WANTS TO KNOW WHY UNITED STATES REVENUE OFFICERS SHOULD INTERFERE WITH VESSEL ON HIGH SEAS OFF CALIFORNIA

WASHINGTON, April 9.—On behalf of Canadian citizens involved, the Canadian legation here has asked the Department of State to explain on what grounds United States revenue officers recently arrested Capt. Four of the ship's personnel were Canadian and the rest British subjects who have resided in Canada from four to forty years. The cargo was owned by a Canadian firm. Canada asks why the ship's personnel and cargo were interfered with on the high seas and why the men are held in jail at San Francisco in default of bail set at $20,000 each.

ROBB HOLDS UP PENSION BILL

WILL NOT CONSENT TO CHANGES BEING MADE UNTIL HE IS SURE OF COST TO COUNTRY

OTTAWA, April 9.—Hon. James A. Robb, minister of finance, announced in the House of Commons this morning that, until there was assurance as to what the cost would be to the country of changes in the civil service superannuation bill as agreed upon by the senate banking committee, he would not consent to the changes being adopted by the House. The civil servants were evidently not satisfied with the increases granted but he thought it was time some one should speak on behalf of the taxpayers.

The senate committee, on request of civil service organizations, removed from the superannuation bill four per cent interest charges upon arrears of contribution. An amendment would also refund those who have already paid interest charges.

While not minimizing any of the hardships which they were called upon to endure from the time the boat hit until they were later picked up by the American fishing schooner Irene after being stranded for four days, during which time they lived on halibut which had been washed ashore from the wrecked craft, they look upon their experience as part of the game and are ready to put out again at the first opportunity.

IS POWER OF PRESS WANING?

Much has been said about the waning power of the press. It is frequently stated that newspaper are not today the dynamic force they were when edited by such men as Horace Greeley, James Gordon Bennett, Henry J. Raymond, and other illustrious editors of the period of personal journalism. That day has passed and this is the period of institutional journalism. Newspapers have ceased to be known as the vehicle of expression of an individual editor, but rather stand or fall on the character of the paper as a whole. Is the power of the press waning? Without arguing the question, but by considering the positive accomplishments of a group of representative newspapers, it can be established definitely that those who talk of the waning power of the press are uninformed of what the newspapers really are doing.

RADIO TROUBLE U.S. AND CANADA.

Radio control in both United States and Canada is complicated because of broadcasting stations in both countries.

The situation makes it mandatory upon the two governments to arrive at some agreement under which interference between stations of the two nations would be minimized. It is with this end in view that the United States radio commission and Canadian representatives have been conferring. That they were not immediately in agreement was more to be expected than surprised at.

With eighty-two stations Canada wants twelve wave lengths of the less than 100 available. This does not seem an unreasonable demand.

There is now before the radio commission the formidable task of allocating less than 100 wave lengths among the stations. Obviously some stations must accept lower wave lengths and be content with low power confining their audience to a limited area.

The commission must reserve channels for the American, Canadian, Cuban and Mexican stations. Radio laughs at international boundaries and leaps the frontiers. Sooner or later, if there is to be peace in the radio world, a North American agreement must be made.

IDEAL CITIZENS ARE NEEDED HERE.

An ideal citizen is the one who sees clearly and ever something good in the city and never loses the opportunity to spread that good news abroad that others might derive the benefits therefrom, whose unselfishness prompts him to want others to share opportunities, health and pleasure which his home city offers.

Loyalty is the first requisite for the ideal citizen. The love for the place and his neighbors which dismisses the thought of self interest or policy and resolves itself into the knowledge of duty when he does all in his power to make the city a better place in which to live.

