CANADA JOINS LEAGUE OF NATIONS

ENGLISH FIRM TO BUILD THREE NEW SHIPS FOR CANADA

Canada Elected to Seat in the League of Nations at Geneva to Participate in World Affairs

GENEVA, September 16.—Canada is now a member of the League of Nations. She has the position for three years, having been chosen yesterday with two other countries for non-permanent seats. Forty-nine states voted, Cuba receiving 40 votes, Finland 33, Canada 26, Greece 23, Portugal 16, Uruguay 3, and Haiti 1.

The Canadian delegation gave a dinner last night which was attended by 200 delegates to the Assembly. In a statement Senator Dandurand said: "Canada highly appreciates the honor implied in the expression of confidence manifested in today's election to the Assembly. It is the first time a British Dominion has been called upon to participate with other world powers in the joint responsibility of an effort to settle world difficulties."

IRISH VOTE IS COUNTING

Government Leaders Confident of Success; Nothing Definite Until Next Week

DUBLIN, Sept. 16.—Tellers today began the counting of an unusually heavy vote cast in yesterday's Free State elections, with the government leaders expressing confidence that the result constituted a strong endorsement of the administration.

Only fragmentary knowledge of the outcome is probable before next week.

Three people were wounded, one seriously, in a fight between Fianna Fail and Government supporters at Raphoe, Donegal, last night. A number of arrests took place in various parts of Ireland.

HUNTERS MUST KEEP THE LAW

T. Van Dyk, sergeant in charge of game enforcement, asks the Daily News to say that the law in regard to shooting female deer will be strictly enforced. He says that hunters often cut up their game and bring it home in pieces, which is contrary to law. He quotes the law which says:

"No person shall have in his possession the carcass of any deer from which all evidences to indicate conclusively the sex of the deer have been removed, unless the carcass has been transported to the place where it is proposed to consume the carcass."

Two men are now engaged in connection with game law enforcement here. These are Sgt. Van Dyk and Con. Clark. Special attention is to be paid to protection of game on Kaien Island, which is a government game reserve where no shooting of any kind is allowed.

DUBLIN, Sept. 16.—Captain R. B. MacIntosh in the plane Princess Xenia hopped off at 1.34 this afternoon for New York. He expects to make the flight in 26 hours. He picked up a black cat just before the take off saying, "This certainly is an omen of good luck."

Two fast airplanes from the Free State escorted the intrepid flyer to the coast.

TRADE COUNCIL HOLDS SESSION

Gathering at Victoria Talks of Future of the Pacific Ocean

VICTORIA, Sept. 16.—More than six hundred delegates including leading financiers and industrialists of Canada and the United States are here for the Pacific Foreign trade congress.

Premier MacLean yesterday welcomed the delegates on behalf of the province, saying he trusted the deliberations would lead to the expansion of trade in which all the west would benefit.

Mr. Justice Macdonald, who was the chief speaker in the morning, said attention had been directed today towards the Pacific Ocean. Not only as a great highway of commerce but also as a centre of diplomatic problems. Businessmen and traders could not ignore their inheritance.

The strategic position as the gateway to the Orient of the ports of Victoria and Vancouver and the states of Washington and Oregon and California would rival and eventually pass those of the Atlantic, said Edward P. Kemmer, secretary to the council.

Business of British Columbia Coast Is Progressing by Leaps and Bounds Says Bank Manager

VICTORIA, September 16.—Vancouver had progressed by leaps and bounds and Victoria and Prince Rupert were enlarging their facilities and increasing business, G. V. Holt of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Vancouver, said when addressing the Pacific Foreign Trade Council today. The Panama Canal had shortened the time to Europe and lowered the cost of handling charges, and the regular freight line services had been established from the Pacific Coast to Europe by 31 lines. Where a few hundred bushels of wheat used to be the export of wheat in 1923 and 1924 now it was fifty million bushels and there was every indication that it would be one hundred million in the near future. There was a large tonnage of lumber on the Pacific which had offered attraction to idle shippers.

On the reverse side iron, steel and heavy manufactures suffered from equal facilities offered to Europe but on the whole the advantage was on Canada's side.

