CONSERVATIVES MEETING WINNIPEG

SALMON FISHING INTERESTS PROPOSAL REGARD LICENSES

Fishing Interests Hold Meeting at Vancouver to Restrict Licenses

Seal Cove Cannery Said to be Excluded From Operation of New Proposals for the Skeena District

VANCOUVER, October 10.—A meeting of those interested in the salmon fisheries is being held this afternoon here for the purpose of trying to come to some definite arrangement in regard to the reduction of the number of fishing licenses.

So far as the Skeena River district is concerned, it is understood that a tentative plan has been drawn up giving to each of fourteen canneries 75 licenses. This would make a total of 1050 licenses in all.

BORDEN URGES GOOD SUPPORT TO NEW LEADER

Urges Conservatives to Stand for Canada as Full Autonomous Nation in Empire

WINNIPEG, Oct. 10.—"Select your leader and when you have selected him stand by him. Being human, he may not always be right but perhaps it would be well for you to remember that you also are human and that when you think he is wrong, he may be right." In these words Sir Robert Borden today closed the first sitting of the Conservative Convention, a sitting largely devoted to words of welcome and replies and appointment of temporary officials.

With regard to policy Sir Robert said: "Let your policy always stand for Canada's place as a full autonomous nation within the British Commonwealth."

JACK MARTIN IS DROWNED

Son of Customs Officer at Massett Loses His Life in Falling From Steamer

The district office of the provincial police here was notified by wire this morning that Jack Martin, son of James Martin of Massett, who was acting as customs officer on the American lumber boat H. W. Baxter, which was loading poles in Massett Inlet, fell overboard from the vessel last night and was drowned, the body not being recovered.

A message received by J. H. McLeod, collector of customs, further explained that the accident occurred when Martin was about to transfer to a small boat to proceed to his home in Massett as the steamer, which had loaded a cargo of poles at Ferguson, was passing Massett on her way to Seattle.

Deceased was twenty years of age and, besides his parents at Massett, is survived by a number of brothers and sisters.

SUDDEN DEATH TERRACE GIRL

Suffering From Diabetes, Miss Florence Vanderlip Passed Away in City Saturday Afternoon

With tragic suddenness, the death occurred in the Prince Rupert General Hospital at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon of Miss Florence May Vanderlip, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Vanderlip of Terrace, who had only been brought to the city about an hour previous suffering from a diabetic attack from which she had suffered less than a week. During the week, deceased had not been feeling well but it was only on Friday night that she became seriously ill. Accompanied by her father, she was placed aboard the train at Terrace on Saturday, losing consciousness before she reached the city at 3:30 in the afternoon.

The late Miss Vanderlip, who was well known and popular in Terrace where she had lived with her parents for eight years, attending school there and then joining the staff of Sparkes Bros' store was born in Alberta and was but nineteen years of age. She is survived by her mother and father and two sisters and one brother, all residing at Terrace. One of the sisters is Mrs. J. B. Agar.

Funeral arrangements being in charge of the B.C. Undertakers of this city, the remains were placed aboard this morning's train and, accompanied by the father, taken to Terrace where interment will take place.

MACLEAN-PATTULLO GOVERNMENT JIBE IS ASSAILED BY PAPER

(Victoria Times)

The Vancouver Daily Province professes to hope that the government will bring on the byelection in Nelson so that "it can get it over and done with" and have more time for running the affairs of the province. It calls the government, incidentally, the MacLean-Pattullo Government, this being a silly jibe at the Minister of Lands who, for the time being, is acting-Premier in the absence of Dr. MacLean.

The people of British Columbia are aware of the fact that good government in this province neither comes to an end nor suffers in the least if the Premier or one or two of his ministers should be absent from Victoria for a few days. They are aware that it is necessary from time to time for ministers to travel about the province to learn its problems and so equip themselves to give the people the good government which The Vancouver Daily Province often prattles about. They are aware that ministers of the crown can acquire that information just as well when byelection ground has to be looked over as they can when no contest is in the offing. They are aware, also, that the Vancouver Daily Province would be the first to haul the members of the cabinet over the coals if they did not go about and meet the people and get first-hand personal knowledge of conditions.

