PREMIER OLIVER BASES HIS PEACE RIVER CLAIMS ONLY ON MORAL RIGHT

Premier Oliver Relies on Moral Right of B.C. for a Claim on Ottawa

Tells Vancouver Canadian Club experience of Province as member of Confederation not fully satisfactory

VANCOUVER, Feb. 6.—While maintaining the principle that confederation was right, British Columbia's experience as a whole had "not been fully satisfactory," Premier Oliver told a meeting of the Canadian Club here last night.

The Premier disclosed some of the forgotten incidents of the history of the province and declared that one of them was a remarkable piece of legislation which could not have been understood by members of the Legislature. The terms of the union by which the province entered confederation had been altered and the Dominion gained more than 9,000,000 acres of land than was contemplated by the terms of union in 1871.

These facts, the Premier intimated, would be the basis of appeal made to Ottawa for the return of the Peace River Block. He was confident that while British Columbia, through enactment of legislation, which he stated was not understood in 1883, had abrogated her legal rights, she had the best possible case from a moral standpoint.

GEORGE SMITH IS NOT GUILTY

Jury Finds That he Did Not Steal Large Sum When Minister of Education

EDMONTON, Feb. 6.—George Smith, formerly minister of education, was found not guilty by a jury last night of the theft of $5,820 from the province of Alberta. The trial was the outcome of a Royal Commission investigation conducted by Mr. Justice Walsh into charges made by Louis Scott into the printing methods of the former Liberal government.

The charges were made on the eve of the Federal election when it was alleged the sum of $5,820 had been paid to the Esdale Press Ltd. by means of "faked invoices" for printing which they had never done and that the money went to George Smith.

Loan to City Made by Mrs. Large of Late Husband's Indian Curios

One of the finest collection of Indian curios made in this part of Canada was added to the museum yesterday, when Dr. R. J. It is guaranteed by Mrs. Large that the collection shall remain here at least a year.

The work of unpacking was done yesterday afternoon in the Bank of Commerce building by Dr. Large assisted by R. L. McIntosh and W. E. Gollison, both members of the museum board. The curios have just arrived here from Toronto where they have been kept in the museum for the past year or two. They include models of canoes and other Indian implements; a fine collection of totems in slates and wood, ancient utensils, masks, implements of war and of the chase, basketwork, bone carvings and numerous other articles. The whole collection comprises about 350 pieces.

This afternoon the work of classifying and cataloging the collection is going on and the exhibit may be seen at any time during banking hours.

DROWNED MAN ANYOX MINER?

It is believed by the provincial police that the body which was discovered across the harbor on Thursday afternoon may be that of Anthony Kelly, an Anyox miner. This belief is held through the fact that Kelly was in the city some six or seven weeks ago and the Bayview Hotel reports that his baggage is still there though he has not been seen since. Nothing of the body was found yesterday afternoon when it was suspected to reveal identity. In the clothes was found a tobacco pouch and a few minor articles but no papers or money.

A coroner's jury consisting of Earl Barrie, foreman, J. H. Thompson, Alex. Mackenzie, W. Rance, M. McArthur and E. Large yesterday afternoon viewed the remains and adjourned indefinitely pending the making of a police report. The body will be interred by the B.C. Undertakers on Monday.

Step By Step The West Must Win.

When an inequality has been established by custom it is extremely difficult to get it evened up. That is the situation in regard to the transportation rates in the west. Owing to the difficulties of building the railway through the Kicking Horse Pass, the G.P.R. rates to the Pacific coast were set at a high figure and once established it was difficult to make a change. Happily there have been men in charge of affairs who had the two necessary qualities, the courage of their convictions and the ability to carry them through. Much has already been gained. A measure of justice has been granted but there is still a good way to go. The west may have to speak yet louder and more incisively in order to gain her point. She must win in the end, but the question is how long the change will be delayed?

Farmers Interested In Coast Towns.

The farmers are all interested in getting the lowest possible grain rates through to the Pacific or Atlantic coasts and the people here are interested because they believe they have a right to an equal break with ports in the east. People along the railroad are interested because the more rapidly the coast towns develop the sooner they will have a steady market for their produce, and there will be employment for railway shops and round houses, and employees to man the trains.

Australian Treaty And Produce Imports.

Attempts will be made by the opposition to the present government to show that the operation of the Australian treaty will work a hardship on Canadian farmers. That is the weak spot in our democratic system of government. Men who are perfectly just in their business dealing will not hesitate to take an unfair advantage of an opposing party.

