LIBELLING OF QUEEN MOTHER RESULTS IN CANCELLING OF POST PRIVILEGE

Libelled Queen Mother and Prince of Wales so Barred from Country

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—The customs department has issued a special order banning the importation into Canada of the American magazine "Liberty," which recently published an article alleged to misrepresent the life of the late Queen Mother, Alexandra. A subsequent issue contained an article of a similar nature concerning the Prince of Wales.

The order is based on a section of the Customs Act which prohibits the importation of obscene literature.

Minister of Customs Boivin stated that the articles in question were libellous toward the Royal Family.

EDMONTON IS INTERESTED

Secretary of Board of Trade of Alberta Capital Would Know About Ships

ARE BEHIND ROUTE

The Board of Trade has received from John Blue, secretary of the Edmonton Board of Trade, the following letter:

"Some time ago we received a wire from your board on the matter of doing something towards popularizing the Western Grain Route, and were pleased to know that Prince Rupert was equipped to handle a large quantity of grain.

"Very shortly after receiving your wire, we learned that the embargo was raised, and I hope that by this time some grain has been moving to your port. I think that your board and everybody interested in the Western Grain Route, on the Pacific coast can take it as an assured fact that the farmers of this province are solidly behind the Western Grain Route. The establishment of the ports of Prince Rupert and Vancouver as grain exporting points has reversed the conditions under which the farmers of Alberta have lived hitherto. Instead of being at the tail end of a 2,500 or 3,000 mile haul, we are now placed within a distance of 700 miles of two ocean ports, open all the year round.

"The crux of the whole question seems to be the certainty of getting ships to carry the grain away from the ports. That is to say if the ports of Prince Rupert and Vancouver can entice the spout the farmers of the prairie will keep the hopper filled to overflowing.

"I would be very pleased to find out through your board if anything is being done to attract ships to Prince Rupert to carry the grain away."

Mrs. Bishop also said she was against the sale of anything in the schools. They had even stopped the sale of poppies for the ex-service men.

The application was refused.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 23.—The launch Swastika, which is believed to have foundered off Quatsino last Wednesday, belonged to two brothers, John and Philip Varley, who lost their lives, according to Captain H. Shadforth, pilot aboard the steamer Golden Gate.

Shadforth had engaged the rollers to take him off the steamer, which was en route to apex, but the weather was too rough to permit their approach and when the launch developed engine trouble the heavy seas prevented the ship launching a lifeboat to go to the men's assistance.

The Swastika was engaged in delivering mail in the Quatsino district.

EFFECT IN PROVINCE OF AUSTRALIAN TREATY

A. W. Neill Draws Attention to the Case of Recent Butter Importations

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—In the course of the debate on the address A. W. Neill of Comox-Alberni drew attention to the fact that while a small amount of Australian butter was coming into the country, possibly as a result of the Australian treaty, the enlarged home market consequent on the passing of the treaty would more than make up for any possible loss. The paper towns of Ocean Falls, Port Alice, and Powell River were kept busy and the consumption of butter there as a result of the enlarged paper market more than made up for the importation. It was expected other towns would spring up, Beaver Cove being already in prospect and others likely to follow.

Rates On Coal To Prince Rupert.

Mayor Blatchford of Edmonton announces that at the conference of mayors he will press for low rates on coal from Alberta to Vancouver. It will be Prince Rupert delegate's duty to press for a low rate to Prince Rupert.

Mayor Blatchford says if they can carry Alberta coal to Ontario they can give a better rate than now obtains on the same coal to the Pacific coast. Of course they can't carry coal to Ontario for seven dollars. They cannot carry it to Ontario at all economically, but they can carry coal from the Alberta mines to Prince Rupert and the lower the price the more business should be done.

With the development of business to this coast the railways will operate more economically. The lowest possible rate is required so that we may have all the advantages of our position.

Spend As You Go; Why Save For Children?

In life there are two extremes to be avoided. The man who spends more than he earns will have nothing but trouble ahead of him. Gradually he will become involved until some dishonest act seems to be the only way out of the trouble.

The other extreme is to be so close that no enjoyment is taken. The miserly person saves all the time and the day comes when he leaves it behind and his children spend it. Wealth curses the saver and curses the children to whom it is left.

The medium position is the better one. Every month should see at least some small amount put by in the bank or invested in life insurance or a home or payments on bonds. Never should a person spend every dollar he earns, much less should he live this month on next month's earnings.

Hon. C. A. Dunning Strength To Cabinet.

