LIBERAL'S NOMINATE IN WESTMINSTER ENGINEERS TAKE SURVEY OF HIGHWAY TO TERRACE

B.C.'s Premier-to-be Was Country Doctor Eleven Years Ago

HAILS FROM PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND AND CROSSED CONTINENT TO BECOME HARD-WORKING RIGHT-HAND MAN TO PREMIER JOHN OLIVER

(By Charles L. Shaw, in Financial Post)

One windy autumn afternoon eleven years ago a country doctor whose name was familiar only in the distant community where he made his home, walked up the steps of the British Columbia parliament buildings in Victoria to tackle a job which a few days before he had never imagined would be his.

The country doctor appeared in the capital city just a few days after the Liberals, led by the late Harlan Carey Brewster, had been swept into power by a landslide vote. The overwhelming victory staggered even Brewster and when the smoke of campaign cleared away he made a hurried survey of his party in search of cabinet material. He had the redoubtable John Oliver for his right-hand man and minister of agriculture and railways. He had M. A. Macdonald, the brilliant Vancouver lawyer, for attorney-general. These two men had served with Brewster in the legislature as the sole Liberal members and for that reason, if for no other, they were entitled to portfolios. But when it came to choosing his other ministers Brewster was a bit puzzled. He needed a man representing the southern interior and he recalled the young country doctor that he had met in Greenland during the feverish days of the campaign—the young doctor who had once been a school teacher and who had served as alderman and mayor of the old mining town.

"What about this fellow MacLean?" Brewster asked some of his colleagues. "MacLean is safe," was the reply, and a few hours later the country doctor who had been a school teacher knew that he had been selected as minister of education in the Brewster government.

P. RUPERT AFFECTED VANCOUVER BUSINESS

Grain Coming Here Would Probably Have Gone to Southern Port

In an article in the Vancouver Province on the grain business Ray E. Lee, chairman of the grain division of the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange, speaks optimistically of the future of the business at the port. In telling why last year was not as good as expected, he concludes:

"Conditions in the Orient also were abnormal, and our experts to that market were greatly reduced in consequence. Taken altogether, the total shipments of wheat this past season, amounting to about thirty-four million bushels, represent in the peculiar circumstances a quite satisfactory showing, for it must also be remembered that our sister port of Prince Rupert entered into the picture for the first time, and drew to itself some five and a half million bushels of wheat which heretofore would most likely have moved through Vancouver."

Mayor Gray Nominated and New Westminster Election Will Take Place Very Soon

NEW WESTMINSTER, August 12.—Mayor Gray was unanimously nominated to contest New Westminster at the by-election made necessary through the death of the late Dr. Rothwell. A Liberal convention was held here last night and Gray was the unanimous choice.

Acting Premier MacLean announced that the election would be held before September 1.

Speaking in support of Gray, Dr. MacLean said there were three critical divisions in the House last session and the government emerged with majorities of seven, nine and eleven respectively. Where, then, was weakness found in these the alleged "Liberals' last legs."

"This government can carry on until it chooses to go to the country," declared the minister. "In talking over the situation with Mayor Gray beforehand," he concluded, "the question of cabinet rank arose. Gray told me he was mayor and would not give up the position for a portfolio. He felt he could serve his community best by remaining a private member."

ELECTION DATE

VICTORIA, Aug. 12.—It was announced today by the government that the New Westminster by-election would take place on August 25 and nominations close on August 22.

WOOLLEN MILLS FOR VICTORIA PROPOSED

City Asked to Help With Financing of Concern Which Sees Success Ahead

VICTORIA, Aug. 12.—Mayor J. Carl Pendray will call a meeting at an early date of prominent citizens to consider financing the proposed worsted mill, details of which will be left in the hands of His Honorship and the industrial committee. This decision was made at a meeting of the city council, when this clause of the industrial committee's report was adopted.

Alderman Holmes, in recommending that this meeting be called, said he had heard that the estimates for the building were satisfactory. "It is already known that after full investigation Mr. J. Moore concludes a worsted mill here is assured of success and has good prospects of developing into a large and flourishing industry. Detailed figures sent up by Mr. Moore prove this. The only question remaining is one of financing, which this meeting could advise us on."

Some $210,000 is needed to establish the industry here. Mr. Moore is putting up $40,000, so that the total capitalization of the company would be $250,000. The cost of erecting the building will be about $40,000.

