Governor-General 'Touched' by Civic Presentations

By ERIC SANDERSON

You have just made me a superb present for which I am deeply grateful. It will be one of my most treasured gifts."

Canada's Governor-General, the Right Honourable Massey yesterday touched the hearts of the citizens of Prince Rupert when he was presented to him by the Whalen family as a memento of their love for the Indian west coast and this gift which will always be a source of pleasure on my part.

After the public reception in the drill hall, where hundreds of children and their parents went to see His Excellency, the vice-regal party paid an unofficial visit to the Civic Centre where Mr. Massey inspected the art exhibit and was taken on a tour of the building.

The Governor-General's main address followed a short speech to chiefs and chief counsellors representing the entire Skeena Agency in which he thanked the natives for gifts which they had presented.

F. E. Anfield, Indian superintendent, first read a speech of loyalty and welcome, then introduced the signatories of the address.

ON HOSPITAL NEEDS

Martin Seeks 'Grass Roots' Information

VICTORIA (CP)—Health Minister Eric Martin plans a fact-finding tour of central and northern B.C. in early November in an effort to obtain grass-roots information of people's hospital insurance wants.

It was learned Wednesday that government plans to bring delinquents to the scheme through suspension of arrears has not to date had a desired effect and the minister will go among the people to get reasons first hand.

The WEATHERMAN Says:

Synopsis

Nearly one half inch of rain fell on the north coast last night as another Pacific storm moved through that area. On the south coast many places reported traces of precipitation as a light drizzle fell from the low cloud which covered the entire region.

The interior of the province remained clear through the night.

Rain from the disturbance will spread to the northern interior this afternoon and to the south coast tonight. There will be showers in the southern interior tomorrow.

A second storm which will move into the Gulf of Alaska tomorrow will bring more rain and strong winds to the north coast on Friday.

Forecast
Cloudy with showers today. Cloudy Friday with rain beginning about noon. Not much change in temperature. Winds westerly 20 this afternoon, light tonight and southeast 25 tomorrow. Low tonight and high tomorrow at Port Hardy and Sandspit, 46 and 56; Prince Rupert, 48 and 56.

UN Worker Fired For Not Talking

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie yesterday fired one American UN employee who refused to answer questions of the United States Senate Committee, suspended another and put 10 on special leave pending further investigation.

Committal Ordered on Murder Count

James Dudoward, 25-year-old Port Simpson native, left here today under escort for Oakalla jail to await trial on a charge of murdering Wilfred White here last Sept. 5.

Dudoward was committed for trial by Magistrate W. D. Vance, bringing to conclusion a lengthy preliminary hearing at which thousands of words of evidence were taken.

Defence counsel Doug Hogarth in an eloquent address requested the magistrate to reduce the charge from murder to manslaughter but his plea was rejected and Dudoward was ordered to stand trial in a higher court, presumably the next assizes.

White, 49, died in Prince Rupert General Hospital a few hours after he was found with a badly gashed face and neck aboard the fishboat Laura Louise on the afternoon of Sept. 5.

Thomas W. Brown, QC, appeared for the crown.

Evidence disclosed the two men were involved in a fight aboard the boat during a drinking party.

Red Chinese Make Gain on Korean Hill

WEST SECTOR, Korea (CP)—Chinese Communist infantry attacking under heavy artillery cover nipped off the forward section of Little Gibraltar, a massive Korean hill position.

Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer, reported there was a lull at dusk, but then Chinese Reds launched a heavy assault under cover of more artillery.

Censorship prohibited giving exact position of Little Gibraltar. It has been identified however for many months with an area defended by the 1st Communist Division of which the 25th Canadian Brigade is a part.

First reports from the battle ground said a wave of Chinese overran one United Nations platoon position.

Russian Censor Regards Bible 'Undemocratic' Church Workers Say

VIENNA (Reuters)—The Russian censor in the Vienna radio station regards the Bible as "undemocratic," church workers complained today.

They said the manuscript for a special broadcast celebrating the 20th year of Cardinal Theodor Innitzer as a bishop was originally forbidden because it was not in keeping with "democratic" ideas.

But the censor compromised, they said, by cutting out chunks from the script, including a quotation from Genesis about the flight from the Garden of Eden, some quotations from the Book of Job and some general references to the morality of man after the fall.

Living Costs Up But Old Index Shows 1.1 Decline

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's new cost of living yardstick the consumer price index which went into operation today climbed one-tenth of a point during August to 116.1 from 116.0, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

This created a paradox in measuring living costs through price changes, for the old cost of living index, which the new index replaces, actually reported a 1.1 decline during August to 186.5 from 187.6.

The new index is the result of two years of study and revision in measuring price changes based on 1949 prices equaling 100. The old index was an operation for more than 12 years, based on 1935-39 prices equaling 100.

Herbert Marshall, Dominion statistician, told a press conference that indices will be published simultaneously for the next six months in order that industry and labor may make adjustments in labor contracts carrying elevator clauses.

Celgar Gets Green Light For Arrow Lakes Project

VICTORIA (CP)—Proposed establishment of the $65,000,000 integrated forest industry in the Arrow Lakes region by Celgar Development Co. Ltd. Wednesday was given the green light by the B.C. government.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Forest Minister Robert E. Somers in a joint statement said the appeal against granting the 960,000-acre forest management licence had been disallowed.

The government decision gives Celgar company the go-ahead signal to start work on its development which is designed to produce lumber, sulphite pulp, newsprint and dissolving pulp used in the manufacture of textiles, plastics and explosives.

Further Drilling to Make Five Trillion Feet Reserve

VANCOUVER (CP)—Gas reserves in the Peace River area now are greatly in excess of the 20-year need of the Pacific northwest, George L. McMahon, president of Pacific Petroleum Ltd., said Wednesday in an address here.

He spoke at a joint luncheon of the B.C. Board of Trade and the B.C. section of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

Mr. McMahon said: "The Peace River reserve may be doubled in the near future to five trillion feet by further drilling. This would assure almost 50 years' supply."

Natural gas from Peace River to the coast can be built by Christmas, 1953, if final approval is obtained from the United States.

He said application of approval now is before the Federal power commission in Washington.

All B.C. is looking forward to construction of the gas line which would bring cheaper fuel to most interior points in the province as well as to the lower Mainland and the West coast.

The proposed pipe would pass through Prince George, through the Cariboo country and through the Fraser Valley, branching off near Chilliwack with one section going to the border at Huntington, the other to New Westminster and Vancouver.

Meanwhile, opposition to granting approval by the U.S. for the pipe to cross the border is waged by the "oil states" of the U.S.

The Vancouver city council is meeting with the Seattle council early next week to urge that Washington city to press for approval. The pipeline terminus is temporarily planned in that state city.

Girl Claims Drug Pushers Canvass School

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 16-year-old girl was quoted Thursday by the News-Herald as saying in an interview that a gang of young pushers loitered near a city high school to lure students into the drug habit.

In a front page story she was quoted as telling reporter Harry Le Long that she, a student at the school, became addicted to drugs after stories told by these youths aroused her curiosity.

This young girl, whose name was withheld because of her age, testified Wednesday at a trial arising from disclosures that a number of teen-agers here had been taking drugs.