Hon. Charles A. Dunning, minister of railways and canals, will be a source of strength to the Mackenzie King government. He is comparatively a young man being only forty years of age. He was born in England and came to Saskatchewan about 24 years ago. Very soon he became marked as a leader in his own community and his ability in organizing was shown in the success of his effort to organize the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company in 1911. He served as general manager of that organization for about five years. He was a commissioner to investigate agricultural credits and grain markets, contributed articles to the press at various times on agricultural and related subjects and was for several years vice-president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association. He lives at Regina, is liberal in politics, Presbyterian in religion, optimist, hard worker, clever speaker, strong personality, and with sufficient personal ambition to keep him always climbing. His administration of the Saskatchewan government has been successful and we look to see his administration of the department of railways in the Mackenzie King government equally successful, if the government lasts long enough to give him a chance to make good.

Not Going Back, But Always Forward.

There is no such thing as going backward. We are always moving forward and building on the past. Today we feel that we could not do without things that it never occurred to our fathers to need. We have electric light and power, we have mechanical music, we have internal combustion engines for autos, boats and airplanes, we have modern plumbing including hot water baths at our service, and we have the movies, and yet it is doubtful if we are much happier and if we appreciate the fact that these are all modern achievements popularized within the present generation.

What the next notable achievement will be no one can say. These things usually come on so gradually that we hardly notice them. It is only when we look back fifty years and think what the world was like then that we realize what progress we are making.

EXTRA-TERRITORIAL RIGHTS IN CHINA ARE NOW BEING CONSIDERED

VICTORIA, Feb. 23.—Charles Denby, brother of a former secretary of the navy of the United States, does not think the powers will agree to give up their territorial rights in China just at present. If there was a stable government in China there would be no difficulty but under present conditions there has to be some safeguard for the nationals of the countries interested.

A conference is being held to try to make arrangements for evacuation.

LIQUOR RUNNER GIVEN HEARING

Case of Peschawha Being Tried at Portland Following Saving of American Lives

VICTORIA, Feb. 23.—Seized by the U.S. coastguard cutter Algonquin more than a year ago, the Victoria liquor carrier Peschawha, Captain Pamphlet, of Victoria, and five other members of the ship's crew are at last being given a hearing in Federal Judge Bean's court at Portland, it is learned here. The Peschawha was formerly a unit of the Victoria sealing fleet and was seized under rather peculiar circumstances.

On February 3, 1925, the American schooner Caoba was reported in distress with her crew having taken to the small boats during a terrific storm. The Peschawha picking up the wireless message, ventured inside the twelve-mile limit despite the fact that she had 1,000 cases of liquor on board consigned to Mexico and carried out a search for the crew of the Caoba, eventually rescuing them from their swamped lifeboat, only to be chased by the cutter Algonquin and seized at a point seventeen miles off the coast.

Out on Bail
 The seizure of the vessel, following her heroic effort to save the lives of nine American sailors, was severely criticized in editorials appearing in Portland and Astoria newspapers. Captain Pamphlet and other members of the crew have been out on bail since last February awaiting a trial. The delay in giving the Peschawha crew a trial was also criticized in the United States press.

Friday the jury was empanelled, after which the government made rapid progress in the presentation of its case against the Peschawha.

A peculiar situation existed when Frank Lanergan, attorney for Captain Pamphlet and members of the crew of the Peschawha, and E. M. Morton and John C. McCue, attorneys for the defendants, announced they had no opening statements to make. Other members of the crew on trial are G. H. Rex, G. S. Bridges, Peter Kenney, I. Silversen and Wilford Tickle, who are all Canadians either from Victoria or Vancouver.

Incident Outlined
 Joseph O. Stearns, assistant United States district attorney, in outlining the manner in which the government alleges large cargoes of liquor were landed along the Columbia River, cited the incident of February 3, 1925, when the Peschawha was arrested, Captain Pamphlet and his crew had been riding out a heavy sea and during the storm had jeopardized themselves to pick up a small boat filled with seamen from the wrecked steam schooner Caoba. The coastguard cutter Algonquin was at sea searching for these sailors when the Peschawha was sighted seven miles off shore, according to the attorney's statement. She was overhauled seventeen miles out and returned to Astoria, later being brought to Portland. The vessel had 1,000 cases of bonded liquor in her hold, about one-fifth of a capacity cargo.
At Tillamook Head
 The district attorney mapped the manner in which the government alleges the liquor was landed. The Peschawha, he said, was stationed at a point about twenty miles off Tillamook Head and a yacht named Azalea mainly 300 cases of liquor would take a cargo of approximately.

Before the opening of the games in the Cribbage League last night, the secretary of the league called for one minute's silence in respect to the memory of the late Thomas Jones, a member of the Dry Dock team, whose death occurred suddenly last week.

Peter Bruno sails this afternoon aboard the Camosun for Vancouver on a business trip.

