BALDWIN MAKES AN INSPECTION

Congratulates Canadian National Railway on Fine Canadian-made Engines

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—The Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, British premier, took a short course in engine driving at Pickering, Ontario, Saturday, on the new Canadian National locomotive No. 6120, the largest and most powerful railway engine in the British Empire.

Mr. Baldwin, when visiting Kingston, heard that this titan of the steel rails was an all-Canadian product designed by Canadian National Railway engineers built at the Kingston shops.

Early on Saturday morning 6120 was attached to the royal train to haul it into Toronto to mark the opening of the new Union station. Mr. Baldwin, although busily engaged in his speeches, halted in his work to make an inspection of the engine, eventually climbing into the cab with the engineer. He showed the keenest interest in the manner in which the big locomotive was handled when travelling at high speed and worked the various levers controlling the engine.

"It is a wonderful piece of machinery and should be a source of pride to the Canadian designers and builders," said the premier on leaving the locomotive.

No. 6120 is one of forty engines of similar type that are being turned out this season for the fast passenger and freight services of the National System.

When in regular service they will run 610 miles without change—the longest locomotive run in the Dominion.

An interesting and probably unique record was established in connection with the personnel handling the royal train from Kingston to Toronto for the Canadian National Railways. Accompanying the party was R. H. Fish, general superintendent, southwestern Ontario district, who, when a locomotive engineer was in charge of drawing the royal train during the visit of King George V., then the Duke of York.

He had charge of train operation on the three last visits of the Prince of Wales.

R. Norton, who was conductor on the run into Toronto, has fifty-one years in the service of the railway and, like Mr. Fish, he was a member of the train personnel handling King George on his visit to the Dominion and he has been a member of the train staff of the Prince of Wales special train on the last three royal visits.

OPTIMISM OF SIR HENRY THORNTON

The optimism of Sir Henry Thornton is refreshing and contagious. He says he sees Prince Rupert now on a sound economic basis and that is what the Daily News has been saying. From now on every step should be a step upwards. The district will develop, people will come in and Prince Rupert will grow steadily but surely.

Also Sir Henry believes in Canada. He has no use for the "whisper of death campaign." This is to be Canada's century, he says, and the country will make continuous progress toward the ultimate of a great nation.

Sir Henry has all the pep of an American; he has the thoroughness of an Englishman, and he has the freshness and naivete of a Canadian. He is a citizen of a young country with youthful ideas and ideals. He is a man who has arrived and yet who sees nothing final in it. There are still heights to scale. He hopes to see the country making still greater progress and the railway over which he presides, being of more and still more service to the country.

A few flowers during life are better than a conservatory of beautiful blooms at the funeral.

MORALE ALWAYS BIG FACTOR

Sir Henry says that when he took hold of the Canadian National Railway the morale of the country was not good. We were a nation of pessimists and as such could not prosper. Since that time the people have changed their viewpoint. They have become a nation of optimists. In other words they have bettered their morale. Now they feel like winning so are bound to win.

What Sir Henry said about the country applies with equal force to the city. We must keep up our morale. We must feel like success else we cannot succeed. If we feel like failure we are bound to fail. Every pessimist is a drag upon the rest of the community. He is holding things back. His very attitude of mind is a handicap. It is necessary for us to believe in our city and to work for it. Then success is certain.

A Monday morning hint to preachers is to sell salvation on the installment plan instead of making it free. It might be appreciated better.

SCIENTIFIC INVESTIGATION OF HALIBUT

J. P. Babcock last week gave a most interesting account of the work he and his associates have been doing in connection with the halibut fisheries. They have been securing accurate information in regard to the steady depletion of the banks, the migration of the fish, the rate of growth and other data which will prove invaluable when it comes to framing regulations dealing with the matter of conservation. Possibly by the time he comes again he may have definite proposals to make in regard to closing certain banks to fishing. The whole question has to be given thorough consideration before action is taken so that no mistake may be made. At the same time it is admitted by all that some action is necessary. If nothing but chicken halibut can be obtained from certain banks, they are useless to the fishermen and by giving them a rest they may be made once more fruitful.

If you did not hear the old saw you may have felt it —the stiff collar with the ragged edge.

ARE THERE OTHER BANKS?

Are there any other banks to be discovered? If there are, it is likely they are still farther north and only the large vessels will be able to reach them. If there are no more, it is evident that cod fishing and possibly herring will have to take the place to some extent of the present almost exclusive attention to halibut.

When the prodigal son arrived home they killed the fatted calf and lived on it for a week and then, as there was nothing more to stay for he started on his journeys once more. That's the revised version.

Everyone knows that the rose bud is more beautiful than the full bloom, so all you have to do is to refuse to unfold.