There have been importations of Australian produce every year, whenever there was sufficient to make exporting worth while from Australia and when the prices here were high enough to warrant it. Butter has come here at various times and so has mutton and other commodities. Without the treaty many of the articles might likely have come here, but there is no doubt the treaty tends to encourage the imports from that country. Just now a shipment of butter has arrived and there is likely to be a roar of protest from the buttermaking districts of Canada.

PRINCE RUPERT AS GRAIN PORT

Letters Urging Campaign of Publicity For Prairies Read to Board of Trade

Two letters from prairie points advocating the use of newspaper space for advertising the Prince Rupert elevator were read at the monthly meeting of the Board of Trade last night, President Hanson in the chair. One of these was from H. St. Lee, formerly manager of the Bank of Montreal here, who sent a clipping from a Calgary paper of a Vancouver advertisement. Mr. Lee expressed sympathy with Prince Rupert in her efforts to secure a share of the grain trade. He said in part:

"Alberta, as you are probably aware, is divided into two sections—Southern Alberta with Calgary as the centre and Northern Alberta with Edmonton as its centre. The dividing line is about the fifty-second parallel. Owing to the direct connection between Calgary and Vancouver I do not think Prince Rupert could expect very much grain traffic from Southern Alberta but I am of the opinion she should be able to obtain considerable from the northern section of the province. However, on account of the other line from Edmonton to Vancouver she probably will have to make a strenuous fight. If the new 'Garnet Wheat' does what is claimed for it the northern boundary of the wheat fields will be pushed many miles to the north and this will help Prince Rupert. This of course will take time to develop.

"There is another point which should be kept in mind, namely, the dividing point between the east bound and the west bound shipments. During the winter months this line will likely be a movable one for the reason that shippers will in a great many cases prefer to move their wheat to market rather than keep it for the opening of lake navigation. In doing this they will save storage and interest, which will mean that they can afford to pay a little more freight and in that way that dividing line will be moved east a certain number of miles during the months that navigation is closed on the lakes."

From Edmonton

The other letter from Charles E. Campbell, publisher of the Edmonton Bulletin, follows:

"Many thanks for your letter of the 9th inst drawing our attention to the fact that we have not been giving Prince Rupert adequate publicity. Instructions have been given the editorial corps to refer to Prince Rupert in future when dealing with the western grain route.

"You will note, however, that the Vancouver Harbor Commissioners are carrying large display advertisements in the Alberta newspapers showing the wheat premiums quoted on the Vancouver Grain Exchange, and also the saving in freight. It would appear to the writer that you will be handicapped in meeting Vancouver competition unless you can give some publicity as to the advantages in shipping to Prince Rupert and also as to what a man would get for his grain when he shipped it there, otherwise only elevator companies who buy grain will be able to use your port.

"Wishing you and your board every success in establishing Prince Rupert as one of Canada's world ports."

AUDIT OF UTILITIES

Editor Daily News.

From the newspaper report of the 3rd inst. it appears that a resolution was adopted by the City Council at its last meeting, calling upon the Utilities Committee to cause a special audit to be made concerning the City utilities since their inception up to the present time to ascertain their standing in relation to General Fund.

With your permission, Mr. Editor, I desire to point out to our rate payers that such an audit was conducted as far as the Light Department was concerned during 1922, and will be found fully reported in the 1922 annual report of the City, and if the Mayor and Aldermen would take the time to digest said report, I believe they would find that it should not be necessary at this time to spend money on a special audit.

The 1922 audit disclosed that under certain Bylaws considerable over-expenditures had been made from time to time, and that such over-expenditures had been financed by General Fund, or by the ratepayers. As at December 31, 1921, it showed that a balance of $41,832.10 was due General Fund under Bylaw 29, and it was decided to repay this amount out of Light revenue at the rate of $1,800 per year. This done the balance still due as at December 31, 1925, is $22,632.10, which amount at the same rate will be liquidated in 1930.

It was further shown that under Bylaw 207 the amount similarly due was $12,368.54, to be repaid at the rate of $3,522 per year. This item is due to be liquidated in the 1925 report.

About eight months' time was devoted to this audit in 1922, and in my opinion there is no justification for at this time spending money on this subject.

It is rumored that on the last Light Extension Bylaw to provide connection and service to the elevator there is likely to be a considerable over-expenditure, which will have to be taken care of no doubt in a similar way.

