters by April 5 and it is hoped that a decision may be reached soon thereafter. The federal government is pledged, Mr. Keeley explains, through a trade agreement to furnish a service to the West Indies and it will either be a case of the C.G.M.M. providing the ships and operating them or some other concern doing so.

Mr. Keeley stated that another C.G.M.M. vessel, the Canadian Seigneur, will be here about the end of this week for overhaul at the dry dock. The vessel, which is of 8,000 tons size like the Canadian Scottish, is coming here direct from Florida. She was here loading cargo once before.

The steamer Canadian Observer, Capt. McKay, of the Ocean Falls-California paper carrying service, arrived in port from Vancouver at 10 o'clock last night for dry docking here. Work to be done on the vessel will include general overhaul and the putting in of fuel oil tanks.

UNION STEAMSHIP CO. SERVICE TO ISLANDS VANCOUVER DIRECT

With the sailing out of Vancouver on April 8 of the steamer Venture, the Union Steamship Co. is to again institute a service to Queen Charlotte Islands. Calling at Alert Bay and Bella Bella en route north, the Venture will give a weekly service to Skidegate, Thurston Harbor, Lockport and other Moresby Island ports. The vessel will not come through to Prince Rupert nor will it touch at the north end of the Islands. Increasing industry on the Islands is given as the reason for the Union Steamship Co. re-entering that district with its ships.

Sickness A Crime And Should Be Punished.

Sickness is a crime and as such should be punished, according to Gerald Stanley Lee, writing in the Cosmopolitan Magazine. He says:

There are several ways people can take when a man is not well. One way, when a man has a stomachache, is to have him arrested. Another way is to laugh at him and get him to see that he is a ridiculous object. If ten thousand men in New York would agree tomorrow for one year publicly to make fun of fat men in the streets, so that only people in taxis could afford to be fat in New York, everybody knows what would happen.

Another way is to sympathize with him in being a ridiculous object, coddle him, let him suppose his being so absurd is not his own fault, and put it off on God.

Another way is to rouse up his intolerance, start him up into being ashamed of himself.

My own choice is the first—simply have him arrested.

It sounds extreme but when one comes, as one does in Samuel Butler's "Erewhon," on a whole society regarding a man's being sick an act of aggression, it is astonishing how sensible it seems.

The habit of making one's stomach ache by overwork is as catching as any other habit. It runs in families, just as laziness runs in families. And certainly if a man cannot hold up or arrest himself there ought to be some one by to help.

People can already be arrested for spitting and very soon people with colds will be sent home to breathe, or be put in jail for doing public breathing.

People already feel there ought to be a law enacted to have a man arrested in a street car for spraying a cold at them.

Stomachache As Bad As A Cold.

And a stomachache, though it is not showy, is quite as much an act of aggression on civilization as a cold. It is not only catching to a little temporary audience of fifteen hundred people a man has around him in a theatre, but it is catching to his fifteen hundred thousand children.

When a man takes the liberty of being a father, who is an addict of a stomachache, a chronic or confirmed colic—he is committing an act of aggression on a nation. He transmits a complex of habits—a tendency in people toward over-riding the body.

It is an insult to the next thousand years to be chronically not well. An unhealthy ancestor dead four thousand years keeps right on being a public nuisance and a national menace.

Society is getting to be as intolerant toward a man who compels his stomach to ache, as his stomach is.

The man who is loose about his own health, or other people's health, finds he is as intolerable to people as the man who is loose about his own money or about other people's money.

Hog Raising For Pork And Profit.

Just at a time when there is likely to be a supply of cheap screenings from the local elevator and when the provincial government is preparing to market some of its lands for hog and chicken ranches, the Bank of Montreal has brought out a fine little booklet entitled "Hogs for Pork and Profit" which tells about all there is to know about hogs and how to raise them. This booklet is given away free to those wishing copies but it is the wish that it shall be of benefit to the people who read it. Here is a quotation from it which is rather interesting:

"The hog will produce more meat from 100 pounds of feed than will any other animal.

"The hog will eat, and grow and fatten on more kinds of feed than will any other useful animal.

"No farm animal multiplies so rapidly as the hog—we can start with one sow and have 200 hogs within three years.

"There are very few farms but what can and should produce enough pork to feed the farmer's family. There is no better meat than ham, sausage and bacon. Hogs are needed to eat kitchen scraps and unmarketable grain and to make profitable use of skim milk and buttermilk. Hogs must be expected to live entirely on scraps and refuse. They must have other good feed.

"Hogs are profitable when fed on the by-products of dairying. Hogs and cows make a good combination.

"When well managed the hog is one of the best sources of farm income. Hogs have paid for many a farm. We can sell hogs any time of the year and at almost any age and weight."