START OWN INDUSTRIES

W. J. Alder, who is well known here and who now lives in Victoria makes a suggestion that Prince Rupert should have a flour mill. He says that in Victoria they have come to the conclusion that, if they are to have industries they must start them themselves and with that in view they have recently given encouragement to an elevator, a moving picture scheme and other industries for the purpose of providing a local payroll.

SEEMS TO HAVE JUMPED INTO POPULARITY

Hon. J. D. MacLean, Premier of British Columbia, seems to have suddenly jumped into a position of popularity in this province. He set out by carrying on in a modest and retiring manner without in any way usurping the honors which were due the late Premier.

CANADA A REAL NATION

Canada is now a nation, so recognized throughout the world. She has been elected to a seat in the League of Nations. It is only for a three year term but that is a minor matter. It places this country in the position of being recognized as a factor independent of Great Britain or the rest of the Empire.

CHOOSING OF CUBA

The choice of Cuba as a member of the League is rather an interesting one. That country is almost a dependency of the United States. At any rate the country attained her liberty through the intervention of the United States and was started out in life as a nation under the protection of the same country and is still to some extent considered in that light.

COPPER MINING SEEMS HOPEFUL

Head of Britannia Mines Tells Mining Congress of Present State of Industry

VANCOUVER, Sept. 15.—The copper industry was never in a more flourishing condition than at present, and with the opening up of new districts, particularly in northwestern Quebec, there is every prospect that present production will soon be greatly exceeded.

Reviewing the progress of the copper mining industry in Canada, Mr. Browning placed the world's production at approximately 1,650,000 tons annually, the United States being by far the largest contributor, with 53 per cent, besides controlling a further 17 per cent produced from mines in South America.

Mr. Browning cited figures to the effect that the consumption of copper per capita in the United States (and this would apply approximately to Canada also) was 15.20 pounds per annum, whereas in England, France and Germany it amounted to only about seven per cent or a little higher, while in China and India it was relatively negligible.

GREAT POSSIBILITIES

It would seem, therefore, he said, that there are great possibilities for increased consumption of copper in all parts of the world. Canadian production in 1926 amounted to 133,094,942 pounds, valued at $17,490,300. This is the largest output ever attained, and the fact that the total has been increasing steadily each year since the slump following the war augurs well for the future of the industry.

ANYON REFERRED TO

Mr. Browning referred to the forward strides that have been made in recent years in the metallurgical process for treating low-grade ores, and pointed out that Canada has not been backward in this advance of technique.

In The Letter Box

TAXATION AGREEMENT. Editor, Daily News.

On September 20 the ratepayers will be called upon to vote on the proposed Tax Agreement with the C.N.R.

Very little interest appears to be taken in one of the most far reaching pieces of business that has been before the city in recent years and it is plainly the duty of every taxpayer to become informed of the effects of the agreement, should it pass, before voting upon it.

1. Why should the Company offer to pay $65,000 taxes for 1927 when the Court by revision of its property assessment left the C.N.R. taxes several thousand dollars less than the $65,000 proposed?

2. If the agreement is confirmed by the taxpayers will it increase or reduce our taxes while the agreement is in force?

3. Will such an agreement prevent or delay the necessity of taxing improvements?

4. Would the C.N.R. be paying its proper share of taxes under the agreement, and if not what has the company done to merit the advantages of another agreement?

5. When does the company purpose making good its covenants of former agreements?

6. Is the company playing the game with the City in its operation of the drydock when major repairs such as those necessary on its ss. Prince Rupert are being done by private concerns in or near Vancouver?

Just why the company's taxation officials are able to offer the city more in taxes than was awarded in court for the present year may be a mystery but I have a suspicion that they are clever enough to see that their victory was so sweeping that it is bound to force down the land assessment of the entire city, making it necessary for next years council to tax improvements. By having company improvements exempt under the agreement it would be making a very timely and advantageous agreement.

If the agreement is confirmed the advantage to the city this year would be less than two mills on the assessment which the council should have had the courage to impose in this year's mill rate to meet the necessary expenditures. But what will the mill rate be next year? Very much higher than this unless improvements are made to pay. The fixed charges cannot be avoided in taxation and street, sewer and sidewalk improvements are imperative. While our taxes are climbing the C.N.R. is "sitting pretty."

