Budget Commended by Forke in Speech but Conservatives Oppose

OTTAWA, April 21.—Robert Forke, leader of the Progressives, expressed approval of the budget income tax reduction and the lowering of the tariff on autos.

In regard to the change in the automobile tariff, Mr. Forke ventured to prophesy that most of the companies in Canada making autos would be going ahead in a short time and doing just as good business as they had done in the past. "If any business couldn't get along with 27½ per cent protection," argues Mr. Forke, "then there's something wrong with that industry."

OTTAWA, April 21.—Hon. R. J. Manion yesterday moved a Conservative amendment to the budget regretting that assurances given in the speech from the throne that tariff changes be referred to the board had not been fulfilled.

Day With Britain and Norway Does Not Extend Legal Rights of Country

NEW YORK, April 21.—The effectiveness of the treaties with Great Britain, Norway and other countries permitting the United States to seize rum runners at any point within an hour's sailing distance of shore was greatly limited today by a decision of the court of appeals setting aside that the treaty does not allow the extension of territorial jurisdiction of the United States.

The court dismissed the seizure proceedings against the British steamer Diamantina and a Norwegian vessel.

MCMULLIN AND COUNCIL MEET

Transfer of Police Authority to be Discussed at Special Meeting Tonight

BURIED MAN RESCUED

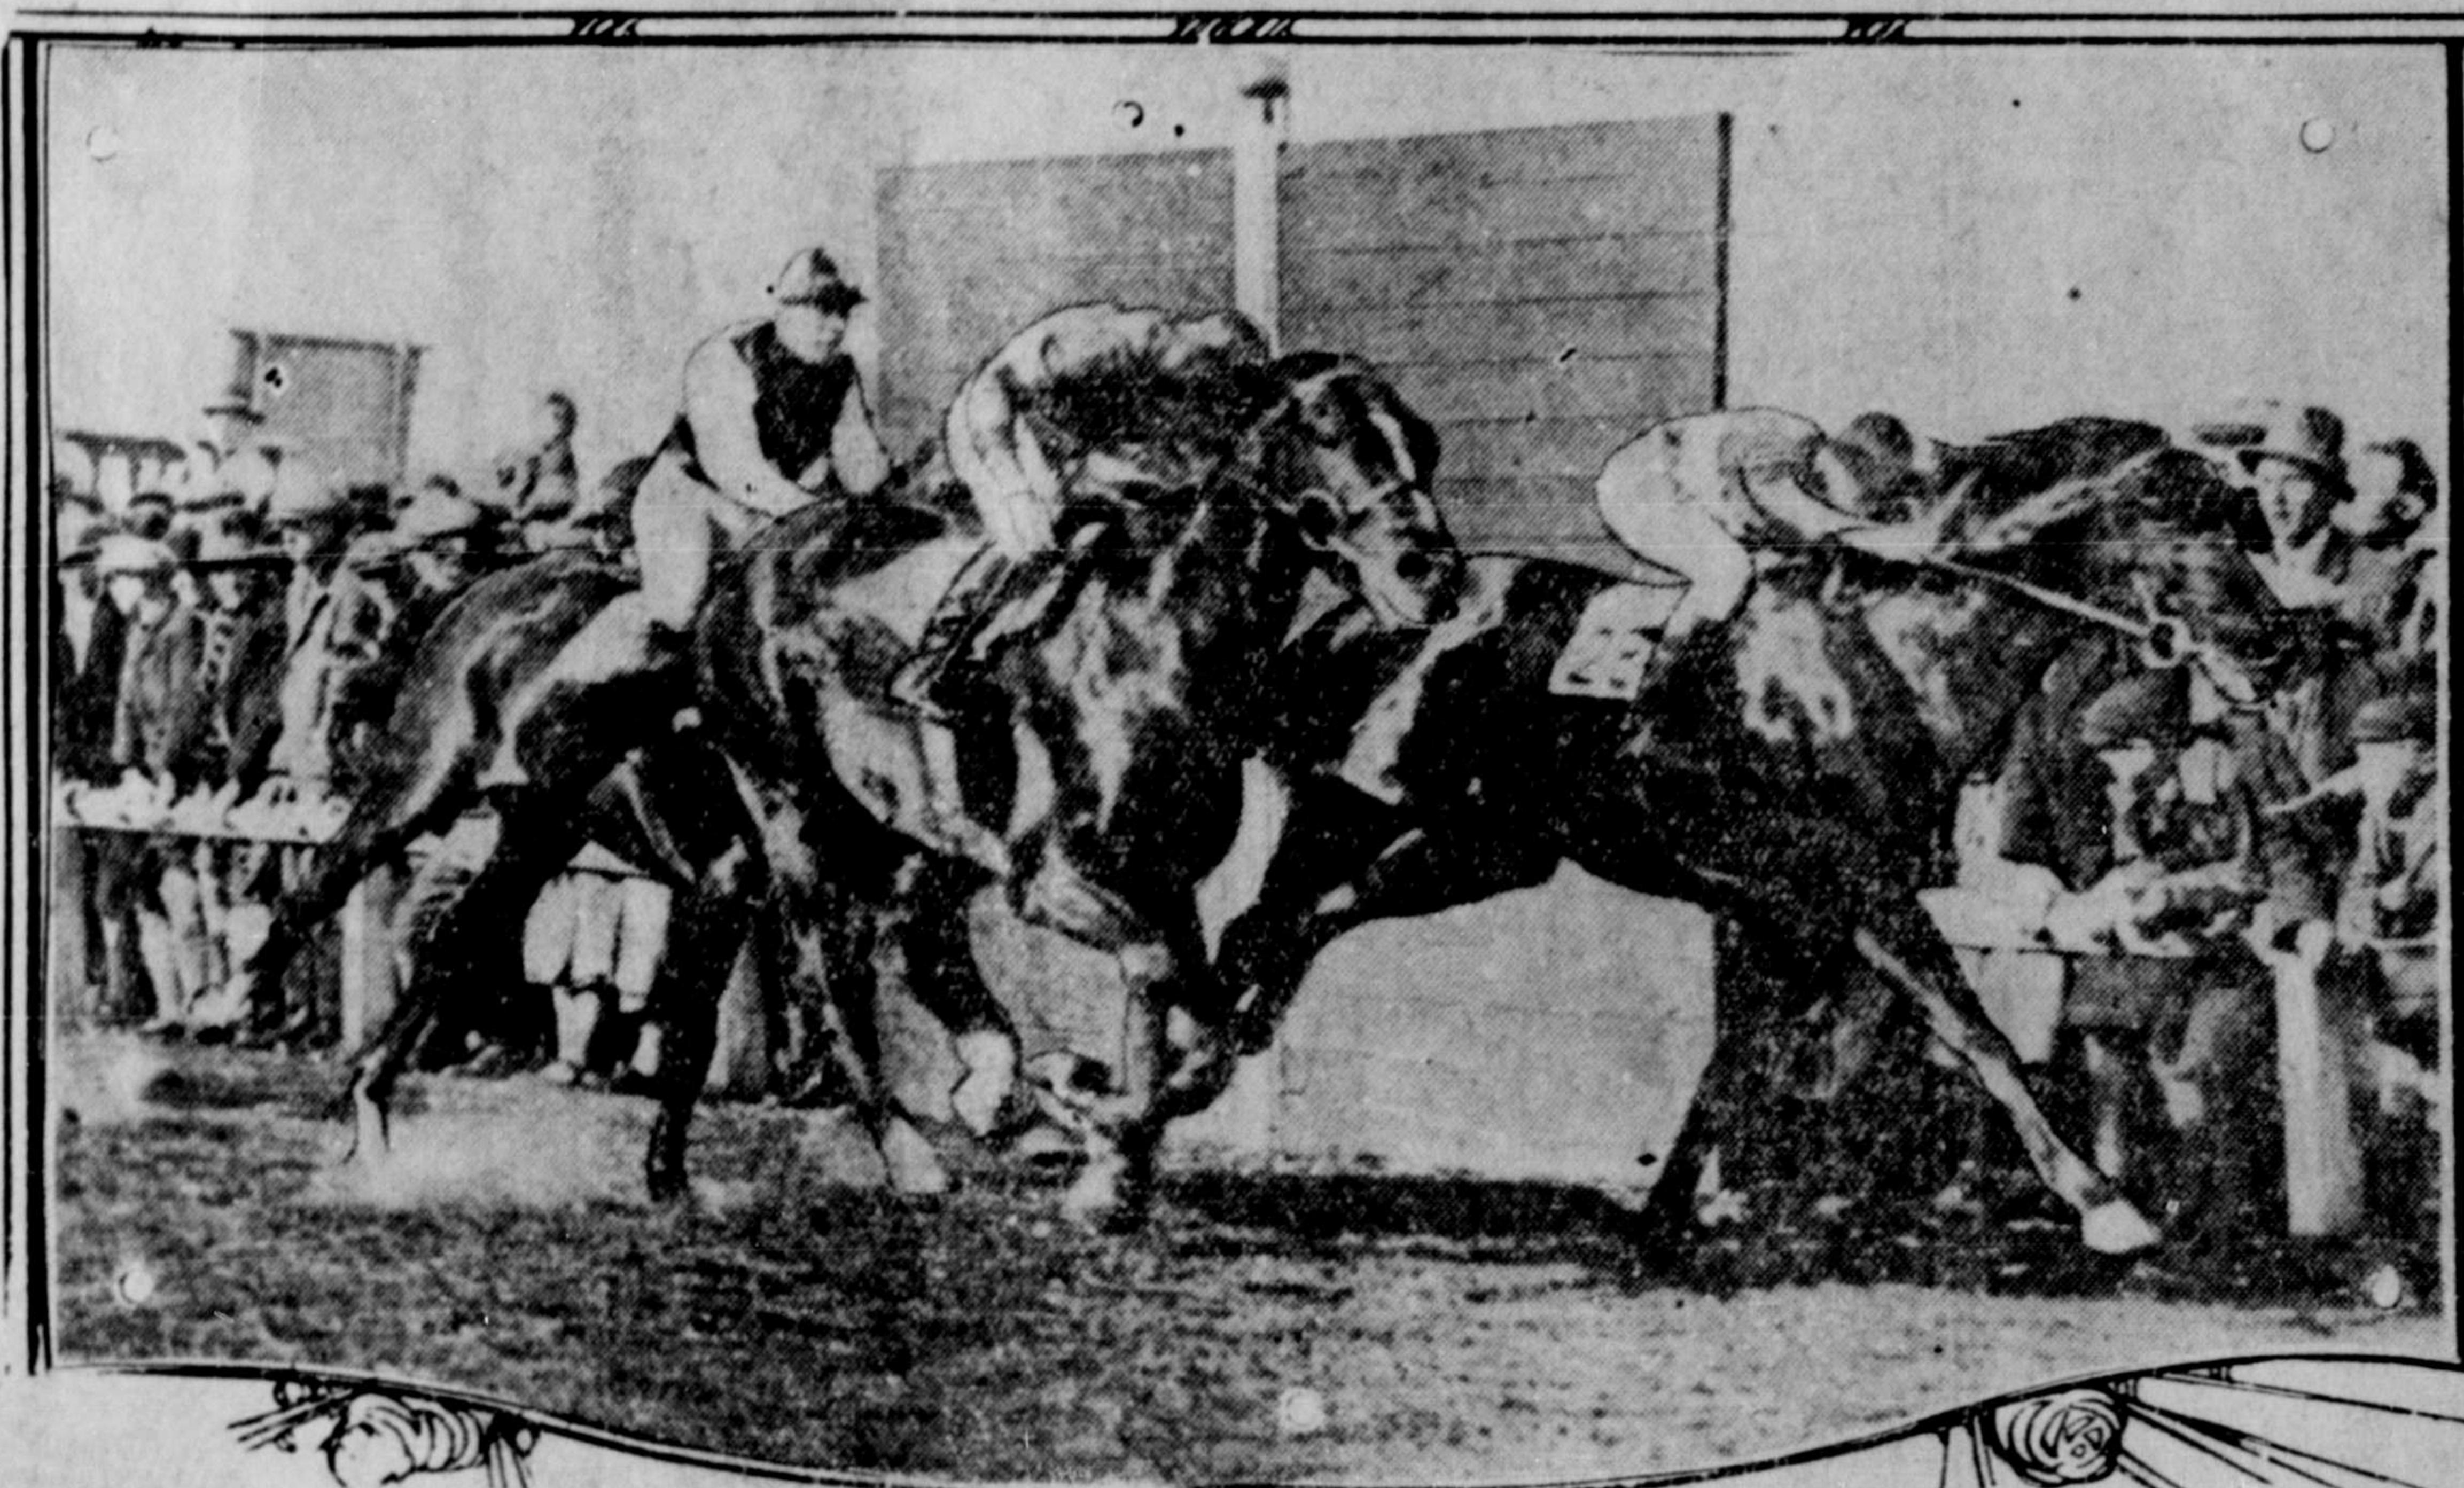

Thomas McDermott Taken Alive From Tunnel After Being There Since Saturday

There will be a special meeting of the city council tonight to discuss with Col. J. H. McMullin, superintendent of provincial police, the transfer of police authority in Prince Rupert from municipal to provincial control. Having been advised that Col. McMullin was coming, the council last night, on motion of Ald. Brown, seconded by Ald. Perry, decided to have the meeting with him this evening.

Col. McMullin arrived from Victoria on the Prince George today and expects to return south Friday morning.

Prize Offered Swimming Club by Hon. T. D. Pattullo for Best Boy or Girl Learning This Year

The question of providing ample accommodation for swimming at the Salt Lake and the encouragement of local children to learn to swim is being given an impetus by an offer made by the swimming club by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, member for this district, who has offered a prize for the best beginner. The letter which is self-explanatory, follows:

C. H. Elkins, President Prince Rupert Swimming Club.

I wish to offer a prize of $10 for the boy or girl who, beginning to learn to swim after May 15 is in the opinion of your committee, the best swimmer at the end of the season, September 15.

I think that every boy and girl should learn to swim and it occurs to me that the offering of a prize might create some little interest.

Faithfully yours,

T. D. PATTULLO.

Mr. Elkins is planning to call a general meeting of the Swimming Club within a week or two and in the meantime is anxious that the newly appointed park board shall outline its policy so that the club may know what action to take when it meets. The season when the lakes will be used is now practically here and prompt action he thinks is desirable.

Cannery Tender Buried Beneath Sand Wrecked at Dry Bay in Alaska

CORDOVA, April 21.—A sand storm at sea caused the loss of the cannery tender "Uncle John" at Dry Bay, 275 miles southeast of here. Captain Ludwig Torgenson declared yesterday when he arrived with his crew.

