Party Conferences but Cabinet Appointments Not Being Made Yet

Fred Stork still being mentioned for deputy speakership; number of cabinet members likely to be reduced

OTTAWA, March 8.—The legislative program was under consideration today at a meeting of the cabinet council which was followed by a further conference between members of the cabinet and executive of the Progressive party.

No cabinet appointment was made at the cabinet meeting, Premier Mackenzie King announced at its close.

While it is understood that there will be some cabinet reorganization the process may turn out to be rather a gradual one, having to do with the amalgamation of certain departments with a resultant decrease in the number of portfolios.

New cabinet possibilities mentioned are W. D. Euler of North Waterloo, J. C. Elliott of Mid-disey and James Malcolm of North Bruce.

Fred Stork, member for Skeena, is still mentioned in connection with the deputy speakership, which position will probably be filled shortly.

Cutter Boxer Still Ashore on Whitecliff Island Where She Piled Up Saturday Morning

Heeled over on the starboard side toward the land with her stern in water up to the guards at high tide, the United States government schooner Boxer, which went ashore on Saturday morning while en route from Seattle to Alaska, is still fast on Whitecliff Island off the southern mouth of the Skeena River at a point about 100 feet west of where the freighter Amur was wrecked a couple of years ago.

Attempts to float the vessel since she stranded have so far proved unavailing but it is hoped she may be released on Wednesday morning about 10 o'clock when there will be a 19.5 foot tide or a day or so after when the tides will be even higher. The vessel is not believed to be in much danger provided very severe weather does not come up and, if she can be floated without having to pull her off, it is believed damage will not be extensive.

It is possible she may be brought here for survey but, if extensive repairs are necessary and the vessel can make the voyage, she may be taken back to the Navy Yard at Bremerton. The United States coastguard cutter Cyclone and the Rupert Marine Products tug M.T. 3 are at present standing by. In order to lighten the Boxer, the M.T. 3 is removing a deckload of railway ties onto a scow.

The Boxer is a two masted auxiliary schooner with clipper bow especially designed for service in the ice of Behring Sea and Strait. Her sturdy build and heavy hull will probably have saved her from any severe damage as a result of her stranding. It was the Boxer which rescued the crew of the Hudson Bay schooner Lady Kindersley when she was lost a year ago last fall in Behring Sea.

The United States coastguard cutter Unalga, Capt. Weightman, which came south from Juneau to stand by the Boxer and give her assistance, arrived in the harbor at 9:30 this morning from the scene of the stranding and will return there tonight or tomorrow morning. The master of the Unalga has business here with the United States consul and the collector of customs.

TWO MISSING ON A LAUNCH

Reginald Edwards and Gilbert Sykes on Seabee Not Heard From Lately

VANCOUVER, Mar. 8.—The provincial police have been asked to conduct a search of the coast between Powell River and Gunboat Pass for two men, Reginald Edwards and Gilbert Sykes, who have been missing since February 22. The men left Vancouver February 15, and were last heard of when they sent a postcard to relatives saying that if the weather moderated they planned to leave Powell River next day in their 40 foot gasoline cruiser Seabee for their destination which was the quarry at Gunboat Pass.

Radio fans were appealed to Saturday evening for information regarding the Seabee which carried a receiving set.

VANCOUVER, Mar. 8.—Sykes and Edwards have been located safe at Field's quarry near Bella Coola.

STEALING RIDES TO BE STOPPED

Investigation Department of Railway to Have Man Located Here as Well as on Line

Inspector O. J. Wheatley, of the C.N.R. investigation department, Vancouver, Detective Geo. Kepp and Constable Alex. Martin, arrived in the city this morning and state that there is to be a much more active effort made to look after men stealing rides on the railway or picking up goods which do not belong to them. This morning four men who were stealing rides were picked up off the train but as they paid their fares they were allowed to go.

Inspector Wheatley has charge of the whole of B.C.; Detective Kepp works on the railway between here and the interior and Constable Martin is to be located here.

How Little Things Warp Our Judgment.

Saturday a United States vessel, the Boxer, was passing through the rather narrow but perfectly safe channel west of Kennedy Island. A flurry of snow obscured the vision and before the officers of the ship knew what was happening the Boxer was ashore on Whitecliff Island. The little snowflakes had warped the judgment enough to cause what might have been a catastrophe.