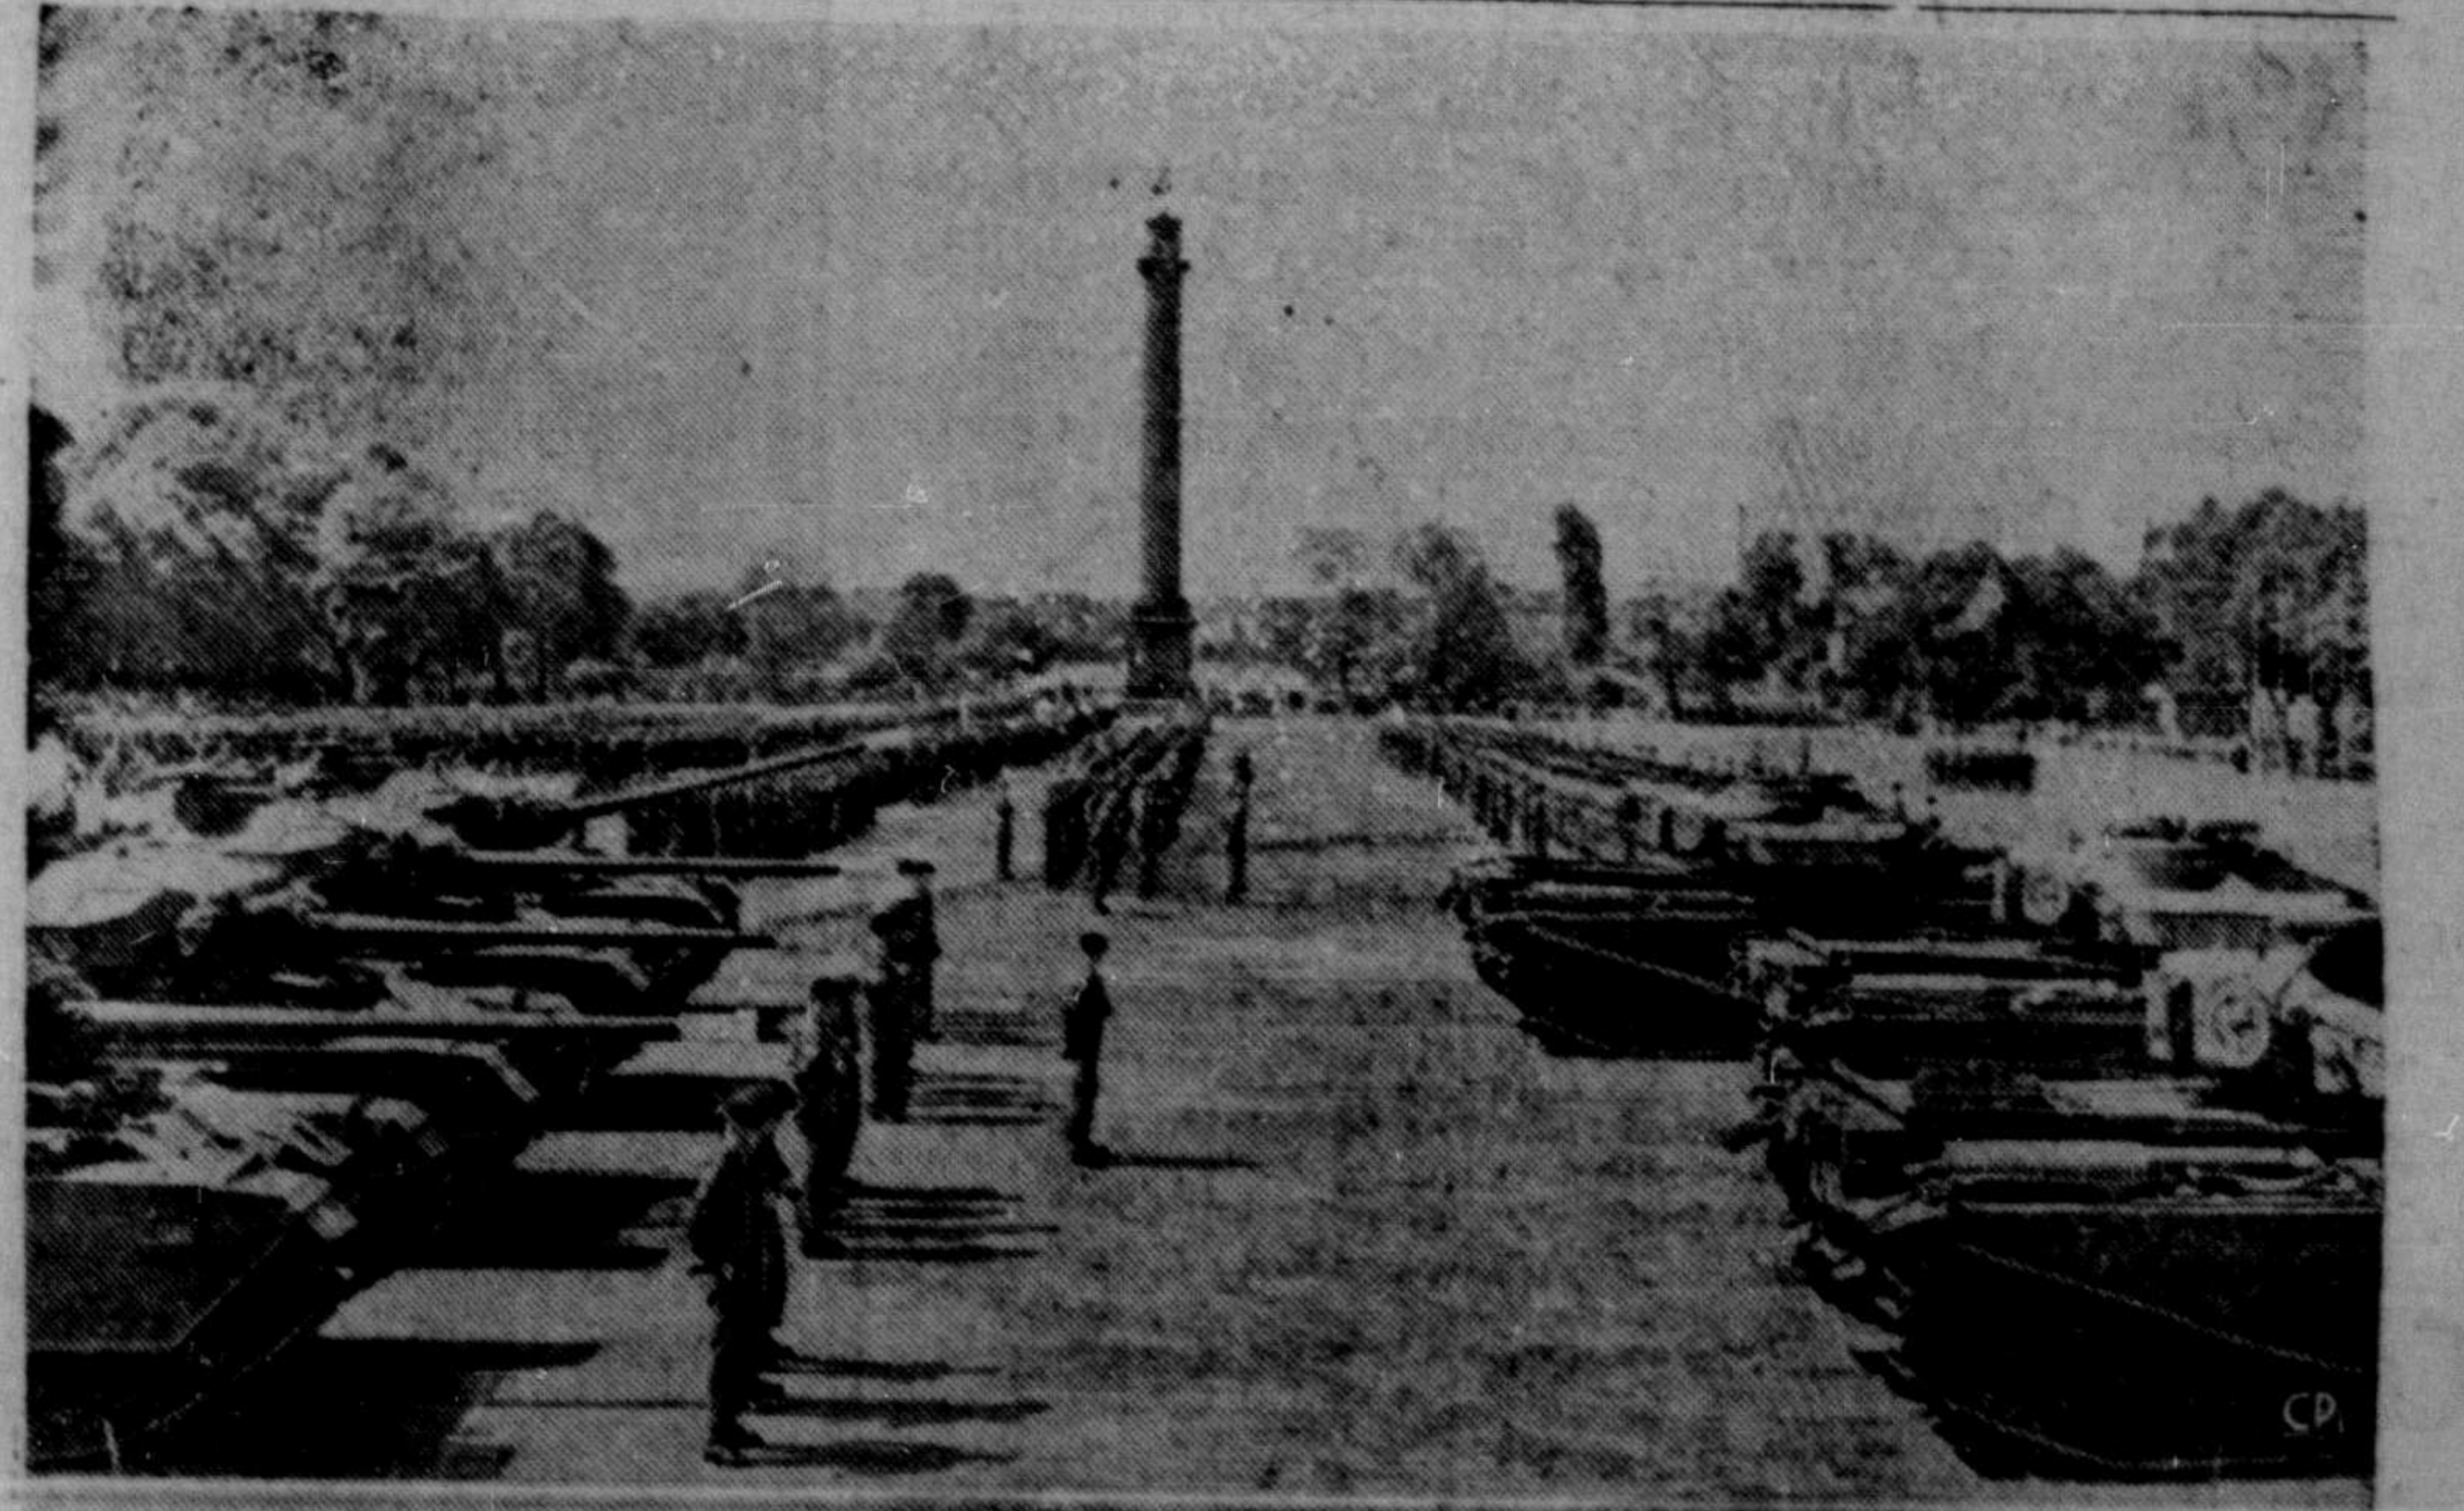

The case was not connected with this statement of pushers loitering near the school she attended.