While charges for interest and redemption of outstanding Bonds are being provided for out of the revenue, in view of these over-expenditures incurred, which had to be repaid to General Fund, no provision has so far been made for replacement of plant, and whenever this becomes a necessity the ratepayers will gain be called upon to shoulder such expenditures. And this is most likely to take place ever before the present bond issues are retired.

Yours very truly,
JOHN DYBBHAVN.

SMITHERS VETERANS ELECT OFFICERS FOR SEASON AT MEETING

Colonel R. L. Gale Chosen to Head Organization With J. Finnigan as Next in Command

SMITHERS, Feb. 6.—The annual meeting of the Great War Veterans Association was held in their club rooms on Wednesday evening with a good turnout of members to hear the reports of the past year and to elect officers.

The reports of President Gale and the secretary showed a most successful year's operation from every point of view. The membership had been increased until it numbered now nearly 160 and finances showed a nice balance on the right side and good progress had been made during the year towards liquidating the building debt.

The outstanding event of the year was the visit of Lord Byng, who was tendered a reception at the club and who was high in his praise of the local organization and its comfortable quarters.

In the election of officers the names submitted at the nominations a few weeks ago were balloted on and resulted in the following selections:

President—Col. R. L. Gale.
Vice-president—Wm. J. Finnigan.
2nd Vice-president—Jas. A. Macdonald.
Executive—Messrs. Fred Walton, J. H. Byrne and J. Beasley.

At the first meeting of the executive, two more members will be chosen, also a secretary-treasurer.

Wm. J. Finnigan is steward and F. A. Dickson assistant steward.

The local ice harvest started this week with the hauling of ice from Seymour Lake. This supply is for the local merchants and dairymen, and although the quality is not to be compared with the ice of other years, the blocks have a thickness of from 12 to 14 inches.

The Hazelton Rod and Gun Club, in order to protect spawning fish, has requested the authorities to extend the opening of the close season for trout from April 30 to June 30 in the district from Kitwanga to Moricetown, 50 miles north of the Canadian National Railways and 25 miles south.

HOCKEY AT SMITHERS

Second Game of Season Played Between C.N.R. and Town Teams

SMITHERS, Feb. 6.—The second hockey match of the season was played at the local rink on Monday evening. The game was between a team representing the C.N.R. and one selected from other players representing the town. Members of the regular senior team were all on the ice and the large crowd of fans that turned out were treated to a fast and thrilling exhibition of the popular winter pastime.

The game was refereed by L. B. Warner who was called upon on several occasions to send players to the fence who were using a little too much energy of the rule of the game. The score 9-4 is not an indication of the play but rather shows that combination play is an important factor in games of sport and is most productive of results. By the use of a number of nice combination plays during the game the railway team ran their score up to nine as against one for the town team.

The players were: C.N.R.—S. Robinson, goal; J. Graham Sr. and N. Kilpatrick, defense; E. Dawson, centre; J. Silver, left; L. Raabe, right; and G. Roberts and R. Gill, spares.

WATERFRONT WHIFFS

Intensified preparations for halibut fishing-- first boats leaving--fine addition to Bradbury & Yelf fleet--trapping activities continue

With the halibut fishing season reopening a week from next Monday, activities along the waterfront in preparation for the resumption of the industry have now become intensified. The schooners are coming out of the dry dock and other places where they have been moored during the past three months and, in many cases, everything is in readiness for the boats to clear. Supply houses, machine shops and other places where service is given the halibut fleet report business in full swing again. Though members of the management of some of the fish houses have not yet returned from vacations, the plants are now ready to start business on a moment's notice.

The first halibut schooner which spent the winter in this port to leave in readiness for the opening of the fishing was the American vessel Tahoma, Capt. W. Pierce, which pulled out on Wednesday for Ketchikan where she is to have some minor repairs made before proceeding to the banks. The Canadian schooner Sea Maid, Capt. Henry Doreen, is leaving today or tomorrow for a westward port from which to "jump off." By a week from today it is expected that pretty well all the boats will have put out. By two weeks from today it is possible that the first 1926 halibut may have been landed.

The fishermen themselves are expecting better market conditions to prevail this year, especially at the first of the season. There is not nearly so much cold storage halibut on hand now as there was at this time last year and this condition should tend to make prices better.

Bradbury & Yelf are about to have built in Vancouver a new seine boat and packer which will be the finest craft of this progressive local fishing concern's fleet. Don Yelf, who arrived this week from Vancouver, returned south this morning to supervise the construction of the vessel.