Every day similar things are happening. Had there been a blustering gale the vessel could have sought shelter safely but the little despised flurry of snow was fatal.

Beware Of Little Things That Guide Our Destiny.

All through life it is the little things that affect us most. Sometimes only a suggestion sets us on a new path that may be right or wrong but which is very far from the one intended to be travelled. Even a glance of the eye has deflected many a man from his duty.

The obvious duty then is to study the little things. In business this has always been recognized and some wise man of long ago said: "Take care of the pennies and the pounds will take care of themselves." The idea is to be careful over the little things for the big things will be of such importance that we shall be sure to take care of them.

The housekeeper that looks after the details, the stenographer that does her work well, the workman that is careful to carry out and sometimes to anticipate orders, the mechanic that watches every spring and nut and bolt, all these know that they must be careful of the little things if they are to make a success of their work and of life.

The politician knows that he is seldom defeated at an election because of the broad party policies but rather because of very small things he has done or left undone. Attention to detail is most important in all walks of life.

Welcome Edmonton Visit In Summer.

If the Edmonton Board of Trade decides to visit Prince Rupert, the members will get a hearty welcome. The present trade relations between that city and this are not at present as satisfactory as they might be. Edmonton is the nearest city on the east and is the capital of Alberta and the largest centre of the G.N.R. west of Winnipeg except Vancouver. We buy some goods from Edmonton and they buy some from us but there might be a greater exchange of products and gradually, as this port develops, the business should increase.

One thing against doing business with Edmonton is the heavy freight rate. We are not suggesting that the railway is collecting higher tolls for the service than it ought, except on export grain and flour, but we do know that lower freight rates tend to increase business. Because of the competition and because of the large amount of business of that kind handled, the railway gives a low grain export rate. The domestic rate is much higher, so high in many cases that it cannot compete with the steamship rate to the southern Canadian and American cities so that business which otherwise would go east now goes south.

Settlement Of Queen Charlottes.

It is only twenty years ago that the first settlers went to the east coast of Queen Charlotte Islands, taking up lands at Tlell. While the war and other causes hindered progress there, something has been done and with the completion of the road to Port Clements, settlement will be more rapid and development of the farms greater. Today there is a difficulty in getting produce to market. The Island market is limited and the difficulty of shipping by steamer is very great. Gradually these difficulties will be ironed out and greater progress will be made.

COMING OF AMOS IS A MELODRAMATIC PICTURE

Sheep Rancher, Russian Princess, and Plenty of Thrills in Exciting Film

When Cecil B. DeMille elevated Rod La Rocque to stardom and the leading role in "The Coming of Amos" under the direction of Paul Sloane, it was generally conceded that as a De Mille star this rising young screen actor was assured of fame and fortune. As "Amos," he is given the opportunity to pour forth all the sincerity, all the realism, all the indescribable touches of humor and pathos that he has evidently kept stored away for this momentous occasion.

The story starts in Australia, with La Rocque on a sheep ranch. With breath-taking suddenness it sweeps to the gay Riviera and a life of ease and luxury such as he has never dreamed of. There he meets the beautiful Russian princess, with whom he falls desperately in love, and also the crafty and powerful villain played by Noah Beery.

The perils and dangers that beset him in his courtship of the exotic Russian woman make up the highlights of this highly thrilling and breathtaking screen narrative.

Trixie Friganza and Richard Carle in featured roles give added worth to a highly admirable cast worthy of such a producer and such a story as "The Coming of Amos."

STORY OF FLAPPERS; THEIR LOVE AFFAIRS

"The Best People" to be Seen

The story "The Best People," which takes you into the fashionable Lenox home, will be seen in picture here at the midweek showing. The Lenoxes, wealthy, well bred, rated as among "the best people" of New York, learn, to their dismay, that their son is madly in love with a chorus girl. Coincidentally, their daughter has developed a deep affection for the family chauffeur. Her idea of a real good time is to have him take her to a movie.

The chauffeur, played by Baxter, in reality, is from a good family but up against it since the termination of the World War. Esther Ralston is not the accepted type of chorus girl. She is demure, refined in manner, quietly and tastefully dressed at all times and undeniably beautiful. The son cares little for society and much for strong drink. The World War, in which he did his bit, swept away all his "high hat" ideas.