MOVIE STORY PROVES PEPPY

Juniors Manage to Put on Good Play Set for Tuesday Here

Teddy Ward, wealthy society idler, falls in love with Jeanne King, a Greenwich Village sketch artist. Father has set his heart on Teddy's marrying Loris Lane, a society girl.

"Make good on a job I'll give you and marry anyone you like. Fail—and Loris will stand by your side at the altar." Is the older Ward's final ultimatum. Teddy accepts the challenge and is given the management of Mountain Inn, a winter resort that has always failed to make money.

YOUTHFUL PEPPERS

With the help of his Greenwich Village friends, a whirlwind advertising campaign is begun. Its main feature is an offer of $10,000 to the winner of a 100-mile ice boat race, which is to be a part of an elaborate ice carnival. Teddy has decided to stage.

But father, on hearing of the prize offer—refuses to sanction the advertising and also stops payment on the check. In desperation, Teddy hits upon the idea of inviting a group of movie stars to the big event. He prepares his newspaper publicity and then goes to New York with Ross Page and Loris.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

Arrived at the studio, the stars all plead previous engagements. However, through Loris' scheming, the publicity story gets to the papers.

The "big" night finds the hotel crowded with guests, all eager to meet the players. Teddy is frantic, realizing that when the truth comes out, he'll be ruined. His friends try to help him by dressing as stars. But—Jeanne, who has been doing some sketching at the studio—arrives with half a dozen famous stars. The evening is a success.

THE RACE!

The worthless check isn't worrying Teddy. Randy Furness has promised to win the race and then refuse the prize. At the last minute, "Duke" Slade, world's champion racer, arrives. The sheriff warns Teddy that non-payment means jail.

Furness, in fear of Slade, deserts his boat. Slade takes his place, and in a race of nerve-tingling thrills, manages to win by a matter of inches. His father, who had arrived while the contest was in progress, forgives him and admits that Jeanne has won his heart as well as Teddy's.

That is the story of "Fascinating Youth" being shown Tuesday.

HOOT GIBSON HERE IN PICTURE TONIGHT

Was Champion Broncho Buster Before He Went Into the Movies

When the Pendleton Roundup is held each year in Pendleton, Oregon, in which champion cowboys and cowgirls from all over the United States compete for the championship of the world, in bronco busting, cattle roping and bulldogging, Hoot Gibson drops whatever he is doing and catches the first train for the Oregon city.

The minute Hoot arrives in town he is surrounded by competitors and officials alike, for Hoot has the distinction of being the only man ever to win the bronco busting and cattle roping championship for three successive years.

Gibson was born in Tekamah, Nebraska, and previous to his first appearance on the screen in 1911, had spent his entire life on the plains of Nebraska and Wyoming.

When he became first a featured player and then a star, he did not drop his old friends, as many lesser lights have done. He not only kept up the old ties with people of the cattle country, but made many new and lasting friends as well. As a result his pictures of the open spaces continue to be true to life and furnish entertainment to all.

His latest starring vehicle for Universal, "The Silent Rider," comes tonight.

"NEW YORK" PACKED WITH PUNCH SCENES

Paramount's Latest Shapes up as Thrilling Tale of Metropolitan Life

Imagine the situation in which a young man sits down at a piano and remains there all night composing a love ballad to his sweetheart—not knowing that in a room less than ten feet away lies the body of a friend who has been murdered!

That's one of the situations contained in Paramount's latest production, "New York," which comes Wednesday and Thursday. Ricardo Cortez is the musician; Lois Wilson, his fiancee; and Estelle Taylor, the victim.

Briefly, the story is that of four Bowery boys who have evinced a "gang spirit" since childhood. All four attain maturity and branch out to make their own way in the world. One becomes a politician, two join a jazz band and the fourth, develops into a professional gangster. Then, a shadow in the form of a woman comes between them. Miss Taylor finds it hard to hide her love for Cortez, but his mind is enraptured by a society belle. Cortez spurning her, she marries William Powell so that she may stay near his friend.

One night, the girl determines to make a last attempt to win Cortez. She goes to his apartment and telephones her husband. Powell arrives there first and in a jealous tirade shoots her. He sticks the body in a neighboring room.

Crown Colony Days

Away back in the late sixties thousands of acres of British Columbia's timber were sold for one cent per acre, which looked like a fair price—then. Today similar timber is worth from $150 to $200 per acre, so tremendously has timber appreciated in value within the scope of an average lifetime.

What the young growth of today will be worth sixty years from now is beyond computation if it is protected from fire and allowed to reach maturity.

The moral is obvious.