The captain said the vessel was seeking shelter from the gale when she foundered. Dense clouds of sand came over the water caused by an offshore wind. The vessel grounded on a bar and tipped over and was practically buried under sand three days later.

BATTLE FOR GRAIN TRADE

Purchasers of Spillers Elevator at Vancouver Part of Ring of Private Dealers

WINNIPEG, April 21.—The sale of the Spillers elevator of Vancouver and of the Alberta Pacific string of elevators to James Stewart of Winnipeg is said to mark the commencement of a big fight for business between the Wheat Pool and private interests here of whom Stewart is one of the most outstanding.

The dealers now have eight million dollars tied up in Alberta and coast elevators, the chain of 11 in Alberta having cost them $6,000,000.

There is a close alliance between the Stewart interests and the Maple Leaf Milling Company, the Federal Grain Company, and the James Stewart Terminal Elevator Company. This group will now be in a position to put up an effectual opposition to the absolute control of the prairie grain business by the pools.

Canadians For Canada Good Doctrine.

The doctrine "Canadians for Canada" is a very good one but whether its use as a slogan will have any material effect on the thought and actions of the people is a different matter. Canada today is being made. Hitherto most of the influences in the making have come from without but today the nation is acquiring a soul and is working from within. It is a happy change and one that will eventually lead to real nationhood. It is a great thing to see the young men and women of today, the sons and daughters of those who came from other countries, taking an interest in national affairs and feeling within them the impetus to self-government.

Well To Seek Always After The Truth.

It is a good thing during a period of flux, such as the country is at present undergoing, to consider well the truth and falsity of everything we are told. Take as an instance the lecture delivered here the other evening by Walter McRae. He was rather inclined to strain after effect and to see only one side of the picture. In the matter of "colonials," twenty or thirty years ago his address would have been very appropriate for Canadians were then known as "colonials" to some Old Country people, but today that is all passed. British people do not use the expression any more unless it be, perhaps, a few snobs of the older type who have failed to keep up with the times and who do not count. It is rather the method of the politician to set up idols in order to knock them down, especially when they are unpopular idols. So he set up the idol of "colonialism" and proceed to throw rocks at it until it fell. It was but a paper doll all the time and not worthy of the eloquence of so good a speaker.

Immigration And This Country.

Another subject on which any person is bound to get a favorable response is that of immigration. Mr. McRae said he preferred to make the conditions so good here that those now here could live rather than to bring in immigrants. Of course we all believe in that. If bringing in immigrants made conditions worse we should be the first to oppose it but we do not believe it does. We are inclined to the opinion that bringing more people into the country to fill up the vacant agricultural lands is good for the farmers already here, in that it enables them to market co-operatively and to acquire more of the amenities of life. It is good for the business people and for the railways and other public service corporations. In fact the country benefits from population as long as it is selected carefully, as is being done now. Mr. McRae's objection was to wholesale immigration of the unfit or unsound and that was stopped long ago. He set up another idol in order to be able to knock it down. He acknowledged that children of immigrants were able to outclass the children of the older residents yet objected to them coming.

Thorough Believers In Canadianism.

We are thorough believers in a true Canadianism, established on sound principles but object to having it bolstered by unsound reasoning based on false or misleading statements or insinuations. This country is so wonderful and its people are so full of energy and have such splendid opportunities that it needs no artificial bolstering to make them proud of their country or of their people. We are among the salt of the earth and know it so why talk about it? By all means let us "all be for Canada" and the way to do that is not so much by talking about it as by making our own little bit of Canada the very best we know how. If we did not believe in Canada we should not be here.

OLIVER TELLS OF HIS CLAIM

Gives Brief History of Railway Building to Show Why Lands Should be Returned

ADDRESSES ROTARY CLUB

Premier Says Province Paid For Railway in Lands and Also in Share of Cash

NELSON, April 21.—"I am not going to Ottawa to pick a quarrel, not in hostile spirit, but as friend to friend, neighbor to neighbor, as part of one big Canadian family, saying to the Dominion government that I want you to deal with us with justice and equality, and to co-operate for something which would be of great benefit to all concerned." So stated Premier John Oliver, at the Rotary Club luncheon. He was explaining his mission to Ottawa to confer with the government there, seeking the return of unalienated railway lands in the Peace River block and the Dominion railway belt.

Basis of Union

Premier Oliver spoke to over 40 Rotary members and guests and his speech was a brief skeleton sketch of the history of the railway construction into British Columbia and the basis of union of British Columbia with the Dominion of Canada.

The premier explained that he was on his way to Ottawa in connection with an application made by the government of British Columbia to the Dominion government to return to the province of British Columbia the unalienated lands granted to the Dominion government for the purpose of aiding in the construction of the Canadian Pacific railway.

For the past five years, he said, he had been carrying on freight rates discussions, and while there was a relation between the freight rate issues and his present mission to Ottawa, the relation was somewhat remote.

