WOOD ALCOHOL CAUSED DEATHS

Two More Women and One Man Died Last Night in Ontario—Liquor Was Smuggled.

TORONTO, July 27.—More than a hundred gallons of wood alcohol, said to have been the liquor that caused the deaths of eighteen persons in Ontario during the past few days, arrived at an Ontario town from the United States hidden in a coal car, according to information secured by the provincial police. It is said that several Italians were implicated in the importation.

Two women died in Toronto and one man in Hamilton last night.

WESTVIEW HOME BADLY DAMAGED

Residence of J. G. Steen Guttled by Fire and Smoke Yesterday Afternoon.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Steen, Graham Avenue, Westview, suffered considerable damage yesterday afternoon as the result of a fire, which broke out in the basement, presumably from an overheated furnace. The basement was entirely gutted and the furniture and walls, in the upstairs portion of the house, were damaged by the intense heat and smoke. A pet Spitz dog was suffocated as a result of smoke fumes. No one was in the house at the time of the outbreak. The alarm was turned in by Mrs. Fred Stork, who noticed smoke issuing from the basement.

When the fire department arrived with the chemical engine it was discovered that a serious blaze was under way and a telephone call was sent in for reinforcements. Upon the arrival of No. 2 truck a hose was laid from Alton Avenue and an additional line of hose from Graham Avenue, some 2,000 feet of hose being put into commission.

Dense Smoke
The smoke was so dense in the basement that the firemen could not enter. After overcoming the basement fire the firemen were enabled to enter the upstairs portion of the house where they found the furniture badly blistered by the heat and the walls blackened by smoke. The dead dog was found underneath a sofa.

A fire had been lighted in the basement furnace by Mrs. Steen in the morning. Mrs. Steen left the house about 9 a.m. and Mrs. Carmichael, who is visiting with Mrs. Steen during Mr. Steen's absence in Smithers, left the house at 1 o'clock when everything appeared normal.

Mr. Steen is at present in Smithers working on the new building which is being erected by Olaf Hanson.

The house was insured. Second Outbreak
The fire department responded to a second call around 10 o'clock this morning, to the Steen residence. Upon arrival it was found that the rafters under the sun room had caught fire, evidently from a smouldering spark and had burned through the floor. Damage was done to the furniture. The outbreak was quickly extinguished with one line of hose.

Cash Box Lost from Boat at Cold Storage Wharf is Found but Minus Contents

The cash box lost from the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Company's fish packer Zibassa on Friday last, containing around $1,000, was recovered this morning in 60 feet of water, by the Prince Rupert Boat House salvage corps, Capt. A. Swanson in charge, at the Cold Storage dock at the point where the boat lay when the robbery occurred. Upon examination the box only contained $107.10 in silver coins.

Diver Bill Shelim found the box on the bottom tied up in a sack weighted with lead. The box was open and had not been forced. Provincial Police Chief Spiller, accompanied by Constable V. Markland, was in charge of the operations aboard the Launch 23, which acted as tender to the diver.

The box had evidently been thrown overboard by the person who had taken it after the paper money had been extracted. No arrest in connection with the robbery has yet been made.

Adam Moffatt, Better Known as "Grandpa," Died Last Evening After Being Invalid 18 Years

"Grandpa" died in the Prince Rupert General Hospital at 6.45 last evening. His right name was Adam Moffatt, but nearly everybody knew him as "Grandpa."

Deceased was injured during railway construction here about 1909 and stricken with paralysis. Before the present hospital was built he was a patient in the old Foley, Welch & Stewart hospital on the waterfront. As soon as the Prince Rupert General Hospital opened he was admitted to it and for the past sixteen years he had been a patient there.

"Grandpa" was a familiar figure about the hospital and his presence will be missed from the corner bed in the men's medical ward. Latefy, however, his death was not unexpected and it came as a happy release to his own sufferings and as a relief to those in whose care he had been for so many years.

He was a native of Scotland and was 85 years of age. Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the B. C. Undertakers.

