NEW CAPITAL FOR DUNWELL
MINING COMPANY ISSUES SHARES AT 50c NOW QUOTED AT $1.35

VICTORIA, Sept. 25.—The shareholders of the Dunwell Mines of Stewart, meeting here yesterday voted to increase the company's capitalization from 700,000 to a million shares of a par value of one dollar each.

The meeting also endorsed a recommendation of the directors that 140,000 shares of the new stock should be offered at fifty cents a share to the present shareholders on a ratio of one new share for every five of old. The 140,000 thus raised will be used to complete the development of the work before shipping ore is undertaken.

Robert Stewart, president of the company, said a year's supply of ore was now blocked out and the mill would be ready to operate in December.

Dunwell shares were quoted on the stock market yesterday at $1.35 to $1.40.

Terrace Fair Shows Excellent Produce of Farms and Gardens and Proves Adaptability of Soil

TERRACE, September 25.—At the sixth annual Fair of the Terrace and District Fall Fair Association, held on Thursday, September 23, in G.W.V.A. Hall this district upheld its reputation of former years in proving its suitability and adaptability to the growing of grains, grasses, field roots and vegetables as well as the more hardy fruits of all kinds.

Weather conditions were splendid, the day being wonderfully bright and sunny, though somewhat cold for this time of year.

Owing to the very early and unusually hard frosts of the past week the display of this year did not nearly equal in size that of the preceding year, the more tender vegetables having all been cut down as well as practically all the flowers in the district. The latter were very much missed as in former years the profusion of flowers adding immensely to the attractiveness of the fair building. There was nevertheless a creditable showing of roses, asters, sweet peas, stocks and pansies as well as a number of attractive looking potted plants.

APPLES GOOD

Fruit undoubtedly reigned supreme throughout the day, exclamations being heard on all sides as to the splendid display and the wonderful coloring of the fruits, especially apples. The idea in the minds of the directors in holding the fair at a later date than usual was that a week or two at this time of year would make a great difference to the coloring and maturity of the fruits and vegetables, which it undoubtedly did. It proved fatal, however, as far as flowers, tender fruits and vegetables were concerned and no doubt will not be risked again.

Grains, vegetables and field roots were of a very high class and well displayed. The great variety of things attempted and brought to a state of maturity was well demonstrated in the three collections on exhibit.

WOMEN'S WORK

The home cooking table was as usual a very appetizing and tempting looking corner of the building and the quality of the display of a very high standard.

In the fancy work section the display, though small, was of a very high order and the judge commended the ladies on the superior quality of every piece on display.

Terrace was shown to be gradually coming to the front as a stock raising district, the number of exhibits being considerably increased over former years. The lack of a judge for this section was a great hindrance but the difficulty was overcome.

LOS ANGELES GETS NOTORIETY.

For some time past Los Angeles has been in the public eye owing to the somewhat erratic movements of Aimee McPherson, the well known Evangelist, who disappeared and was thought to have been drowned, returned and announced she had been kidnapped and now is being tried for detaining the public or some charge based upon that.

Sunset Magazine has an editorial article in regard to it as follows:

Looking at the matter from a high place far above the clamor of hectic newspaper headlines, it really isn't very important whether Aimee McPherson was or was not kidnapped. Irrespective of the evangelist's personal conduct, the fact remains that she made her interpretation of Christianity a living force in the drab daily lives of thousands of her followers. She gave them not only an ethical ideal, but she showed them how to strive for this ideal through works every day in the year. Her temple was more than a church; it was a social centre, a school of religion, an institution around which revolved the daily lives of thousands of people, young and old. Aimee McPherson knew how to arouse the emotions, put them to work and keep them at work. That's the secret of the loyalty her followers are giving her now, a loyalty that will remain unshaken unless Aimee herself admits wrongdoing.

The Rev. R. P. Shuler of Los Angeles professes to be a Christian minister. He preaches the gospel of the Man of Peace who pointedly admonished the Pharisees that only he without sin might cast the first stone. Yet the Rev. "Bob" Shuler could not resist the temptation to take a leading part in the attack on a colleague, to use his church as the place from which to launch a shower of stones against the successful evangelist. Perhaps Aimee McPherson's period of usefulness may come to an end through human weakness. But why rejoice if she should fail?

HOME ECONOMICS IN UNIVERSITY.

The Parent Teacher organizations in British Columbia are busily engaged in trying to put over a campaign to endow a chair in the university for the teaching of "home economics" or the science of housekeeping.