There are three distinct attitudes which a citizen may assume toward the place in which he lives, which furnishes him food, shelter and association for himself and family to boost, to remain quiet or to knock. The booster is that ideal citizen who is never forgetful of the obligations which is due the home city. He is ever found at the front when any movement is launched which might tend to the advancement of the interest of the city. While others see darkly, to him good is visible at all times. The quiet citizen is satisfied to let the neighbor do the work and content to lull the city asleep and let it rest. The knocker is the man who is without a country. There is no room for him anywhere, his presence dampens the enthusiasm of every man or group of men who unfortunately come in contact with him. Having no faith in his own ability to go forward, he naturally lacks faith in his home city to do so.

You have the chance to belong to either of the three classes. If you are a booster, your neighbor knows it well and will boost you. If you are aligned with the quiet class, you will not be regarded one way or the other, for the man who selects to steer in the middle of the stream, gets no support from either side. If unfortunately you are a knocker, get ready to be knocked, for eventually it is coming to you. As you give, so will it be meted out to you.

Prince Rupert would be an ideal city if only there were more ideal citizens. Let's have them.

STAMPEDES ARE DUBBED MENACE

ACCOMPLISH NOTHING AND ONLY DISRUPT FARM LABOR SAYS VICTORIA OFFICIAL

VICTORIA, April 9.—Growing popularity of the stampede and rodeo craze in British Columbia's smaller cattle communities is becoming a serious menace, according to Thomas P. McKenzie, Provincial Grazing Commissioner.

The labor problem, already an acute one in the cattle business of the interior, is aggravated by the detractions of the rodeos and Mr. McKenzie thinks that something should be done to check the spread of these competitions which are steadily claiming more and more of the cowboys' time and attention.

"These stampedes accomplish nothing but confusion by unsettling labor on the ranch and range during the season when all important operations are going on," says the commissioner in his report to the government. "Cowboys are inclined to devote their energies to practicing up for bucking and steer-riding contests instead of the care of the cattle herds they are hired to attend. If the so-called stampede is to be held anywhere, let it be at large centres, where it will be on so extensive a scale that it will be truly an attraction rather than a baneful influence."

HOW "FRUIT-A-TIVES" GAVE HER NEW LIFE

MRS. J. F. RUTKOWSKA.

"For several years I suffered with severe constipation and was a nervous wreck. I had great pain in my limbs, and such terrible headaches I thought I would go crazy. I had no appetite, could scarcely eat anything without stomach distress. After reading about 'Fruit-a-tives' I decided to try them. Before I had taken three boxes, I was entirely well. I sincerely thank 'Fruit-a-tives' saved my life."
—Mrs. J. F. Rutkowska, Tolstoi, Manitoba.
Indigestion, biliousness, headaches, nervousness, pains in the back and limbs are largely caused by allowing poisons to accumulate in the body. "Fruit-a-tives" is nature's remedy, made from intensified fresh fruit juices combined with tonics. "Fruit-a-tives" stimulates the bowels, liver and kidneys to normal action and brings about a condition of delightful health. Buy a box of "Fruit-a-tives", today. DOESN'T INTEND ENTER POLITICS

LADY BEAVERBROOK HAS NO THOUGHT OF STANDING FOR PARLIAMEN.

OTTAWA, April 9.—(Canadian Press).—"I won't say that I will never change my mind, but at the present time I have no thoughts of standing for parliament." This statement was made by Lady Beaverbrook to an interviewer while she was in Ottawa.

Asked with regard to the report that she was considering the possibility of candidature, Lady Beaverbrook laughingly replied, "That was owing to an answer I gave to a Chicago woman writer. I told her I wouldn't say I was not going to do so. However, I have not really thought of it since the time my husband resigned. I did give it my serious consideration then. During his last election I had done a great deal of organization and speaking in the constituency of Ashton-Under-Lyne and I loved the work. He was so busy with war work at the time that it was necessary for me to give this assistance. I was keenly interested in the social welfare possibilities which opened up through constituency work.

"I believe if women in parliament and in public life would keep to these child welfare and social welfare problems they would make their most effective contribution to society and to the betterment of public life.