Oriental Nation is Anxiously Watching Fort Establishment

Aviation station in Aleutians and armament extensions in Hawaii cause of worry—Australia also irritating

VICTORIA, July 27.—Japan is anxiously watching any steps which the United States may take toward the establishment of an aviation station on the Aleutian Islands and fear of United States attempts to dominate the north Pacific are also fostered in Japan by continued fortification of Pearl Harbor and the other Hawaiian bases by the Americans. Such was the declaration made yesterday before the Canadian Club here by Major General J. H. MacBrien, chief of general staff of the Canadian militia.

"It is an irony of fate that the United States, which compelled Japan to abandon her isolation should now find Japan her greatest rival for the Eastern markets," General MacBrien said. Australians, he added, have irritated Japan by their "White Australia" policy, this being because of the suggestion of inferiority implied rather than because Japanese wished to go to Australia.

DRAW LIKELY CRICKET GAME

Australia and England Unlikely to Reach Decision in Fourth Test Match.

MANCHESTER, July 27.—On Monday, the second day of play in the fourth test match, the situation between Australia and England was approaching a deadlock for with two days gone, only eight Australians had batted in the first inning and there was little prospect of the game ending decisively, with a draw appearing to be the likely result. When the stumps were drawn, the Australians had scored 322 runs, McCarty and Woodfull scoring 109 and 117, respectively.

When play was resumed this morning, the Australians ran the score up to 335 for eight wickets, England then going to bat before 60,000 spectators.

Politics, it is said, may enter the case.

Political Situation in Dominion as Whole.

What they expect will happen in the country as a whole sometimes influences individuals in casting their own votes in an election. Many people think that it is advantageous to have their member of the same political stripe as the party in power. To a certain extent the theory is warranted though, of course, there would be no necessary opposition if all members were on the government side. Surveys of the political possibilities in the country are therefore always interesting. As far as Canada is concerned it looks like a pretty good Liberal chance. It is difficult to perceive where the Conservatives are going to strengthen themselves, but it is easy to see where the Liberals may make gains.

Seems Little Hope For Conservatives.

As despatches, newspapers and personal letters from all parts of Canada begin to pour into the various political headquarters and comparisons of their viewpoints are made it is becoming apparent, now that the first excitement attendant upon the dissolution of parliament has passed, that Premier Meighen will have just as great difficulty in getting his new and short-lived ministry endorsed by the electors as he did by parliament. The majority may be proportionally not much greater than in parliament, but it seems inevitable that it must be on the wrong side for him.

Where Liberals Expect to Gain.

A careful survey of the eastern situation leads to the conclusion that the Liberal forces can count on a gain of about 12 seats east of the Great Lakes.

As this gain is entirely at the expense of the Conservative party it changes the respective strengths (leaving the West exactly as it stands) from 115 Conservatives and 101 Liberals to 113 Liberals and 103 Conservatives.

With the collapse of the Progressive party and the notable tendency to agreement for the elimination of three-cornered contests in the prairie provinces, to say nothing of the defection of the powerful Rogers faction from the Conservative side, the prairies look like almost a clean sweep for Mackenzie King.

Recovery of the five seats in Saskatchewan, of all the rural constituencies of Manitoba and two seats in British Columbia is confidently expected in Liberal circles.

Alberta, where the powerful U. F. A. group is still strongly entrenched, is the most difficult province to size up, but there is no hope in the Conservative camp of making any progress there, so that the Mackenzie King government should be back in the saddle with a majority over all after September 14.

GOVERNOR OF BERMUDA LIKES SALMON FISHING

So He is on His Way to Campbell River, Where He Will Satisfy His Fancy.

WINNIPEG, July 27. — Lieut. Gen. Sir John Asser, governor of Bermuda, has a taste for Canadian salmon and, in order to engage in his favorite recreation, he is now on his way to Campbell River, B. C. Sir John passed through here last night on the Continental Limited of the Canadian National, and reported that, during a short visit in Montreal enroute, he called on Sir Henry Thornton, whom he had been close to in France during the Great War.

As honorary president of the Tyee Club of Campbell River, Sir John has visited British Columbia before and is very keen on the salmon fishing available in that part of Vancouver Island, which is one hundred miles north of Victoria.