Housewifery is probably the oldest occupation in the world and yet very few young girls know very much about it, and often they learn at the expense of the health of themselves and their husbands. Of recent years, however, the teaching of home economics in the schools has become general in the cities. And it might well be further extended with benefit to the community. If the university can encourage the teaching of economics to the mass of the people it will be a good thing to endow the chair and have the subject taught there.

One complaint at the methods of the home economist seems to be that many of the dishes prepared are not suitable for those who have large families and small incomes. They cost too much and take too much time in preparation. The modern girl will not consent to spend her life in the kitchen. Instead she wants to learn how to serve quick meals and meals that cost little.

Doubtless Prince Rupert people will hear more of this movement through the local Parent Teacher group.

FALL FAIRS INDICATE WHAT CAN BE DONE.

The fall fairs of the interior of British Columbia particularly at Terrace and Smithers are an indication of what the district can do in the way of producing. Unfortunately this year there were no district exhibits at the Prince Rupert Fall Fair, but that undoubtedly will be remedied in 1927. The intention was to make the Fraser Valley exhibit an object lesson which will be somewhat of a guide to others as to how things are done in the south.

Terrace fair this week, while lacking some of the usual features, proved what may be expected from this district when the lands get cleared up and farming is under way on a larger scale.

The work of the pioneer everywhere is difficult and the Central Interior of British Columbia is no exception to the general rule. The clearing of the land, the experimenting to find out what products are most adaptable to the soil and climate, the establishing of markets and the training of the farmers in how to market as well as how to produce are all matters that need much energy, persistence and make necessary the use of brain as well as brawn.

CONDITIONS IN THE FISHERIES

GLUT IN EAST KEEPS MARKET DEPRESSED SAYS BANK OF COMMERCE REPORT

Bad weather hampered sea fishing early in the season, the worst effects being along the Atlantic coast, where for a time the catches were much smaller than in the spring of 1925; in the case of lobster fishing, the results up to May were so disappointing that the Government extended the season says the Bank of Commerce Monthly Letter. With improved weather in the early summer the catches increased quite materially and the total landings to July 31 of lobsters and cod were about equal to those in the corresponding period last year, while the catches of halibut and salmon in the west were less.

There has been a marked reduction in storage stocks of fish during the past year, notably in halibut and salmon, and with no large holdings of the latter on hand fishing on the Pacific coast commenced this year under favorable conditions. On the Atlantic side the situation was quite the reverse; competition from other countries and poor marketing conditions abroad made it difficult to dispose of dried fish except at low prices. There has been some improvement recently in the demand for this product, but the available supplies of old fish, the quantities caught this season off the Canadian and Newfoundland coasts and a 50 per cent. increase in the Norwegian catch keep the market depressed.

In view of the great run of sockeyes last year it was expected that a comparatively small pack of this grade, the best of the British Columbia salmon, would be put up this year but early in the season quite large quantities were found in some of the fishing areas in the northern part of the province; later, however, the results have not been so favorable. It is probable that the pack of the cheaper grades will be large.

FOREIGN SALMON

Turning to salmon fishing in other countries, it is reported that the season was poor on the Columbia River, but that the Alaskan canneries are putting up a very large pack, especially of pinks. The Japanese canners in Siberia, whose products now sell in Great Britain in larger volume than Canadian canned salmon, are said to anticipate a pack of 150,000 cases in excess of 1925.

The effect of the foregoing developments, the lessened purchasing power in Great Britain and the financial position of France caused some concern as to the market for the Canadian pack, but the demand for sockeyes is strong and it is reported that two thirds of the estimated pack of British Columbia pinks has been sold; consequently, the opening prices, which were higher than in 1925, have been maintained.

It is of interest to note that there is now considerable activity on the west coast of Vancouver Island, where the recent establishment of numerous fish reduction plants provide for the utilization of large quantities of pilchards, fish of the herring family. The oil obtained from these fish is in demand as a base in the manufacture of paint, varnish and soap, and for the preparation of some kinds of medicine.

FRENCH MODISTE PICTURE HEROINE

FIFTH SEEN IN "MILLE MODISTE" AT WESTHOLME THEATRE AGAIN TONIGHT

"Mille Modiste" the picture shown here last night and again tonight at the Westholme relates the story of Fifi, a French modiste, designer and model, whose personal charm brought men to her feet and caused women to purchase anything she advocated regardless of the cost. Among the visitors to Mme. Claire's, where Fifi holds forth, are Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Bent of St. Louis. Mrs. Bent came to "see" Paris while her husband came to "do business" and "enjoy" it. When Mrs. Bent succumbs to Fifi's sales talk and sends for her husband to pay the bill, Bent is confident that such a salesgirl would be an invaluable asset to his business, and he buys the establishment and puts Fifi in charge of it, with well earned success.

