BEHALF OF TEACHERS

Editor, Daily News:

I am told that the salaries of the school teachers of Prince Rupert have recently undergone a substantial reduction. This, I believe, is a matter which should command the attentive thought of every citizen of Prince Rupert. It concerns not only the parents of school age children, but of every member of the community.

It is generally admitted by intelligent people that a nation's greatest asset lies in its children. Similarly the true value of any community must be measured by the type of individual it produces. I need not stress this point, for I feel that we are all sensible enough to admit that all our civic enterprise, our elevator, our Dominion Day celebrations, count for nothing if we fail to produce the right type of youth from out the home of this city.

Education, and particularly the work of the primary and secondary schools which have to deal with children in their most formative years, is one of the most important factors in the moulding of youth and in the production of the intelligent citizen. The best schools and the best teachers cannot be any too good for the carrying on of this work.

The recent cut in salaries will most certainly tend to lower the general efficiency of our schools. The better teachers will seek other positions and their places will be taken by less efficient individuals who will work for less money. Can we afford to trust this handicap upon the children? Is it fair or wise to pursue this policy which in the face of this reasoning must seem extremely short sighted, and ill advised?

Teachers as a class have always been made the butt of efforts towards pseudo economy. I say pseudo economy because true economy cannot lie in the weakening of the foundations of our citizenship. No city would dream of saying to the medical man, "Doctor, we have decided to cut your fees"; or to the lawyer or engineer, "We shall see that you are paid so much and no more." Yet the training which our teachers must undergo is very similar with respect to time and effort. Why then should we do this in the case of a profession which is of equal, if not of greater importance? We cannot hope to attract the right type of individual to the extremely important profession of teaching under such circumstances as these.

The city, too, will suffer in its attraction of new comers. One of the first things that parents enquire about when seeking residence in a new city are the schools, and no schools with underpaid teachers can bring about the results which will attract parents of school age children.

I write this because I feel it is the duty of a citizen to consider these important problems, and while I realize that the School Board has a difficult financial situation to face, I hope that some means can be found which will overcome the working of an injustice to the teachers, of a detriment to the reputation of the city, and mostly to prevent the distinctly ill effect which the reduction will have upon the education of the children of this city.

Thanking you for the space which you have given this letter in your paper, I am,
D. B. FINN.

DUBLIN, June 23.—De Valera and the other Fianna Fail deputies refused to take the oath of allegiance to King George at the opening of the Dail Eireann or Irish Parliament here today and were refused admittance to the chamber.

William Cosgrove was re-elected president of the Free State executive council, a position very similar to Premier in other British countries.

Captain W. A. Redmond, the Nationalist chief, said the largest party should form a government.

SAYS NO HOLE IN CHALLAMBA

STRANDED MOTORSHIP ON WHITE CLIFF ISLAND REPORTED IN GOOD CONDITION

Resting on rocks at the bow and stern, the hull of the American motorship freighter Challamba, still on White Cliff Island where she stranded early last Saturday morning, has been strained and some seams have been opened but there is no hole in the vessel according to Capt. Alfred Swanson who has been taking an active part in salvage work.

The boat is in fairly good condition states Captain Swanson, and it is hoped to float her on the high tide next Sunday. The big salvage tug Salvage King will come up from Vancouver and probably tow the vessel into Prince Rupert after she has been freed. In the meantime, the powerboats Azurite and Anna S. are still engaged in lightening the ship of her cargo and the salvage dredge Lion is also there.

Capt. Frankforth of the Pacific Salvage Co. arrived at the scene of the wreck yesterday to supervise salvage operations.

The Late R. STANLEY WEIR

O, CANADA

Words by WEIR Music by LAVALLEE

O Canada! Our home, our native land!
True patriot love in all thy sons
commar'd,
With glowing hearts we see thee rise,
The True North, strong and free,
And stand on guard, O Canada,
We stand on guard for thee,
O Canada, glorious and free,
We stand on guard, we stand on guard for thee!
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee!

Owing to the fact that numerous suggestions were received from all parts of Canada that a uniform English version of "O Canada" be approved, the National Committee for the Celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation circularized the Prime Ministers and the Ministers of Education of all the Provinces. Replies were received that the version written by the late R. Stanley Weir, D.C.L., Recorder of Montreal, is being used in the schools of all the Provinces, including the English-speaking sections of Quebec. In view of this, the Committee is using the Weir version in its own publications.