RIN-TIN-TIN
WONDER DOG

"Tracked in the Snow Country" Is the Latest Picture Featuring This Canine

In "Tracked in the Snow Country," starring Rin-Tin-Tin, the "Wonder Dog," at the Westholme Theatre tonight, this well known canine actor has a number of new thrills for those who have seen him in the several pictures in which he has been previously presented. His most sensational performance in this picture—if not, indeed, the most sensational in any of his pictures—comes when he, the villain and the hero, are cornered in the mine, and Rin-Tin-Tin finds himself caught in a deep well, unable to come to the assistance of his master. His escape from the well with one marvellous leap, trailing the villain across the ice which breaks under him and sends him down into the cold water from which he tries vainly to extricate himself, but into which he is repeatedly thrown by the dog, to finally drown, provides breathless moments for the audience.

"Tracked in the Snow Country," as the title indicates, is one of these standard melodramas of the Far North. The story has to do with the attempt of a villainous half-breed to steal from an old miner, and his beautiful daughter a rich gold-mine which the old man has discovered and is secretly working. Rin-Tin-Tin, the old miner's faithful dog is largely instrumental in defeating the purposes of the half-breed, being assisted by the young forest ranger who is in love with the daughter.

PICTURE COMEDY IS LAUGH PROVOKING

"The Live Wire" Has Rapid Succession of Humorous Situations

A motion picture comedy is such an intricate affair that it is seldom that a story can be found that will be suitable for screen purposes without considerable changes. Such a vehicle must have a rapid succession of "situations" that are original and laugh-provoking; there must be "gags" without end, and, last but not least, there must be a touch of pathos and romance to counterbalance the fun.

An ideal vehicle, combining all these elements, was discovered in "The Game of Light," a novel written by Richard Washburn Child, former American ambassador to Italy, which has been made into a film comedy under the name of "The Live Wire," starring Johnny Hines. This First National picture will soon be seen at the Westholme Theatre.

In "The Live Wire" Mr. Hines will first be seen as a circus star, a tight wire "artist," a gentleman of the road, and then as a lamp salesman, the period of his adventures told by Mr. Child. By the hero's wit and ingenuity he puts over a big power and light contract for a public service corporation, thereby starting himself on the road to fortune and winning the girl he loves.

SIoux INDIANS IN THE PONY EXPRESS

The Sioux Indians took part in the greatest battle their tribe has fought for forty years during the filming of James Cruze's new western epic Paramount, "The Pony Express."

Not since the last battle of the last Indian war in the United States—the "Ghost Dance War" in Wyoming in 1886, have the Sioux been engaged in a battle of such magnitude.

A band of more than one thousand Sioux Indians was brought to Cheyenne, Wyoming, from their reservation at Pine Ridge, North Dakota, for the purpose of this stupendous picture.

In a minute they had swooped down on the town, circled it, firing arrows and old fashioned muskets, driving off the stock, and sustaining wounds from the barricaded townspeople, firing from windows and doors.

Then in came the soldiers—1860 cavalry, recruited from the companies of real soldiers at Fort D. A. Russell. More than seven hundred of them swooped down on the village, led by young Billy Cody, played by Johnny Fox, jr., and the greatest Indian battle of this century took place. Foot by foot the Indians were driven out. The battle continued long after it was out of range of the camera. So realistic did the battle become on the outlying hills that Cruze had to send out special riders to call it off, for soldiers were still trying to round up red men, and red men were still running down and attacking isolated soldiers.

IS OPPOSED TO HUDSON BAY RY.

Toronto Globe Has Article Dealing With Subject in Recent Issue

The Toronto Globe in a recent issue urges delay in the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway. It says in part:

"The proposal should be examined more particularly on its merits in view of present conditions. The Hudson Bay Railway has long been a cherished project for Prairie residents. The first settlers on the Red River, brought by Lord Selkirk in 1812, came by way of Hudson Bay and overland, and the route has ever since exercised a spell over the Western imagination. Here, they say, is a short route to salt water, comprising 410 miles from The Pas, a point on the Saskatchewan River and on an existing line of the Canadian National. Compare that with the long lakes-and-rail journey from Winnipeg to Montreal, or by all rail to a Canadian winter port, and the argument seems strong on its face.

