Canadiens Tie With Montreal After Ten Minutes Overtime Saturday

MONTREAL, Nov. 21 .- The Canadiens of Montreal staged a typical battle against Montreal in a National League hockey game Saturday, ten minutes overtime falling to break a deadlock. The Canadiens had the edge on the game which ended 1 to 1.

LaFrance and Martin Burke proved flashy substitutes. Lepine filled the shoes of the injured Morenz admirably. Munro and Mantha were fined $15 each for a fight in which most of the members of the opposing teams took part. Monro scored for the Maroons in the second period, and Joliet for the Canadiens in the third.

Topley Consolidated Will Ship Ore Within Twenty Days Says Frank H. Taylor

The Topley Consolidated Mining Company expects to be shipping ore within twenty days according to Frank H. Taylor, who arrived in the city last night on the steamer Camosun and left for his home at Smithers this morning.

Speaking of the present prospects of the company, Mr. Taylor said they would work fifteen men all winter and as soon as the water was all out of the mine a competent engineer would be engaged to give them expert advice as to how next to proceed. Their finances were in good shape and they had the ore. He was particularly pleased with the outlook.

Mr. Taylor said he was the man who brought Captain J. J. O'Brien into the district and put through the deals for the King Tut and Victory groups of properties on Hudson Bay Mountain. Contracts had already been let for 700 feet of tunnelling on these properties and Mr. O'Brien was bent on pushing development.

Alaska Canners Would Close 120 Fish Traps Next Season But Extend the Seining Areas

SEATTLE, November 21 .- The committee representing the Alaska canners on Saturday presented to Henry O'Malley, United States commissioner of fisheries, a plan for reduction of fishing gear in southeastern Alaska next year. The plan would eliminate approximately 120 of the 544 salmon traps in operation this year. Mr. O'Malley, in taking the proposal under advisement, said

I.W.W. Strikers Killed and Others Wounded in Conflict with Police

Strikers Swarmed on to Mine Property This Morning and Refused to Heed Command to Halt

DENVER, Colorado, November 21 .- Four I.W.W. strikers were killed and more than a score wounded this morning when state police opened fire at Columbine Mine of the Rocky Mountain Company in Northern Colorado.

The Colorado National Guard has been called out and martial law declared in Northern Colorado. A number of the state police were injured.

The state police turned a hail of bullets into the strikers after a hand-to-hand fight in which the officers were overwhelmed by a large number of strikers, who swarmed dressed as a man.

Disturbances broke out in Southern Colorado but there were no casualties. Six of the strikers are said to be dying in Longmont Hospital.

Tex Rickard Called Lawyer a "Contemptible Liar" When Accused of Boast

NEWARK, N.J., Nov. 21 .- Charges of attempted tampering with justice on the part of Dempsey and Rickard brought to an end Jack Kearns' third of a million dollar action against Dempsey in the superior court here today. Both sides agreed to end the case by a voluntary nonsuit when Judge Runyon said the only alternative would be a mistrial. The court was thrown into uproar by Rickard, who so resented the remarks of Kearns' counsel that the promoter had boasted of having the case "in the bag' that he called the lawyer a "contemptible liar" in open court.

DANGERS OF PROVINCIAL POLICE

While everyone recognized that the establishment of the Pro- in the great walks of life or even his vincial Police system at this point brought about a considerable improvement in the city over the former administration, there are certain dangers connected with placing too much power in a centralized authority and the chief of these is that the police may come to place a young man or woman or even look upon themselves as arbiters of the destinies of the community. many have come from hamlet and coun-They become interpreters of the law and often do not interpret it try fireside just to get lost? This is particularly so when the local administration happens to fall into the hands of men who are not fitted naturally for the work. Such men become puffed up with a sense if their own importance and do and say things which a bigger man would not do. One of the first things for consideration in carry- to God. The truth is that Canadian business has been healthy and prosperous and is still climbing. In agriculture, in manufactures and in mining the conditions have been such as to warrant sound expansion.

Water development has provided cheaper power for the factories, which in turn have been able to employ more workers and turn out more goods. That this prosperity has been national rather than local has been made evident through reductions in income taxes.

Automobile purchases in the United States for the period covered by this survey aggregated about $22,000,000 in value. There were corresponding purchases of motor trucks and parts for replacement. In the same period American exports of cotton goods to Canada aggregated 88,000,000 pounds, as against a total of 75,000,-000 for a corresponding period last year. If estimates made by the Department of Agriculture are correct, Canada is now buying about two-thirds of all her foreign goods in the markets of the United States.

If Canada is a good customer of the United States, so also is the United States a good customer of Canada, concludes the Sun. Last year we bought more goods in Canada than in any other one foreign country, the total running well up toward half a billion of dollars. As good neighbors, living side by side in reciprocal trust and good will, observing the same standards of honesty in trade, think the city is a place in which to the two countries present to the world an object lesson in interna tional relationships.