"At that time, in 1917, my children were young and I finally decided that parliamentary duties would involve too much of the time that should be devoted to them. They are older now, to be sure but since coming to Canada eight months ago I have had a serious illness and have been out of touch with political movements in England."

EXTENSION OF FRANCHISE
Concerning the present movement for extension of the franchise to all women over twenty-one in England, Lady Beaverbrook refused to comment. "I have scarcely looked at the papers," she said, "and do not really know what is going on. My own feeling is that education for the exercise of the franchise is very important for both young men and young women." Since coming to Canada she has been struck by the fact that women seem to take less interest in politics here than in the Motherland. "I have even been told by women," she said "that their husbands do not want them to concern themselves with politics. I wonder why?"

Lady Beaverbrook characterized herself as a "newspaper person." "They say I really belong to the staff of the London Daily Express," she said, "because I worked right with the staff during the strike, when we had such thrilling experiences getting out the paper. It was really one of the most thrilling of my life. My part was to run a canteen and feed the workers." Hon. Jane Aiken, who was with her mother, has inherited something of her father's literary talent. It is one of Lady Beaverbrook's regrets that she does not write herself.

CHINESE WAR SCENE SHIFTS

DRAMA MOVES FROM SHANGHAI TO PEKIN—CAPITAL OF EMPIRE IS NOW DEFINITELY THREATENED

PEKING, April 9.—The field of operation of China's grim civil war, has shifted so steadily from the Yangtze Valley to the north that Peking itself, historic seat of the governments of all China, and the capital of the northeners, now appears definitely threatened.

The danger comes from two directions, first the northward drive along the Tientsin-Pukow railway by the Cantonese and secondly, a possible sweep from the northwest by Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, once known as the "Christian General," the leader of the Kuomintang or National People's Army.

The Cantonese threat, coming as it does on the heels of the successful Cantonese occupation of the great Yangtze Valley, captured by the Cantonese of Shanghai and Nanking, is directed primarily at Tsinanfu, the capital of Shantung, and Tientsin, important northern railway centre. Should

Large, Red Pimples Covered Her Face

Miss Mable Moore, Blenheim, Ont., writes:—"A short while ago my face was covered with large, red pimples. I tried several remedies, but all failed. At last a friend advised me to take and I took three bottles. I will never regret the day I did this as my face is entirely cleared up.

My mother has taken B.B.B. for headaches, and she hasn't had the least sign of a headache for a long time."

This valuable remedy has been on the market for the past 48 years; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Tientsin be seriously endangered, the powerful and undefeated forces of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian war lord, would be forced to withdraw from Peking, since Tientsin offers their only line of communication with Manchuria, their base.

SHANTUNG UNCERTAIN
General Chang Tsung-Chang, the Shantung leader, who has large and well-equipped forces at Suhowu, in the province of Kiangsu, is believed to offer the most serious obstacle to the Cantonese drive. Military experts express the opinion that if he is willing to fight he could easily withstand the Cantonese, but his recent collapse in the defence of Shanghai and Nanking has raised doubts as to his intentions. Should he be guilty of treachery or should Cantonese propaganda behind his lines break down General Chang's defence, first Tsinanfu would be endangered, and then Tientsin.

Any congestion of railroad service at Tientsin because of the possible withdrawal of Manchurian troops from Peking would be certain to make the evacuation of foreigners in the North extremely difficult.

The threat on Peking by Feng Yu-Hsiang has not reached an active stage but is present nevertheless. Feng was driven out of Peking a year ago by the combined forces of Chang Tso-Lin and Wu Pei-Fu. The latter, who is governor of Honan, is now at odds with Chang Tso-Lin.

PREPARING TO ADVANCE
The sporadic outbreaks of terrorist methods reported in widely spread points in China north of the Yangtze River is to indicate that the Cantonese vanguard of "expert intimidators" is pushing on toward Peking in preparation for the next big military phase of the ever-changing Chinese war situation.