"That opens the question as to the serviceability of the Hudson Bay route. There is much contradiction, and even lack of information, as to the actual possibilities of the northern scheme. July, August, and September, or even a month later, are commonly mentioned as the navigation season for Hudson Bay and Straits, but the latitude makes for uncertain conditions. The ice-free period is specifically given as August 20 to October 20. The months mentioned, and longer at both ends of the season, are the very months for the high tide of grain movements on the Great Lakes. The Canadian Pacific, and now the Canadian National, are equipped for an enormous grain shipment from the Prairies to Lake Superior, while the new route to the Pacific has lately opened a most important phase of the whole question. The Pacific terminal, under the lately reduced freight rates on grain and flour, is now able to compete with the lakes route from points as far east as the middle of Saskatchewan, and yearly Vancouver does an increasing grain export business."

CAUGHT EDMONTON BURGLAR AND THEN CALLED THE POLICE

Man Found Robber in His Home and at Once Gave Chase With Complete Success

EDMONTON, March 29.—When M. A. Roberts, 10311 93 street, returned to his home shortly after midnight he was somewhat surprised to find that it was occupied by a burglar who was ransacking the different rooms, none of the family being home at the time. The irate householder at once started in pursuit of the man who had made off by means of a rear door and was fleeing down the lane. With the aid of the searchlights on an auto driven by Cliff McLeod of the Victoria Fruit Co., the burglar was followed and at 95 street he was run to earth. Then McLeod started off for a police officer while a large crowd which had been attracted to the spot by the commotion stood looking on. In a few moments Constable Robertson arrived and he was joined later by other officers and the man was taken to the station. There he gave his name as Sedar Halkowick. Search was made for the stolen goods in the lane down which the man had run, and an undershirt was found where he had evidently thrown it in his haste to escape from his pursuer. In the police court he was charged with having broken into the house and stolen the undershirt.

EDMONTON SPENDS LARGE SUM MONEY FOR CIVIC RELIEF

Almost Twenty Thousand Paid Out in Two Months This Past Winter

EDMONTON, March 29.—For civic relief nearly twenty thousand dollars was expended during January and February, an increase of $10,000 over the same period last year. Upon receipt of the report last night that practically 60 per cent of the year's allowance had been spent, the city council passed a resolution that a wire be sent Mayor Blatchford at Ottawa giving him these figures, so that in view of the present influx of immigrants he may warn the federal government that the city will not be responsible next winter for such extensive relief to new arrivals. The married families on the relief comprised 466 adults and 727 children, the ordinary list totalling 256 families, according to Superintendent Magee's report. Provisions and fuel accounted for the bulk of the expenditure. Commissioner Mitchell reported that the superintendent had already been advised to keep his expenditures within the money vote. There is some hope, added the Commissioner that a part might be recovered from the federal government.

LATEST BALL GAME KNOWN AS DRISCO

Played Something Like Tennis but with Smaller Courts: Hitting Hard and Fast

LONDON, March 29.—A new game called "Disco" is played in a space very much smaller than that required for lawn tennis, and space, as everybody knows, is a consideration. The court is 10ft. by 16ft., the area being therefore less than one-fourth that of a lawn tennis court; the net is 4 feet high; and the yellow wooden discs from which the game takes its name hang from the extension arms of slender posts inset 6 feet from the base-lines and 3 feet from each sideline. The spectator gets the general impression of a miniature lawn tennis court with four mysterious yellow objects between 7 feet and 8 feet high at its angles. As it is an "all-volleying" game, no special surface is required, and consequently the upkeep of a court involves little cost. The players have wooden rackets, which they employ upon a peculiar ball. "Both rackets and ball are the result of long experiment by the inventor of the game, Wilfrid Short, C.B. After the service, dealt from behind a line between the posts, the ball is hit backwards and forwards over the net. If the player fails to clear the net, or if he hits out of court, he loses a point; but, should he hit either of the discs in the opposite court, he scores five points. Fifteen points make a game; the best of five games makes a set. Play is remarkably fast and full of variety. The driving, lobbing, smashing, and rallies are good to watch with a quick eye. Hitting is as hard as can be, yet if anybody is hit he does not suffer, so comfortable is this peculiar ball.

SPORT CHAT

Again it is the dull time between the closing of the winter sport season and the opening of the summer when there is little to attract the attention of the fans other than speculation about the forthcoming activities. However, the vacant spaces of ground are being worked overtime especially by the youngsters in preparation for baseball, football, etc. Before anything in the way of league games can be undertaken, it will again be necessary for improvements to be made to the Aeropolis Hill grounds which are rather lumpy just now following the winter storms. "This matter is to be taken up with the city council shortly by the football and baseball interests.