SAYS RAILWAY FARES TOO HIGH

Sydney Browning, of New Hazelton, Gives This As His Opinion.

That railway fares, both passenger and freight, are much too high on the northern Canadian National lines and as a consequence are retarding the volume of traffic which would otherwise accrue to the railway is the opinion of Sydney Browning, principal of the Indian School at New Hazelton, who is in the city on a short holiday visit.

Mr. Browning states that the passenger fares as at present set by the Canadian National are not equitable and cited, as an example, the cost of a round-trip ticket between Hazelton and Vancouver as against the cost of a round-trip ticket on the triangular run taking in Vancouver, Jasper Park, Prince Rupert and return to Vancouver. The former fare costs $61.50 for the round-trip, a distance of some 1,360 miles, whereas the latter fare only costs $48.50, a distance of some 1,750 miles.

Mr. Browning's idea is that the Canadian National should inaugurate a local railway motor train service between Prince George and this city, one unit travelling west and one unit travelling east. According to statistics the motor train is the cheapest form of unit operated on the railways at the present time and should enable the railway company to quote low local rates on both passenger and freight traffic. Mr. Browning says there are many people in the interior who would use the railway to a far greater extent if cheaper fares were in force and many farmers who would ship their produce to Prince Rupert if a lower freight rate were in existence.

Many Indians he stated, congregated around Hazelton during the month of July from the Babines and northern territories, and many of them would take advantage of a low fare to come into the city and make purchases.

Roads Important

Mr. Browning is also an ardent supporter for the building of a road to connect between Prince Rupert and the interior country. So many men, he states, now own automobiles that the volume of motor traffic is expanding fast, and only by the building of a good trunk highway between the interior towns can this desirable traffic be encouraged.

TO MAKE LONG TRIP FOR GOLD

Rumor Has It That Stuart Henderson, K.C., Has Second Purpose as Well in North.

Stuart Henderson, K. C., well known Victoria lawyer, arrived in the city on board the Prince Charles yesterday afternoon on his way to Hazelton from which point he will leave on a 600-mile gold seeking trip of several weeks into central and northern British Columbia. Mr. Henderson will be accompanied on this long trip by Simon Gun-a-noot, the famous Indian whom he successfully defended several years ago on a murder charge.

There are few white men in British Columbia whose word and counsel are respected by the Babine Indians like that of Gun-a-noot's lawyer. Although the trip, which they are about to undertake is principally concerned with a quest for minerals, undiscovered by previous prospectors, it is rumored that Mr. Henderson has also been asked to settle differences which have caused discontent for years past among some of the tribes.

With Gun-a-noot as guide, two other Indians, and a train of ten pack horses, Mr. Henderson will leave Hazelton for a secret destination in the interior. The lawyer has amassed a fund of information about the country he proposes to examine, and if there is any gold he expects to find it. He will be away about two months on the trip.

TOPLEY STRIKE IMPORTANT ONE

Douglas Lay, Resident Mining Engineer, Reports on Recent Interior Find

That the new strike of ore near Topley Station in the Bulkley Valley, announced exclusively in the Daily News several weeks ago, is one of the greatest mineral discoveries made in the history of the province, is a conviction growing among mining men.

If ore exposed on the surface for a length of 300 feet and with a breadth of 150 feet persists to a depth of 300 feet, as is deemed more than possible, and if surface values persist, the block so indicated would contain between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000 in ore.

This calculation was made at the British Columbia Chamber of Mines.

Has Great Depth

Douglas Lay, resident provincial engineer, has examined the property which is on Black Mountain, 8 1/2 miles from the Canadian National line, has given a description of the property. His report is commented upon in the Engineering & Mining Journal of New York as follows:

"The deposit occurs near the junction of the rhyolitic tuff and andesite. The mineralized zone is 150 feet wide, and may be more as mineralization penetrates into the andesite. It is exposed for 300 feet along a creek and has been traced for another 300 feet where it disappears beneath drift.