Negotiate For Union

The speaker recalled that in 1869 when the Colonial secretary, the Earl of Granville, expressed a desire for British Columbia to join confederation following a conference at Ottawa to negotiate terms for union, the principal item was the construction of the Canadian Pacific railway, undertaken by the Dominion government, and the large grant of lands to be made by the province toward payment for the railroad.

When the delegates met at Ottawa, the policy of the then government was that the Canadian Pacific railway should be constructed at the cost of public lands of Canada. Ontario had granted nine million acres and provisions were made that Manitoba and the Northwest Territories should make public land grants in the same ratio.

The conference put British Columbia in the same category, but it was stipulated that the British Columbia land grant was not to exceed 20 miles on either side of the railway.

No Plan for Burden

When the terms of union by which British Columbia entered confederation went to Ottawa, Sir George E. Cartier was in charge. He pointed out that it was not the intention of the Dominion government to add any debt or burden of taxation through the construction of the Canadian Pacific railway. The railway was to be built, only at the cost of the public lands, some of which were to be handed to the railway, and some of which were to be used to raise money through marketing them. Owing to the circumstances arising later that contract with the Canadian Pacific railway was not carried out. Later under the government of Alexander MacKenzie, parts of the railway were under construction.

When Sir John MacDonald was returned the original policy of construction was renewed and a series of resolutions introduced setting out a policy calling for a million acres of public lands to be donated to the government for sale and for the railway company. The railway was to be built at the cost of the public lands. That policy, said Premier Oliver, was the basis of the terms of union and for the construction of the railway.

Sir Charles Tupper

In 1884 that policy was reiterated by Sir Charles Tupper who explained the contract before the Dominion house. That was the policy of the government but the results were different. When the contract was made the government entered into contracts for construction from Emory Bar to Kamloops Lake. Other work was entered between Fort William and Winnipeg. In the contract with the present railway the company was to receive 25,000,000 acres, $25,000,000 in cash, and completed road worth many millions.

Instead of the full cost of the railway being met by the public lands, there was only 25 million acres devoted toward this. Eight million acres of the land was bought back by the Dominion from the Canadian Pacific railway company which received cash. After the resale of land to the government, the company had received altogether net 18,000,000 acres, and cash and completed road to a value of $75,000,000.

Contributed Whole Cost

Thus, stated the premier, British Columbia contributed its full quota of lands, had the whole cost been met out of the public lands.

"As there was $75,000,000 cash put into this road, we in British Columbia have paid, not only in lands, but in cash. We have paid twice for the same thing."

That being the case you will agree that British Columbia has a good claim for the return of unalienated lands conveyed to them," said the premier.

In 1889 the Dominion government had demanded a larger additional amount of lands from British Columbia owing to alleged worthless lands in the mountains. In 1884 the provincial government actually conveyed the railway lands and the Peace River block to the Dominion government.

The complete amount of lands British Columbia was entitled to convey to the government was five million acres. As a matter of fact British Columbia has conveyed 14 1/4 millions of acres, or in excess of nine million acres more than was required to construct the railway on the basis of union," said the speaker.

"I as premier am going to Ottawa to restore these lands to British Columbia," he said.

P.G.E. Situation

Apart from the railway terms of union there was another factor. It was that, without placing any blame on anyone, the province was in the position today of owning the Pacific Great Eastern. It was in a position of losing two and a half million dollars every year through its operation. That, said the premier, was not the biggest problem British Columbia had to face. The big problem was to get rid of the burden or part of it. Legislation had been brought down at the last session to induce capital to take over the line. For this purpose a grant of 16 million acres of unimproved land was set aside.

Can Spare The Land

"We can better spare 16 million acres of unimproved land than we can stand the loss of two and a half million dollars yearly," said the premier.

To encourage or induce any body of capitalists to take over and to complete this line into the Peace River country it was necessary to give a substantial inducement. His plan therefore was to apply to the Dominion government for the restoration of three and a half million acres of land in the Peace River district.

This land embraces the largest portion of agricultural land in the Peace River area. The railway line if extended must pass through this block which was far greater value than the 16 and a half million acres of land to be granted by the government.

The premier concluded by his statement that he was not going to pick a quarrel but was going to Ottawa to seek co-operation for the benefit of all concerned.

FORMER RUPERT MAN BUSY AT VANCOUVER

Harry Atkins Settles Down in Western Suburb and Again Makes Sausages

Harry Atkins, a popular old timer of Rupert who left the city last summer on account of his health, has now taken up his permanent residence in West Vancouver, where he started business a few months ago. Mr. Atkins says there is a very optimistic feeling among West Vancouver people, who expect to do a great deal of business during the tourist season this summer, as hundreds of people rent bungalows for the whole of that time or come over from the city during the week ends. He himself hopes to make "Atkin's famous prime beef sausages" as popular there as he made them in Rupert, as only two people in Canada, he and his brother, know the secret of their flavor and manufacture.