I believe the agreement will make it absolutely necessary to tax improvements, for unless they are taxed the rates on land alone would create a much more serious problem than the one we have today through unimproved property reverting to the city for taxes. Every tax sale leaves the city with a few more lots which are not taxable, leaving the burden greater for those who cannot let go.

I cannot think the C.N.R. is trying to pay more than its rightful share of the taxation, and that its past record in the keeping and performing of its covenants does not entitle it to another.

The drydock is exempted from nearly all taxation, and if properly operated should be in a position to execute repairs to the company's ships as cheaply as any other concern on the Pacific Coast, and whether drydock books showed a profit or a loss on the work it would be done at cost in any event since both drydock and ships are under the same ownership. Then why not repair the ships at Prince Rupert in its own drydock? If not so operated why give tax exemption and are we satisfied that such operation of the drydock merits its burden of taxation being placed on local taxpayers? Privately owned drydocks are profiting on the repairing of the ss. Prince Rupert. Pay rolls are created in Greater Vancouver and Prince Rupert, "holds the sack."

Note carefully clause 5 of the proposed agreement, which provides that "The Railway Company shall annually receive from the city as a credit on account of the said sum of Sixty Five Thousand Dollars from the taxes collected on any railway lands so alienated, sold or occupied otherwise than by the Railway Company a sum of money computed on the basis of the revised assessments for the year 1927 at the mill rate for the year in which such credit is due." Note that the mill rate is for the year in which the credit is due and the assessment is based on 1927. Could anything more clearly show that it is expected that the mill rate will rise?

After all why should this year's council be so bent on passing the agreement? This year's assessment and taxation was settled by the Court and is no longer in dispute.

Finally, remember that if this bylaw is to be defeated you must vote against it. Staying at home will not defeat it and it will take the vote of every opponent to preserve the city's interest.

Yours very truly, M. M. STEPHENS

Neglected Eyes

NEGLECT is doubtless the cause of most of the ills that afflict humanity. This is so self evident that it seems hardly necessary to tell you. If your eyes are giving trouble, have them attended to—and at once.

OF ALL absurdities in the kingdom of foolishness, surely the loss of eyesight through neglect is the most inexcusable.

DON'T lose health and efficiency through neglect. Come and see!

GOOD GOLF AT JASPER LINKS

Finals for Totem Trophy to be Played Tomorrow Morning

JASPER, Sept. 16.—A Vancouver player either R. P. Baker of the Jericho Club, or Harry A. Jones of the Shaughnessy Heights Club will run up against either J. L. Bell of Calgary or Stanley Thompson of Toronto in the final for the famous Totem Pole trophy, emblematic of the championship of Jasper Park Club Golf Tournament which will be played here Saturday forenoon.

Yesterday Stanley Thompson, J. Leslie Bell, Harry A. Jones and R. P. Baker progressed as far as the semi-finals, the two first mentioned being in the upper half of the draw and the latter two in the lower half. Thompson eliminated Noel Jones of Vancouver 3 to 1, Bell was winner over D. Macdonald, of Jasper 3 to 2, Jones had a very easy victory over J. R. Waghorn of Vancouver six to five, while Baker reached the semi-final round by defeating J. E. Morrill, of Honolulu at the eighteenth green.

WELL CONTESTED.
With the exception of the Harry A. Jones-J. R. Waghorn match, all the others in the championship flight were closely contested and the issue hung in the balance most of the way. Against Stanley Thompson, Noel Jones was one down at the turn but the edge was with the Toronto golfer on the homecoming nine and a close struggle finished on the seventeenth green when Thompson who had had his rival dormy two got the necessary half in fours.

J. Leslie Bell of Calgary was given a surprisingly good match by D. Macdonald of Jasper, the Calgary man found his opponent playing pretty well to the top of his game all through the first nine holes but managed to make the turn one up. As in the Jones-Thompson match, however, Bell stepped out and lengthened his lead and a decision was reached at the sixteenth, Bell getting the bracket by a 3 and 1 margin.