Assays $20 Ton

"Precious metals occur in lenses and stringers composed chiefly of galena and arsenopyrite, the silver probably being associated with the former and the gold with the latter.

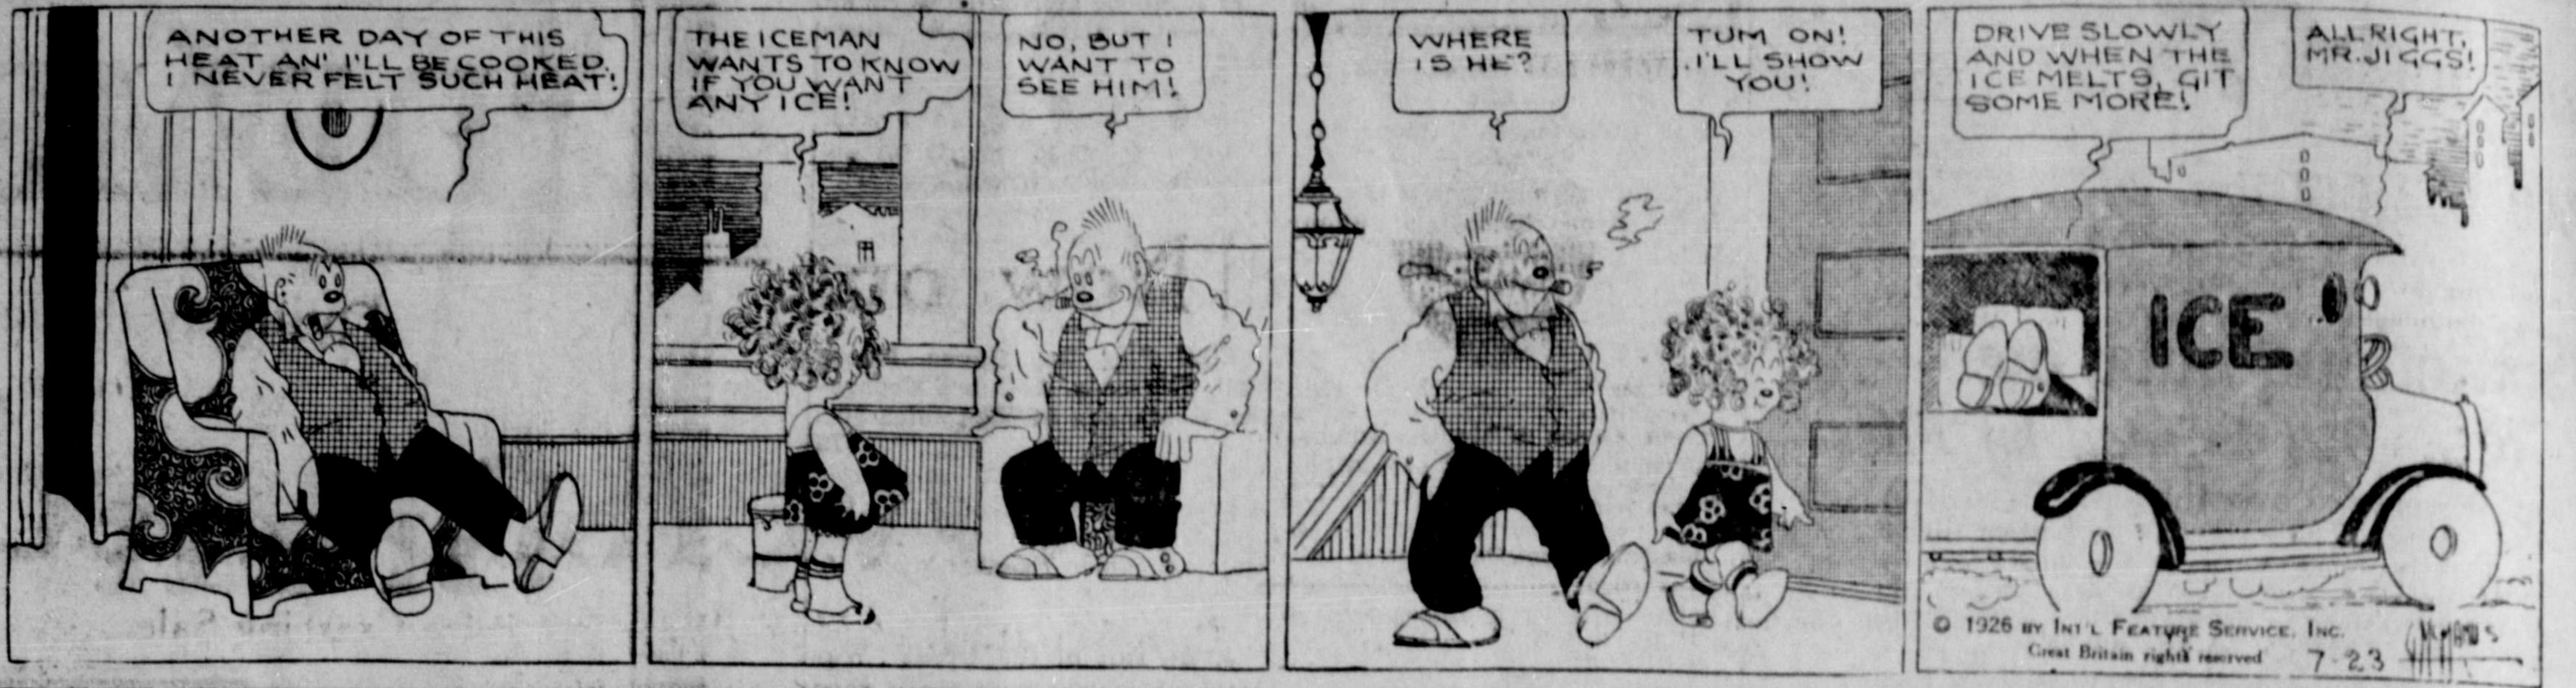

"Samples taken indicate the full width will assay $20 a ton in gold and silver, the value of the silver content usually being slightly higher than that of the gold. On the surface the mineralized zone is so soft that it may be possible to mine with a steam shovel."

ALICE ARM

Mining of high grade ore at the La Rose mine has now commenced in earnest. An ore-shoot and manway has been constructed which will eliminate all shovel work. On Wednesday, the first shipment of ore comprising about a ton, was brought down the hill to the Dolly Varden railway track, and from now on a steady stream will flow.

Roland King, mining engineer of Spokane, who visited the camp a few weeks ago, returned on Monday. He is making an extensive examination of the Esperanza and will also visit the Keystone property on Roundy creek.

G. W. McMorris of Vancouver, manager of the British Colonial Securities Ltd., which controls the Eagle, LeRoy, and Silver Cord properties left on Monday for Vancouver after spending a week examining the properties. He was accompanied by W. S. Bacon, mining engineer of Vancouver.

A fine collection of ores from properties in the district is being assembled at Brugy's old store. Several of the specimens are massive and extremely attractive. With a few specimens of high grade silver ore Alice Arm will have a display at the Vancouver exhibition, which should carry off a prize and doubtless will command attention and admiration.

Miss Duncan, matron of the Anyox Hospital, is spending holidays at Silver City.

Miss Alma Evidson is spending two week's holiday at Anyox with Mrs. C. Ruckhaber.

The Keystone Mining Co. have their program of development work on Roundy Creek property well under way. A lower tunnel has been commenced, which follows the hanging wall of one of the ore bodies. Short crosscuts are being made at intervals into the ore, with satisfactory results. A splendid camp has been constructed. It is proposed to install a compressor plant this summer, and to harness the water power of Roundy Creek where there is an abundance of power available.

VANDERHOOF

John A. Fraser, Conservative candidate for re-election in the Cariboo district, opened his campaign in Vanderhoof last Wednesday night. He spoke at length and thoroughly dealt with Nearly all the main thoroughfares in this district are in better shape than they have ever been before. Prince George to Vanderhoof is being motored in three and a half hours and from Stuart Lake to town in less than two hours.