ROMANCE DEVELOPS

Meanwhile Fifi meets Etienne du Beauvray, French army officer, and a romance develops. However, Etienne visits a fashion revue Fifi and Bent put on for the benefit of out-of-town buyers, and when Fifi brings the show to a close by auctioning off the various garments of her wardrobe, from behind a screen, he misjudges her activity, insults her and leaves. Later Etienne with Marquise de la Mar, a former fiancée, goes to Deauville, intent on being married. Bent and Fifi having started Paris with the charm and elegant wardrobe of a mysterious "Mille Modiste," go to Deauville to "knock their eyes out."

CHALLENGES TO DUEL

Etienne seeing Bent with Fifi becomes enraged at his attentions and challenges him to a duel. Fifi sensing the seriousness of the situation tells Etienne that she has married Bent. Feeling charged at his actions Etienne goes to Bent to apologize and a surprising climax ensues.

"They are a well matched pair." "Indeed!" "Yes, he snores and she's deaf." — Vancouver Province.

NEW PRESIDENT PLAYERS CLUB

J. S. WILSON HEADS ORGANIZATION THIS YEAR WITH ALEX. CONNOR DIRECTOR

That the Prince Rupert Players Club was successful last year and that if the members worked hard this coming season they might easily excel anything done in the past was a statement of President Alex. Connor at the annual meeting of the club in the J.O.D.E. Hall, at which officers were elected for the year and plans were laid for an active season. The officers chosen are: President J. S. Wilson, Vice-president, Miss Etanda Marsh, Sec. Treas., W. Watts, Executive: Mrs. Atack and Arthur Sharp, Director, Alex. Connor, Stage manager, W. H. P. Fleming.

In opening the meeting President Connor gave a resume of the work of last year, commenting on their successes and suggesting what might be done to improve matters. He particularly stressed the fact that understudies must be obtained this year as a guarantee that the plays would be put on no matter what happened to players.

An offer had been received from the Gyro Club, that organization promising to get 100 per cent behind the sale of tickets if the club would put on a performance for them. It was left with the executive to arrange. The first play this winter will probably be put on about the end of November.

Mr. Wilson was not present at the time of his election but he arrived later and thanked the members for the honor and spoke of the advantages of the organization and of his willingness to do what he could to advance its interests.

Following the business meeting there was a dance, the music being provided by Arthur Sharpe, W. H. P. Fleming and Miss Marsh.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Atack and Miss Kollisoff and the party broke up shortly after midnight.

Fortunately a heavy down-pour of rain put the fire out before any damage was done.

Salmon pack this season is large one---D.S.T. and Sunbeam III change hands--- Jolly Mac's cruise Totaling 1,113,000 cases to date as compared with 1,091,000 cases in the entire 1925 season and 1,180,000 cases in the record year 1924, the salmon pack this year in District No. 2 gives promise of being one of the largest on record although it is not anticipated that it will quite reach the record of two years ago. Pinks and chums will account for the increased pack this year, the pack of sockeye being smaller than last. Fishing for chums and cohoes is still in progress and a number of the canneries in the district are still in operation.

The fishing with seines on the mainland is poor but a week ago it was improved on the Queen Charlotte Islands though reports received during the past week indicate a falling off again. In previous years seining for chums was confined to the east coast of Queen Charlotte Islands from Skidegate Inlet south but this year there has been a good deal of chum fishing on the north as well as the west coast. The total pack of all varieties, mainly pinks and chums, on the Queen Charlotte Islands this season will be the largest in the history of the Islands.

Though the most of the cohoes are caught by trollers a good many are being caught at the present time in the chum seines.

Canneries still running up to the end of this week are Kidula, Strathcona and Goose Bay in Rivers Inlet, Bella Coola, Talho and Manitou in the Bella Coola region; Namu, Bella Bella and Butedale along the coast; Claxton, Balmer, Inverness, Sunnyside, Port Edward and Prince Rupert in the Skeena River division; Arrandale and Naas Harbor on the Naas River, and Lagoon Bay, South Bay, Allford Bay, Lockport, Masset and Shannon Bay on the Queen Charlotte Islands. It is expected that some of these plants will be discontinuing operations at the end of this week, there not being enough fish left to go around.

R. G. Johnston, manager of Inverness Cannery, made a trip during the early part of this week on the powerboat 23 to China Hat district where he is reported to have been looking over a new cannery site.