New Liberty Publisher Branches Out

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Kent Cooke, 40-year-old millionaire publisher and radio executive, Wednesday purchased Consolidated Press Ltd. and indicated that development of a national weekly news magazine is the prime objective behind the purchase.

Consolidated Press is publisher of Toronto Weekly, Saturday Night and a number of national magazines with a combined circulation of more than 1,000,000.

Mr. Cooke already owns New Liberty Magazine with a circulation of more than 1,200,000.

Job Well Done

AFTER an unusual occasion such as the Governor-General's visit there is always a lull during which those who had any part in it either as organizers or bystanders sit back and reflect, with satisfaction or discomfort, on how the whole thing went.

In this case there should be no discomfort, for it seems agreed on all sides that the visit went as smoothly as a court reception, but with a great deal more friendliness and honest enjoyment. Although there were formalities that had to be respected, those who were near enough to observe proceedings were impressed by the real pleasure shown and expressed by the distinguished visitor and his party. This, in turn, made it an enjoyable event for their audience.

While the occasion seemed to go along without effort, there was behind it a great deal of thoughtful planning. Any oversight or carelessness beforehand would almost certainly have produced that glaring error which immediately obliterates all the favorable aspects of any function.

There was, however, nothing of the kind, and to those who so successfully carried out this planning the city owes its congratulations and thanks.

Churchmen Choose a Leader

PRINCE RUPERT becomes the meeting place today for clergymen and lay members of the Anglican Church who are gathered together to select a new bishop for the Diocese of Caledonia.

It is an auspicious undertaking with a tragic origin. Were it not for the death of the Rt. Rev. J. B. Gibson in an automobile accident last July, the meeting would not have been called.

This is the shadow that hangs over the gathering, and in the minds of those present is the knowledge that few men can equal the capacity of the late Bishop for winning respect and devotion.

Yet a successor will be found, and he will be a worthy one. The work of the Church throughout northern B.C. is our assurance of this.

Ernie Was Their Friend

AN UNTIMELY DEATH has removed from our midst one of the finest public figures in the province.

There are many motives which drive men into the uncertain and anxious life of politics, and the most admirable of them is an undiluted desire to improve public welfare without regard to personal gain or prominence.

This was the motive which spurred Ernie Carson. As is occasionally the case, he was successful in his chosen career without having some of the characteristics normally expected for it. He was the least dramatic of men, never the gladiator, and his speeches were presented more in the tone of discussion than of oratory.

Out of place though these features of his personality may have appeared at times, they sprang from a deeper gift which in the end carried him through political hazards that brought extinction to some of his more spectacular colleagues.

Mr. Carson's great gift was an extraordinary blend of sincerity and kindness. He was as much a friend of his constituents as a representative and gave himself unreservedly to humane causes which others in his position might have delegated to subordinates. His work with St. John Ambulance was particularly outstanding in this connection.

While there was nothing parochial in his outlook, Ernie Carson was a product of interior British Columbia and consequently this part of the province had a special interest in him which was unquestionably reciprocated. But the effect of his loss cannot be so classified. It will be felt grievously by all.

Funeral services will be held from Grenville Court Chapel on Saturday.

As I See It

Ottawa Prophet

NO BOOK has moved me more than one about a great Canadian prophet and pathfinder of peace—a great man whom I am ashamed to say I never even knew existed. It is "For The Time Is at Hand," by R. S. Lambert, published in Canada by Ryerson Press at $3.50.

It is about Henry Wentworth Monk of Ottawa, who died in 1896, the year I was born. He spent his whole life as a prophet and proclaimer of the coming Kingdom promised by Christ. He became a famous bearded figure of a man in London, Ottawa and New York.

He was the actual inspirer of many of the finest pictures by Holman Hunt. Decades before the Jewish Zionist took up the idea of a large scale return to Palestine this Canadian Protestant hounded the great statesmen of the world to buy the Holy Land, lock, stock and barrel, for the Jews. He did all this because he believed the prophecies of the Bible with the unquestioning simplicity of a child. In those prophecies he saw that mankind would never get peace until it was established by world law; and the Bible plainly said that this law must go forth from Jerusalem.

IT IS laughable now to read that some of the people of Monk's time thought he was insane because he believed such crackpot ideas as these: That man would soon be able to fly through the air in machines; that man would be able to send cabled telegrams under the sea, across the oceans; that under the leadership and partnership of Britain and the United States man, with God's help, would set up a true world government to keep the peace on a basis of law.

Monk had actually sold Holman Hunt and even Ruskin on the idea of going back to Jerusalem to proclaim and organize "peace on earth goodwill toward men." Then on came the American Civil War. Monk's partner's rightly convinced him that it was idle to think of peace for the whole earth when even the United States was rent in two by war. They put it up to the peacemaker prophet to convince the great President Lincoln that this war was wrong.

Monk actually met the President face to face: "I explained to the President that I was a friend of Mr. Ruskin and Mr. Hunt and that many Englishmen and Canadians, like myself, while applauding his Emancipation Proclamation could not but hope that a way might be found to terminate the terrible war before it was too late."

Monk's plan boiled down to buying and freeing the slaves—and nothing more came of it than his plan to buy all Palestine which could then have been obtained for a song.

ON ONE of his visits to his beloved Palestine Monk was destitute, half starved to death, and was finally deported. Even God seemed to have forgotten him for he was shipwrecked off Long Island, and was the sole survivor. Attacked by savage dogs he climbed a tree, only to be shot by the farmer in the dark, who took Monk for a wild animal.

But in the end he played a key part in averting a war between U.S.A. and Britain. In his last years around Ottawa he was honored by all.

Countries Continue Complaints Against Tariff-Trade Pact

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Weaknesses in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade are becoming more apparent day by day, nevertheless the Canadian government plans to stand by it until something better comes along.

The General Agreement originally was forged by some 34 countries including Canada as a strong instrument to promote world trade through reduction in tariffs and elimination of import restrictions.

But the pact provided certain concessions, certain clauses which could be used by member countries in economic difficulties to limit their obligations made under GATT.

Now officials in Ottawa feel that some countries are using the clauses in a way which is against the spirit of GATT.

The export subsidy clause is an example. This was designed to allow a country in extreme economic difficulties and with surpluses of home products to subsidize exports to dispose of these surpluses abroad.

However, the pact also provides that if such a practice harms the trade of another member country, consultations should follow to limit the practice and reduce the harm.

For instance, if the United States should subsidize cotton exports and this should harm Brazilian sales, the two should consult to limit the U.S. policy.

COUNTRIES COMPLAIN
The complaint by Canada and some other pact members is that in the case of the U.S. nothing develops out of the consultations. Officials at Ottawa say, in some cases, the U.S. has stated that parts of its country want the subsidized surplus-crop policy maintained and there is nothing it can do about it.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association recently stated:

"One has only to remember that other countries are put at a distinct disadvantage in dealing with the U.S. due in a large measure to their system of divided political responsibility.

"While the U.S. administration has been the leading exponent in the promotion of the steps taken for the development of a multi-lateral system of world trade, Congress has, time and time again, put effective brakes on such action."

The problems of GATT are expected to come up before the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London next month. Some United Kingdom reports indicate that Britain would like Canada to ditch some portions of the pact and give

ORATOR-LAWYER—Leonard William Brockington, 64, orator and lawyer, was chairman of the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, 1936-39. Born in Cardiff, Wales, he came to Canada in 1912, studied law in Calgary and in 1919 joined the law firm of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, former prime minister of Canada. He was Calgary city solicitor 1922-35. An authority on drama and music, he also gained a wide reputation as a story-teller and raconteur. During the Second World War he was for a time a special adviser to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and after the war he served as mediator or arbitrator in a number of labor disputes. (CP Photo)

IT WAS SO HANDY
The vest is coming back. For some years, in one of these mysterious fashion changes, the vest, if not scarce, had been becoming that way. Now it will be seen again, and to countless men this will be welcome. They missed something. For example, where did we stick that pencil? As a rule, the place for it was in a little top breast pocket.

ADVANCE KNOWLEDGE
This column printed a little yarn about the late Pat Carey of Prince Rupert recently. Here's another. A stalwart friend, more than 80, once remarked:
"Now, Pat, do you really figure you'll be as erect as I am, should you ever become my age?"
"Faith, yet. Only I won't be standin' up."

Borden P-TA Holds Meet

The regular monthly meeting of Borden Street P-TA was held in the school Tuesday with President Mrs. A. Logan in the chair.
A letter from the provincial Parent-Teacher Federation was read informing the organization of the forthcoming international conference to be held in Michigan in November.
The president spoke of the number of children who had received treatment through the dental clinic which was organized this year. The attendance banner for October was won by Mrs. Stone's class.
A social hour followed, during which cards were played and delicious refreshments served by Mrs. G. Cook, Mrs. McLeod and Mrs. Logan.

GOVERNOR GENERAL

Governor-General. "But, first I want to say I will be very happy to convey to the Queen your expressions of devotion and loyalty."
"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for the welcome you have given me and for these most charming moments of an occasion I shall long remember."
Mayor Whalen, officially welcoming His Excellency to the city, said "we are honored that the representative of the Queen should be able to come so far afield as to visit the northernmost city of the west coast of Canada."

TOTEM STORY

"Honored also to be able to be hosts to a fine Canadian, a keen business man, a clever scholar and a patriot without a peer."
The totem pole given to the Governor-General was the work of Arthur Moody, a Skidegate Indian in his late 60s.