I could get nothing to help them until one night, a friend who was staying with me, advised me to give

LIFEBOUY as the "Ounce of Prevention"

How true that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

It is Lifebuoy's mission to prevent infections of the skin. Every normal skin is a healthy skin—clear, firm, velvety to the touch and without blemish.

The mild, creamy lather of Lifebuoy, the ultra-refined soap, goes down into the pores and antiseptically cleanses, purifies and beautifies.

To use Lifebuoy as a habit is to have a clear, fine skin, hence a normal, healthy skin.

So many have discovered by experience the great value of Lifebuoy as a protector against germ infection that Lifebuoy is the most widely used soap in the world.

SEAN O'CASEY SECURES PRIZE

Irish Playwright, Formerly Dock Laborer, Honored In London

LONDON, April 21.—The latest honor that has fallen to Sean O'Casey is the Hawthornden Literary Prize of £100, instituted by Miss Alice Warrander in 1919. Mr. O'Casey is the author of Juno and the Paycock, which for some time has been running in London theatres, and The Plough and the Stars, more recently produced in Dublin. Not very long ago Mr. Casey was a dock laborer. He came from Ireland to London to see Juno in its metropolitan setting, and has been lionized by literary and dramatic circles. But no compliment paid him—except the favor of the public—can have equalled the tribute to his play which came from Lord Oxford and Asquith in presenting him with the Hawthornden Prize.

Objects to See Plays

I suppose (said Lord Oxford) there are a good many playgoers here—one of the most intelligent classes in the community—but which of us who belong to the class have not by now become heartily sick of the stale and monotonous reproduction of what is called the sex problem, with its triangles, its complexities, and its more or less thinly disguised indecencies, both of language and of situation?

During the last twelve months we have had a relief and a revelation in the discovery of a still young man, who has produced on the stage here in London a work which I do not myself, so far as my own judgment is of any value, hesitate to describe as the most moving and impressive drama that we have seen for ten, of may be fifteen or even twenty years. I mean the drama, Juno and the Paycock.

Spoke in Gaelic

Mr. O'Casey, who has learned Gaelic, chose to begin his thanks in that language. Happily for the comprehension of his audience, he went on in English. He would like, he said, to accept the prize also as a tribute to the drama of the Abbey Theatre and to the wonderful acting of the Abbey players.

CREDIT BUREAU IN CITY IS PLANNED

Buyers' Week to be Held Again this Year by Retail Merchants' Association

The Retail Merchants' Association is considering the advisability of establishing a credit bureau in the city and is also working on plans for the holding of a Buyers' Week again this year in connection with the exhibition.

The regular monthly dinner meeting of the Association was held last night in the St. Regis Cafe with President P. R. Linney in the chair. There was a good attendance of members and guests were Messrs. Hall and Lumsden of Vancouver.

Sub-committees of the Association are being formed with the following as chairmen:

Dry goods and men's furnishings—George Bryant.

Grocers and butchers—L. Murray Fuller.

Bakers and confectioners—T. Andrew.

Stationery and printing—F. Dibb.

Hardware, paints and house furnishings—A. W. Edge.

DISORDERLY HOUSE AND ASSAULT CHARGES ARE HEARD IN POLICE COURT

Violet Smith alias Jean Morin, the same woman who was described in Vancouver despatches as "Mrs. Viennet" at the time she allowed one, Virginio Duranti, his freedom from Okalla Prison after having kept him there three years for debt, appeared in the city police police court this morning and, pleading guilty to the charge, was fined $50 for being the inmate of a disorderly house at 768 Comox Avenue, better known as the "Bath House."

In connection with the same case, there was a charge of assault laid by George Wilson against Marcel Viennet. The assault was alleged to have taken place just outside the "Bath House." Viennet was given the benefit of the doubt and the charge against him was dismissed with a caution.

CITY WILL BUILD ARCH OF WELCOME TO VISITING SHRINERS

Will Not be of Permanent Nature But Such as May be Used for Other Occasions

On recommendation of the board of works, the city council decided last night to erect an arch at the corner of Fulton Street and Third Avenue at an estimated cost of $100. The arch is to be ready for the forthcoming visit of Shriners but will be of such a nature that it may be later used for other purposes. The Shriners themselves are to build an arch on Third Avenue in the vicinity of Sixth Street and the railway company will put one up near the wharf.

Ald. Stephens suggested that the city arch should be permanent in nature so that it might be used continuously. To put up a permanent arch such as suggested by Ald. Stephens, it would cost $300 Ald. Perry stated. Ald. Jos. Greer felt that the city could not afford such an expenditure at this time. Finally it was decided to accept the board of works' report. Under the report, the city will put the framework of the arch but it will be incumbent upon the Shriners or such organizations as use it to look after its decoration.

VISITING LECTURER SPOKE TO STUDENTS

Walter McElroy, the visiting lecturer, addressed the students of the High School yesterday afternoon on Canadian ideals in which he stressed the importance of taking a deep interest in civic affairs and Canadian history. He emphasized the fact that there was a large amount of high class Canadian prose literature and poetry and he illustrated the statement by giving a number of selections from the Canadian poets, much to the enjoyment of members of the classes.

