Portland Citizens See Power Company's Truck Robbed by Desperadoes

Heavily armed gang fire volley at only man who attempted to follow robbers who got away with $12,000 in cash

PORTLAND, April 19.—Five desperadoes, armed with rifles and automatic pistols, held up the Portland Electric Power Company's money transfer truck early Sunday morning and escaped with more than 600 pounds of cash and currency of a total value of $12,000.

Scores of citizens witnessed the holdup, including the disarming of both the money guard and the driver of the truck. All were cowed by the heavily armed bandits and none attempted to interfere. One citizen attempted to follow the fleeing outlaws but was made a target for a volley of shots which forced him to give up the chase.

The police believe the gang came from Seattle to commit the crime.

DAILY EDITION Monday, April 19, 1926.

Sad Suicide Of Former President.

Despatches Saturday brought the sad story that John A. Smith, formerly owner of the Prince Rupert Spruce Mills, had taken his own life in California. Apparently he had taken life too seriously and finally resolved to leave it all.

It is a mistake to take life too seriously. A touch of humor lightens every burden. Only recently on a holiday trip a man fell and hurt himself very badly, landing in a curious position and saving himself from what might have been death. The humor of the situation made him laugh and the result was that the holiday trip was not spoiled and he soon recovered.

Of course we all know people who take life too lightly and are never serious. They are as much a menace as the ultra serious but they do not kill themselves, unfortunately.

Action Of Auto Companies Significant.

There is a local difference of opinion in regard to what is meant by the automobile companies in closing down or threatening to do so. The most popular opinion seems to be that they are bluffing but it is possible that some of them really intend to shut down permanently.

One of the difficulties in a protective tariff is that once it is imposed it is most difficult to remove it. The industries receiving the benefit of the protection raise such a howl that they are able to carry their point. Nobody likes to see an industry close.

Edmonton Stages Wonderful Comeback.

Edmonton, which was almost in the hands of a receiver a few years ago, has staged a wonderful comeback. Here is what one of the Edmonton papers says:

Edmonton no longer carries the odium of being in a doubtfully sound financial position. The record of last year, as set forth in the report of the City Comptroller, shows that the finances of the city are in good order and its credit firmly established.

For the first time in several years the city did not have to borrow money last year for current expenses, or issue notes, all obligations as they fell due being met out of funds in hand, and the year closing with a revenue balance of $865,567.78.

Every instalment due to the sinking funds was paid in full. These payments, with the interest on the previous accumulated instalments, added almost $1,000,000 to the aggregate fund last year.

All the short notes held by the Sinking Fund Board were replaced by debentures, on which the interest has been paid fully.

The bank overdraft inherited from previous years was almost eliminated, with a consequent reduction in bank charges from $60,354.13 in 1924 to $22,495.55 in 1925.

An issue of $892,000 of city debentures was sold at a premium of .332.

The city collected more taxes last year than it levied; the fourth successive year in which that has been done. Collections amounted to 85.01 per cent of the current taxes, while 19.43 per cent were paid, amounting to 104.44 per cent of the levy.

The net debt of the city was reduced by $454,241.69.

The civic utilities returned a surplus of $377,673.24, after providing for all charges and setting aside $429,287.01 for renewals.

With an income exceeding the expenditure, funds set aside to meet obligations as they mature, and its utility enterprises more than paying their way, the city is in a strong financial position; and from the continuance of the policy which brought this situation the taxpayers may expect both an improvement in services and a reduction of tax-bills as accumulated burdens are cut down.

"The Sporting Venus" Shows Many Scenes in Old Country Including Scotland

The races at Epsom Downs. The famous Casino at Deauville. A majestic, old castle in Scotland. Views in London's supper clubs. These are some of the things to be on view in Marshall Neilan's production, "The Sporting Venus" here tonight.

Many of the scenes—including the races, the scenes in Scotland and the views of Deauville, were taken on the spot when the director, his technical staff and his actors packed up and journeyed from Hollywood to far-away Europe in order to photograph the exact locales.

Other bits of Europe were re-produced at the studio after Neilan had had sketches made of the things he wanted. The result should be a most interesting and colorful picture, for besides these atmospheric scenes, Neilan has told one of the best stories ever written by the popular Gerald Beaumont and he has some of the screen's favorite players in his cast. "The Sporting Venus" is a combination of comedy and melodrama—a combination that has always been Neilan's best type of work.

Blanche Sweet works under her husband's direction again in the leading role, and Ronald Colman, one of filmland's most popular leading men, plays opposite her.

AMERICAN GIRL AND FOREIGN NOBLEMAN

Unguarded Hour "Tells How Man Was Tamed by the Girl in Unique Manner"

What would happen if a flip-pant, thrill seeking young American girl should set her cap for a conversative, woman-hating young foreign nobleman?

This situation forms the unique theme of "The Unguarded Hour," at the Westholme Wednesday and Thursday.

Milton Sills is starred as the nobleman, and Doris Kenyon has the featured role of the young American girl.

Miss Kenyon answers the question most satisfactorily. She takes Sills, who has the role of an Italian duke who had been most indifferent to feminine charms. But in the end he succumbs, and the manner in which the character is played by Miss Kenyon brings about all this furnishes enough thrills, laughs and heart interest to satisfy any motion picture fan.

Sills, as ever, is excellent in his characterization of the Italian duke. Sills' acting is liked for he acts with such sincerity.

Miss Kenyon is admirably cast and carries one away with her comedy work, as well as her scenes of a highly dramatic type. She proves herself an extremely versatile young woman.