The totem is known as the "Raven Totem." It tells the story and legend of Raven, who in the far distant past obtained a supply of water from Beaver, the custodian of the only pool situated deep in the interior of what today is known as Graham Island in the Queen Charlotte group.

Raven then proceeded to distribute the water by drops from the sky and the last drop of water carried by him fell at the headwaters of what today is the Naas River watershed.

The pole shows the dominant crest of the Raven and beneath it the minor crests and sub-crests, symbolic of the growth of life by the joint gift of Raven and Beaver.

During the reception the Alyanah Silver Harmonic Band, under the direction of B. A. Munro, played several songs, and the famous Job's Daughters drill team gave a smart display before the girls were presented to the Governor-General.

Leaders of the many city clubs and organizations were presented prior to Mr. Massey's address. Immediately following his address, the band played and the crowd sang "O Canada."

Mrs. Lionel Massey, wife of the Governor-General's secretary, was presented with a bouquet from the Women's Canadian Club and another from the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

After the reception Mrs. Massey was entertained at a tea and the Governor-General returned to his private railway car where he thanked Mayor Whalen for his kindness.

The vice-regal party left later for Prince George.

Pupils Entertain Parents at General Meeting

Grade 1, 2 and 3 pupils of Sister Mary Daniels of Annunciation School gave a delightful concert for their parents at the regular meeting of the Home and School Association last night.
The program consisted of three songs from Grade 1 and three songs from Grades 2 and 3. Recitations were given by Virginia Mazzone and Imalda Hewer. Little Jerry Yellowway was the competent master of ceremonies.