MUSEUM COLLECTION

Something over a year ago the museum board thought they might secure a collection of Indian curios for the museum. They were offered a collection belonging to Mrs. Large, widow of the late Dr. Large of Port Simpson. However, the price of this collection was so high that the board felt it would be difficult to raise the money with which to buy it, so it is being sent to England.

Now the museum has to start over again. Already there are a number of specimens, some of them very valuable, in the collection which is being steadily although slowly increasing. It is located temporarily in the Bank of Commerce building and can be seen during banking hours by any citizens wishing to view it.

The Board is not ready to purchase curios but is always glad to receive them in trust for the citizens of Prince Rupert as the foundation of a collection which some day it is hoped will be valuable.

Aviation is no new thing. Machines supported by air have been utilized for many years. They are usually called political machines.

NEW GOVERNMENT LEADER

Today we are publishing an article telling about the new leader of the provincial government. It is written by an able British Columbia journalist, Charles L. Shaw, grandson of a former well known and able editor of the Victoria Colonist, Charles H. Lugin. It is taken from the Financial Post, published in Toronto.

As Dr. MacLean will probably be premier of British Columbia before long, it is suggested that everyone should know who this man is and what he has done. We commend this article to the people of the district.

If something is not worth fighting about, it is not worth having. That's what the bull moose sings to his mate.

COST OF CITY GOVERNMENT

We have been asked to publish some comparative figures in regard to the cost of administration of this city compared with others. Nanaimo, at the last Dominion census, had 8,900 population, yet the cost of administration of the city of Nanaimo is $16,910 as compared with Prince Rupert's $33,675. For protection of property such as fire and police, Nanaimo pays $21,169 as against $33,487 in Prince Rupert. For health and sanitation Nanaimo's bill is $2,156 against our $19,943.

It is perhaps unfair to compare the public works of Prince Rupert with that of other cities but the figures given are Nanaimo $49,102 as against Prince Rupert's $209,221.

The total cost in Nanaimo is given as only $89,337 whereas the total cost here is $20,425.

We know nothing about the accuracy or otherwise of these figures but we are assured that they are correct. There may be factors which make this comparison unfair. If there are it would be interesting to know what they are. If it costs in Nanaimo only ten dollars a head and in Prince Rupert $50 a head for city government there must be something wrong. The difference in the two places seems too great. We should like to be set right on these figures because they do not seem reasonable, and we hope they are wrong.

Cheer up. If other men don't do it, it is because they have not the courage.

E.C.'S PREMIER-TO-BE WAS COUNTRY DOCTOR ELEVEN YEARS AGO

British Columbia, but the truth is sinking in. There is no danger of anything like that happening now and the people know it." Dr. MacLean told the writer recently, "British Columbia is in a better position financially today than ever before, and that is simply because we have tried to be safe and sane in handling our credit."

British Columbia's gross debt is about $80,000,000. That is a lot of money for a province with a population of barely half a million people, but Dr. MacLean's view is that the mere sum of the debt is relatively unimportant.

PAYING OFF ITS DEBT

"The important thing is that no other province in Canada is making anything like the effort we are to pay off its debt," declared Dr. MacLean. "British Columbia is still in the pioneer stage and it's only natural that big borrowings would have to be made. The country needs to be opened up and we can't build roads, bridges, railways, schools and irrigation ditches by a touch of a magic wand. But with all our borrowings the debt of the province is but ten per cent of the combined debt of all the provinces. And here's the big difference—our sinking fund is fifty per cent of the amount of the sinking fund for all the provinces. Most of the provinces set aside only one half of one per cent each year for the retirement of debt. We lay aside enough to liquidate the entire debt at maturity of the loan. That is our basic policy in finance and it is the main reason for my optimism about the province's economic future."

In choosing MacLean as their leader, members of the Liberal party were not overlooking the personal element, and they recognized in the man who had graduated from doctor to financier handling millions of the people's money every year, the qualities that made him the only member of the Oliver cabinet who in all his years of office had not been involved in a bitter political controversy. MacLean is above all things a peace-maker and conciliator. His predecessor, John Oliver, was a believer in the big stick and he did not hesitate to wield it upon occasion. So did some of his other colleagues, who once in a while made the discovery that the man who goes armed for the fray is apt to find his foe similarly accoutred. But if MacLean believes in the big stick at all, he believes in having it comfortably padded. He believes in the political philosophy that a government should be able to administer the affairs of the country efficiently without hurting anyone and without creating bitter antagonism.