The Province tells us that the byelections in North Okanagan and New Westminster changed nothing and indicated nothing. But before the latter contest we were told by the Province that the issue of good government in British Columbia was directly involved in it. If the candidate whom the Province supported in one of its varying moods had been elected, it would have described the outcome as a declaration by the people of British Columbia that they wanted a new government. Our Vancouver contemporary hates to back a losing horse. Its eagerness for an early byelection in Nelson may spring from impatience to even things up. Perhaps this time it will back both horses—something it has done before with considerable agility.

Conservative Convention in Winnipeg Today is Largest in History of Party in All Canada

WINNIPEG, October 10.—Delegates from the whole of Canada from Charlottetown in the East to Prince Rupert in the West are gathered here for the biggest Conservative convention ever held in Canada. Not a riding in the whole country but is represented by delegates already here or to arrive today.

Promptly at 11.30 Hon. Hugh Guthrie, temporary leader of the party, called the convention to order and after a few preliminary remarks led in the Lord's Prayer which was recited in English, and this was followed by the same prayer recited in French with Senator Beaubien leading. "God Save the King" was then sung, followed by "O Canada."

N. K. Boyd, president of the Manitoba Conservative Association, was elected temporary chairman and Mayor Ralph Webb welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city of Winnipeg.

The sessions are being continued this afternoon.

Halibut Schooner Wizard is Towed Into Ketchikan After Being in Distress at Langara

Having suffered a breakdown on the halibut fishing grounds west of Langara Island, the American halibut schooner Wizard, Capt. Ostrom, has been towed safely into Ketchikan by the Prince Rupert boat Viking, Capt. Erickson, according to word reaching the city.

The following wire was received yesterday by J. H. McLeod, customs collector here, from James Martin, the customs officer at Massett:

"It has been reported to me that the vessel Wizard of Seattle is in distress and was in a westerly direction from Langara in tow of the Viking, trying to make shelter. The Margaret had the Wizard in tow for six hours on the eighth but had to leave on account of the towline parting."

The Wizard is one of the newer vessels of the American halibut fishing fleet. She was built two years ago and, during the past winter, underwent a change of engines.

Half Million Pounds Halibut Was Offered For Sale Here Today

Today's list of halibut offerings at the Fish Exchange was one of the largest of the season. It was nearly two o'clock this afternoon when the sale concluded and then some of the Canadian catches were held over until tomorrow's bidding. A total of 504,800 pounds was offered and three American vessels, with 149,000 pounds, not satisfied with prices offered, left for Seattle in the hope of striking a more favorable market later in the week. Sale of the catches of four Canadian vessels, totalling 30,500 was deferred until tomorrow.

FINANCIERS AT KHUTZE INLET

Group of United States Capitalists Comes North to Inspect Mining Property

A group of Detroit, Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor financiers, said to represent capital amounting to $10,000,000, came north aboard the steamer Catala yesterday to Khutze Inlet, on the mainland between Butedale and Swanson Bay, where they are interested in the mining property on which the Daily News reported several weeks ago extensive development work, running into many thousand of dollars and employing a large group of men, is being undertaken. The group includes C. G. Bush, Gen. C. W. Harrah, R. C. Campbell, R. C. Pryor, T. T. Pryor, F. Gallup and W. B. Smith.

While in Vancouver, the financiers, who are interested in the Teddy Glacier silver-lead mine in the Lardeau district, north of Kootenay Lake, were entertained at luncheon by Mayor L. D. Taylor in the Vancouver Hotel.

MRS. GRIEVE IS LATEST BRIDE

Married to M. J. Dougherty at Quiet Ceremony in Catholic Priests' Home on Sunday

A quiet but interesting marriage took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the parlor chapel of the Annunciation Church priests' home when Mrs. Margaret (Dawson) Grieve became the bride of Michael John Dougherty. Rev. Father P. J. McGrath officiating. Attending the couple were the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Dawson. This morning Mr. and Mrs. Dougherty sailed on the Prince Charles to spend a honeymoon in Vancouver and other southern cities, returning in about three weeks' time to take up residence here.

Congratulations and best wishes will be generally extended to the happy couple whose wedding came as a surprise to many friends. Mrs. Dougherty is particularly well known and popular in the city, having resided here for the past eight years. She is the daughter of Mrs. S. Dawson, 90 Hays Cove Circle, and, for the past two or three years, has been manager of Demers' ladies' wear store. The groom has been in the city only a few months and is assistant supervising engineer for the provincial department of public works of construction of the Kalen Island highway.