NEW WESTMINSTER TO SEND BIG EXHIBIT TO PRINCE RUPERT FAIR

As a result of the recent visit to New Westminster of David Thomson, manager of the Fair Board, the New Westminster Fair Board have now intimated that they will send a general agricultural exhibit to the forthcoming exhibition on the same scale and principle as staged at the New Westminster exhibition. In fact it will be a duplicate of the first prize agricultural exhibit at this year's Westminster Fair.

This exhibit will be accompanied and erected by experts at the business and will be a model demonstration of just how an exhibit of this nature should be properly displayed. As the Fair Board expects district exhibits from Prince George, Ootsa Lake,

SPORT CHAT

After a month of fine weather during which time old Jupe Pluvius didn't figure in the plans of local sport circles at all, it is getting back to a case of weather permitting. So, weather permitting, the Gyros and Native Sons will meet in Senior baseball tonight and it should be an interesting match in view of the two teams hot at it for first place honors.

ALPINISTS AT JASPER PARK

Presidents of American and Canadian Clubs Achieve New Feats

JASPER, July 27. — J. W. Hickson of Montreal, president of the Canadian Alpine Club, and Howard Palmer, of New London, Conn., president of the American Alpine Club, have returned to Jasper Park Lodge from an exploration trip into the virgin territory among the peaks in the upper section of the Athabasca valley. During the trip they accomplished the feat of climbing to the top of the hitherto unconquered peak of Mount Fryatt, which they found to be only a few feet less than Mount Edith Cavell and they further distinguished themselves by scaling Mount Lapensee, 13,000 feet, and an unnamed peak with an elevation of 10,000 feet. Neither of these mountains had been scaled before.

When the full story of their trip is written it will tell one of the most exciting tales in the Alpine record of the Canadian Rockies. Their trouble commenced when they attempted to ford the Whirlpool River which flows the Athabasca close to Mount Karkashin. The terrible volume and flow of this river made it impossible to find a ford and the party was finally forced to construct a raft which was negotiated across the swift water with the greatest difficulty. All the packs of the outfit had to be carried on this raft in order that the horses might be able to swim against the current of the stream.

Electrical Air
As they neared the summit of Mount Fryatt they ran into a terrific thunder storm and discovered the air to be so charged with electricity that, for a little while, they were doubtful whether they would survive it. They were forced to bury their ice picks some distance away and to divest themselves of anything metallic they had about their persons. Speaking of this adventure, Dr. Hickson stated that even under these circumstances, and when they had thrown themselves prone on the ground, if any member of the party lifted his hand into the air, a distinct electric shock was felt. After about half an hour, however, the storm passed by and the party proceeded to the summit. The climb, however, had been so hard and delayed to such an extent by the storm that they were forced to spend the night at an elevation of more than 9,000 feet and to return to their base camp the following morning. During the ascent, the two Alpinists discovered a large number of hitherto unknown lakes and they also viewed many unclimbed and unnamed peaks. Dr. Hickson and Mr. Palmer left Jasper Park Lodge via a new route for the Tonquin Valley where they will attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Alpine Club which goes into camp beside Mount Lake at the foot of the rampart range this week. Many Alpinists are expected in Jasper over the week end, the majority of whom will proceed on Monday and Tuesday to the Alpine Club camp over the Meadow Creek trail which passes over the mountains from Geikie station, the first station west of Jasper on the Canadian National Railways.

MEMORIAL TO EDITH CAVELL

Service For Martyred Nurse at Jasper Next Sunday

JASPER, July 27.—Next Sunday afternoon, August 1, at 3.30 o'clock, a memorial service to Edith Cavell, the British war nurse heroine, will be celebrated at the foot of the glacier on the mountain which commemorates her name.

The service will be conducted by Rev. H. A. Edwards, chaplain of Jasper National Park, and will be assisted by the choirs of the Jasper churches and the orchestra of Jasper Park Lodge. It is expected that almost the entire population of the village as well as the majority of guests at the Lodge will attend this unique ceremony.