CARDINALS NOW AFTER PIRATES

CHICAGO CUBS LOSE SECOND PLACE IN NATIONAL LEAGUE STANDING

NEW YORK, June 23.—Pittsburgh Pirates, after experiencing a season of changing fortunes, are once again solidly entrenched at the top of the National League but their immediate rivals for that position are no longer the Chicago Cubs but the St. Louis Cardinals, last year's world champions. While the Pirates were winning a loose 11-9 game from Cincinnati Reds yesterday, the Cubs once again went down to defeat at the hands of the Cardinals.

In the American League, the New York Giants took the second double-header in a row from the cellar-dwelling Bostonians. Washington and Philadelphia shared honors as did also St. Louis and Chicago.

Babe Ruth made his twenty-third and twenty-fourth home runs of the season yesterday for the same showing as in his record year of 1921.

Thomas scored his eleventh victory of the season in pitching the White Sox to victory over the Browns.

The day's scores were as follows:

Forty Children in Alaska Are Left Unprovided for Result of Influenza Epidemic at Alivik

NEW YORK, June 23.—Twenty-nine deaths have taken place as a result of an influenza epidemic at the Indian village of Alivik on the Yukon River in Western Alaska, it is reported in a relayed radio message received by the Episcopal Church headquarters here yesterday from Rev. John Chapman, head of the mission there.

The message said that all the victims were parents and the responsibility for the welfare of 40 children was thrown upon the mission. It urged the immediate despatch of medical assistance and a sum of $3,000 for food and supplies.

The appeal was supplemented by a despatch from Bishop Peter Rowe of Alaska, emphasizing the gravity of the situation.

British Columbia's Case on The Peace River Lands Now Being Completed at Victoria

VICTORIA, June 23.—By an agreement reached at yesterday's session of the Martin commission hearing the application of British Columbia for the return of the railway lands ceded to the Dominion Government, the federal authorities will not submit their arguments until the fall, probably at Ottawa.

C. W. Craig, the British Columbia counsel, said he expected to conclude the British Columbia case today at the end of the Victoria sitting. In summing up he said the settlement was based on the idea that British Columbia could never pay her way in Confederation and the railway would become a burden on the people. The province, however, had proved one of the best contributors to Dominion revenue. If the Canadian people had had knowledge of the resources and possibilities of British Columbia which was now possessed, the agreement would have been very different.

Counsel read the correspondence in regard to the lands from Attorney General Manson and also from the counsel for the province and pointed out that the lands, although the Dominion declared them valueless for agriculture, were held valuable on account of the timber on which large sums had been realized.

NEW CANNERY BOAT ARRIVES IN PORT

The service boat Klemtu Cannery, just built at Victoria for the cannery of the same name down the coast, arrived in port this morning from the south with Capt. Norman Brodhurst, well known here, in command. The vessel, which is 46 feet long with a 40 h.p. full diesel Fairbanks-Morse engine, is moored at the Prince Rupert Boat House and it is expected will return to the cannery this afternoon. R. G. Johnston came up from Klemtu on the boat which is good looking and should be well adapted to the purpose for which she was built.

AGED INDIAN MEETS DEATH IN ACCIDENT

WAS THROWN FROM HORSE WHEN ROUNDING UP ANIMALS FOR SOVIET RUSSIA

KAMLOOPS, June 23.—Amputation of the leg of Jim Attaine, 95 years of age, chief of the Deadman's Creek Indian reserve west of here took place yesterday in an effort to save his life. The old man was injured when assisting in the roundup of 100 horses owned by the tribe to be sold to the Soviet.

The leg was fractured when the horse stumbled and fell on top of him. When the animal reared up and bolted the man was caught by the horn of the saddle and was forced to cut away his own flesh with a clasp knife in order to free himself. He was brought by his tribesmen to the hospital here where he died after an operation. In the journey to Kamloops he was carried four miles on a rude stretcher to the wagon road on which he was taken to the train at Savona, 25 miles from here, after spending the night in the open exposed to rain except for the blankets.

CLOSE SEASON GROUSE 1927

VICTORIA, June 23.—Regulations fixing the open seasons on game were issued today. These divide the province into two main districts. The western district includes all the territory west of the Cascade Mountains south of the electoral district of Atlin. The eastern district includes the remainder of the province.