The Prince Rupert Boat House gravel scow has been getting an overhaul this week at the expert hands of Paul Armour, Laurie Lambly, Bob Thomas and others of the staff.

Native boats, which were in for Exhibition Week, have now, with few exceptions, all returned to their various home ports. As usual, local stores benefited considerably through the expenditures of the natives.

D.S.T. IS SOLD

The sale is reported this week of the halibut schooner D.S.T. by Capt. Jack Morrison, secretary of the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union, to Capt. James Parsons, who has been operating the vessel since Capt. Morrison left the sea to take up his duties ashore. The D.S.T. is a three man boat, forty feet long and powered with a 20 h.p. Vivian engine. She was built in Vancouver about five years ago.

The Prince Rupert Boat House tug Pachena, which returned last week from a three months' cannery charter down the coast left early this morning for the Queen Charlotte Islands with T. A.

Kelley, the logging operator, aboard. Later the vessel is to engage in fish packing to this port. Capt. Paul Armour remains in command.

The schooner Alliance No. 1, with Capt. "Gasoline Johnny" Mulhern at the helm, has been on hunting bent since Monday to Refuge Bay, Porcher Island, with Alex. Strachan, the famous laundry manager; Jack Keeffe, the celebrated barber, and Thor Johnson, the noted haberdasher, as the huntsmen, cook janitor, etc., in turn. It is expected the party will have captured all the deer on Porcher Island or scared them all away by the time they return home at the end of this week.

On her way out to the Queen Charlotte Islands on her fish packing duties, the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co.'s good ship Chief Zibassa, Capt. Fred Walters, ran full speed on Kinahan Island last Monday. The vessel floated off in about three hours' time on the rising tide and continued to the Islands, coming back with a cargo of chums. The vessel was then patched up temporarily so as to continue work. The permanent job it is expected will have to include the putting on of a new keel, etc.

The halibut schooner Toodie, recently purchased from Art Oswald by James Leask, left port for the grounds this week with a new crew which includes Teddy Hines and Jens Larsen as well as Capt. Leask.

Powerboat Viner, Capt. Jimmy Thomason, has completed her work of packing salmon from the Skeena River and painting and minor repairs are now in progress at the dry dock before the vessel leaves for Vancouver Island where she will be engaged for the next couple of months in packing chums. Capt. Jimmy will be back in port in time to help decorate the Christmas tree.

Powerboat Oshio, owned by the Suga interests, has returned to port from Lowe Inlet where she was on a cannery charter.

SUNBEAM III CHANGES HANDS
Dr. W. T. Kergin has sold his pleasure cruiser Sunbeam III, to Dr. R. G. Large who, after he has taken a post graduate course in Toronto and Cleveland, will arrive from Hazelton to become superintendent of the Port Simpson General Hospital. The Sunbeam III, which has always been considered one of the finest gasoline yachts in the harbor, was built at the Prince Rupert dry dock about five years ago for H. J. F. Turney, the then superintendent of the yard, who sold it to Dr. Kergin. The vessel, which is commodious and well fitted out, is 38 feet in length and is powered with a 20 h.p. Kermath engine.

Whether N. M. McLeod has gone to Ireland to bring his wife home or whether he has just been up at Seal Cove laying the corner stone for his new shipyard is not known but his absence from the Cow Bay establishment has been vividly noticed. Mac is always good for a squib or two but, if the Waterfront Whiffs depended on him entirely on Thursday afternoons, the last week or two the Daily News would sure have gone out of business.

Some rather extensive alterations are under way at Ward Ways. A new grid is being put in as well as a small wharf to accommodate an extension of the shop. The work is being done by John Currie & Son.

The girls have quit boat riding this season.
Why?
Bill Watt has put away Irene for the winter.

JOLLY MAC'S CRUISE
An interesting account of the cruise up the coast this summer of the Jolly Mac is published in Vancouver papers as follows:
Following a fleet cruise of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club in the latter part of the summer, Rear-Commodore W. J. Butt, in his 60-foot power cruiser Jolly Mac, went on an extended trip to northern British Columbia waters for the balance of a seven weeks' holiday.

In addition to Mr. Butt's own family, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Schneck of Milwaukee, were members of the party which cruised as far as Stewart and Hyder, calling at Savary Island, Ocean Falls, Prince Rupert, Anyox, and other active northern ports, and also visited many secluded coves.