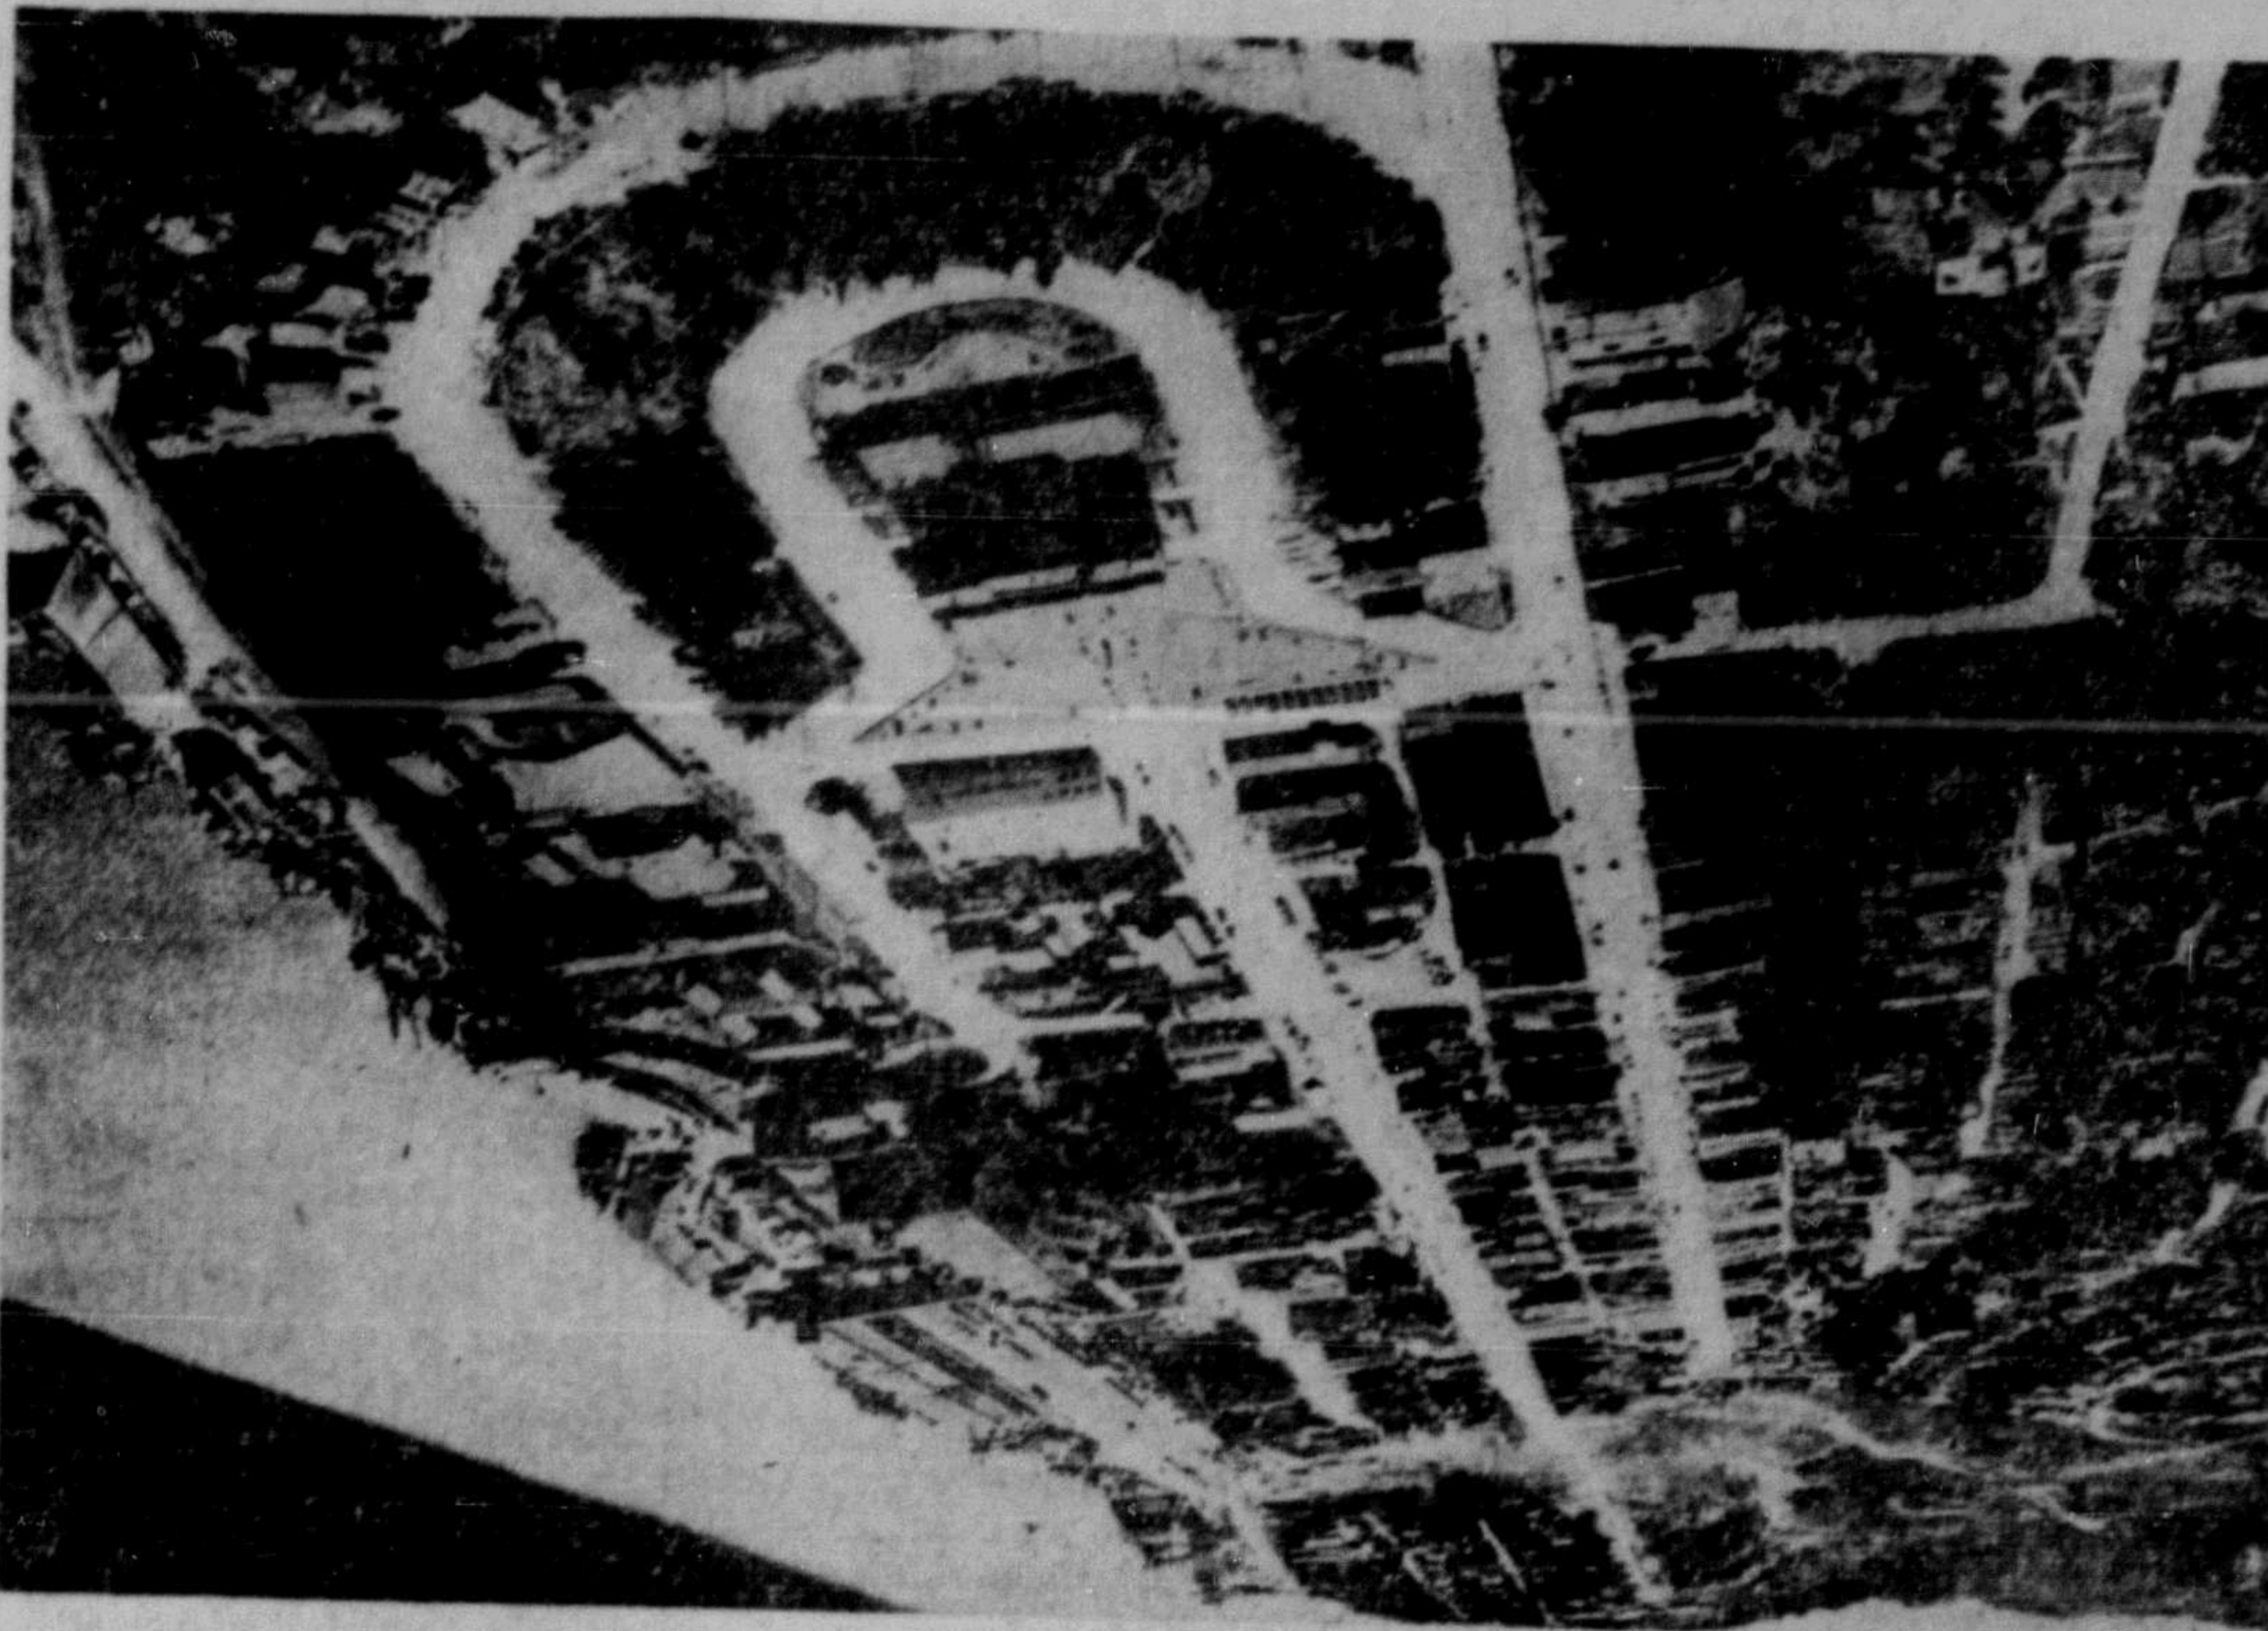

Business of the meeting entailed decision to buy basketball and volleyball equipment for the children and a spaghetti dinner was planned for Nov. 16.

PIGSKIN)—When a pigskin complete with pig inside was thrown on the playing field by a group of spectators, the intercollegiate football game between Toronto's Varsity and Queen's was delayed somewhat. AAU DECIDES BCABA Ousted As Rulers Over Boxing

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Amateur Boxing Association is squeezed out as the ruling body of amateur boxing in the province.
The action was taken at the annual meeting of the British Columbia branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada and followed months of ill-feeling between the parent body and the BCABA.
The AAU voted to put amateur boxing under a commission which will have nine members plus a chairman and a president appointed by the provincial president of the AAU.
On the commission will be three representatives from Vancouver Island, three from Vancouver and the lower mainland and three from the Fraser Valley.
An AAU spokesman said the new set-up would give various parts of the province a greater voice in governing amateur boxing and end domination by Vancouver.
Following the closed meeting, the spokesman announced Ken McKenzie of Vancouver has been re-elected president of the B.C. branch while Fred Rowell, also of Vancouver, is vice-president. Tommy Burgess of Victoria is second vice-president.

Stampeders Chill Hopes Of Eskimos

CALGARY (CP)—The red-hot team of Calgary Stampeders last night put the chill on Edmonton Eskimos' hopes for Grey Cup contention when they mowed the Eskies down 31-12 in the first game of a home total-points Western football semi-finals series.
More than 12,000 fans crowded into Mewata Stadium here to see the Stamps out-run, out-score and out-fox the Eskimos to gain a 19-point edge. The second game is in Edmonton on Saturday.

was passed up because he is a baseball player.
The men who own and run the game know with a painful certainty that they have received no favors from the country's draft boards.
All we know about Mantle's affliction is what doctors have told us—that, so far as they know, it is incurable. The disease could remain dormant for years and Mickey enjoy a long and brilliant career, or he might not be in the Yankee line-up next season.
None of the millions who watched the recent world series could have suspected that before each game Mantle's lower leg was bound as tight as the gauze could be drawn, to give support to the affected bone. Whether there was pain, Mantle didn't say. If there was, it didn't hold him back any.

Slider's .992 average was second only to Boston's Sid Gordon's .996. The Duke had only three errors chalked up against him all year.
Kluszewski now has topped the league two years running. At .993 he was one point under his average of last season. His '52 record shows 1,190 chances with only eight boos.
Hatton, a converted third baseman, flubbed six opportunities to head the second sackers with an impressive .999 mark.

RADAR DEFENCE—The most important defence base in Canada, the brain-child of the 20th century minute-men, is being formed at St. Hubert Airport, near Montreal. Here is the core of the network of radar stations, fighter bases and anti-aircraft posts Canada is building to meet any air attacks. It is less than a minute by direct line from its opposite United States number in Colorado Springs, Colo. The two air defence systems are closely knit for continental defence.

Civil Service Workers Seek Five-Day Week

VANCOUVER (CP)—The five-day, 40-hour maximum work week will be a major issue before the 9,000-member B.C. Government Employees' Association when delegates hold their ninth annual convention at Victoria this week-end.

Twelve branches of the association have submitted resolutions dealing with the work week issue. Present hours in provincial government departments range from 37 to 44, but not on a five-day week basis.

The G.E.A. has already got government action on the work-week issue in the form of a promise of association-cabinet talks to be arranged soon after the convention.

Ontario's provincial government has been experimenting with the five-day week and has found it satisfactory, the B.C. group says.

Between 65 and 95 per cent of office workers in each of four major Canadian cities—Montreal, Toronto, Windsor and Vancouver—enjoy the shorter work week, G.E.A. adds.

And to back their case further, they point out banks are on the five-day week.

Two other major issues before the convention will be: Demands for official bargaining rights for the government workers. At present they do not come under the Labor Act and have no arbitration provisions.

Bright Future For B.C. Mining Predicted By Mines Minister at West Coast Meeting

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mines Minister Prudham said here he is far from pessimistic over the currently depressed state of the base mining industry in British Columbia.

Although present prices for lead and zinc indicate stockpiling is slowing up, expanded uses for metals are opening a promising future, he said in an interview.

He pointed to the increasing quantities of lead being used in high-octane fuels as an example.

Mr. Prudham was here to attend the annual meeting of the B.C. section of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

He said B.C. is rapidly becoming one of Canada's great mineral provinces. The Federal Mines Department, in recognition of this fact, kept one geological survey party in B.C. for every three in the rest of Canada.

Hartley Sargent, chief of the mineralogical branch of the B.C. Department of Mines, estimated mineral production in the province in 1952 at $163,900,000. Total 1951 production was $175,659,591.

The 1952 estimates anticipate moderate decreased output of coal and all other principal metals except zinc.

Prices used in the 1952 estimate for gold, silver, lead and zinc are lower than the 1951 prices, but the price used for copper is 31 cents per pound compared with 27.7-cent average last year.

The 1952 estimate for principal metals:

Placer Gold, 19,000 oz.	$530,000
Lobe Gold, 243,000 oz.	$8,300,000
Silver, 7,685,000 oz.	6,370,000
Copper, 41,000,000 lbs.	$12,700,000
Lead, 257,000,000 lbs.	$42,400,000
Zinc, 365,000,000 lbs.	$58,100,000
Total principal lobe metals	$127,870,000
Coal, 1,525,000 tons	$9,900,000
Misc. metals	$12,700,000
Industrial minerals	$2,500,000
Struc. materials	$10,400,000
Total	$163,900,000

Mr. Perrault said there are signs that the flow of people from Canada to the United States is diminishing.