In general, the seasons are similar to last year except that in the north there is a complete closing of the grouse season along the line of the C.N.R. to counteract the depletion which has been going on.

CUTTING SALARIES NOT ECONOMY

A letter published on another page intimates that the cutting of the salaries of the local teachers may not really be economy because it may be at the sacrifice of efficiency. Years ago teachers were very poorly paid but during later years it is being recognized that as children are the most important asset in the community no expense should be spared in giving them the best possible training. With this in view it is poor policy to cut salaries for teachers.

If any of the teachers are not earning the money paid them, the better business would be to let them go and put good teachers in their places; but if we are to attract the best, we must pay good prices.

After all, those Vancouver people are not very different from ourselves.

Almost any day you can see a comedy by just walking up the street and keeping your eyes open.

VANCOUVER VISIT PROFITABLE

It is always profitable to get together and talk things over. It was good for Vancouver representatives to come here and get the Prince Rupert viewpoint. They will understand our problems better and with understanding will come sympathy with our aims and objects.

This is an age in which we are learning to get together in a business way. We meet at luncheons, at fraternal society and other gatherings. The retailers, the Gyros, the Rotarians, the Shriners and others meet regularly and talk and eat together. Now we have been able to sit down with the Vancouver visitors and discuss with them the many problems of the day. The outcome should be decidedly beneficial.

In order to make pumpkin pies it is necessary to first get the pumpkins. Rupert is getting the pumpkins and possibly the pies will follow, but may the good Lord grant they be not tough, or heavy, or sodden.

NEW PUBLICITY BOOKLET OUT

The new publicity booklet on Prince Rupert published jointly by the Board of Trade and the City Council is off the Rose, Cowan and Latta presses and is a very creditable publication. It is largely the work of the secretary of the Board under the general supervision of the publicity committee of the Board of Trade. It deals with all the phases of life here and its distribution in the right places should benefit the city. Like former booklets it deals with Prince Rupert as the outlet of the Peace River although it does not go into detail as much as did the previous one.

If we were only as good as our neighbors, what a wonderful old world this would surely be.

Great preparations are under way for the proper celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of the Dominion. ## ADDRESSES AT THE LUNCHEON

COUNCIL OF VANCOUVER BOARD OF TRADE GUESTS OF LOCAL BOARD
PUBLIC MEN SPEAK
PRESIDENT FULTON, J. C. BRADY, AND MAYOR NEWTON EXTEND WELCOME TO VISITORS

A spirit of mutual good feeling pervaded the air at the luncheon in the Commodore Cafe yesterday when the council of the Prince Rupert Board of Trade was host to the executive of the visiting Vancouver Board. Rivalry between the two ports was decried and it was unanimously agreed that more was to be gained in the matter of the general development of the province by getting together than by pulling at cross-strings.

In opening the speakers' list, W. O. Fulton, president of the Prince Rupert Board of Trade, said that Vancouver visitors were always welcome providing they were willing to allow Prince Rupert an even break and its little place in the sun. It was conceded that Vancouver was destined to be one of the great cities of the world but it could not attain to that height while parts of the hinterland were a wilderness as some were at present. The rest of the province looked upon Vancouver as the financial centre of British Columbia whose capital should go toward the development of the great natural resources with which the province was endowed. At Stewart, Alice Arm and in the central interior there were rich mineral fields which were shipping their ore out of the country for smelting, something that was not as it should be.

There were also immense timber resources but so far there was not a pulp and paper mill within 150 miles of Prince Rupert nor any sawmills to speak of, said Mr. Fulton. This was Vancouver's opportunity to do its part in the development of the province's resources. Until it did so it would not realize its destiny for the future of the city was wrapped up, with the development of the country around it. British Columbia was twenty years ahead as far as railways were concerned but was as far behind in the matter of highways. It was a disgraceful situation. The opinion of the speaker was that there should be two great highways from the British Columbia coast to Alberta, one following the Skeena River and the other the Fraser. These highways would soon pay for themselves.