The final play-off of the Western Hockey League championship last week between the Edmonton Eskimos and the Victoria Cougars in which Duke Keats, player-manager of the Eskimos, lost his temper and got in a fist fight with Referee Battell, drew forth some rather candid though timely editorial comment from the Vancouver Sun which described the game as "dirty, mean and undisciplined." Continuing the paper said: "There are two primary purposes in any athletic game—exercise of the body and discipline of the mind and temper. Last night's game demonstrated a complete failure of the latter purpose. The attack on the judge of play was inexcusable. If constituted authority cannot be respected on a sheet of ice, it is not going to be respected anywhere else. Anarchy in a hockey game is just as reprehensible as anarchy in political life. What the Canadian people and the people of Vancouver want is clean sport. They are disappointed that they are not getting it.

Bulkley Valley Celebrates Diamond Jubilee in 1926 Says Writer

EARLY TRADERS CAME. Interesting Snatches of Early History are Very Tersely Told

(By L. S. McMillan in Vancouver Province) It takes sixty years to reach a diamond jubilee. Nineteen hundred and twenty-six should be the year of diamond jubilee for the Bulkley Valley...

Early travellers in the central interior of British Columbia did not penetrate its remote fastnesses as far as the Bulkley Valley. The route followed by the first intrepid explorers of New Caledonia was up the Nechako from its confluence with the Fraser near Fort George. This led them by way of Stuart River to the lake of that name where, in 1806, Simon Fraser established Fort St. James...

ser Lake, at the eastern end of which Fort Fraser was built a couple of years later. But the fur companies do not seem to have gone west from Fraser Lake.

Alternative Route

Another course followed by the early traders in their pursuit of fur was from the Pacific to the Skeena River to the Forks where Hazelton now is and on to Babine Lake.

Between Fort Fraser and the Skeena Forks lay a stretch of 200 miles. Here was the valley of the Bulkley, or as it was then known, the South Fork of the Skeena.

These tools and materials proved a veritable treasure-trove to the Indians. The wire was useful for making nails and also prongs for fishing spears.

A Few Doses of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup May Stop That Cough

Mr. Frank D. Condon, West Bathurst, N.S., writes: "I had a very bad cold and cough that settled on my lungs, and I thought that I would never get rid of it."

PRICE OF FOOD STUFF DROPPING

Decline in Sugar and Flour Market—Vegetables Plentiful and Prices Weak

Foodstuff prices are dropping generally. Sugar declined 10c per hundredweight this week and the flour market is low at present prices with no advances looked for.

Practically all lines of root vegetables are plentiful with prices low. The potato market is steady but it is doubtful if present prices will be maintained.

Smoked meats are higher, wholesale prices having advanced from 1c to 3c on cured meats.

Dried fruits are firm with a tendency upwards. Advances are predicted in raisins and prunes shortly.

ALBERTA INVESTIGATING SLAUGHTER NATIVE ELK

Hon. George Hoadley Says Bears do Not Need Any Protection Especially Grizzlies

EDMONTON, March 29.—Reports that the Indians are slaughtering elk in the Brazeau country are being investigated by the provincial government and a report is expected immediately, Hon. George Hoadley informed the Legislature. If it is considered desirable to have the area declared a closed area the matter will be taken up immediately with the federal government.

The minister stated in response to questions that he did not believe it necessary to give protection to bears. As far as the grizzly was concerned he had always been led to believe that the protection was required the other way round, and as far as other bears were concerned there was no danger of their extermination as long as they had the great open ranges of the north.

BRISBANE PLEASSED HE ESCAPED HARVARD

Says is Certain He Would Have Been Failure Had He Gone to University

"I was going to Harvard when I was 19," confessed Arthur Brisbane in Collier's. "Thank heaven I went on the Sun instead and got a job as a reporter at $15 a week. At least I made a living. Before I was 21 I succeeded T. P. O'Connell as correspondent of the New York Sun under Charles A. Dana in London. When I was 23 I was editor of the New York Evening Sun. In other words, I got my chance at a time when I might have been wasting years in Harvard, after having wasted several years in schools in Europe. Had I gone to college, I am perfectly certain that I should have been a flat failure. At least I have been able to earn my own living, and that of several other people."

Oak Bay further agrees that it will not charge more than $500 for racing privileges at the Willows Park for 1926.

Mercy No!

A shoe doesn't fit just because it is long enough and wide enough.

THE days for that fallacy are gone or going—never to return.

In the last few years people have been realizing that scores of ailments arise from ill-fitting shoes. Important nerve centres in the foot are hurt by badly-shaped shoes, and the effect is felt in other parts of the body.

Nowadays good health demands a "shoe to fit the foot—not the foot to fit the shoe." Arch Defender Shoes—because they are built to special lasts—the inner sole shaped to the foot contour and with cupped heel—because they have a patented spring insect shank and because they support the foot arch where needed—are bringing back foot health and comfort to thousands.

Arch Defender Shoes are modern, good-looking shoes of supreme quality for men and women.