The new boat will be 65 feet long and will have a 90 horse power Petters semi-diesel engine. It will cost about $16,000 and will be used chiefly in salmon packing. The expectation is to have it ready for operation out of this port by the month of June.

Jack Bradbury will remain here in charge of the company's local operations which will start soon. About the middle of next week the boats Tip Top and Bethune and the herring outfit will leave for Captain's Cove where headquarters will be established for catching and impounding live bait. The company's other boat, Reveille, will engage again in halibut fishing and will clear as soon as the season opens in command of Capt. "Long Al" Woie.

According to company officials it has not yet been definitely decided whether or not the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. will operate its Tucks Inlet salmon cannery this season.

A Rough Trip

Provincial police officers are said to be still nursing sore arms sustained through their efforts to "hang on" when they crossed last week to the Queen Charlotte Islands aboard the launch Pachena which at that time rode safely through one of the liveliest gales that she was ever called upon to weather.

Leaving here at 11.40 on Tuesday night with Capt. Paul Armour at the helm and Jack Mulhern in the engine room, the Pachena waded right into the wild southeaster that the rest of the coast was so concerned about and, passing the big tugs Cape Scott and Pacific Monarch, both of which were sheltered in the lee of Banks Island, made Lockport at 7 o'clock Wednesday after a voyage across Beate Straits which, as far as the roughness of the sea is concerned, seems to have beggared all description. In fact the police officers have been talking about it ever since and if any one wants to hear a real epic description he should go and hear Inspector Bill Spiller tell about it. Suffice it to say that everything loose upon the decks of the Pachena is now floating somewhere in the Straits and a lot of things that weren't loose before now are. Even at Lockport the gale was so strong and the seas so mountainous that for several keeping a pretty close watch on that part of the waterfront these days. The custom is for the buyers to make informal bids after inspecting the pelts but a wise buyer now and then gets a lot without competition by heading the others off. Trapping will continue for some time yet and, in a goodly number of cases, it has been proving lucrative this winter for both halibut fishermen and salmon trollers.

Jim Lee figured in a little excitement on the other side of the Atlantic last Saturday when the Cunard liner Carmania, on which he was embarking from Liverpool for home, had a collision with the Holt liner Sarpedon. The bows of the latter vessel caught the Carmania amidships and gave Jim and the other less important personages on that vessel a real jolt to start out with. Having Jim on board, the Carmania of course had to proceed on her voyage across the Atlantic although the Sarpedon was held for examination. Jim landed from the Carmania at Boston this week-end and is expected home in about two weeks' time.

A new pilot house aboard John Wahlgreen's salmon troller Ymermel with critical gaze this week when the vessel came in from Jap Inlet for lumber and supplies. The complaint with regard to John's pilot house is that it is too high and the bright suggestion is made that, if it cannot be cut down, the Ymer should be taken out into one of these southeasters so that the unnecessary height may be swept off with despatch.

A 22 foot boat is being built at Vanarsdol for the Vanarsdol Lumber and Shingle Co. It will have a 4 h.p. Vivian engine and will be used for the purposes of the mill on the Skeena River. The engine was ordered locally this week.

The halibut boat Cape Swair, Captain Red Pierce, returned this week from Campania Island where it has been engaged in trapping and is now being put in readiness to hit the high spots as soon as the halibut season opens.

The salmon troller St. Eloi, Capt. Arne Barsstad, was at the Akerberg-Thomson machine shop this week having a new anchor winch installed.

Capt. Axel Olsen has been getting small repairs made this week on his halibut schooner, Rose Spit.

Rupert Marine Products Co.'s power boat M.T.3., Capt. Reg. Green, made two trips to Georgetown this week. On Monday the vessel brought in two scowloads of lumber and on Wednesday went out again with two empties returning early Thursday morning with a scow containing build-hours it was impossible to effect a mooring. However, all's well that end's well. The business of the officers at Lockport was transacted and the intrepid custodians of the law returned safely home about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon after a 15-hour return trip across the straits which was as smooth as the trip going over was rough. Perhaps the most conclusive evidence of the fact that it was a rough trip really was that the officers admitted that all hands on board including themselves had "mal-de-mer" and a good dose of it too. That is something that few full grown men, much less policemen, will admit. It might be observed, however, that the toughly Capt. Paul Armour is not admitting it yet.