Harry A. Jones, present holder of the Jasper championship and trophy had little or no trouble in disposing of J. R. Waghorn, a fellow clubman at the Shaughnessy Heights Club by a score of six and five. Jones, who is the ruling favorite to repeat his last year's victory, did not play his best brand of golf, figured from a medal score standpoint, but he was fully alive to all the advantageous opening offered by Mr. Waghorn, and made the most of them.

CLOSEST GAME
R. P. Baker, of the Jericho Club, Vancouver, was given the most interesting kind of a nip and tuck argument by J. E. Morrill, of Vancouver, before he finally succeeded in winning on the last green. Coming to the seventeenth green the Vancouver man was two up. Playing his second shot on the 17th fairway, however, Baker pulled over into the bunker to the left of the green and lost the hole. Morrill's chances improved appreciably as a result but, Morrill hooked his tee shot into the rough, got a bad lie for his brassie second and the match was over to all intents and purposes right there. The hole was a half in five, but that was as good as Baker needed.

Today Thompson meets Bell and Harry Jones meets Baker to determine the finalists and a couple of high class games are looming up.

REGIMENT WON GILHULY CUP

Final Football Game of Season Played Last Night in Rainstorm With Three Spectators

In the thick of a rainstorm and before a crowd of spectators which consisted of one lady and two men, the Regiment last night won their first football trophy of the season and incidentally the last to be offered, by a score of 6 to 1 over the Moose. The fact that the Moose started the game with only six men, finishing up with seven, while the Regiment was at full strength is ample explanation of the way things went. Goal scores were Campbell, two; Russell, two; Norrington and Wilson for the Regiment and Johnny Murray for the Moose. At half time, the score stood 3 to nil.

LACROSSE HAS HONOR UNDER SOUTHERN CROSS

(Nelson News)
One hundred lacrosse clubs are playing Canada's national game in Australia, a dispatch reads.

Probably New Zealand has it too, in which case Maoris may be becoming expert in the use of the netted stick, as they are notably with the pigskin.

Meanwhile the Kootenay, a territory once famous for the lacrosse teams it sent touring, hasn't any at present.

If it comes to the worst, perhaps a team of Maoris may tour here yet, and give a novel exhibition of one of the most interesting and one of the fastest games ever developed.

BLONDES MADE BETTER SHOWING IN SWIM TORONTO RECENTLY

TORONTO, Sept. 16.—No longer need anyone look upon the beautiful blonde lady as a fragile and ethereal being of temperamental moods. At the recent gruelling 21 mile Marathon Swim here it was a blonde girl who swam farthest, a blonde who stayed in the water longest. The only brunette who was awarded a prize was the dark-haired Edith Hedlin, the last Toronto girl to leave the water, and she was frightened by an eel when she vaulted into her boat. The blondes displayed more presence of mind than the brunettes and were, on the whole, calmer. The women entered in the swim certainly showed much greater endurance, generally than the men, for, when at four o'clock, an official check-up of the swimmers was made, of the 35 women in the competition 20 per cent were still going on with the terrific endurance test, while only four per cent of the men entered had stuck it out until that time.

Every doctor at the hospital remarked that the physical endurance of the women swimmers was better than the men. The women officials who had examined the girl entrants declared that they had never seen a finer group of women and the admission, from all who watched the swim, was that those 35 mermaids made a better showing than the male competitors.

VERY LATEST FALL GOWNS

Courtesan on Visit to Canada Outfitted Before Leaving France.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—An indication of the correct fall and winter wardrobe for the woman of fashion, as prescribed by a famous French courturier, is found in the distinctive wardrobe designed by this authority for the Comtesse de Sagonzac, one of the most beautiful and best known women in French society, who has just sailed for America to visit Lady Allan of Montreal.

Incorporating the new, but not the ostentatiously novel, practical without being plain, elegant and dignified, and at the same time "young," the wardrobe was chosen with the discretion and yet with the daring which makes the true Parisienne so distinct and enviable a figure in the world of fashion.

slight shirring at the waist and the slender belt help keep the straight, slender lines so favored by the present mode.