Health and Food

The Need for Hot, Sustaining Beverages—and of Putting Nutriment and Flavour into Food

Bodily warmth comes from within. Woollens and furs do not add warmth—they retain the heat which the body creates from food. To be healthy and warm during the bracing, invigorating winter, keep the bodily fires burning brightly with nourishing, sustaining food—the strength-giving nutriment of prime beef in the form of "OXO" Cubes.

Hot "OXO" Relieves Fatigue of Housework and Shopping

When you are busy about the house, stop for a moment in mid-morning or afternoon for a refreshing cup of "OXO"—a cube to a cup of boiling water. When you go out for a brisk walk or shopping tour, take a cup of "OXO" on your return. It provides just the grateful warmth and nourishment you need to relieve fatigue and revive the energy.

Hot "OXO" Prevents After-Chill

Arctic explorers, trans-Atlantic airmen, mountain climbers and athletes in every sport depend on "OXO" for strength and endurance.

If you enjoy hockey, skating, snowshoeing, skiing, tobogganing, guard against the after-chill which comes when the excitement and exercise is over. Muscles then are relaxed; tiredness creeps on; the whole system is in a condition to "take cold." A hot cup of "OXO" is the best body-warmer and chill preventative. It sustains and stimulates mind and body—rebuilds the wasted tissues—protects against taking cold.

A Sturdy Food for Growing Children

Children "just love" the rich flavour of "OXO" Cubes; and the beef nourishment is a food that helps to build bone, muscle and good red blood. Give the children hot "OXO" when they come in from school or play—an "OXO" Cube to each cup of boiling water or milk.

Nourishing Broth and Jellies for the Invalid

No trouble at all to make a tasty broth or jelly for the sickroom when you have a tin of "OXO" Cubes handy. An "OXO" Cube dissolved in a cup of hot water—and the beef tea is ready. How handy and convenient when something nourishing must be given between meals and at night?

The Strengthening Cup for Old Folks

"OXO" Cubes help to rebuild health and vigour. They present the food and strength-giving elements of prime fresh beef in a form which elderly people can digest and assimilate. A hot cup of "OXO" is a gratifying beverage between meals and at bedtime.

PLATINUM IS BEING STAKED

Excitement in Northwest Territory Where Rush to Fields is on

EDMONTON, Feb. 22.—Word received here from Fort Smith tells of a rush to stake platinum claims in the Northwest Territory. A dispatch to the Bulletin reads:

By dog team, horse sled, and snowshoe all the residents of Fort Smith and Fort Fitzgerald are rushing madly to drive claim stakes in the new platinum, gold and silver field, located fourteen miles up stream on the Slave River about the latter settlement.

With the arrival at Fort Fitzgerald of Wynn, Dunne and other claim stakers from the "outside," the two settlements here suddenly came out of the northern winter's lethargy and broke into frantic action. There was a well founded suspicion that "something was on"; and the arrival of the "outsiders" confirmed it, and now every man that can run, walk or ride is jamming his claim pegs into the red rocks through which the Slave boils its way toward the Arctic.

Machinery on Way

Word has come through by "mocasin-telegraph" that large shipments of machinery are on the way here, with miners and drillers who will work the silver lode, whose exact location has been a puzzle to the north for so long. Those who have some experience in mining know that the same "crack" in the rock structure which passes south of Fitzgerald follows across the barriers and eventually is discovered in northern Ontario. On this seam Cobalt is placed and form the reports of the stakers here there is every indication that the Slave River will prove that the richest silver and platinum find in Canada has come to light.

Seething With Excitement

The settlements are seething with excitement. Practically all the white men are away staking, and yesterday the halfbreeds joined in the race. The rush has all the earmarks of another Klondyke!

GALLOWAY ON B.C. MINING

Former Hazelton Man Addresses Engineering Institute at Victoria

VICTORIA, Feb. 23.—“The Province of British Columbia is rich in minerals. I myself feel certain that there are tremendous mineral resources,” said J. D. Galloway, provincial mineralogist, in addressing the local branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada. “The next decade should bring very much greater results in a mining way than has the preceding years.”

The address of Mr. Galloway was of the most optimistic character and was heard by a full attendance of members. The mineral production of last year in British Columbia, including lode and placer mining, coal and coke and the utilization of building materials of a non-metallic character, represented, he said, $61,500,000. Of this the metals represented $17,000,000, coal and coke $11,500,000 and the remainder, of about $33,000,000, was included in non-metallics and building material.

Of the lode production seventy-two per cent was treated in the Province, fifteen per cent was shipped out of the Province in a crude condition, while the remaining thirteen per cent was partially treated in British Columbia before going out to be smelted or refined. There were 15,400 men employed in mining, which represented a payroll of $25,000,000.

Profit Hard to Determine

The profit made out of the mines was hard to determine, said Mr. Galloway. Dividends paid did not tell the whole story. Reservations set aside and taxes paid to the governments were to be added to the dividends in telling the total amount made in mining. There was, however, about ten per cent of the gross mineral production of the province paid in dividends, which was a very good showing.