"WILD HORSE MESA" HAS SEVERAL NEW THRILLS

Headlong Charge of Thousands of Wild Horses Down Sides of Canyon

"Wild Horse Mesa" to be shown here at the week end is typical of all Zane Grey pictures. This one is made up of exciting, adventurous events, but with this difference: "Wild Horse Mesa" has several brand new thrills that audiences have never seen before.

The love theme is intensely

Slumber King

Bed Spring

The finest steel fabric spring in all Canada, leads in value

$12.00

There isn't any mystery about the superiorities of the Slumber King. It is more than a mere claim when we say it is the finest steel fabric spring in all Canada.

You can check its advantages yourself. Compare it with any other fabric spring built. See the four rows of sensitive coils joining its 26 flexible steel strips. That is why it conforms to your body, and allows two sleepers to rest in luxury without disturbing each other. Examine the construction that prevents sagging edges. Notice that no sharp edges protrude to tear bedclothes. Realize how easily it can be kept clean.

With all its exclusive advantages, Slumber King is sold by all furniture stores in Canada at the surprisingly low price of $12. Certainly this is the spring you want and need.

Complete your comfort with an OSTERMOOR dramatic. The hero's own brother is his rival and there is the further complication of a third suitor and also the unwelcome advances of an outlaw. On top of this, the Indian chief's attractive daughter is hopelessly infatuated with the hero.

One of the big punch scenes is the pursuit of Jack Holt by three horse thieves in which he is forced to plunge into a swiftly moving stream on horse back to escape. He fords the dangerous current at the risk of his life.

The fight between Holt and Magrill is one of the realistic highlights in the production.

Another scene charged with excitement and suspense is that in which Toddy Nokin, Piute Indian chief, avenges his daughter and saves Billie Dove.

The crowning thrill is the headlong charge at terrific speed of thousands of wild horses down the sides of a canyon toward a barbed wire trap. Holt's breakneck ride in front of the frenzied tide of horses to swerve them away from the treacherous trap is enough to make any audience gasp.

My friend says a puff from his pipe is enough to soothe away his woe, But I never forget One more cigarette No matter where I go.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

A MAN wanted to know today if I could speak French. I told him I could but when he explained that he was a Frenchman, I refused to discuss the matter further.

IF it favors something I don't, its propaganda; if it is in accord with my views it is fact.

I NEVER could quite understand how a man could be driven to drink in Prince Rupert. The beer is not good enough.

THERE'S one thing about most of our brains, they'll never wear out.

NOW that Prince Rupert has forgotten to meet the boats and trains, she may be said to be growing up.

THE wheat market was wild on Saturday and so was the editor. He had another of those spring poems sent in with a request for criticism.

THE mechanical instinct is developed to such an extent in some Prince Rupert people that the wonder is McRae does not sell them for gramophones.

IT used to be that a sword hung over the door in the hall. Today it should be a can-opener.

HOW the time does fly! Here in about two weeks my creditors will be again asking me to settle those old accounts.

LET others sing Of the meerebaum king Or the briar or corn cobh fine, But as for me I'd have you all see That the cigarette is mine.

My friend says a puff from his pipe is enough To soothe away his woe, But I never forget One more cigarette No matter where I go.

Yesterday morning a very happy apology came along and she says she never even hoped to get a cake like she has baked in the "new" way.

FIRE THREATENS OUR NATIONAL HERITAGE !!

Carelessness Destroys 3,000,000 Acres Annually of Canadian Forest

Loss of standing timber by fire continues to be appalling. On the average over 3,500 million board feet are destroyed annually. The forests of Canada are being depleted at a rate they cannot possibly withstand: more than half of this depletion is due to fire, insects and decay. The future of the forest industry is just as dependent on the seedling trees and young growth as the pulp and paper and lumber mills, and industry generally, are dependent on mature timber—both must be saved from the ravages of fire.

Canada has the finest inland fishing in the world, but these splendid food and game fish require clean, cold water in the streams to ensure prolific reproduction. Forest fires are inimical to fish life.

Game animals attract foreign tourists and induce Canadians to seek pleasure, health and adventure in the great outdoors. These animals are distinctly a forest resource—utterly dependent on it for protection and food. Forest fires are most destructive of such wild life.

Ninety per cent of the forest fires are caused by carelessness. Are you doing your part to prevent this wanton waste and destruction?

LARGEST TRAIN OF IMMIGRANTS

No Fewer Than 1250 People Arrived in Winnipeg on Specials Within Hour

WINNIPEG, April 17.—Many of the tongues of Babel contributed to the lively hub-bub which signalled the arrival here last night over Canadian National Railways of the longest immigrant special which has ever reached Winnipeg or western Canada. Another special followed it into the Canadian National Railway depot with more than 500 additional settlers making a total of 1,250 new-comers within the hour.

Thirty-five families under the Empire settlement scheme formed part of the British contingent who were met by government immigrant officials, having landed at Halifax early in the week from the Red Star liner Penland and White Star liner Regina. British farm workers, European agriculturists from Denmark, Holland and Scandinavian countries and selected continentals for farm and domestic service made up the balance.

A large staff of colonization officials and interpreters was engaged in ascertaining the future destination of the various families and booking others to positions on farms throughout the prairie provinces and British Columbia. Last night's trains west carried several hundred of the new arrivals further west, about 500 being destined to Edmonton direct. Several are going to British Columbia to take up farming or join relatives already settled there.