Besides following the well chartered steamer course up the inside passage from Vancouver to Prince Rupert and Stewart, the Jolly Mac made a number of side trips up long inlets that extend far back into the heart of the mountain ranges, and invite the cruising yachtsmen to explore their mysteries.

From Prudeaux Haven, where the last large gathering of the fleet cruise took place, Jolly Mac came back as far as Powell River for gasoline and supplies, and then turned her bow northward eating up the long distances at 10 knots or better. Most of the run was in sheltered waters, but at Queen Charlotte Sound they had a real taste of the open Pacific with a rising westerly gale that gave them a good dusting before they reached shelter among the islands again.

The party paid a visit to the fine Indian totem poles at Alert Bay where grotesque figures of eagles, whales, bears and other creatures have been skillfully carved out of the huge trunks of cedar trees.

Further up the coast the hot springs of Dean Channel were enjoyed, there being a rough bathhouse there.

There was a lot of wet weather after Jolly Mac parted with the other yachts, but they were fortunate in having nearly a week of fine weather while at Prince Rupert where the party enjoyed their stay, being made very welcome by the Prince Rupert Yacht Club, finding good fun bathing in the warm waters of the salt lagoon across the harbor from the city. Mr. Butt says the members of the Prince Rupert Yacht Club use their boats a lot for afternoon trips as well as longer cruises, often being out from 4 to 7 o'clock in the afternoon for short runs around the harbor. They were glad to find Capt. Saunders in charge of the Marine and Fishery Department station on Digby Island, that gentleman having made a trip down to Vancouver last year in his little cruiser Olive.

A fine day rewarded the Jolly Mac's all at Anyox, and they also went up Fortland Canal and visited Stewart, the most northerly point reached.

On the return voyage Mr. Butt had an interesting experience finding his way through Jackson Passage, an uncharted channel which cuts off a large part of the exposed run through Milbank Sound. The eastern end of the passage was nearly closed by a reef, leaving only a twenty-foot passage through which the Jolly Mac was safely navigated. The waters in this vicinity were full of reefs, often sticking out of water in jagged points, and the power dynamo was found very useful for going ahead to explore the channel. On the south side of Milbank Sound Mr. Butt found a charming anchorage at Rait Cove.

Coming nearer home the Jolly Mac paid a visit to Princess Louise Inlet, that delightfully secluded off-shoot of Jervis Inlet whose entrance is guarded by a roaring rapid that can only be navigated with a fair tide or at times of slack water. Inside, the deep quiet waters are surrounded by towering mountain walls with countless waterfalls streaming down their sides. The Jolly Mac's party saw it to particularly good advantage as the weather cleared up after heavy rain had swelled the streams and waterfalls.

The Jolly Mac returned to Vancouver after having covered 2,500 miles of the inside passages, which are so varied and numerous that no one has yet been able to exhaust their extensive ramifications.

Halibut landings at the port for the last week (Saturday to Friday inclusive) totalled 392,600 pounds of which American vessels contributed 410,500 pounds and Canadian boats, 182,100 pounds. This brings the total landings for the season to date to 21,332,600 pounds—15,493,800 pounds American and 5,838,800 Canadian. Prices during the week were at a high level with the peak on Monday for American fish when 18c and 10c was paid and for Canadian on Saturday when 17.4c and 10c was bid. Lowest prices were yesterday when American fish went down to 14c and 8c and Canadian to 14.1c and 8c. On the whole, bids for Canadian fish have compared well with those for American.

Boats landing during the week were as follows:

WOMEN VALUED AS ANIMALS

BEASTS OF BURDEN AND INSTRUMENT OF LABOR IS STANDING OF FEMALES

MELILLA, Sept. 25.—Along the entire littoral of north-western Africa women are considered by the natives as of much less value than beasts of burden. The men, who never think of working, regard the woman as an instrument of labor which should be utilized to its utmost capacity and then scrapped to be replaced by newer tools. Once beyond work, the woman is abandoned to exist as well as she can on rejected food in the same way as a dog.

An Arab along these shores when he goes a-courting visits the places on the riverside where the womenfolk do their laundry work. Without uttering a word he selects the girl whom he considers will best suit his purpose. He continues watching her for several days to see how she labors. Then he follows her to her father's tent, where he enters and declares his passion in flowery language to the fond parent, who begins bargaining and terminates with making a contract.

This contains the price at which the girl is to be handed over, and an advance must be made. The girl then belongs to her suitor. Love-making is then at an end. The girl begins her labors for her new lord, often under the whip. This continues throughout her young life and when she is no longer able to do the hard tasks, is cast aside for a new and younger bride, who also treats her as a slave.