MEMBER SPEAKS

J. C. Brady, M.P., expressed his pleasure, from a personal as well as a civic standpoint, at the splendid gathering of the leading businessmen of Vancouver. British Columbia to a large extent had so far lacked that personal touch which was so highly developed in the Eastern provinces. The spirit of the century was evidenced more and more in the tendency to get together in business conferences for the purpose of solving the problems of commercial development. When level-headed business men meet to assimilate information and listen to each other's problems in friendly conference the essential personal touch and mutually sympathetic feelings were developed. The visit of the Vancouver Board of Trade to the north, he felt, took on something of that aspect. The great city of Vancouver had developed beyond dreams to reality but its future and that of Prince Rupert were interdependent and one could not flourish without the other. The success of one could not be obtained without the co-operation of the other. It was not the time for heaving of bricks at each other. The members of the Vancouver Board of Trade were to be envied not alone because of their great city but because of the privileges which were theirs to largely aid in the future commercial progress of British Columbia. Sympathy, courage and a fortified mind were needed. The speaker hoped that the Vancouver visitors would go home, not only with memories of the hospitality of the people of Prince Rupert in mind, but with memories of what they had seen and the knowledge that men of the south and north must join toward successful commercial developments which would benefit both.

MAYOR'S WELCOME

Mayor Newton said he could add little to the splendid presentations of Prince Rupert's case that had been made by Mr. Fulton and Mr. Brady. He could, however, bestow the freedom of the city on the visitors and that he was both willing and pleased to do. Prince Rupert was a young place but it did not see where it had to take off its hat to Vancouver. This city, he felt, could show something for everything that Vancouver could show and, in a few things, it could perhaps go Vancouver a little better. Vancouver, to his way of thinking, would grow, probably in not many years, to be one of the largest, if not the largest, city in Canada. With the prairie provinces capable of great increase not only in population but in production the Pacific Coast was bound to develop correspondingly and its ports would all benefit. He felt that Vancouver might well lend a hand of encouragement to Prince Rupert and the north country. What was beneficial to British Columbia was mutually beneficial to Vancouver.

VANCOUVER'S VIEWPOINT

After such a generous welcome as Prince Rupert had given, Robert McKee, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, found it difficult to express Vancouver's appreciation. As far as the weather, which local speakers had ju-larly referred to, was concerned, he was ready to admit that the Vancouver visitors had been responsible. Having heard that Prince Rupert was suffering from a long drought, they had brought some rain along from Vancouver.

As regarded the suggested rivalry between Vancouver and Prince Rupert, Mr. McKee stated that he would like to give his conception of Vancouver's viewpoint concerning Prince Rupert. Vancouver people were not suffering with skilled head even though their city had seen great development. That development had simply been because Vancouver was destined to be a great city and it was a natural growth. People of Vancouver did not expect that their city or any other should get all the business. They were fully understanding of the fact that all business would eventually flow through the proper channel and that any attempt to divert it therefrom could not have permanent results. "This north country is bound to find an outlet and where can that outlet be other than at Prince Rupert?" inquired the speaker.

The Vancouver Board of Trade Mr. McKee felt safe in saying was the only board in the province that devoted a large part of its time to assisting other boards of the province in their work. There was a committee for that very purpose and it was not an idle committee. Yet little of its work was of direct effect to the city of Vancouver.

PLENTY OF BUSINESS

"We know," said Mr. McKee "that the port of Prince Rupert is bound to do the work for which it is fitted. If you want some logical project or facility you will find no Board of Trade more willing to help you than Vancouver's. The city of Vancouver has passed the time when it wants to grow at the expense of some other place. There is plenty of business for us without trying to injure Prince Rupert or anywhere else. The tendency of the times is toward decentralization. At one time New York and Boston were the only ports in the northern United States. Now there are many very much larger than Vancouver. The day of decentralization has also come for the Pacific Coast."

Mr. McKee expressed the belief that Prince Rupert had developed remarkably well considering its years. "There is a great place for Prince Rupert and anything we can do to help its progress along the natural lines will be willingly done by us."

SOUND AND HEALTHY

Col. J. W. Nicholls referred to the progress of the fishing, lumbering and agricultural industries during the past few years to support his statement that "business in Prince Rupert today is more sound and healthy than it ever was before." Prosperity was not a thing of the future but was already here. He likened Prince Rupert to a young and healthy boy in his teens with Vancouver as the daddy. "Every boy thinks his daddy is the most wonderful man in the world and we look on Vancouver as our daddy. We share in your pride and hope for a continuation of the progress and prosperity in which we shall mutually share."