Authoritative advices indicate that the coming conflict between the victorious Cantonese and the well-disciplined troops of the Manchurian war lord, Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, will be a supreme test of the Cantonese propaganda methods which have attracted much attention.

British officials believe that the Cantonese have patterned their propaganda methods from the Russians and have even bettered them in preparing the path for the peaceful advance of the Cantonese army.

ADVANCE GUARDS
The advance guards of small groups of spies, secret service men and plain clothes men are reported filtering through the Northern lines to organize small bodies of Cantonese and to give control to the various labor unions.

Agitators address crowds and stir up huge demands.

Reports received here state that wherever opposition develops the "expert intimidators" work upon their fellow countrymen's fear of personal injury.

If necessary gunmen institute campaigns of terrorism, picking off men marked as "foreign running dogs."

All this prepares the civilian population for the arrival of the Cantonese while meanwhile manoeuvring between the opposing headquarters still goes on.

Neglected Eyes

NEGLECT is doubtless the cause of most of the ills that afflict humanity. This is so self evident that it seems hardly necessary to tell you. If your eyes are giving trouble, have them attended to—and at once.

OF ALL absurdities in the kingdom of foolishness, surely the loss of eyesight through neglect is the most inexcusable.

DON'T lose health and efficiency through neglect. Come and see!

Trolling for Salmon is now on — Herring Run Practically Over — Halibut Landing Still Down From Last Year

With activities centred at the present time at two points—Warke Channel and Jap Inlet—a good many of the local trolling boats are now at work again. Best results to date seem to have been obtained in the latter vicinity, fish having been caught both at the mouth near Island Point and further up the body of water. About a dozen gasboats are operating in the Jap Inlet region while at Warke Channel, where results so far are reported to be not very satisfactory, rowboats are principally used. About May trolling will, as usual, probably be centred around Dundas Island while several boats are planning to go to the west coast of Vancouver Island. The most of the local trollers have yet to put out on the commencement of the season's operations.

Rance Place, with his boat Just It, is so far the high man of the trolling fleet. He brought in a catch of 1200 pounds—900 reds and 300 whites—which netted him about $260. Prices have been high, red salmon taking no less than 20c, while white, of course, demands considerably lower prices—around 4c and 6c. The latter is quite as edible and luscious as the red but the eaters of salmon have yet to be educated to this fact.

Bert Wearmouth, with the powerboat Narbethong, is again packing for the trollers and, after a few short trips in lately, is now doing better and is more encouraged with the situation.

Ben Siverson came in this week with the Karen II, having 250 pounds aboard and the Jennie, Capt. Sorenson, also made port on Thursday with a catch which was sold to the Cold Storage.

Capt. George Pendleton of Seattle was renewing old acquaintances while he spent a few days in port this week. He has been identified with the halibut fisheries on this coast for nearly thirty years.

The popular O. P. Smith, he of home run fame, returned to port on Tuesday with the "Billy Boy" after having spent

In fair weather or foul, zero nights or rainy days, I have always found that my car starts instantly and performs perfectly with Champion Spark Plugs—they're dependable.

Champion is the better spark plug because of its double-ribbed siluminate core—in its two-piece construction and its special anode electrodes.

Boatbuilding still continues actively here and the yards that have been busy all winter have a full program booked out for the next few months.

Having the two seine boats for the Gusep Packing Co. very nearly completed, the McLean shop is now making good progress on the 48 seine boat and packer for the Langara Packing Co. of Massett.

By the end of this month the Suga establishment will have completed a 41 foot seine boat for Henry Edenshaw of Massett. The vessel will have a 16 h.p. Union engine. The keel will be laid at the Suga yard next week of a 48 foot seine boat for Inverness cannery. The vessel will be powered with a 35 h.p. Union engine.

At the dry dock early Monday morning, the launching took place of a new halibut boat for Capt. Jack Iverson which will be named Signal. The vessel is sixty feet long and is to be ready for operation by next month. The dry dock is also building a large seine boat for Capt. Robert Gammon.