Neglected Eyes

NEGLECT is doubtless the cause of most of the ills that afflict humanity. This is so self evident that it seems hardly necessary to tell you. If your eyes are giving trouble, have them attended to—and at once.

OF ALL absurdities in the kingdom of foolishness, surely the loss of eyesight through neglect is the most inexcusable.

DON'T lose health and efficiency through neglect. Come and see!

A FORWARD POLICY

Letter Discusses Matter of General Policy for Country and Explains Activities

A letter dealing with the matter of original research and the proposal to establish a National Research Laboratory was read at the last meeting of the board of trade as follows:

Dear Mr. Secretary—

One of the most important subjects which will likely come before the next session of parliament is the expansion of industrial and scientific research in Canada. The moment is therefore opportune to reaffirm the Winnipeg and Saint John resolutions of the representatives of the boards of trade and chambers of commerce to the Canadian government recommending the establishment of a National Research Laboratory under the National Research Council of Canada. Provided the business men of Canada will give their active and undivided support we now have an effective opportunity to bring to full fruition this project twice endorsed.

Wash RAYON this safe way

RAYON is more sensitive to laundering than any other fabric—never wring
it, never twist it, never rub it with cake soap. Rayon is most fragile when wet.

As you might expect,
Rayon should be washed

—dipping it gently up and down as you do silks.

about 1½c per capita.

We in Canada, the seventh industrial nation of the world, with an export trade which is sixth among the nations and with the largest favorable per capita trade balance in the world, are carrying on with no national laboratories for industrial research; with no adequate system of research scholarships and post-graduate schools; with no national foundations like the million pound Foundation in England and the Rockefeller, Mellon and Carnegie Foundations in the United States, and with no national scientific publication, the results of Canadian research being published mainly in British and American scientific journals.

ADVANTAGES OF WORK

If we would hold what we have and advance further, it is incumbent on the business community of Canada to give consideration to these inequalities, as well as to the advantages of scientific research. We cannot afford to remain indifferent to the one nor unconscious of the other.

The objection may be raised that our national revenue will not allow a substantial appropriation for the establishing and operating of a Dominion Research Council during its ten years existence have been notable.

ONLY $150,000

What is equally an impressive fact, however, is that the parliamentary vote for scientific and industrial research last year was only $150,000, and over the last ten years Canada has only expended for this purpose from public funds, on the average of $93,000 per annum. Nor has a research institute yet been put in.

Canada's national attitude toward research is unique among the countries of the world. We, with so much at stake in our agriculture, in our natural resources and ancillary manufacturing and in our export trade, have been indifferent to scientific research, the handmaiden of our economic development.

While both Australia and New Zealand have institutes of science and industry; while Germany, France and Switzerland have been making tremendous strides in pure industrial and scientific research; while Japan has 45 government institutions employing 681 experts and 1,674 assistants working full time on research and 24 private research institutions employing 961 persons; while Great Britain has a National Physical Laboratory under a government department which is employing two hundred and forty-five full-time trained scientific men and spending 2½ million dollars annually on research, not including the research expenditure of other British government departments and quite apart from the 25 industrial research associations established by various groups of industries with common problems; and while the United States government has a National Bureau of Standards and Research Laboratories for which over 12 million dollars this year, are earmarked or ten cents per capita and not including millions of dollars expended annually through other channels in the United States on applied and pure scientific research—Canada has been content with an Honorary Research Council and a yearly appropriation Institute. It is not, however, contemplated that the government should bear all the cost. In Great Britain private interests contribute not less than pound for pound with the government department of research. In the United States, industries give and give liberally to the research work of the Bureau of Standards and to other research institutions. A contribution from Canadian business and industrial interests is also anticipated and would be doubtless forthcoming. The monetary obligations are bilateral—private and public—but the government can, it is believed, advisably take the lead.

VITAL QUESTIONS

To return then to the object of this communication. Will your own board or chamber be good enough to advise me: (a) if you favor a forward policy in Canadian scientific and industrial research; (b) if you approve of the establishing of a national research laboratory; (c) if it is your opinion that the Canadian government should spend on scientific and industrial research at least as much per capita as is being expended by the government of the United States or an amount now equal to say $900,000 per annum.

The replies to this letter from the more than three hundred boards of trade and chambers of commerce will be tabulated and you will be advised as to the national finding and as to the direction in which our corporate opinion is setting.

W. McL. CLARKE,
Secretary General,
Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

TWO SERMONS UNITED CHURCH

Rev. A. Wilson Gives Useful Advice to Congregations, Morning and Evening

In the morning service at the United Church yesterday and taking as his subject "Sharing the Other Man's Viewpoint," Rev. A. Wilson found his text in Ezekiel where the latter lived with the people for seven days in silence and getting to know their conditions and problems, was then in a position to give them God's message.