Mount Edith Cavell is one of the highest peaks in the Canadian Rockies. It rises to an elevation exceeding 11,000 feet and its snow turbaned peak dominates the whole of the Athabasca valley.

Across the north face of the mountain a huge glacier clings its contour almost the exact shape of the outspread wings of an angel and from this it takes its name. Two other peaks rise nearby, Mount Sorrow and Throne Mountain, the triumvirate symbolizing the thought that "out of her sorrow Edith Cavell ascended the throne." At the foot of Cavell nestles a lake pure jade in color, and its name "The Lake of Forgiveness" immortalizes the dying thoughts of this heroine of the great war towards her enemies who murdered her in the fall of 1915.

The service itself will be held immediately at the foot of the glacier. Here the crimson Indian paint brush and blue forget-me-nots literally mingle with the melting snows of the mountain and a profusion of flowers have spread themselves among

JASPER PARK IS FREE OF FIRES

Not a Single Conflagration There While Rest of Country is Suffering

JASPER, July 27. —Although forest fires are reported to be raging in British Columbia and other parts of the mountains, here are no fires in the whole of Jasper National Park or within several hundred miles of it in any direction. Reports to this effect have been received by Col. Maynard Rogers, superintendent of the park, who has maintained an extra large staff of fire rangers and forest wardens throughout the area this summer. Only one small fire has occurred in the park since spring and that was extinguished before much damage had been done.

Heavy rains which covered the whole of the park area last week have lessened considerably the fire hazard within the park and the exercise of reasonable caution by campers, trail riders and others passing through the forested areas, should prevent any outbreak of fire in the Jasper territory.

TO ESTABLISH POST IN NORTH

Corp. Barber of Provincial Going Into Wilds for Three Years

Corporal C. G. Barber of the provincial police force arrived in the city yesterday en route to Fort St. John, where he has been stationed, and from which point he will shortly travel north to Fort Nelson, 325 miles north of Fort St. John, for the purpose of establishing a detachment of the provincial force. He will be accompanied by Constable I. Gunnell and Mrs. Barber.

This detachment, which will be on service at Fort Nelson for the next three years, will be responsible for the supervision of the fur trading in the country around Fort Nelson and will only be in receipt of one mail a year. The detachment will go into the north via Edmonton and Peace River crossing.

There are only some fifteen or twenty white trappers around Fort Nelson and Mrs. Barber will be the only white woman in that country, her nearest neighbor being 325 miles distant, namely at Fort St. John.

Corporal Barber has just returned from Essondale, to which point he escorted an insane person from Fort St. John.

ITALY'S WHEAT CROPS DEFICIENT

Total of 25,000,000 Quintals Must Be Imported.

ROME, July 27.—Bread is now the absorbing topic both in the newspapers and in ordinary conversation. In order to reduce the excessive charges on importing foreign wheat, Benito Mussolini, the premier, last year started a "battle of grain" with such good results that farmers immediately put a large amount of arable land under wheat. What should have resulted in around 80,000,000 quintals of home-grown grain dropped to somewhere between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 quintals owing to the unusually long rainy season.

In fact, Italians for the first time in many years see crops rotting in the fields, which in ordinary summers long since were safely garnered. Twenty-five million quintals must, therefore, be imported, costing the country over 4,000,000,000 lire, thereby lowering its value.

In order to import as little as possible this year, hoping for a better harvest next, the government is seriously considering the mixing of corn and other non-wheat cereals, averaging 15 per cent.

The Milan municipality is already allowing the sale of a family loaf with 20 per cent corn flour, giving a 22 per cent advantage on the price of the wheaten loaf.

FELT : HATS

That Felt Hats are popular and sold for summer wear on a big scale is the opinion of "WOMEN'S WEAR" Magazine, published in Toronto. BUT— WHY IS IT SO POPULAR? 1st: Because it is stylish and neat looking. 2nd: Because we have them in any color to match your costume. 3rd: Because it does not soil easily with rain. 4th: Because it is reasonable in price. Our hats, although of the best makes, such as RITZ & BAKER, range from $2.75 to $4.75. Velour Hats from $7.00 to $7.50