More Immigration to Canada Urged by Business Group

By FORBES RHUDE

TORONTO (CP)—Canada should aim at doubling its population within the next 25 years, attain a population of at least 30,000,000 by 1975, Rene B. Perrault of Montreal, 1951-52 president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said here.

Addressing the chamber's annual meeting, attended by more than 600 delegates from across Canada, Mr. Perrault added:

"With a wealth of virtually every vital resource, Canada is short of the most important resource—people. The answer is immigration—more immigrants—many more.

"Need for greater population is based on primary requisites such as defence, production and economic well-being. At the same time, any study of immigration reveals that it makes more jobs, creates more homes and raises the standard of living.

"We should be aware of the danger of trying to keep so rich a land all to ourselves. Our moral sense urges us to provide sanctuary and opportunity.

"At the beginning of the century agriculture set the immigration pace. Then it was the opening of the west, the first great wave of immigration, the start of industrialization. The results have been fabulous. Two and one-half times as many people are producing five times the volume of wealth in three-quarters of the working time.

"Now it is our industrial growth which will be the determining factor in our population capacity. Results of today's beginnings should be much greater in proportion than those of two generations ago. In early 1900s all was new.

"This time, by contrast, we are getting off to a head start. We have developed processes and products, systems and solutions to problems thought insoluble a generation ago.

IMMIGRATION CHALLENGE

"The advisability of continued immigration has been challenged in recent months; and the government, a few months ago, tightened up its selection program. But I believe, and the Canadian Chamber believes, that the needs outweigh the difficulties foreseen in immigration at the rate at least of the last year.

"It is the people of Canada who will lose if short-sighted opposition to immigration impairs the country's future development. As a nation with the greatest potential development of any country in the world, we believe that Canada must be prepared to face up to the problem of immigration."

Opium Eaters in India Face Ban on Drug; Steam Cloud Topples as New Laws Passed

ADRIENNE FARRELL

Within eight years, the government intends to stamp out completely the smoking, eating and drinking of opium which now claims thousands of addicts throughout the country.

In the Punjab, where a bill prohibiting opium smoking will be introduced during the next session of the legislative assembly, opium addicts have already taken alarm.

A deputation, led by a 72-year-old opium smoker, plans to call on the chief minister and protest in the name of the addicts that they will suffer great hardship if separated from their opium pipes.

Many addicts maintain that they become weak and ill if they are not able to obtain supplies of the drug, and that they may even die for lack of it.

Three years ago, Pakistan was importing about 20 tons of opium a year from India. Today, imports have been cut down to 15 tons. Gradually, imports will be eliminated altogether.

Smoking of opium is already prohibited in East Bengal, Sind, Bahawalpur and Karachi, and shortly will also be stopped in the Punjab. But opium-eating, which is less harmful, is widely practised throughout the country and will be more difficult to eliminate.

There still are eight government opium shops in Karachi. One of these alone sells opium and "bhung" (Indian hemp) to about 1,000 customers a day.

Most of the clients are poor persons, many of them refugees, who buy only a few annas' worth of opium to chew. For one anna (about two cents), they get a tiny piece of black rubbery opium, about 1/10th the size of a piece of chewing-gum.

Mothers frequently give a tiny piece of opium to their babies to stop them from crying.

The unemployed and destitute eat it to still the pangs of hunger.

In an all-out drive against smokers during the last six months, Karachi police have raided and closed down 23 opium-smoking dens.

But one of the government's main headaches is smuggling. Opium poppies are cultivated in Iran, in Afghanistan and in the tribal areas of Pakistan where police control is not possible, and smuggled into the populous areas.

Alberta Hospitals Urge Less Cost for Extras in Service

CALGARY (CP)—The annual convention of the Associated Hospitals of Alberta was scheduled to pass a resolution requesting a commission to see if "extras" of hospital care are not overcharged and are kept within reasonable limits.

Before all delegates came to a decision on the resolution, a motion was passed to refer the matter to a committee to study the situation.

The committee will be headed by Dr. W. H. Ross, president of the association, and will include representatives from the government, the hospital industry and the public.

The committee will be asked to report on the cost of hospital care, including the cost of "extras" such as X-rays, medicines, doctors and the like—extra charges for hospital care.

Dr. Ross said the government has spent $50 million in the last five years on hospital care, but that the cost of "extras" has increased by 50 per cent in the same period.

He said the government should subsidize hospital care, but that the cost of "extras" should be paid by the patient.

Former City Railway Man Promoted

VANCOUVER—Back in Vancouver after an absence of 15 years, Maurice G. Irving has been appointed travelling freight agent for the Canadian National Railways here.

He takes over the post vacated by William Rennie who recently retired.

Mr. Irving started his railway career as a clerk in the local freight office at Vancouver in 1925 but ten years later he was moved to Prince Rupert. From there he went to Vernon, then to Victoria and back again to Prince Rupert.

In 1947 he left the coast to become freight traffic representative in Regina and in 1949 went to Saskatoon as travelling freight agent, a position he held until his present appointment.

In his new post Mr. Irving will be a frequent visitor to towns along the CNR main line between Vancouver and Kamloops.

Japanese Eye B.C. Coal For Steel Making

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia coal may soon be shipped to Japan for use in the steel industry.

K. K. Reid, chairman of the New Westminster Harbors Board, reported today that a deal for 500,000 tons of interior coal to be shipped yearly to Japan is "in the making."

The coal would come from the Fernie mines and would be of a type suitable for the "coking" process in manufacture of steel.

Shipments would be made from New Westminster where it will be necessary to construct coal bunkers.

Japan now is taking B.C. iron ore for its steel industry at the rate of 60,000 tons a month. It is being shipped from Vancouver Island.

Recently the Japanese steel-makers have been taking coke from the United States. Prior to the war Japan's supply came from Manchuria.

Going Women Like Home

CHILLI, Man. (CP)—Many women are just as eager to sail as men are.

La Cordillera, owner of the ship, which recently at this Hudson's Bay, carried 10 women and stewards. The ship's crew had asked veterans of the last war for applicants, were nearly swamped.

Women said they like the sea, and the turnover is low. But they are leaving at various ports, and the remarks of the visitors appeared that even women like the sea still want to go home.

S. W. Africa Sees Wealth In Diamonds

By OSCAR TAMSEN

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters)—Diamonds, copper, karakul sheep and fish are bringing wealth to the barren wastelands of South-West Africa, one-time German colony mandated to South Africa by the old League of Nations.

In the last five years the territory has been transformed into one of the continent's fastest-growing industrial and commercial centres.

Largely responsible are the diamond and copper mining industries. Sales of diamonds and copper reached a new mineral production record at $43,400,000 at the end of last year.

In addition, a new large-scale fishing industry and the exporting of karakul pelts have injected new life into the economy of this arid stretch of African coastline.

South-West Africa is a vast territory 900 miles long and 350 miles wide, with a coastal strip of desert bordering the South Atlantic Ocean and rising to a central plateau running from north to south.