PLYAING THE GAME

Jean Borotra, in an interview published in another column, says that they who play the game never lose. It is a wonderful interview and everyone should read it.

Borotra plays tennis and plays it well. But if he loses he gets just as much thrill from noting the splendid play of his opponent. He glories in his opponent's skill. He plays the game fairly and well but never takes an unfair advantage of his opponents.

Rev. Dr. Grant used to say that people could not hold bitter thoughts against each other when they played together. In sports a man is rated not by the money he possesses or by his social standing but purely by his skill at the game and his general attitude toward his fellows.

JUDGES DISAGREE

The differences between judges of the supreme court of British Columbia and those of the court of appeal came to a head at the week-end when the Chief Justice of the supreme court with the other judges gathered around him and many lawyers in attendance made a public protest at the stigmas cast upon them by some members of the appeal court.

The two judges undoubtedly referred to were Mr. Justice Martin and Mr. Justice McPhillips.

Mr. Justice Martin is an excellent judge and his decisions are seldom upset by higher courts. He was formerly a member of the supreme court under Chief Justice Hunter. The difficulty with Judge Martin is that he is always on his dignity. He must be always addressed in the proper judicial manner no matter where he happens to be and his efforts to assert his dignity have often made him a laughing stock among his friends and the legal profession.

Chief Justice Hunter is just the opposite. He has been often anything but dignified but he is an able judge in many respects. He is the judge that members of the underworld usually try to get to try their cases as he is thought to be lenient to them. Many of the cases from Prince Rupert which have been dismissed in the south have been in his court. He and Mr. Justice Martin are not on good terms and have not been so for many years. They do not speak to each other if they can help it.

Other judges of the supreme court have been in Prince Rupert and some of their antics in court have been the subject of local comment when they have been here. It is possibly a good thing that members of the appeal court have been courageous enough to castigate them. Others are unable to do so on account of the high position they hold and the privileges accorded them because of their position.

We suggest that in the present situation a few judicial resignations might be received with benefit to the bench as a whole.

WORLD SERIES BASEBALL

The World Series baseball this year was not as successful as it might have been because of the fact that all games were won by the same team. Yet the games were well contested and very slight changes might have reversed the results in more than one game.

Much interest was taken locally in the matches and the full reports in this paper were the subject of much favorable comment by those who take an interest in sports in this city.

SWIMMING ENGLISH CHANNEL

Something new in swimming will have to be introduced as a novelty if the attention of the public is to be attracted to the feat. Swimming the Channel is now very commonplace. The latest to win honors was a London girl who tried seven times and failed each time but on the eighth was successful. If she had performed the feat a few years ago she would have become internationally famous but today she is only one of the many to achieve the distinction of being a Channel swimmer.

BADGES PRESENTED TO BOY SCOUTS OF 3RD RUPERT TROUP

of Boy Scouts an interesting ceremony took place when Scoutmaster P. C. Miller presented badges to Scouts recently qualified for them. Robert Gilber gained his second class badge while Ralph Johnson, Bishop Thurber, Harry Quick, Earl Gordon, Allan Vance, Victor Miller and Earl Eby were awarded firemen's badges.

PROGRESS AT RIDLEY HOME

Three Cottages Fully Occupied and Others Planned Soon as Money Raised

VERY USEFUL WORK

Aims and Objects of Founders Being Effectively Carried out in City

There are a great many kinds of public service. Some people are elected to public office and others search out public work of which few others think and do it in a quiet unostentatious way but none the less effective for all that. An example of the quiet kind is the work done at the Ridley Home where a number of happy youngsters are given home comforts and training in the city in order that they may take advantage of the schools and other privileges when they have no such privileges of their own.

The Ridley Home as it stands today consists of a group of three cottage homes each with its matron and nine children. Each cottage is like a little home where the young folks are treated by the matron as if they were her own. They take part in city activities like other children, go to church, attend Sunday school, go to the movies, visit friends occasionally and in every way act as if they were at home with their parents, provided the parents were normal home loving people who looked after their children well. The children are no different from others and as they grow up they learn to take their places in the world of affairs.

MORE BUILDINGS NEEDED

The only drawback to the institution as it stands today is its size. It is not large enough. It is planned to about double the present capacity of the home and with this in view money is being set aside until there is sufficient to proceed with the buildings. What is needed is two more cottages, similar to those now on the ground and a central cottage for cooking so that the matron of each cottage will be relieved of that duty. As it is today, the matrons are kept very busy cooking and providing each for nine children.