SAVE THE FOREST MEETING TERRACE

TERRACE, April 21.—An appeal was made to the people of the district to prevent forest fires at a meeting in the G.W.V.A. hall here Monday. R. E. Allen presided and the speakers were Olof Hanson and P. S. Bonny. Both asked for co-operation in fire fighting and preventive measures.

Public Opinion

Mrs. Peel replied that most of these things depend on the formation of a strong public opinion. When they had produced that they could confidently approach members of Parliament or borough councillors. Ultimately the association would be able to put its members in touch with traders who would supply what they wanted in the way they wanted it.

SUGGESTED MERGER ATLANTIC FISHERIES

April 21, 1916.

Flags are being flown in Prince Rupert today to mark the first anniversary of the battle of St. Julien when a handful of Canadian soldiers stemmed the oncoming German masses in counter-attack.

During a fire at the Royal Hotel the day before yesterday, the grips of J. E. Settrington and Archie Macdougall, Hazelton prospectors, were stolen.

A scoreless draw was the result of a football game played yesterday afternoon between the Callies and the rest of Prince Rupert.

Three Big Concerns May Join Forces at Other Side of Continent

TORONTO, April 20.—It is understood that three of the largest fisheries concerns on Canada's Atlantic coast have been approached with proposals for a merger of their interests. A Montreal investment house is mentioned in connection with the negotiations.

The three fisheries enterprises mentioned are Maritime Fish Corporation; National Fish Corporation and Atlantic Fisheries. They control the bulk of the trade in deep water fish on Can-

SERIOUS CHARGE IS LAID AGAINST BRUCE

Police Sergeant McGlinchy Will Not be Able to Resume Duty For Some Time Following Scuffle

Neil Bruce appeared in the city police court yesterday afternoon and was formally charged with the serious offence of resisting a police officer in the execution of his duties. Edward Hearn was charged with obstructing an officer. Both were remanded for eight days.

City Police Sergeant Hugh McGlinchy, whom Bruce assaulted on Monday night, is at his home under the doctor's care and it will be some time before it will be possible for him to resume his duties. His eyes are alleged to have been gouged by Bruce with his nails in the scuffle. One of them was particularly badly injured.

HOUSEWIVES' UNION IN GREAT BRITAIN

Will Deal With Prices and Insist on Cleanliness in Handling of Food

LONDON, April 21.—The British Housewives' Association held its first public meeting. It seeks to organize women throughout the country to deal with prices, to insist on the clean handling of food, to prevent adulteration, and generally to improve the conditions of home life. Mrs. Drapper, a member of the Food Council, presided and urged men to show more concern for the difficulties women had in spending the household money.

Mrs. Wilson, another member of the Food Council, spoke as a member of the working classes saying that years ago she had to "keep house" on 10s a week.

Mrs. S. S. Peel, the chairman of the association, remarked on the need for its activities in this country; such bodies had existed in Australia, the United States, Germany, and the Scandinavian countries for some years.

A member of the audience asked how all the objects of the association were to be achieved, and pointed out that it was no use appealing to the womanhood of England unless they were told how they might secure these improvements.

Public Opinion

Mrs. Peel replied that most of these things depend on the formation of a strong public opinion. When they had produced that they could confidently approach members of Parliament or borough councillors. Ultimately the association would be able to put its members in touch with traders who would supply what they wanted in the way they wanted it.

SIDEWALK ON SEVENTH AVENUE IS PROPOSED

Board of Works to Report on How Far It Will go—Designed to Protect School Children

Primarily to serve as a protection for the traffic of school children, the city council is planning the building of a sidewalk on McBride Street from Sixth to Seventh Avenues and along Seventh Avenue to Hays Cove Circle or beyond.

The board of works having recommended that local improvement bylaws providing for the work be introduced, discussion at last night's council meeting developed as to whether the sidewalk along Seventh Avenue should terminate at the circle or continue around to Sixth Avenue. Some of the aldermen felt that it would meet the requirements to have the sidewalk built just as far as the circle. Ald. Casey pointed out that in all probability it would become necessary in the near future to close the trestle on the north side of the circle and in that case, all traffic would be diverted to the south side. There would then be congestion there and he felt that it might be wise to have the sidewalk put in there so as to protect pedestrians.

It was decided to refer the matter back to the board of works for further report.

STEWART

Charles Tucker, who was formerly connected with the Indian police at Bella Coola, has arrived at Prince Rupert.

Work is to start at once on the construction of a 100-ton concentrator, power plant and tramline at the Dunwell mine with the hope of having the new equipment in operation this summer. The tram formerly used at the Roche de Boule mine at Hazelton has been purchased by the Dunwell. Lloyd C. White of San Francisco, who was in charge of the Portland Canal mill here in the early days, will have charge of the installation work.