W. J. Blake Wilson spoke briefly and humorously. He claimed himself to be a pioneer of Prince Rupert, having been here before there was a house. In those days they used to blame the rain on the blasting. If the rain did nothing more it was a Godsend to the timber stands which were one of British Columbia's greatest assets.

The luncheon opened with the singing of the Buchanan version of "O Canada" and closed with "God Save the King."

Bank of Commerce Report Says Lumber Industry Operates under More Favorable Conditions

The lumber industry in British Columbia continues to operate under slightly more favorable conditions says the Bank of Commerce monthly report. Stocks of fir and cedar logs are smaller than at this time last year, indicating that measures have been adopted at the point of origin to prevent the large over-production of lumber which occurred in former years. Prices, at the higher levels recently quoted, are firm and should so continue as long as the domestic markets absorb larger quantities of lumber than heretofore. The export trade has been affected to some

The lumber mills in Quebec are reported to have sold a substantial part of the material cut to date, with the exception of laths, while shipments from the Ontario mills have been increased as a result of the large building program. The market for Maritime lumber also shows some improvement and it is expected that, unless ocean freight rates which have recently been advanced) each a prohibitive height, stocks will be reduced to comparatively small proportions by mid-summer.

AUXILIARY TO HOSPITAL AT TERRACE

MRS. C. R. GILBERT IS PRESIDENT FOR THE COMING YEAR

TERRACE, June 28.—The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Terrace Hospital was held Tuesday afternoon in Badminton Hall with President Mrs. A. C. Head in the chair. Routine business was carried on and Mrs. Head reviewed the year's activities, much work having been accomplished in the way of making and providing furnishings for the hospital and work in preparation for the forthcoming sale of work. The treasurer's report showed the auxiliary to be in good standing financially and a good start made on their objective to raise funds for an X-ray machine.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Honorary President—Mrs. T. J. Marsh. President—Mrs. C. R. Gilbert. Vice-President—Mrs. H. L. Smith. Secretary—Mrs. O. Von Hoes. On the Gloria property at the head of Bulldog Creek, a small stream that enters Portland Canal a short distance below the mouth of the Marmot River, more than one thousand feet of underground work has been done under the management of A. Lincke, a practical mining man, with funds furnished from the north central part of the United States.

Announcement is made that finances for development have been completed in the East and that work will be rushed during the summer on the Woodbine group. Sixteen men are now employed at the property and the force will be considerably augmented upon the installation of a compressor and other machinery which is now on its way from Vancouver. It is the ultimate intention to install a mill.

J. B. Watson, president of the Woodbine Mining Co. Ltd., and his daughter have returned to Vancouver after a week's visit here.

The Vancouver Board of Trade party, which will spend today here, will be taken to visit the Premier and Dunwell mines, having lunch at the former camp. The Stewart Board of Trade and executives of the Premier and Dunwell mines will be guests of the visitors aboard the steamer in the evening and after this there will be a big dance.

BRITISH GIRLS MAKING GOOD

SUPERVISOR OF WOMEN IMMIGRANTS SAY 8,000 HAVE COME UNDER EMPIRE SETTLEMENT SCHEME

EDMONTON, June 23.—Since June, 1923, approximately 8,000 women immigrants have come to Canada under the Empire Settlement scheme, to engage in household service, and of this number eighty per cent have made good, says Miss M. V. Burnham, of Ottawa, supervisor of the women's branch of the Department of Immigration, Ottawa. Miss Burnham has been making a tour of western Canada, inspecting facilities for the accommodation of women immigrants, looking into the requirements of the country for next spring, and conferring with members of the immigration staff.

Winnipeg, Regina, and Calgary have their government hotels for the temporary accommodation of these newcomers. In Edmonton they are put up at the Y.W.C.A. and Rosary Hall, placed in positions by the employment services, and supervised by Ernest Wilson of the immigration department. Miss Burnham is going into the records of those who have been placed and sizing up the requirements for next spring. She consults with authorities in each province, gets an estimate of their requirements, then tries to fill this quota.

NOMINATING SCHEME

In addition to the women coming out under the Empire settlement scheme, there are many coming out under the nominating scheme. Nomination papers are placed in all banks of Canada, and anyone nominating a prospective immigrant, fills in one of these papers and sends it direct to Ottawa. Through this system, the department is able to give service to rural communities. The office has had many applications from all over the dominion, in numerous cases, from people who wish to bring out relatives to work on farms under the reduced rate.