A visit was paid to the home recently and the young folks there seemed very happy and well cared for. The cottages are in charge of Miss Gillett, Mrs. Matthews and Miss Collison respectively, each being distinctive in its own way and differing just as one private home differs from another. Miss Davies the superintendent, does not live there. Inquiry from Miss Davies as to the scope and general conduct of the home elicited the fact that all children are charged the same fee, fifteen dollars a month. If a child has no parents and no means of support, the Government pays the fee. The sum pays all the expenses of operating the home but not the overhead such as matron's salaries, repairs and renovations, insurance and taxes. This overhead is paid from the proceeds of the annual bazaar and from donations of goods or money. For instance, donations at the pound party this week make it possible to put by more money toward the new buildings on which Miss Davies has set her heart.

The cottages are kept open only during the school year but for those young folks who have no home to which to go for the holidays, summer camp is provided at Metlakatla so they return with the others and while they are away the cottages are overhauled and prepared for the long session.

ACTIVE THIRTY YEARS

The home was started over thirty years ago at Metlakatla where a commodious building was erected but with the development of Prince Rupert it was felt that a site here would be better. About four years ago the building was torn down and the lumber and other material as far as possible used in erecting the present cottages.

The idea behind it all is to give children a chance who otherwise would be without proper home surroundings and to give them the best possible opportunity to get an education. Miss Davies explains that they are out of debt and always have been and do not intend to spend money until they have it. Just now their need is for money to extend the buildings in order that more children may be given those happy home surroundings which today they lack. Very many have to be denied admission simply because there is no accommodation for them.

SHOWER FOR MRS. CURRIE HOME OF MRS. SHENTON

A shower was held on Thursday of last week at the home of Mrs. T. J. Shenton for Mrs. C. Currie who was recently married, about 25 ladies being present, all friends of the bride. A number of beautiful presents were received.

In the course of the evening the party enjoyed a game of whist prizes going to—1. Mrs. Hackett; 2. Mrs. M. McCullough; 3. Mrs. Iverson. Mrs. Shenton had assisting her, her two married daughters, Mrs. Hackett and Mrs. Ratchford.

Wireless reports indicate that C.N.R. steamer Prince John, Capt. E. Mabbs, which was four days late in leaving Vancouver, has been further delayed on account of having heavy freights to load at Island points and will not arrive here from Vancouver via the Queen Charlotte Islands until Wednesday morning.

Man in the Moon

SOME people try to impress others with their wealth when the only effect is to impress them with the fact of their foolishness.

CHEER UP! People are not as silly as they seem.

THERE'S a great deal of satisfaction in the thought that judges are just as human as the rest of us.

THOSE Conservatives are good fighters. When they are not fighting the Liberals they get up a scrap among themselves.

NOW that the world series is over, let's get back to badminton.

MANSON tells Tolmie he is a quitter and Tolmie tells Manson he's a farmer and then they go out and have a drink together and put off the quarrel until the next public meeting. That's like Dempsey and Tunney.

TWO stories of impending war came through Friday but on Saturday the follow up story was crowded out by the world series.

Cabarets are being established in Vancouver to take the place of saloons following the advent of prohibition in British Columbia.

The annual city tax sale yesterday realized $22,258.66. The sale was conducted by City Treasurer E. D. Johnson; Fred Peters, city solicitor; E. A. Woods, city clerk, and W. D. Vance, accountant.

Moses Gray Sent Down This Morning on Three Counts of Shoplifting in Downtown Stores

Found guilty of shoplifting activities which he had evidently been pursuing indiscriminately and generally in downtown stores during the past few days, Moses Gray, Port Simpson Indian, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment by Magistrate McClymont in city police court this morning. He was convicted on three counts, sentences for which will run concurrently.

Gray was arrested in the store of the Montreal Importers by Constable William Harrison of the city detachment of the provincial police on Saturday evening.

THE CHOCOLATES That Are Different

This has been so frequently said of NEILSON'S Chocolates that they have adopted it as a slogan. The centres are delicious and the chocolate coating is rich and velvety smooth. We have to call you Mr. York
We know no other name.
You're not too bitter, not too sweet,
And not too hard, but hard to beat.
You may be plain but you're a treat
We love you just the same.