These dividends went everywhere. Some of them went to England, some to the United States, and some remained in the province and in other parts of the Dominion of Canada. The importance of the industry, after all, was not represented in the dividends that were paid, but in the wages that were distributed and in the other distributions of money consequent on the industry.

Represents Large Investment

There was an investment in the province in a mining way of $150,000,000. The annual mineral production of the province on a per capita basis of population, made a splendid showing for B.C. In 1924 the last date for which there were complete figures, the per capita value of mining production for the whole of Canada was $24, while for B.C. it was $93. Ontario showed $29 and Quebec $19 per capita. Last year B.C. was very much higher and there was over $100 worth of mineral production for each person in the province.

Prosperity in mining the world over at present was due to a shortage of metals, said Mr. Galloway. For twenty-five years there had been more used than before. Older mining areas were being depleted. British Columbia was a new mining country and more attention was, in consequence, centered here.

Improved transportation, too, was aiding in the production.

Mrs. F. H. Miller, 1843-11th Ave., East, Vancouver, B.C., writes:—

“Five years ago my husband suffered terribly with severe attacks of palpitation of the heart and smothering spells, and two doctors stated that he could not possibly live six months.”

A friend recommended Milburn's H. and N. Pills, with the result that my husband is still enjoying life at the age of 84 years.

He has improved so wonderfully that he can now climb the stairs without having those awful pains in his heart.

SAVE THE POKER HANDS

There had been an active demand for properties held by prospectors, which was an incentive to further prospecting. Referring to non-metallic products, Mr. Galloway said there was a future for the non-metallic deposits that existed in the province. These were lying dormant for the present.

Crude Oil Competition

The competition of crude oil had had a depressing effect for some years upon the coal production. Labor troubles had been settled in the southeastern part of the province which promised to help out considerably in the coal production. Oil also showed signs of going up in price, which would make for better conditions in coal mining. The market for coal was limited in area as compared with metal markets, which were world wide.

The prospector and the miner, he said, lead the way in opening up the province to a large extent. The industry was now in a healthy condition. Last year 61,500,000 was produced, or about twenty-five per cent increase over the year before.

Stewart Camp

Dealing with the various districts as created by the department, Mr. Galloway said number one district had an active year, especially in the Stewart camp. It was the largest year in point of production for that area. The most outstanding work has been that done by the B.C. Silver Company.

The Big Missouri had also made a good record in development. Looking to the future, the development of number one district promised well for the future.

Number two district, with headquarters at Hazelton, gave good promise. There were a great number of small properties working. In the Cariboo the dredge operations of an English company gave satisfactory results. The success of this company would be well measured by its incentive to other companies to go in, he suggested.

Number three, or Kamloops district, had a large gypsum deposit that depended upon railway construction before it would come into economic use. The Wind Pass, a gold property, north of Kamloops, had been taken up by New York capital and was being developed. The Federal Company was working at a point on the P.G.E. The work done had not been very great but it had made a good start.

Old Camps Revived

Number four district had formerly been a large producer but had fallen off considerably. At Copper Mountain there was a good deal of development. When it got into production it would materially affect the output. Beaverdell Camp, with high grade silver ores, had revived in the attention of miners and there ### was something like a boom in the camp.

Number five district, East and West Kootenay, was the most important mining district in the Province. Lode mining in British Columbia started there. This district included the Sullivan mine and the Slovan area. The smelter of the Consolidated Company at Trail was a wonderful one. It shipped out a trainload of metal a day. There were various acids and by-products for use in B.C. made there, in addition to the metal production. Custom milling was done.

The Porcupine Company had invaded the field last year and had done considerable work on its holdings. Various other developments that had been carried along in the district were referred to by the speaker.

FUR STRIKE IS HARD ON PRICE

Prices in Canada Are Affected by 12,000 Employees Quitting

EDMONTON, Feb. 23.—The fur strike in New York city, involving about 12,000 employees and about 1,500 shops, is having its effect in Edmonton, according to a local trader, who states that the demand for coyote and rabbit skins, almost all of which go to the eastern city, has fallen off considerably as a consequence.

These furs are usually utilized for trimmings by the eastern furriers, it is stated. Now because of the trouble in the east the price has suffered a drop of about 20 per cent.

Another factor that is entering to disturb the coyote market is the importation of the Tibetan goat by some of the eastern manufacturers. This latter animal has a fur which takes to dyeing easily and is being used to answer the trimming purposes to which the prairie wolf is largely put.

It is not expected, however, that the coyote will be permanently displaced in this field as the fur of the Tibetan goat is not its equal in quality, although it is cheaper in price.