SERMON LAST NIGHT ON CITY

Rev. J. R. Frizell Urges That Prince Rupert be Clean and Beautiful

Speaking to a large congregation last night on "Third Avenue," Rev. J. R.

There is an old saying that God made the country and man made the city. The country cannot get along without the city: the city cannot get along without the country. Human nature loves the jam, the main thoroughfare, the busy corner. Every city has its main street. It may be named first avenue or second or third, but it is the business street. It so the street where merchants exhibit their goods; the street where people gravitate. How shall I arrange my window so that my goods may appear to the best advantage, the greatest value for the least money?

On the main street you are always secing new faces; there you meet old friends. Strangers and visitors always enquire for it. If a pocket is picked (it may be a dollar or a thousand) the thief mixes with the crowd and buries himself in the thoroughfare on main

Oh, to read the minds and hear the heartbeats of the men and women in the throng of the great city. Those who began life well and failed. Those who began bad and ended worse. Those who began with nothing and ended with a competence. Walk along the main street, look at the lines on men's faces. the glance of the eye, the nod of the head, the anxious forward movement, and you will see the seething mass of umanity, each striving to arrive at some goal; each carrying some burden of which the man who brushes shoulders ntimate friend knows nothing.

AWAY FROM HOME Now the main street of a city possesses many possibilities. In the first an old may get lost on main street. How be one here tonight. In far-off Eastern Canada, or the old land across the seas, you were accustomed to hear your father or mother pray or read the good book. and as a child you never closed your eyes at night without turning your face ing home? You plunged into the roaring stream of city life and were quickly ngulfed in the murk and mire. You are asked to assist in the Sunday school belong to this club and that, this sodone it not to the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it not to me, and these shall go away into everlast-have a good time. But a good time depends not so much upon the place as he person. "You can't run away from trouble or responsibility," said a country mother to her son, "it will follow you." "Drive back nature," said Emerson, 'with a fork and it will come running back." "The parted water reunites behind one's own hand."

We are continually asking visitors and new arrivals if they like our city. Do they like its location; do they like its scenery; do they like its streets, and the people who have labored so hard to make it what it is? For the people make the city and not the city the people. It depends very much upon well as citizens, whether new arrivals like our city and its environment, and whether or not they remain and make their home amongst us. Paul had a good time in his dungeon. Nero had a bad time in his golden house. Many a man has come to the city to have a good time and has become a slave to

Thirdly and lastly, many people think the city is a place to plunder. A place to get rich quick. A place to get two prices for an article which is only worth one. AT THEATRE

"THE STOLEN BRIDE" IS OLD WORLD ROMANCE

A well-balanced cast, neaded by one of the screen's most striking personalties, brilliance of direction and wealth of story, setting and atmosphere combine to make "The Stolen Bride," tonight's feature at the Westholme Theatre one of the outstanding pictures of many months.

Introducing gorgeous Billie Dove to the screen as a star in her own right, this First National picture is ideal as a vehicle for the beautiful actress, and her dramatic and moving performance more than confirms the judgment of the producer in advancing her cinematic | vs. Moose Ladies: English Ladies position. In every scene of the picture Miss Dove's personality impresses itself forcefully upon the audience and she demonstrates that she is not only one of the most beautiful but one of the leading dramatic actresses of the screen. IS ALASKAN STORY

Shows Great Blizzards, Human Conflict and Wonderful Scenery

The theme of the "Isle of Retribution. melodramatic in character, is that of a dissipating son of a millionaire who goes to Alaska and there is held captive by a brute giant. Through imposed hardships he is spurred on by the girl he loves, regenerates, whips the villain, gains the girl's love and returns to America, a real man.

The picture is an uncommon addition to the long list of pictures with Alaskan background. It is regrettable that the editing shears have been applied too indiscriminately, the unhappy result of which is that the picture lacks he unity of sequence, continuity is at times jerky and unrelated.

Against these minor demerits we have magnificent backgrounds, realistic atmosphere, and human conflict amid the frigid Alaskan expanse, lashing blizwards and numbing temperature. Victor McLaglen contributes a striking characterization as the smiling villain and should be in great demand by big concerns for big roles; he deserve it. Lillian Rich and Robert Frazer create a likeable heroine and hero respectively. David Torrence and the remaining cast furnish good support. However illogical they may be, the picture abounds in melo punches that are stirring and wil hold the audience in suspense.

CAUSED BY TIPPING

Determined Campaign Against it as i Prevents Paying of Living Wage

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 21.-Labor organizations of crafts most affected have begun determined campaigns against the public custom of "tipping" individual workers for services rendered, the Labor Department will point out in its forthcoming monthly review of labor conditions.

The publication will comprise a series NOTICE OF INTENTION TO APPLY TO of reports as to the attitude of organized pullman porters, teamsters and chauffeurs, hotel and restaurant employes and waiters and waitresses on

All of these craft organizations, the report will say, "feel that tipping systems detract from the independence of labor by instilling a servile spirit" and declare that the custom prevents the establishment of a living wage.