It takes the girls to really appreciate a man—and they've quickly grown to love Plain Mr. York. We secretly suspect, though, that it's not for himself alone, but for the wonderful Plain York chocolate he brings them.

A rare "chocolate-ness" to this new Rowntree bar, the triumph of over 200 years of fine chocolate making. "Not too bitter, not too sweet; not too hard, but hard to beat"—didn't the girls have it just right!

BOROTRA SAYS SPORT SETTLES MANY TROUBLES

Nations Get to Know Each Other Better by Playing Games Together

SPORTSMAN CANNOT LOSE

Famous Tennis Star Tells of Effect of International Games on People

"There is a question I want to ask you," remarked John Tunis, when interviewing Jean Borotra, the French Tennis champion, in regard to the value of sport. "What about the mass of the people of France. They have not the same advantages as you in the matter of sport."

"Ah, just so! Now you come to the point! Four years ago our national tennis championships were closed; that is, they were only for French citizens. Then we opened them to everyone. Today players from twenty different nations compete for our titles. French sporting enthusiasts flock out to the stadium at Saint Cloud by the thousands. And they are thousands of ordinary citizens. They see good sportsmen from many lands: in June last we had French, Danes, Americans, English, Irish, Scotch, Germans, Austrians, Czechs, Dutch, South Africans, Hungarians, Spaniards, Poles, Swiss, Indians, Egyptians, and Belgians all playing, and our spectators realized that the American or the German or the Dane is a good sportsman and a good fellow. Do you see the effect such an affair has upon the international consciousness of a people?"

POOR SPORTS

"Let me tell you of an impression made the other way. Several years ago our Suzanne Lenglen was in your country. She was not well. Often I have told her: 'Suzanne, you are the one woman in the world who should never be ill.' She did an unfortunate thing, she defaulted to Mrs. Mallory, then the American champion. And for years you and all other Americans believed that she was a bad sport and perhaps also unconsciously that the French as a whole were not sportsmanlike. Ah, yes you did. An impression of this sort takes years and years and many examples to erase. Do you not begin now to perceive the value of international sport and the effect it can have for good or bad upon international relations?

"Now I have never been to South America or to Australia. This winter the French Lawn Tennis Federation is sending us on a short trip to South America and to Australia. Do you not think playing with these peoples will open our eyes, that it will make us see what good sportsmen there are down there? And, on the other hand, will not the thousands who watch us play, will not they say afterwards: 'Ah, they are not so bad, those Frenchmen. They are good fellows, after all.' Yes, I am sure of it."

GERMAN SPORTSMANSHIP

"This past summer I was asked to play in a large tournament in Dusseldorf. It is the first time that French players have been permitted in Germany since the war. Their great champion, Otto Froitzheim, a charming fellow, was to take part. Would I come? I promised to try to arrange my affairs to be able to play. I went up for three days, met Froitzheim in the finals in a long five-set match in which he led two sets to love. Ah, he played the game of his life. I can tell you. Well, the crowd was enormous. They wanted a German victory; yes, that was natural. But they cheered me at the finish as much as if Froitzheim had won. They were marvellous. How do you think that makes me feel toward the Germans? I cannot hate a people who are sportsmanlike."

"And then they ask me to play with Froitzheim in the doubles. Never had a Frenchman played beside a German since the war. Would I be the first? Certainly, why not? Otto is a fine player and a good sportsman. And we were

TAKE NOTICE that by order of His Honor, F. McB. Young, the 11th day of August, A.D. 1927, I was appointed Administrator of the estate of Joe Elman (otherwise) Joe Herman, deceased, and all parties having claims against the said estate are hereby required to furnish same, properly verified, to me on or before the 21st day of September, A.D. 1927, and all parties indebted to the estate are required to pay the amount of their indebtedness to me forthwith. lucky enough to win. The crowds were so large that on the last day the gates were closed an hour before the match began. And they were marvellous to me, a Frenchman, an enemy of their country just a few years ago. The fact that I had served in the war, that I had shot at their sons and brothers was forgiven and forgotten. We were all upon the field of sport; the audience as well as the players. We were permeated with the spirit of sport, and I believe this four days' play at Dusseldorf did more to promote a sincere understanding and good feeling between French and Germans than a hundred conferences between the heads of the various nations.