Mrs. J. Osborne is in Prince Rupert to have an operation performed.

Ben Lawrence has returned after a visit to Portland and Astoria.

Mrs. A. W. R. Ashley and family have left for Saskatoon where they will visit with relatives. Rev. Mr. Ashley is spending the week in Prince Rupert.

The Stewart Assembly of the Native Sons of Canada has elected officers as follows: President, H. E. Scovil; first vice-president, A. B. Armstrong; second vice-president, George Cameron; treasurer, Duncan McLean; secretary, L. M. Gordon; chaplain, Sidney Fraser; sergeant-at-arms, Sidney Wickwire; inside guard, James Comer; outside guard, J. Peck McSwain.

The Women's Auxiliary of Stewart General Hospital has elected officers for the year as follows: President, Mrs. A. E. Young; vice-president, Mrs. J. Hilton Wilson; secretary, Mrs. W. J. Crawford; treasurer, Mrs. W. R. Hull.

Charles Goldberg, outside foreman at the Premier mine, has left for Portland, Oregon, on a holiday visit and, during his absence, his duties are being taken over by J. W. Fayer.

Mrs. Gillander, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Irwin at Premier for some months, has returned to her home in New Westminster.

The Marmot Metals Ltd. will commence its development campaign for this season about May 1.

ALICE ARM

Another good-sized high grade vein of ore has been uncovered on the Esperanza mine and is now being worked. Thirteen tons of ore were shipped from the property last week, some going to Anoxo smelter and the balance to Tacoma.

Mrs. Martin has arrived here from Stewart and is spending a vacation as the guest of Mrs. H. F. Kergin.

Charles Lindberg has returned to Alice Arm after having spent the winter in Anoxo.

Roy McKinley, who recently returned here from Prince Rupert, has opened up business in the Coliseum building.

Another vein of high grade silver ore has been encountered on the Wolf mine.

AERIAL PATROL IS CANCELLED

Chief Inspector of Fisheries Here to Make Arrangements For Other Means of Protection

To make arrangements for other means that will have to be devised to patrol the salmon fisheries during the forthcoming season now that the aerial patrol has had to be cancelled because of slashing reductions in the estimates for the Royal Canadian Air Force, Major J. A. Motherwell, chief inspector of fisheries, and John W. Allen, superintendent engineer for the department, arrived in the city from the south on the Prince George this morning. They expect to return south Friday morning.

With prospects pointing to more intensive fishing than ever before this season, the cancelling of the aerial patrol this year is a matter of much disappointment to Major Motherwell. By hiring patrol boats, etc., the cost of the work of administering the regulations and protecting the fisheries will be three times as much as it would be with the planes and there will not be the same efficiency. Though, as matters now stand, it looks as if the department has lost the aerial patrol, Major Motherwell still may be reconsideration of the expresses the hope that "there matter."

SOCIAL ILLS AND CAUSES

Professor of University of B.C. Says Poverty Not Necessarily Fault of Individual

VICTORIA, April 20.—Social ills and their causes, an analysis of basic human needs and the necessity of their gratification, formed the theme of a lecture delivered by Professor Beckett of the University of British Columbia at the Victoria College as a part of the University Extension course program. Social evils, said the speaker, arose out of a maladjustment of society.

Human life, said Professor Beckett, from a social point of view, is one unit of which every part affects the other even more intimately than the sensitively organized nerves affect the body, which are constantly in inter-communication.

Failure to Harmonize

As poor physical health is the outcome of bodily maladjustment; so social evil was the result of society's failure to harmonize in all its parts.

Society failed to realize, said the Professor, that when certain changes were made in its complex system it was necessary for it to change in other directions, readjust itself, if it were to retain its unity.

Society grew in a very irregular way, said the speaker, one part forging ahead while the other lagged behind. Between the economic process and the legal process there was a vast difference. There was maladjustment here, he said. An improved educational system is necessary, as education falls behind the developing complexity of human life, while religious teaching falls behind social conditions, he asserted.

Various Causes

Changing environment caused individual maladjustment. This resulted in poverty, vice, crime, divorce and the wrecking of homes, among other evils.

Poverty, many claimed, was the fault of the individual, said Professor Beckett, but he reminded his hearers that the individual's life was socially conditioned and therefore society had to accept some of the responsibility for poverty existing in its midst.

Society moves slowly, said the speaker. He pointed out that this is an educational process, and there may come a time when its resources will be more evenly distributed so that its members may all possess the means of gratifying the basic needs of life, thus making universally possible those intellectual pursuits, spiritual experiences and social recreations which contribute to the progress of society.

In speaking of the extension the Bishop stated that upon the completion of the wing the St. Joseph's Hospital will have one of the finest hospitals on the continent. The new building will be equipped with the most modern devices known to the surgical world.

The work will take about a year to complete. The plans are still in the hands of the architects and the contract for the work will be let in the course of a few weeks.

St. Joseph's is a Catholic institution under control of the church but catering largely to Protestant as well as Catholic patients.