A fund of sympathy is essential. The condition must be known. Personal contact is the only way to understand the world's problems. The idea of the teacher isolating himself for study of the problems is not now treated with favor. The successful teacher or preacher must develop the faculty of changing places.

The teacher or minister must have the right type of character but must be able to see the pupil's viewpoint. Dr. Bernardo lived among the destitute children. He knew their sufferings

THREE MINES TO SHIP ORE

New Hazelton Promises Come-back Result of Operations on Nine Mile

The American Boy property on Nine Mile mountain, one of the best known prospects in the district, is to be developed on a larger scale than at any time in the past, says the Quesnel Herald. This is the result of a visit to that property on Monday last by I. W. C. Solloway of Solloway, Mills & Co., of Toronto.

Mr. Solloway has served his time as a prospector and as a mining man. He knows a good looking property when he sees one and what he saw at the American Boy mine pleased him.

The work to be undertaken at once is to sink the main shaft another two hundred feet and to run two or more drifts from that shaft. This will give them several hundred feet additional underground working and if the new ground is as good as the ground previously developed the American Boy will be well on the way to making a good mining property. Further plans for work will be developed as the present plans develop.

Mr. Solloway owns the Harris boys stock in the property. He and his firm are financially able to carry out any scheme of development and mining they decide on. It begins to look now as if Nine Mile mountain was going to get some real development.

Engineers and geologists have always spoken highly and reported with favor on Nine Mile mountain, but for various reasons only minor work has been undertaken on the hill. This summer three strong companies have taken up properties there and right now a good deal of work is being done. Besides the new work for the American Boy Mr. Dornberg is working the Silver Cup and

Not since the early days when money was plentiful from railway construction, has the mining industry looked so promising in this immediate district as it is right now. All three working properties are on Nine Mile mountain and all three companies are financially strong and all three have their headquarters for operating purposes in New Hazelton. When they start to ship ore all three will ship from New Hazelton and with the improved prospects of mining the prospects of New Hazelton are as bright as proportion.

DROWNED SWIMMING IN BULKLEY RIVER

SWAN HALVERSON Was Victim of Diving and Hitting his Head

Swan Halverson of New Hazelton died in the Hazelton Hospital on Saturday morning last as a result of an accident while swimming in the Bulkley River on the previous day, says the Interior News. With other men, Halverson had been engaged putting up hay on the old Pratt farm east of New Hazelton, and as relief from the excessive heat the men arranged to go down to the river for a swim.

At the point selected for their plunge the water was about four feet deep and into this the unfortunate man dived head first. Falling to rise, his companions looked into the water to find Mr. Halverson motionless and with the water turning red. Bringing the injured man to shore they found his head badly crushed. Mr. Halverson, having struck a rock in the dive into the river, had time to drop his head into the water.

He was rushed to Hazelton Hospital, but in spite of all efforts he died next day. Mr. Halverson was a married man living at New Hazelton, and in many sections of the district where he has employed he was highly respected and his death is deeply regretted.

MISS ANNE J. DUNCAN Becomes Bride of William Murdoch of Granby Staff

A wedding, which was complete surprise to everyone, was solemnized at Christ Church, Anwox on Sunday morning last, when Miss Anne J. Duncan became the bride of Wm. Murdoch, says the Alice Arm World. The ceremony took place at 8 a.m. Rev. J. S. Brayfield officiating.

Only a few personal friends were present, being Mrs. H. S. Trefry, W. F. Barclay and A. Crear. The ceremony was conducted without ostentation and the happy couple left at 10 a.m. for Silver City, where they are spending their honeymoon.

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, W. F. Barclay. She wore a white tailored dress with hat to match. Alex. Crear was the best man.

On their arrival at Silver City, where a large number of Anwox people are holidaying, they were greeted by the discharge of firearms and congratulations of their many friends. A wedding breakfast was later partaken of at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Barclay.

The wedding took everyone by surprise, no one having any knowledge of the event, except a few intimate friends.

Both bride and groom are well known in Anwox, and are residents of several years. The bride was formerly matron at the General Hospital, and the groom is on the staff of the drafting office of the Granby Co. They have a large circle of friends who wish them happiness in their future life.

Avoid Alum!

The use of an alum baking powder not only has a tendency to make things taste bitter, but, according to health authorities, alum is not suitable for use in human food.

There's no alum in Magic Baking Powder

Its ingredients are the finest grades of phosphate, starch and soda, expertly blended in the right proportions to assure best results in baking.

Protect yourself by insisting on Magic Baking Powder. Refuse all substitutes—even if they do offer you some crockery "thrown in" as an extra inducement.