TWEED COAT
 "Briquet" is another tweed coat with huge patch pockets and straight lines chosen by Madame the Comtesse. It is lined with blue velvet, which matches the almost invisible blue plaid running through the tweed, and which also matches the blue velvet frock which completes the ensemble. The frock is particularly interesting as it combines many of the new features of the winter collection of Worth. It has three tucks above the belt of glittering silver, which gives it an appearance of a shorter waist-line than we have recently seen; its sleeves are long and tight; and its skirt has the side-ways flare that is so successful in this present collection.

"Mon Preferé," a straight long coat, which is simple and mannish not only in cut but also in material, is excellent for travelling and for simple sports. It is made of "men's wear" dark blue cheviot with a fine pin stripe of white, and

"COMPANIES ACT"

TAKE NOTICE that the Rupert-Vancouver Stevedoring Company, Limited, intends to apply under Section 39 of the Companies Act, being Chapter 38 of the Revised Statutes of British Columbia, 1924, to change its name to Pacific Stevedoring & Contracting Company, Limited.

DATED at Prince Rupert, B.C., this 9th day of August, 1927.
 WILLIAMS, MANSON & GONZALES, Solicitors for the Rupert-Vancouver Stevedoring Company, Limited.

worn with the straight skirt, pleated only in the front, is a mannish shirt with bosom and tab and a dark blue tie with white polka dots.

For cold winter days is a long coat in heavy ratine, named "La Follette," lavishly trimmed with heavy gray fox fur. This coat has also the side fullness, the long reverse of fur, and a braided patent leather belt in black which fastens with a large gold buckle.

FORMAL FROCKS
 To wear with this coat on more formal occasions, Madame chose a simple frock in two tones of gray crepe roman.

Soft chiffon velvet plays an important role in the collection of winter models shown by Worth, and the rich dignity of this deliciously soft fabric is reflected in two suits in velvet chosen by the Comtesse, both extravagantly trimmed with the long-haired, soft fox.

"Tir aux Pigeons," is of that soft indefinable blue so universally becoming to all blue-eyed women. The frock is entrancingly simple, with a long plain bodice, long tight sleeves, and V-shaped neck. It is tucked around the waist, and this line is once more higher than in past seasons, and has the side drape and fullness which is also repeated in the coat. The line of this coat is of that artful simplicity of which Worth has long been the master. Collar and cuffs are of gray fox.

To rival the snow in virginal whiteness is Worth's appropriately named, "Fleur des Neiges," which is a suit all in soft white, with a pleated white chiffon velvet skirt, short white jacket, collared and cuffed in white fox, with set-in pockets, and a tiny belt across the front. Its blouse is heavy with georgette, with a fine line of small flowers embroidered in minute beads of varying colors in soft blue, pinks, and lavenders, around the collar and down the front—an engaging and delightful ensemble.

For those formal and semi-formal occasions when one does not know just what to wear, Worth created for the Comtesse a dark blue lace frock made over a straight flesh-colored foundation of chiffon. It has particularly interesting new lines with its long straight bodice, and flaring skirt with uneven hem-line. A pearl buckle with a knot of lace seems to hold the fullness of the skirt in the front, and the whole effect has something of the medieval although essentially so modern and practical.

BLACK EVENING GOWN

No wardrobe is complete without one black evening gown and the new Worth collection seems to have a background of entrancing black evening gowns, developed in velvet, crepe roman, georgette, or satin. All black is exceptionally smart, but the Comtesse de Sagonzac could not resist the simplicity and rich coloring of "Le Pilon," a soft black silk, bordered in white and gold, with its engaging decollete and the brilliance of the rhinestone buckle.

"Venise," which has been one of the most successful models in the present collection, is shown in two tones of gray with a huge blue velvet bird embroidered with pearls and blue crystals, but Madame preferred it in pink crepe roman with a decoration in pearls and strass. Its engaging hem-line and drapery give it that dignity and poise that is characteristic of Worth evening gowns.

For a dancing frock, Madame chose "Pres du Couer" with its short full skirt, simple bodice with a double line around the decollete, and an ornament spreading itself around the hips in strass. This was made for Madame in white chiffon, which is also exceedingly smart for the evening this season.