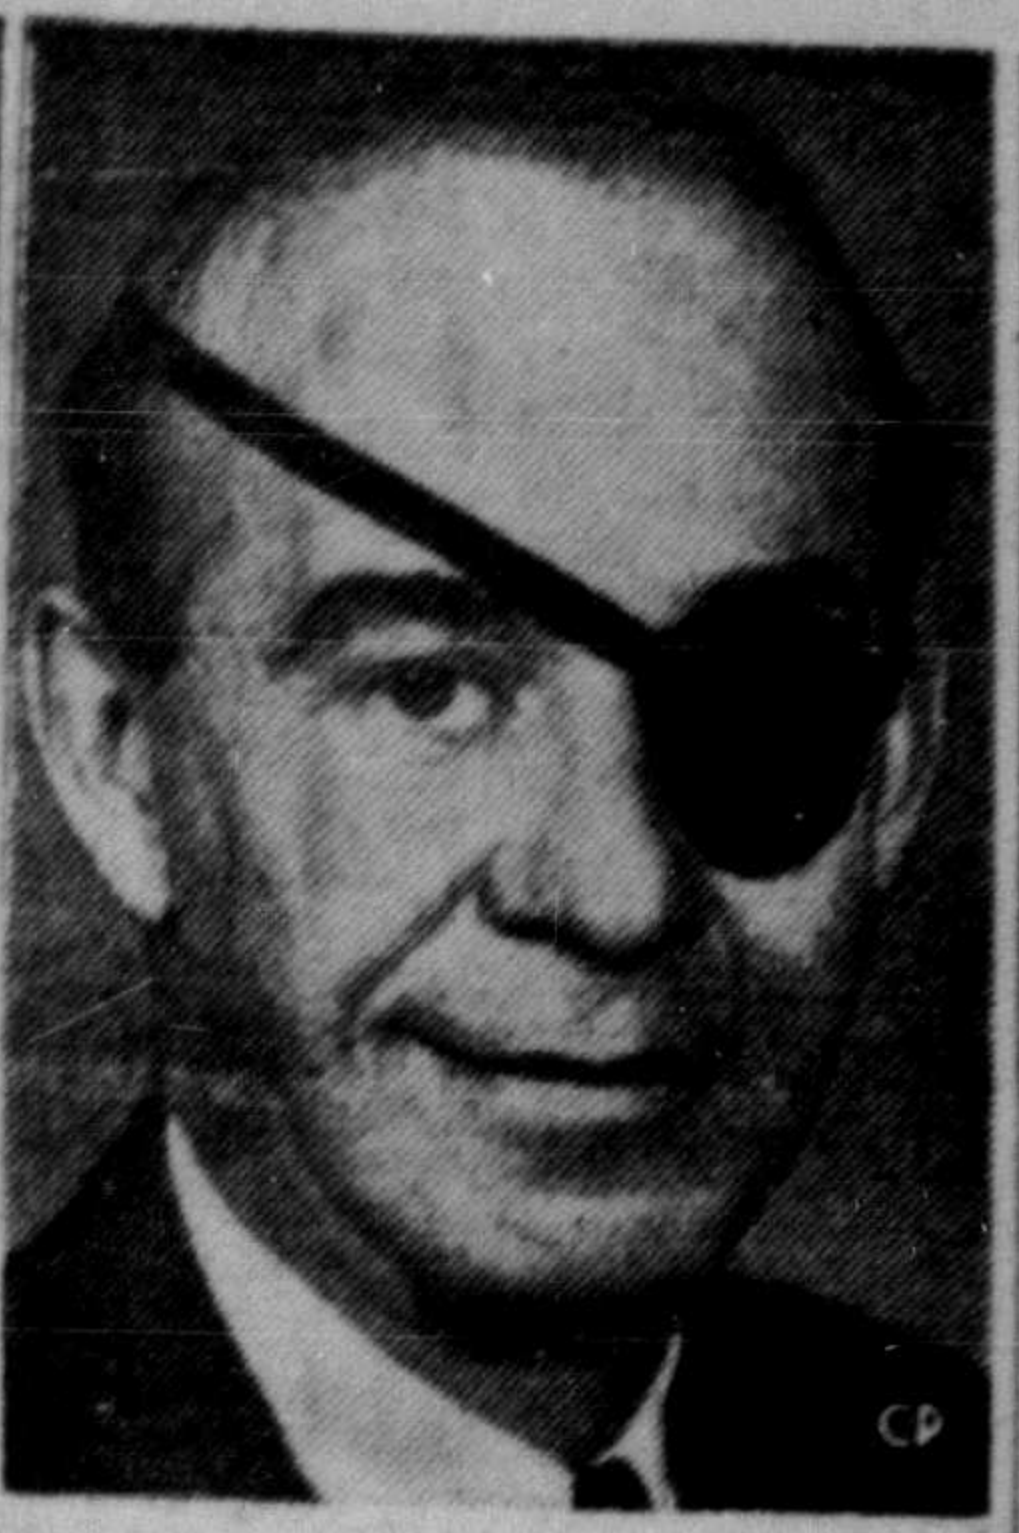

Politically, it is a separate territory under mandate to South Africa, although the ties between the two countries are growing closer and its economy has in most respects been integrated with that of South Africa.

Most of the diamonds produced are gem stones obtained from marine terraces under heavy layers of sand found along the rugged coastline.

Copper also is found in abundance in South-West Africa. The largest mines are in the north.

The territory is often afflicted by droughts and it is only recently that many farmers have been able, through the breeding of karakul sheep, to derive more than a bare subsistence from their lands. About 2,500,000 karakul pelts were sold last year for $15,400,000 on the luxury-trade markets of London and New York.

In only five years, the fishing industry has grown from almost nothing to a vast enterprise exporting over 40,000 tons of fish products a year.

NEW GOVERNOR—Oakley Hedley Dalgleish, editor-in-chief and assistant publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail, has been appointed to the board of governors of the University of Toronto. Born in New Liskeard in 1910 he worked with newspapers in Vancouver, Edmonton and Regina before going to England in 1930. There he was roving correspondent for the Sifton group of newspapers and worked with several English papers. He joined staff of the old Toronto Globe in 1935. He was with the Dominion Bureau of Information shortly after the outbreak of the Second World War, later rejoining The Globe and Mail. He was made editor-in-chief in 1948 and was appointed assistant publisher following death of publisher George McCullagh earlier this year. (CP Photo)

Nurses in Training Get 'Caps' Earlier

TORONTO (CP)—Students now enrolling in the 1955 class at Toronto General Hospital's school of nursing will miss the traditional capping service.

Under a new plan they receive their caps on enrolment. Formerly nurses were given their caps only on completion of pre-clinical training, several months from the start.

Mary Macfarland, superintendent of nurses, said the school regards the change as a progressive step.

"Formerly a great deal of effort was put into the first few months with an inclination on the part of some to let down a bit after they received their caps," she said.

"From now on the students will be expected to progress steadily from the start of the course until graduation."

Montreal Girl, 12 Joins Screen Stars

MONTREAL (CP)—When 12-year-old Carmen Gingras came home from Hollywood she was besieged for autographs—her own, because she's a movie actress in her own right.

Carmen was chosen to play in "I Confess," a movie in which most of the locale is in Quebec City. She acted with such stars as Anne Baxter, Montgomery Clift and John Hodiak.

As a pupil at Notre Dame de la Paix School in Verdun, adjoining Montreal, she showed considerable acting ability. Then she went to a dramatics school for further training. It was there the producers looked for a 12-year-old girl of a certain type, and Carmen was just the type. Screen tests and a contract followed.

Carmen is the daughter of Paul-Emile Gingras, a Montreal taxi driver. She has a younger brother and two younger sisters.

She said she liked Montgomery Clift best among her fellow-players. Asked why, she answered: "Because he gave me this." "This" was a toilet set.

Nanaimo Mayor Joins Socreds

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—Mayor Earle Westwood of Nanaimo has joined the Social Credit party.

He said today he had joined the party three weeks ago, but denied he had made any commitment to be a candidate in the next provincial election.

"So far, I am merely a member," he told newspaper men.

"Nanaimo has got a rotten deal from the old-line parties for 20 years," said Mayor Westwood. "Let's try something new."

Earlier, E. J. Brewster, ousted as president of the Nanaimo-Islands Social Credit Association, claimed he was voted out of office by a group of unqualified delegates.

He charged the group was the spearhead of a movement backing Mayor Westwood for a candidate in the next election. Brewster was defeated in the June 12 election.

Railroad President Outlines Job in TV Interview

NEW YORK—The job of being president of North America's largest railroad system is an involved one with never a dull moment, Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, said here in an interview over the Dumont television network.

The CNR president was the first Canadian executive ever to appear on the national program. Mr. Gordon was one of three company presidents who took part in Dumont's "Meet the Boss" half-hour program, better described as the "Fortune Magazine Forum of the Air."

Mr. Gordon told Marshall McNeil, veteran Washington newspaper correspondent who conducted the TV interview, that being president of a railroad that serves all of Canada's ten provinces and 12 states in the U.S. is a demanding job.

"I find being president of this tremendous undertaking means that I must be many things," Mr. Gordon said. "A real estate broker and engineer, a caterer, an economist, a chemist, a motion picture producer, an architect, an electrician, a lawyer, a mechanic, a publicist, a medical man, a foreign trade expert, a hotel manager, and on occasion a lay father confessor."

"I never know whether the next piece of paper coming to my desk will deal with the subject of immigrants from Copenhagen, lights for a bunkhouse, bananas from the West Indies, wool from Australia, nickel and copper or coal and steel."

AGAINST BOMB ATTACKS

Fast Fighter Network to Guard Main Cities

(Editor's Note: Canada is relying mainly on the jet fighter for defence, but jet fighters need an intricate ground set-up to direct them to their prey. This story, one of a series, describes the air defence headquarters being established in Montreal.)

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The most important defence base in Canada is being formed at St. Hubert airport.

It is the brain of the 20th century minute-men who, above all others, will be responsible for the defence of Canadian homes and factories if war comes.

Headquarters of the RCA's first Air Defence Command must act in seconds, because it is the core of the network of radar stations, fighter bases and anti-aircraft posts Canada is building to meet any air attacks.

In the operational control room—only one in eight of the headquarters staff may enter—the course of bombers would be plotted as they raced toward key targets such as Montreal.

LINKED WITH U.S.

From the office of Air Vice-Marshal A. L. James, the officer commanding it is less than a minute by direct line to his opposite American number in Colorado Springs, Colo.

That is how close the two air defence systems are being knit for continental defence. The integration is going on at various levels. Its most tangible form is the building and manning of radar stations in Canada by the United States.

When the special communications system is set up to tie it all together, it will be a matter of seconds from A.D.C.'s control room to any part of the far-flung air defence network emerging in Canada.

Will it work? Can a country as immense, as wide open and as thinly-peopled as Canada be defended?

Air Vice-Marshal James says so. So do other senior officers of the RCA. They would be happy and relieved to see parliament vote them more air squadrons and more radar, but they think this sort of strange, mobile, electronic fortress without walls can defend parts of Canada which might invite attack. And they are comforted by the thought that there are relatively few places offering temptation.

EFFECTIVE DEFENCE

Nobody thinks air defence could stop everything trying to get through. Nobody thinks saturation raids could be halted.

Effective Vaccine For Polio Tested by Baltimore Scientist

By WILLIAM MANCHESTER
(Copyright, Baltimore Evening Sun, 1952)

BALTIMORE (AP)—Working with little children, a Johns Hopkins scientist has developed and tested a vaccine which gives promise of being effective against all three types of polio.

"I am satisfied that it is possible to produce a satisfactory level of polio antibodies in human beings," Dr. Howard A. Howe, adjunct professor of epidemiology of Hopkins, said today.

Antibodies are specific agents which can be developed in the blood to produce immunity against a disease.

Using a vaccine made of killed polio virus, Dr. Howe found that it made children develop antibodies against the virus. He presented his findings today at the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association in Cleveland.