The result is very satisfactory on the whole, but it means a great deal of supervision. The dominion government is responsible for the after care of the immigrants coming out under the Empire Settlement scheme. Records of each case are kept and individual attention is given to all problem cases. Each large centre has women investigating officers to look after these. The department has also placed conductresses on all trains to look after women, children and young girls travelling to their new homes. Among other duties, it falls to their lot to supervise the feeding of the small children, and many a youngster is thus saved from illness through injudicious feeding on the part of a good mother, unversed in travelling.

A good type of British family is coming out under the 3,000 family settlement scheme, says Miss Burnham, and on the whole, things are working out very well.

DINNER GIVEN ON STEAMSHIP

PRINCE RUPERT CITY COUNCIL AND BOARD OF TRADE EXECUTIVE GUESTS

The president, vice-president and members of the executive of the Board of Trade, Mayor Newton and the members of the city council and others in official positions were last evening the guests of the Vancouver Board of Trade at dinner on board the C.P.R. steamship Princess Alice. It was a very happy event and was enlivened by community singing and other musical events at which a lot of hitherto undeveloped musical talent was discovered. Robert McKee, president of the Vancouver Board, presided, while John Noble was song leader.

It was not intended to make this the occasion for speeches but rather an opportunity to get to know each other better. In this it succeeded and a most enjoyable hour and a half was spent by the visitors. The only speeches were very short, by Thomas Dixon, vice-president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, and by F. G. Dawson, Mr. Dixon expressed the pleasure the Vancouver people felt at being able to entertain their Prince Rupert guests and stated that the idea of the members of the Vancouver Board was to help build up British Columbia and not only their own particular section of it. If there was anything they could do for Prince Rupert they would be glad to do it.

F. G. Dawson, on behalf of the guests, thanked the Vancouver Board for their hospitality and assured them of the co-operation of Prince Rupert in helping to make the province more prosperous. He invited them all to attend the dance which was to follow the dinner.

DANCE GIVEN FOR VISITORS

PARTY IN MOOSE HALL FOR VANCOUVER BOARD OF TRADE WAS LIVELY AND ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

Ladies of Prince Rupert did their part in connection with the entertainment of the Vancouver Board of Trade visitors by turning out in strength to be their dancing partners at the ball in the Moose Hall last night. The southern boardmen were out to a man and the crowd in attendance numbered about 250. It was a jolly party and everyone, particularly the visitors, pronounced it a wonderful success.

VANDALISM AT LOCAL CHURCH

BAPTISTS FIND MUCH DAMAGE DONE IN THEIR BUILDING LAST EVENING

A serious case of damage by a group of boys or others has been reported to the police by the authorities of the local Baptist Church. Most destructive activities are said to have taken place in the building and the edifice was placed in danger of a possible destructive fire.

Last evening when the congregation gathered for their mid-week evening service, they were astonished to find the premises looking as if visited by a cyclone. The chairs had been overturned and thrown about, covers torn from the choir books, a mattress used by the scouts had been dragged from the store room, ripped open and the contents scattered all over the place.

Evidently the depredations had been committed that evening for the lights were burning and both the kitchen range and the hall stove were warm and fires had evidently been lighted in them recently. What seemed the most dangerous activity was the lighting of a fire on the floor of the lecture hall with paper and the contents of the mattress. This had evidently caught and had been extinguished by water thrown on it.

The church authorities say that even worse depredations were committed three weeks ago when chairs were broken, the organ book rest was broken and flower vases smashed. No report was at that time made to the police as it was thought the vandalism would not be repeated.

PRESENTATIONS MADE TEACHERS LEAVING

D. H. Hartness, Mrs. Dartington and Miss Laxton Recipients Last Evening

D. H. Hartness, principal of the Booth School, Miss Dorothy Laxton one of the members of the staff, and Mrs. Dartington teacher of the Domestic science branch, were all remembered at a meeting of teachers last evening prior to severing their connection with the local institution. Miss Mercer made the presentation to Mr. Hartness on behalf of the other teachers and Mr. Hartness officiated in the presentations to Miss Laxton and Mrs. Dartington.

In the course of the evening refreshments were served and a jolly evening spent in an informal manner, best wishes for the future being expressed by all to those leaving.