GREEN VELVET

Since velvet is so prominent a fabric in the mode for autumn and winter, no wardrobe could be complete without at least one velvet evening gown, and Madame chose "Le Plaisir" which is developed for her in a soft shade of green, ornamented with two large roses on one shoulder in two shades of green, and dependent therefrom a double chain of imitation emeralds and diamonds. This gown has a bolero in the back only, and the front drapery of both bodice and skirt is a masterpiece of the courtier's art.

"Rose de Noel" was the only negligee chosen by the Comtesse. Its material is pale pink georgette with a band of heavy ceru lace on the sleeveless coat. Practically all the most elaborate of the Worth negligees have separate coats either with or without sleeves.

This wardrobe, chosen by one of the best dressed women in Paris, is remarkable for its simplicity and absence of extreme or striking new features, although it is the epitome of the season's chic and good taste. The Frenchwoman is most careful to make only subtle changes from season to season, and thus helps to make fashion's changes an evolution rather than a revolution.

SOCIAL CLIMBERS IN BRITAIN SECURE NEEDED PUBLICITY

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Certain social climbers are alleged to be adopting an ingenious expedient to obtain further public notice in their course upward. Invitations to such a function as a Royal Garden Party are naturally distributed by the hundreds and, given the requisite pushfulness, there is no great difficulty in securing one. The social climber, therefore, reckoning up the situation, comes to the conclusion that there is not much distinction to be gained from accepting such an invitation, but he (or more often she) may gain a gratifying amount of publicity if the invitation is declined.

A little sheaf of notices, therefore, appears from time to time in the "social column" of certain newspapers on these lines: "Mr. and Mrs. High-flyer greatly regret they were unavoidably prevented from obeying their Majesties commands on the occasion of the Royal function last Thursday," or, "Miss Muriel Gadabout it at present at Baden and was therefore unable to be present at the Duchess of Dougloucesters reception." If you looked into Miss Muriel's real whereabouts you would perhaps find she was not at Baden Baden, but at Margate Margate. These notices, of course, are paid for as advertisements. Many papers, though, will not accept them.

Social aspirants who adopt such a dodge would doubtless be crestfallen if they realized that it is a breach of social etiquette to decline a general invitation which emanates from the highest quarter, and still more it is a grave social misdemeanour to make public one's inability to attend. The proper course is to write a letter to the Lord Chamberlain's Department, asking that under the exceptional circumstances the invitation may be withdrawn, and specifically explaining why attendance is impossible.

AIRPLANE ENDS SEASON'S WORK

Maj. MacLaren Leaving for South Tomorrow After 7,000 Miles of Flying

Over a range extending from Knight's Inlet on the south to the Naas River on the north and from the mainland west to the Queen Charlotte Islands, Major D. R. MacLaren, D.S.O., with his Pacific Airways flying boat has travelled something like 7,000 miles in the fisheries patrol of District No. 2 this season. The work is now completed and Major MacLaren expects to take off tomorrow morning for Alert Bay where he has a few days' patrol to carry out before proceeding to headquarters in Vancouver. Excellent weather conditions on the whole prevailed during the season, states Major MacLaren and, throughout the two or three months, there was but one mishap, that being when a connecting rod broke near Butedale, necessitating a forced landing and the subsequent installation of a new engine. If never before the use of the airplane in the fisheries patrol has proven its worth this year, declares Major MacLaren. The chief and local inspectors have become fully alive to the great value of the airplane not only as an effective means of patrol but also as a means of giving them complete control of a district of such vast distances as this from a transportation standpoint.

TWO NEEDED

That two aircraft could carry out more work and do it more efficiently than forty patrol boats, is the opinion of Major MacLaren. Nor does the cost to the government need to be any greater. Prince Rupert is undoubtedly the logical place for the base in this district with sub-bases at such points as Swanson Bay, Rivers Inlet, Bella Coola and on the Queen Charlotte Islands which could be moved at a moment's notice.

"But we must have better types of aircraft for the fisheries patrol," states Major MacLaren. "We must have machines that will rise faster, attain greater altitude and travel faster with the same load of three or four men. Their endurance must not be less than six or seven hours and their speed at least 80 or 90 miles an hour." More than one machine is also required to properly cover the ground."

NIGHT FLYING

Discussing the matter of night flying, Major MacLaren states that this can also be done if necessary. By the use