Abohrs Society

His sister likewise abhors society. She aspires to be a flapper of the exaggerated type, to do the things the chorus girl flapper is supposed to do. And she succeeds fairly well.

The parents decide the strange love affair of the two children must be broken up for the honor of the family, and a meeting is arranged for, through the aid of a gold-digger chorus girl chum of Miss Ralston.

Meeting at Club

This meeting takes place at a notorious New York night club, the objective being for the father to buy off Esther Ralston. But the little gathering only reveals to the father that Miss Ralston is a sensible, hard working girl, a decided contrast in every way to what he had expected. He also finds that she is about the only influence for good in his son's life. He later learns that the chauffeur, too, is well worthy of his daughter.

Result: It isn't so hard to figure out.

REPLIES FROM OTTAWA PEOPLE

R. E. Benson Thanked For Photographs Received of Prince Rupert Elevator

R. E. Benson who recently forwarded about twenty photographs of the local elevator to cabinet ministers and others at Ottawa has received a number of letters thanking him for the picture and some of the letters are quite interesting. Fred Stork, the local member, wrote as follows:

"I wish to thank you for your splendid picture of the Prince Rupert elevator received today and I also wish to say how much I appreciate your public spirit in mailing the picture to many members of the House of Commons and for your letter giving much detailed information in regard to the port."

Team Work

"Nearly every member who has received this picture from you has mentioned the matter to me and it is very gratifying to me to observe this evidence of team work for the building up of Prince Rupert."

Letters were also received from Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Hon. J. H. King, Hon. Rodolph Lemieux, Hon. G. P. Graham, through the deputy minister, from G. W. Cross of Edmonton, and from Robert Forke and D. M. Kennedy. The letter from Mr. Forke follows:

"I am in receipt of your letter and photograph of the government grain elevator at Prince Rupert and note that you say it will be handed over to the government during the coming week."

"I sincerely hope that in the near future Prince Rupert will receive its due share of the wheat crop traffic of the Canadian West. I quite understand the advantage which your harbor possesses in being open all the year round."

Peace River Reply

D. M. Kennedy, member for Peace River in parliament, writes:

"I beg to thank you for your letter of the 20th instant and also for the photo you sent of the government grain elevator at Prince Rupert. I have been making some inquiries here regarding the elevator and it is contended by some that it is not quite complete. I am also making some inquiries from the province of Alberta regarding the elevator and its usefulness in connection with the movement of western wheat crop. I have always been impressed with the fact that the ports of the Pacific were twelve months ports and in this way have a tremendous advantage over the eastern ports of Fort William and of course Hudson Bay. I will be very glad if you will give me particulars regarding the reduction of insurance rates on shipping to Prince Rupert. In the meantime I will collect such information as I can regarding the matter from other sources. I will be very much disappointed if the elevator cannot be used as I was one of those who spoke in favor of the elevator, believing at the time that I was advocating something of a benefit to the country as a whole as well as Prince Rupert."

The Frank Waterhouse freighter Eastholm arrived in port from the south at 7:30 last night and is today at the dry dock unloading a cargo of Vancouver Island coal for the power house.

George Bryant returned to the city on this morning's train after spending a month on a holiday trip in the course of which he visited Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where his parents reside, and other cities in the Middle States.

Miss Winnie Dibb of the hospital nursing staff, who is now convalescing from a recent illness, sailed on Saturday aboard the Prince John for Sandspit, Queen Charlotte Islands, where she will visit for a couple of weeks.

Joe Rowatt's touring car went off the street on Athin Avenue near the Ward residence last night and landed on its side in the muskeg. The driver was uninjured and the car, which was picked up this morning by the Kien garage outfit, was not badly damaged.

The Well-Managed Home

THE manager of a household is the purchasing agent for a large proportion of the family needs. In order to do a good job she must know what, when and where to buy. She must study goods and the concerns which make goods and have them to sell. She must put her home on a business basis and run it on business principles in order to make the most of the family income.

Information is the only basis for intelligent purchasing. And the right way to get the greatest amount of necessary information is to read the advertisements.

Advertisements tell you what is new and good in merchandise. They reveal improvements and inventions to make your home life easier, more comfortable and more convenient. They give you information about a thousand and one things that are useful and interesting.

Every manager of a household--every member of the household who shares the responsibility for the family's welfare--should make a habit of reading the ads.