On Tuesday the Pachena took the Vancouver Dredging & Salvage Co.'s old derrick scow and the Prince Rupert Boat House wrecking scow to be beached for the remainder of the winter on Digby Island.

A small portable sawmill is being established by the Hedlands at Ona River on Porcher Island. Motive power for the mill will be supplied by a 50 h.p. Fairbanks Morse engine which has been purchased from Capt. Alfred Swanson.

The Port Simpson boat Pacholoco, Capt. William Dudoward, was in port during the week for freight.

The Fur Business

It is estimated that anywhere from $3,000 to $5,000 worth of furs are being landed weekly just now by the trappers at the Cow Bay floats. This week the fur-landing may have been a little above the average for on Monday some $2,000 worth of pelts changed hands, the buys from two boats having aggregated $1,600. Mink, beaver and otter are the predominating varieties. This accounts for the fact that such personages as Bill Gold-bloom, Pat Phillipson and Joe Rogers or their deputies are

An Infallible Guard

HEIMDAL, according to Celtic mythology, was the perfect sentinel. His hearing was so acute that he could hear the wool growing on a sheep's back His eyesight was so keen he could see everything that happened even though it occurred while he slept.

Advertising, if you use it properly, is an infallible sentinel for you. It guards you against fraud and inferiority. It protects you against making unwise and unsatisfactory purchases.

Merchants and manufacturers who advertise must give full value because they have good names to protect. The makers of well-known products and the stores that sell these products often value the names at millions of dollars. They cannot afford to jeopardize the worth of these names by selling any but good goods of full measure and fair price.

So, you can bank on this. Advertised goods must be as advertised. That is why it pays to deal with advertisers and to buy advertised products.

Advertising is your guard

PUBLICITY FOR CITY PLANNED

Board of Trade Committees Have Matter in Hand Following Meeting Last Night

GRAIN AND MINING

Suggestion is Made that Newspaper Advertising Would be Better than Booklet

The Board of Trade last night instructed the publicity committee to co-operate with the Grain Committee and the city council in a scheme of publicity for this year and to report back to a future meeting of the Board or the executive.

The matter was introduced when H. F. Pullen, on behalf of the publicity committee, recommended that the board try to co-operate with the city in preparing a booklet as was done last year, but that this time the scheme be to feature Prince Rupert as a grain port. He said he had consulted with John Dybbavn, chairman of the joint committee last year, and he was strongly in favor of the plan. It was thought that a booklet of sixteen pages and cover instead of twenty as last year, would answer the requirements and this would cost, it was estimated, $550 for five thousand copies. Last year the cost was $627.

In Newspapers

Another scheme suggested by the publicity committee was that a newspaper advertising campaign be carried on in Alberta and Saskatchewan in conjunction with the grain committee and that this be started at once. Mr. Pullen asked the board to authorize a sum not exceeding $400 as a beginning.

Colonel J. W. Nicholls was rather sceptical of the benefits received from the publication of a booklet and advocated rather the spending of the money in newspaper advertising. He said that his firm had discarded booklet advertising a long time ago as not bringing results. They found the other kind brought direct returns.

G. W. Nickerson urged that wheat and mining be featured in any scheme that was planned. He thought the board should concentrate on those two subjects.

PLENTY LAND FOR SETTLER

Twenty-five Million Acres Within Reach of Railways Yet Available, Says Report

OTTAWA, Feb. 6.—That agricultural opportunity always exists in Canada was the keynote of the report of the Land Settlement Committee presented at the eighteenth annual meeting of the Association of Dominion Land Surveyors. A reliable estimate places the amount of agricultural land available for settlement in Western Canada within fifteen miles of the railway at 25,000,000 acres. This could provide homes for 300,000 new colonists. In spite of the fact that the free homestead lands have been combed over many times and that a lot of travel is now required to pick out a good quarter-section there were 3,813 entries and in addition 719 soldier grants during the past fiscal year and in the first six months of the present year 1,593 homesteads were taken up and 238 soldier grants.

Home-steading is therefore not dead and there are many good individual quarter-sections scattered throughout the remaining Crown lands. The land classification maps being published by the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior are of very great service in providing information on lands suitable for settlement as attested by land settlement agents.

Dealing with the subject of immigration the committee report says that due to existing conditions in Europe there are practically no immigrants to be had with capital and that the problem in land settlement today is to find out how to handle people without means as these are all that are to be obtained in any numbers.

Man is a creature who lives not on bread alone, but principally by catchwords.—R. L. Stevenson.