In the loss of the halibut boat Killtush off Cape Fairweather in northern waters at the end of March, the Pacific Coast halibut fleet suffered its third total casualty during the six weeks since this season has been open. This disaster was made the more serious through the fact that a man was lost—Paddy Callahan, well known in halibut fishing circles all along the coast.

The Killtush, which was 87 feet long, was built in Vancouver in 1920 and was successively cannery tender, rum runner and halibut boat. It was, in fact, her first trip in the halibut fisheries when the disaster occurred. As far as can be learned, the vessel struck hard on a rock in a blinding snowstorm and went down so fast that Callahan could not get away and the other men had a narrow escape. They managed to get ashore on desolate land and it was almost two weeks before news of their plight reached the outside world. Capt. Fred Brown and the ten men who escaped are now on the way to Seattle in an American vessel.

The Killtush was the first Canadian halibut boat to be lost this year. The other two boats which foundered since the season opened were the Cape Clear and Scandia, both American.

The big Canadian Fishing Co.'s cannery tender Skeedans, Capt. Alex Oulman, spent almost all week in port in the hope that she might get a cargo of fresh herring which is needed at the plant. She returned down the coast yesterday without the required shipment. The Skeedans is a big, husky looking 66 foot boat deriving her power from a 50 h.p. Washington-Estep engine.

Alex Saint is back on the job at the Prince Rupert Boat House after a couple of months receiving training in tying knots and how to get out of them at naval headquarters in Esquimalt. One would think from the proud way in which Alex holds his head and wipes his nose he was a bleeding lieutenant-commander at least but, when he has worn the overalls for a few days longer again, he'll probably come down to earth again and be just an ordinary lieutenant.

Doc Clapperton will tell you if it isn't the weather, its the mumps. Doc has been packing around a beautiful pair of cheeks. If his head can swell likewise, he will sure think he has something to be proud of alrightly.

Construction of the reduction plant in connection with the Canadian Fishing Co.'s cannery at Butedale is now actively in progress and quite a crew of men is being employed. There has been a deal of speculation on where the company is going to get the material to work but we suppose they know their own business. Plants of this nature seem to be thriving on the west coast of Vancouver Island and they ought to do as well here.

The Galt freighter Salvor, Capt. Rush, is due at the first of the week with a cargo of three hundred tons of coal for Albert and McCaffery.

J. BENT
LADIES' READY TO WEAR
Third Avenue, Prince Rupert, B.C.

April 9, 1927.

Ladies—

Ever since I opened this selling campaign for Mr. Bent on April 1, weather conditions have been so unusual that many a hard-ened old-timer has wished me—"A Merry Christmas."

Now to sell Spring Hats during a blizzard is a real achievement, and yet we have sold Spring Hats and lots of them, and Spring Coats and lots of fairy-like Dresses and heaps of dainty silken undergarments, for our prices were so staggeringly low (the lowest in the history of Prince Rupert) that even with abnormal weather our sales were heavy.

But my objective is to raise $10,000 and naturally adverse weather has slowed up sales. Therefore this gigantic unloading will continue for a short time longer than I anticipated. This stock for a city the size of Prince Rupert is unusually large and the range of selection is still practically unlimited.

I would urge every lady in Prince Rupert to visit the store at their earliest convenience during the coming week, assured that they will receive the utmost courtesy and will save considerable money on reasonable goods of the highest grade. Thank you.

NO SEALING

Old-time sealers of British Columbia who hoped that the lapse of the international sealing treaty would permit them to return to their former means of livelihood have just about lost all hope. They realize now that it is practically certain that the treaty will not be terminated. According to officials of the fisheries department here, there is no prospect of sealing ever being carried on again on the Pacific Coast as it was more than fifteen years ago, before the treaty was signed.

The pelagic sealing treaty signed by Great Britain, United States, Japan and Russia, in 1911, prohibiting sealing in North Pacific waters by subjects of those powers, will probably run on indefinitely until such time as any one of the signatories ask for its termination. Although the minimum 15-year period in which the treaty was to be in effect expired last December, none of the four powers has expressed any wish for abrogation of the past so far as British Columbia has been informed.