"So long as there is a party system the outs are bound to be in healthy opposition to the ins, and vice versa, but this sort of rivalry is purely of a political nature and inevitable," said Dr. MacLean not long ago. "But there is no justification for bitterness in politics, and where you have bitterness and spite poking their fingers in public affairs you cannot reasonably expect to have good government."

POPULAR WITHOUT BABY KISSING

It is because Dr. MacLean believes that and, furthermore, has adopted it and stuck to it as his working policy in and out of public life, that he has traversed a decade of uninterrupted cabinet service without an enemy and stronger politically than he ever was before.

MacLean is popular and yet he is not of the hand-shaking, baby-kissing political fraternity. He is a quiet man and one of the least talkative members of the cabinet, and yet he is in no sense taciturn or exclusive. He may not have a great many words for everyone, but he has a smile for everyone and he does not spare it, and if you want a "Yes" or "No" answer from him you will get it. Quiet and unassuming and a believer in the padded stick perhaps, but MacLean is not a pussy-footer. He is about the most easily approachable member of the cabinet and that is one reason perhaps why people inside and outside the cabinet have made it a habit to go to him with every conceivable question and problem.

TACKLED P.G.E. ENTANGLEMENT

Throughout his long administration, Premier John Oliver always regarded MacLean as his right-hand man. Whenever he left Victoria it was always MacLean who was asked to carry on as acting premier. Oliver was always a glutton for work and he gloried in piling jobs on himself, but whenever he felt the load getting too heavy he usually sought relief by shifting a part of the burden to the broad shoulders of the country doctor. Dr. MacLean was already minister of finance and education and had been provincial secretary when the job of railways minister was offered to him and, because MacLean's eagerness for work matched even that of John Oliver, he accepted it and straightway started in to untangle the snarled skein which has enmeshed the Pacific Great Eastern Railway ever since that ill-starred political child was given birth.

But tasks like these are not merely titles to glory in, for Dr. MacLean. He has a passion for making a serious responsibility of his many duties, and when the P.G.E. problem was placed in his hands he was wise enough to perceive that it was the biggest single issue before the province and that its settlement in a manner designed to benefit the railway and country alike would be the biggest conceivable feather in the cap of the ruling administration. And so he has wrestled with the P.G.E. unceasingly and doggedly, gradually fashioning the government-owned railway which has caused so much political sorrow in the past into a going concern, with a semblance of business management about it. One of the things he did was arrange for the appointment of a board of directors embracing some of the most competent business men in the province and now, convinced that the successful future operation of the road lies in making it a part of one of the transcontinental systems, MacLean and his associates are negotiating with private interests for sale of the road and its extension northward into the great Peace River country and southward to Vancouver. With these links established, Dr. MacLean believes the railway will be in a fair way to earn dividends—something which it has never done before. The P.G.E. is still the biggest single problem of the British Columbia Government and when MacLean leads his party to war—and that may not be so far off either—the battle cry will concern the fate of the P.G.E., on terms worked out in the mental laboratory of MacLean and the men he has gathered around him to put the road on its financial feet.

FROM P.E.I. TO B.C.

MacLean is a true Westerner in spirit and in outlook and yet his birthplace is in Canada's farthest east—Prince Edward Island. His parents, of Scottish descent, had come to Canada from Inverness a few years before the boy who was to become famous at the extreme western end of Canada was born, fifty-four years ago. The elder MacLean was a farmer and the boy attended a rural school during the morning hours, hurrying home after his school duties to help dad in the field. Later, he attended Prince of Wales College at Charlottetown and it was while there that he first conceived the notion to go west. He reached the prairies as a youth of nineteen, fortified by his nerve, his determination to get somewhere, and not a cent of money. He undertook the work which seemed most familiar to him at that period of his youth and instructed a class of half a dozen farm children. He liked the work and moved from place to place as the school terms passed, seeing new scenes, meeting new people and inspired by the silent vastness of the prairies in their pioneer days.