The preparation of a triple vaccine made Dr. Howe's work especially difficult. Polio is really three diseases. Any one of its three types of virus—lansing, brunhilde or leon—can cripple. A preventive must be aimed at all of them.

Dr. Howe warned that the vaccine isn't ready for use—that he isn't even sure it will be the vaccine to be used in large trials. Further testing will be necessary to improve it.

The children, all two to five years old, were low-grade imbeciles at Rosewood State Training School. Their parents agreed to the experiment. No child was in danger at any time.

INNOCULATED

They were inoculated with a vaccine brewed from the spinal cords of monkeys stricken with polio and a chemical rendering the polio viruses harmless but still capable of producing antibodies.

In 1950, Dr. Howe had found that he could immunize chimpanzees.

Eleven bedridden children at Rosewood, in good physical condition despite their handicaps, were chosen for the human trials.

Blood tests showed only one of them had antibodies against more than one type of polio virus, before the vaccination.

Dr. Howe decided to give six of them vaccine, and nothing to

New Wage Deal For Temporary Rail Workers

OTTAWA (CP)—A board of conciliation has recommended that an agreement be drafted to cover employment and wage conditions of laborers temporarily employed by the railways as maintenance-of-way men.

The agreement would be the first since the Brotherhood of Maintenance-of-Way Employees was certified as bargaining agent for extra maintenance-of-way men.

The board, headed by James H. Stitt of Ottawa, recommended that the new agreement include many features of the wage agreement covering regular maintenance-of-way men.

Temporary employees would work 50 hours a week instead of the present 60 and would be paid for overtime. The agreement would extend to temporary employees the seniority, vacation and pension privileges of regular employees.

German Car Catches Eye Of Motorists

By BRACK CURRY
BONN, Germany (AP) — A little, beetle-shaped German car conceived by Hitler 15 years ago is catching the fancy of motorists around the world.

It has the curious name of Volkswagen, or People's Car.

The Volkswagen is being exported to 32 countries—and in some people are actually lining up to buy it.

It is rolling toward first place in Europe. It is by far the most popular car with the Germans. One out of every two German cars is a Volkswagen.

Europeans like the speed, simplicity and economy of the Volkswagen. A rear-engined four-seater, the Volkswagen hits 70 miles an hour and travels 36 miles to a gallon. It sells in Germany for 4,800 marks or $1,142. Prices in foreign countries are higher.

Drivers of Volkswagens boast that the car's tiny engine can be repaired with a hairpin.

Since the war, more than 100,000 Volkswagens have been exported. The demand abroad is so great that the Volkswagen plant says it could easily sell its entire output in foreign markets.

About 33 per cent of this year's record production of 139,000 Volkswagens is earmarked for export.

Volkswagen officials say the car is a hit in Canada. Since it has no radiator, it never freezes up in the cold Canadian winters.

Despite booming sales, a big cloud hangs over the Volkswagen plant: nobody knows who owns it.

The car was the brainchild of Hitler who promised every German a Volkswagen in the garage for the equivalent of $266.

The Nazi Labor Front built the plant. Some 330,000 Germans chipped in to finance its construction. In return they were promised cars which were never delivered.

Only a few Volkswagens were turned out before the war. Then the production was fed to the Wehrmacht. Rommel used scores of the cars in his North African campaign.

The Germans who contributed toward building the plant have gone into court claiming they are shareholders. Pending the outcome of this suit, the plant has been turned over to the federal government to operate.

COVERS MAIN TARGETS

Even at its peak, the network won't be elaborate. The popular idea of a complete radar screen across the Arctic is a myth. The screen will be much farther south and will have nothing like a coast-to-coast frontage. Its main aim will be to protect the most inviting targets, largely in eastern Canada.

There has been no public breakdown of the disposition of 41 air force squadrons Canada aims to have by 1954 but the chances are there will be fewer than 10 regular Canuck squadrons on duty in Canada, backed by roughly that many reserve or part-time squadrons.

St. Paul's Cathedral in London, England, was built between 1675 and 1710.

Artist Sets Out Across Ocean To Live on Raw Sea Life

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (AP)—A French scientist on a 5,000-mile Atlantic crossing aboard a tiny boat, attempted to prove that men can survive on the life they can take from the sea.

Dr. Alain Bombard, started his journey from the Canary Islands toward the West Indies, which he expects to take about 50 days. He would live on raw fish and plankton, a small amount of fresh water.

By-Election For House Vacancy May be Delayed

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government may wait some time before calling a by-election to fill the Commons' vacancy resulting from the appointment of Fisheries Minister Mayhew as Canada's first ambassador to Japan.

Actually Mr. Mayhew's British Columbia constituency of Victoria will not become vacant until Nov. 15—the date his new appointment takes effect.

Mr. Mayhew resigned from the cabinet Oct. 15, the day his appointment was announced by Prime Minister St. Laurent. However, he did not at the same time resign from the Commons. Mr. St. Laurent said it was not necessary for Mr. Mayhew to resign from the Commons since his seat automatically will become vacant when he takes over his new post.

WAIT FOR B.C.

Some observers interpreted the move as an indication the government will wait for more favorable political winds in British Columbia before calling a by-election.

It takes from 45 to 50 days to run off a by-election. If Mr. Mayhew had resigned immediately, for instance, a by-election could have been held in the latter part of November or early December.

Steps now are being taken to rebuild the Liberal party in the provincial field following defeat of British Columbia's Liberal government in June.

While stating that the move had nothing to do with what had happened provincially, Mr. St. Laurent brought two British Columbia members into the cabinet.

James Sinclair, member for Victoria will not become vacant until Nov. 15—the date his new appointment takes effect.

Mr. Mayhew resigned from the cabinet Oct. 15, the day his appointment was announced by Prime Minister St. Laurent. However, he did not at the same time resign from the Commons. Mr. St. Laurent said it was not necessary for Mr. Mayhew to resign from the Commons since his seat automatically will become vacant when he takes over his new post.

Under rules of the Commons, Mr. Macdonald then must issue a warrant ordering the chief electoral officer to issue a writ for a by-election. The government then will have six months from the day the speaker's warrant is issued to fix a date for the by-election.

Liberals 183; Progressive Conservatives 49; CCF 13; Social Credit 10; Independent Liberal 2; Independent 4; Vacant 1; total 262.

The opposition groups cannot force the government to fix an early by-election date. However, when the new session of parliament opens Nov. 20 the Progressive Conservatives plan to draw the Victoria vacancy to the attention of Speaker Ross Macdonald of the Commons.

With Mr. Mayhew's departure, the standing in the Commons will be:

Opposition Papers Have Same Owner

By MALCOLM PATTERSON

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—It's not at all uncommon for rival newspapers to sit on opposite sides of the fence.

But it is unusual in Lexington, third largest city in Kentucky, where the same man owns both daily papers—The Leader and The Herald.

Rabid political partisans find it difficult to understand the peaceful atmosphere in the building from which both papers are published; especially this year.

The Herald's editor is a United States senator; The Leader is opposing his bid for re-election.

Six days a week The Herald beats the drum for the Democratic party. Six days a week The Leader does the same for the Republicans.

On Sunday, the papers merge into the Sunday Herald-Leader. That day they are neutral.

Fred B. Wachs, general manager of both newspapers, is county campaign treasurer for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican nominee for President, and John Sherman Cooper, Republican candidate for senator.

But Wachs doesn't interfere with The Herald's support of its editor, U.S. Senator Thomas R. Underwood, Democrat.

Owner is John G. Stoll, an old-line Republican. He is editor and publisher of The Leader and publisher of the Sunday Herald-Leader. Wachs is editor of the Sunday paper.

Forestry Policy Probe Called Off Temporarily by B.C. Gov

VICTORIA (CP) — The provincial government has abandoned plans—for this year at least—to Chief Justice Gordon Sloan as a royal commission to delve once again into forestry policy in British Columbia.

An authoritative source said Premier W. A. C. Bennett and the Chief Justice could not come to an agreement on the nature of the enquiry, and the idea now has been dropped.

The Premier, it is understood, was thinking in terms of a short inquiry when he asked Chief Justice Sloan to act. Premier Bennett wanted the probe to deal mainly with troublesome aspects of the forest management plan.

Chief Justice Sloan, it is said, was not interested in undertaking the limited task. He felt the job wouldn't be worthwhile doing—or necessary—unless he could investigate all phases of forest policy as he had done previously.

This might have taken two years, and from a political viewpoint was distasteful to the government which wants some definite action on the contentious issue before the election next year.

Reasons the proposal has been dropped appear twofold:

1. Appointment of a royal commission inquiry which would take two years to complete would leave the government open to criticism that it was sidestepping the issue.

2. The government's hands would be tied once the inquiry started. It couldn't make changes while the probe was underway.

Consequently, the government now is expected to tackle some phases of the problem itself, and thus be able to point out to the forest management plan's critics some definite improvements taken by the new administration.

B.C. Highway Toll Climbs

VICTORIA (CP) — British Columbia's highway accident toll continues to climb dizzily.

The Motor-Vehicle Branch reported today during the first eight months of 1952, 12,479 highway crashes killed 119 persons, injured 4,292 persons and resulted in property damage totalling $3,671,442.

In the same period last year, there were 11,717 accidents, 118 deaths, 3,945 injuries and $3,166,373 property damage.

To the end of August this year 299,269 motor-vehicles were licensed to use the highways, compared with 275,283 in the same period in 1951.