GETTING AND GIVING

"Why do I believe that? Because in a conference the statesmen of the various nations are usually trying to get something and give nothing. They are bound by few rules and consequently they feel able to take any advantage possible. But in the world of sport your sportsman does not take advantages. He wishes to play the game with his heart as well as with his body and his mind. You see the distinction? I could not accept a point in a close match that did not belong to me. I could not receive a doubtful decision because such a point taken would take away my power to concentrate for five minutes afterward. And this is no more true of myself than of any other sportsman in the world. Politics, even international politics, is like business. Someone must always win, someone must always concede a point here or a point there in order that none will lose out in the end. But sport is like sport and nothing else. We are not in sport impressed with winning; we are more anxious to 'bien jouer'—how do you say it, to play the game. And if you play the game one can never lose!"

AN OPTIMIST

"I am an optimist." Here the cheery, infectious smile, the spontaneous grin which has won Jean Borotra so many friends in so many distant parts of the world appeared. "Yes, I am an optimist. I believe the world is growing better. You don't think so? Look back thirty years—such a thing as a sporting spirit was unknown among the masses, in my country at any rate. Why? Because there was no international sport. There were no international competitions. Nations met each other at war, or at best through their political leaders. You see, we are improving. We are getting closer, we are getting to know each other better. We are meeting more and more upon the field of sport where we are governed by rules that are certain to bring out the best in human nature. And when in the next twenty years my generation in Europe, which like yours in the United States, has been brought up in an atmosphere of sport become the rulers of their lands, do you not think we shall see a different spirit in the relations of the various nations throughout the world?"

WHO BEST SPORTSMEN?

"Every once in a while I am asked a silly question like this: Who are the best sportsmen in the world? Or, which nation is the most sportsmanlike, or aren't the English better sportsmen than the Germans, or the Germans better than the French? No nation has the best sportsmen, no nation is the most sportsmanlike. Of course not. Every nation has good sportsmen. No one country has the 'accaparement'—the, what do you call it now, the right to be called more sportsmanlike than any other. That is the lesson I have learned in the past few years from international sport, a sport which has taken me nearly all over two continents, and is soon to take me over a third. And as international sport grows and extends its intercourse we shall have more good feeling, more understanding between nations, more sympathy for the other man's point of view. And, on the other hand, we shall have fewer wars, fewer disputes about tariffs and boundaries and such absurd things. A little more golf and tennis and perhaps not quite so many conferences—" "You see, I told you I was an optimist!"

BEST BATTLE HEAVY TITLE

Jimmy McAleenan of Stewart Gives Impressions of Recent Fight Between Tunney and Dempsey

"The best fight that was ever pulled for the world's heavyweight title," is the verdict of James McAleenan of Stewart who was a passenger on the Prince Charles Saturday returning home after having attended the recent bout at Chicago between Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey. Though it was true that Tunney got a "long count" after the knockdown in the seventh round, Mr. McAleenan is inclined to the opinion that this made no difference as far as the result was concerned. Tunney was by far the best man and Mr. McAleenan believes that good thing generalship was displayed in the way he stayed down until the count of nine and acted after he got up.

Mr. McAleenan, while East, also paid a brief visit with his mother in Kansas City. Press of time made it impossible for him to remain to see the World Series baseball games.

Bill Anderson and Tom Whiteley, who attended the fight with Mr. McAleenan, also returned to Stewart Saturday.

M. A. Burbank, district engineer for the Canadian National Railways, returned to the city on the Prince Charles Saturday afternoon from a brief trip to Vancouver.

SPORT CHAT

By their remarkable performance in winning the American League pennant with such a substantial margin and then coming along to win the World Series four games straight, the New York Yankees establish themselves as probably the most wonderful baseball aggregation in the history of the great American sport. Comparing with them in brilliance may be taken the Philadelphia Athletics in the flower of Connie Mack's days. And the first and outstanding recollection of the 1927 World Series is the fact that the Yankee's were so good that they completely eclipsed their Pittsburgh Pirate opponents who won the National League. And the New York Yankees only this year reached a perfection that has been steadily growing under the watchful and skilled care of Miller Huggins. If the organization as it now stands remains intact, it should be capable of making even greater records yet. One has to hand it to them that they are a great team. The manner in which the 1927 World Series was played also stands out as a convincing proof that the day of the so-called "fixed" baseball has passed for the time being at least.