FIRST WAS SCHOOL TEACHER

Then someone told him of British Columbia—the province of big timber, big trees, big rivers. He crossed the Rockies and found a job as teacher in a little school in a farming community along the Fraser River. His success as a tutor won promotion and he was appointed principal of the public school at Roseland, then the centre of mining activity, with a population of several thousands. Teaching, he felt, did not offer him the scope for advancement that he sought, and so he contrived to have enough money to finance a medical course at McGill. He did not actually embark on his medical career until he had reached the age of thirty-two, but his personality and the reputation he had built for himself in Roseland as a sober-minded, intelligent young man, won for him a large and profitable practice. He moved to Greenwood, another important mining town then, and branched his activity by service as an alderman and mayor. These offices gave him the spark of ambition for public life and in the 1926 general election he was Liberal candidate for Greenwood. It was this election, this dramatic political turnover which smashed the fortunes of Sir Richard McBride, William J. Bowser and other Conservative powers, that gave MacLean his opportunity and paved the way for elevating the country doctor to the premiership of his province.

CANNED WASPS ARE LATEST IMPORTATION

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 12.—Canned wasps were imported from Japan this year. They were welcomed by the United States department of agriculture, which gave them food and beetle larvae to lay their eggs in.

They are wasps of a variety peculiar to Japan and they prey on an Asiatic beetle which has found its way into the United States and destroys crops. They, with some 15,000 potential offspring now hatching in larvae of the Asiatic beetle will be sent to a laboratory at Riverton, N.J., and eventually transferred to Long Island, where their beetle prey are now preying on crops.

Neglected Eyes

NEGLECT is doubtless the cause of most of the ills that afflict humanity. This is so self evident that it seems hardly necessary to tell you. If your eyes are giving trouble, have them attended to—and at once.

OF ALL absurdities in the kingdom of foolishness, surely the loss of eyesight through neglect is the most inexcusable.

DON'T lose health and efficiency through neglect. Come and see!

NEW TEACHERS FOR SCHOOLS

One Man and One Lady Appointed at Meeting of School Board Last Night

Two new teachers were appointed to the staffs of the local schools at the meeting of the school board last night. Bertha Rogers of Carberry, Manitoba, was appointed to the domestic science department at a salary of $1,500 a year. She was recommended by Miss McLennan.

George H. Stocks, B.A. of the University of B.C., was appointed to the High School.

Miss Margaret Palmer, who is already on the staff, will take Miss Scott's room as receiving teacher at Borden Street, Miss Scott having recently resigned.

Several teachers applied for positions at the High School in connection with the matriculation class but the applications were held until others expected had arrived.

PROPOSAL TO OPEN SCHOOL

Westview Resident Submits Names of 21 Pupils Who Would Attend There

The school board last night had before it a proposal to re-open Westview School. There was an application from one of the residents asking for it and giving the names of 21 pupils who would attend.

It was pointed out by Trustee Gilchrist that to do so would save rent and the cost of transportation of the pupils. The property would be better looked after if used.

Chairman Rochester stated that they would want more information. There should be a petition from the parents. Also they should know something about the ages of the pupils and the classes they have been attending.

The matter was laid over for further consideration.

BOYS, BAND ASK FOR FREEDOM FROM SCHOOL IN EXHIBITION WEEK

The school board last night had before it a communication from D. B. Finn, chairman of the Boys' Band committee, asking that the boys of that organization be excused from school attendance during fair week as the exhibition committee was depending on them to provide music for the big event.

The matter will be discussed tonight when it is expected there will be a fuller attendance of members of the board.

CHILD KING LIVES IN UNPRETENTIOUS HOUSE

Michael Speaks Perfect English and Thinks of Cookies

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 12.—A small unpretentious house in Calle Victoria, Bucharest's main street, has suddenly thrust into its shadow the golden palaces of the King and Queen on the lower part of the same street. It is the home of Princess Helen, mother of the five-year old boy whom fate virtually has made ruler over sixteen million people.

The little house is just like any Canadian brick and plaster home. Inside, in the kitchen, is the beautiful Helen, "a slim grey princess," wearing a check-

Crown Colony Days

Away back in the late sixties thousands of acres of British Columbia's timber were sold for one cent per acre, which looked like a fair price—then. Today similar timber is worth from $150 to $200 per acre, so tremendously has timber appreciated in value within the scope of an average lifetime.