An Entirely New Conception of "Quality at Low Cost"

NEVER before, at such amazingly low prices, has any manufacturer provided so many fine car features, so many marks of distinction and so many mechanical improvements. These are typified by new bodies by Fisher, finished in new Duco colors, new full-crown fenders, new bullet-type head lamps, new AC radiator, new AC air-cleaner, new larger radiator, new sliding seats in the coach model, and many other features too numerous to itemize.

modified to give Japanese natives the same privileges accorded the British Columbia and Alaskan aborigines, who are permitted under certain conditions to kill seals on their migration up the coast. Japan is understood to be negotiating with the United States for a new conference, but the Tokio government is not believed to be desirous of having any radical changes made to the agreement. The treaty is satisfactory in its present form to Canada.

Due to bad weather for the first month or more of the season, halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert to date are nearly a million pounds behind the total at a similar date last year. Up to last April 8, a total of 3,779,200 pounds had been landed here as compared with 4,617,500 pounds at the same date in the previous year. It is early yet to predict but it is apparent if the fish does not start soon to come in much heavier volume the year 1927 is going to be behind 1926 as far as halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert at least are concerned.

Of the 3,779,200 pounds of halibut landed here since the season opened, 2,937,800 pounds has been from American vessels and 841,500 pounds from Canadian. Last year at a similar date, American boats had landed 3,646,100 pounds here and Canadian, 1,071,400 pounds.

Prices have generally been satisfactory although there have been short trips. The high price for American fish this week was 15.8c and 8c paid yesterday to the Ruth for 2,300 pounds while the high Canadian price—16.4c and 8c—was also paid yesterday to the Bayview for 3,500 pounds. Low bids of the week were 12.3 and 6c for American fish and 12c and 7c for Canadian.

During the past week a total of 829,900 pounds was landed at Prince Rupert—595,700 pounds from American boats and 234,200 from Canadian.

The following were the boats landing catches here from Saturday to Friday inclusive: American—Onah, 7,500 pounds; Wabash, 3,000; Jack, 3,900; Yakutat, 40,000; Bonanza, 48,000; Explorer, 44,000; Liberty, 43,000; Neptune, 24,000; Kanaga, 25,000; Gladstone, 16,000; Nordic, 31,000; Norma, 6,000; Akutan, 50,000; Torskjold, 25,000; Democrat, 28,000; Tatosoh, 28,000; Roald Amundsen, 27,000; Middleton, 21,000; Serious, 8,500; Reliance, 14,000; Chelsea, 25,000; Sunset, 22,000; National, 14,000; Muria, 14,000; Virginia, 26,000; Ruth, 2,300.

CAPT. NEWCOMB HONORED

Capt. Holmes Newcomb, master of the C.G.S. Newington before he was superannuated a few years ago and a mariner of the north Pacific Coast since 1888, has been elected president of the Vancouver Pioneers' Association for the ensuing year. F. W. Hart of Prince Rupert has been named an honorary vice president of the Association.

Captain Holmes Newcomb, who is a native of Albert County, New Brunswick, arrived on the coast in August, 1888, and has since made his home here. A master mariner by profession, he joined the Union Steamship Company on its organization and was connected with it for twelve years, serving as commander of various vessels. On the construction of the steamer Kestrel, the first vessel built in Vancouver for deep-sea fisheries protection service, Captain Newcomb was appointed commander by the Dominion Government and continued in that service until three years ago when he was retired on a pension.

Volunteering for active service the second day after war was declared in 1914, Captain Newcomb was appointed examiner of vessels' papers at Esquimalt and occupied that position until peace was declared, his request for more active service being refused on the ground that he was performing a highly important duty in that office. It is estimated that if the annual output of resolutions to co-operate with something or other were laid end to