What the young growth of today will be worth sixty years from now is beyond computation if it is protected from fire and allowed to reach maturity.

The moral is obvious.

BRITAIN STILL CARRYING ON

Muddling Through as Usual But Her Invincible Spirit Inspires Faith

NEILSON, Aug. 12.—Few realize, however, the tremendous burden Britain has carried since her war armies were mustered out; taxed to the bone, paying vast sums to America and receiving practically no reparations; still handicapped by last year's strikes, which ably demonstrated that her people are still masters in their own house.

"The staggers along, and time alone will tell if she will win through—one keeps faith in her invincible spirit. The pound is at par, but living costs are high, though petrol seems cheap. She has undoubtedly been under the fear of the Reds and the terror of the Bolsheviks. The rich have been fed to the poor till the wealthy have become cunning, and the poor believe that socialism is a function of the state.

UNEMPLOYMENT EXCESSIVE "There are still over a million on the dole—many of them for the last five years. Unemployment is still excessive including a quarter of a million workless miners. Staple industries are not in a happy condition, and the agriculturists cry aloud of ruination due to bad weather, lack of capital, combines, and all the other ailments of their calling.

"The birth rate is declining, though one does not include this among the unfavorable symptoms.

"One would like to report more favorably, but Britain's skies are still far from clear, and this goes also for the weather this summer. Shipbuilding, however, is picking up, and this is considered a good augury for trade in general. Britain is becoming more adaptable to her overseas markets, but her inherent conservatism is a drag on development of trade abroad in face of terrific competition, not only of America, but of continental countries.

ELECTRICITY BACKWARD

"The traffic problem is fearsome, and the toll of accidents appalling; 499 killed in street accidents in five months! Motor cars increase by leaps and bounds, and the unhappy pedestrian hourly saves his life in similar manner. Electrical development seems backward, due to opposition of powerful vested interests. England surely ought to have the cheapest 'white coal' in the world. It is the dearest.

"The government is endeavoring to co-ordinate electric production on a national basis.

"There is still much hesitation in regard to the redistribution of the white population of the Empire. The migration problem is not easy to solve, but is a difficult and tangled question. The settlement of Britishers overseas in an expensive and exhausting undertaking, and the capacity of the Dominion of Canada to absorb emigrants from the home islands is strictly dependent upon its ability to find markets for its produce.

"To sum up my general observations," concluded Mr. Rees, "I will quote the hackneyed phrase—Britain still carries on—or, as one leading London merchant expressed it to me, 'she is muddling through—as usual.'"

HOW DO RUSSIANS CLOTHE THEMSELVES?

Earnings of Professional Men Are Very Small and Costs Large (Victoria Colonist)

In Soviet Russia the government has decided that the salaries of teachers, doctors and veterinary surgeons are to be increased from fifteen to twenty per cent. The new tariff of state salaries will give elementary teachers from $4.50 to $6 a week; secondary teachers between $6.50 and $8.75 a week. Doctors and veterinary surgeons are to get from $8.75 to $11.25, and the dentists between $4.50 and $6.50 a week. The estimate of the new scale is made on the basis of the rouble being worth fifty cents. Even under the new scale the difficulties of subsisting and clothing oneself will be great, as the cost of living is so high. In this respect a decent suit of men's clothes in Russia costs from $75 to $100.

Man in the Moon

WHAT I like about heaven is the sure and certain knowledge that a lot of people I know will be absent.

A COUPLE of days ago a lot of relics were removed from Prince Rupert and sent to London, yet I met another of them on the street today.

I'M thankful there's a museum To put our fossils old. I wish they'd soon clean up the town And dig away the mould From all those ancient mummy folk That clutter up the streets, And rid the place for now and all Of the mossbackmen one meets.

JAKE says he wonders I'm not dodging the cops in order to keep my own carcass out of the mummy house.

IT'S much easier to try and be good than it is to be good.

YOU have heard of those men who talk up to their wives when there is someone around but when along they are as meek as mummies. No, sir, not me. I'm not that kind of a man.

THE girl said she married Dick but she wanted Jack. That's what they all want, old dear.

IT'S not what you'd do with a million If riches should e'er be your lot, But what you are doing at present With the dollar and quarter you've got.

The I.O.O.F. Hall last night was the scene of a festive party in honor of Miss Marian Lincoln of Vancouver who is in the city the guest of Syd Thomson. About eighty guests were present and there was not a dull moment throughout the evening and until rather late hours. The hall was beautifully decorated, the work being done under direction of Miss Myra Harvey. Very fine music was provided by Greenfield's orchestra and refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Corral.

Among the distinguished guests were Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Parker, F. B. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. D. Bennett, and Miss Gillingham. All enjoyed the event immensely and none more than the guest of the evening.

DEAN OBJECTS TO INTERNATIONALISM (Victoria Colonist) Dean Inge says we should eschew labels like a snare of the devil. One of those labels is internationalism. In commenting on this label he points out that people are not happy unless they belong to a fighting group, and unless they have another fighting group to contend against. "It is all very silly and very natural," Pacifists say," we quote, "Why do not the nations combine? They would be much better off. So would two football teams get many more goals if they would combine to kick the ball between the goal-posts. The only practical advice is: Don't take labels too seriously; personalize your sympathies and de-personalize your antipathies."

MANY WOMEN ARE AFFECTED

Magistrate Emily Murphy of Edmonton Makes Appeal for Co-operation For Health

EDMONTON, Aug. 12.—Declaring that seven out of ten girls who appeared in juvenile court were victims of specific disease, Magistrate Emily Murphy (Janey Canuck), addressing an audience of women at the Empress theatre, urged women of Edmonton to cooperate in every way with the provincial government and local doctors in the suppression and prevention of social diseases.

ASKS FOR JOINERS
Magistrate Murphy, who is vice-president of the Canadian Council of Social Hygiene, stressed the great good being done through this council in Canada, and urged her hearers to join the district council recently organized in Edmonton, and to exert themselves in every way to educate their children in the matters of health and the prevention of disease.

Since the organization in Alberta a few years ago, of government clinics where social diseases are treated, Magistrate Murphy stated that 10,000 cases had been cared for, exclusive of those which had been treated by doctors in private practice. But the efforts of the government of Alberta in establishing clinics, universal infection might have existed today, Magistrate Murphy declared.

COST TO TAX PAYER
"Every infected case is an extra charge on the tax payer," declared Magistrate Murphy. "The Government is doing its part in safe-guarding the health of the province. Let every woman, mother and sister, do everything in her power to cooperate and to spread the gospel of personal purity and cleanliness, in thought as well as deed."

"We no longer speak of social diseases with bated breath. We do not apologize for pulling people out of the fire. It is up to us, the women of Edmonton, to do our part in preventing disease and in helping to cure infected persons by sending them to clinics for treatment and by doing all we can to educate our children in matters of health."

BIGGEST SWIM FOR CANADA

Never Was Anything Like it Before in the Way of Prizes and Contestants

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—The big swimming marathon which is to take place here on the last day of the month is the biggest thing ever attempted in Canada both as to the size of the prizes and the number of important contestants. Summarized the event will be as follows:

Prize: Winner, $35,000; second, $7,500; third, $2,500; fourth $1,000; fifth and sixth $500. Special additional prizes for women: first, $5,000, second, $2,500; third, $500; so that a woman winning receives $35,000.

Course: Triangular, two sides of three miles and one side of one mile to be covered three times, total of 21 miles. The short side parallels the breakwater in Lake Ontario off Canadian National Exhibition Park.

Time: Start will be made at 9 a.m. August 31; finish probably late in evening of same day.

Competitors: Swimmers from all parts of the world, including George Young, winner of the Catalina Channel swim, and several conquerors of the English Channel.

Water: Whether water is cold or warm depends largely on the prevailing wind; if offshore, it will be cold; if onshore, it will probably be warmer. No currents.

Start: Competitors will line up on string of barges inside breakwater, swimming short side of triangle first. Bathing suits compulsory; grease optional.

SPORT CHAT

Quick work was done in the matter of arranging a town-and-town series of baseball games with Stewart and fans in Prince Rupert at least are gratified that they will be able once again before the season closes to see the local boys in action against outsiders. The Prince Rupert team leaves tonight and games will be played at Stewart Saturday and Sunday. The return series will be played during Fair Week. With this as well as the final for the Gihly Cup, there will be a full program of sports, besides the stampeade, at the Exhibition after all.

ENGLISH PEOPLE BET ON ANYTHING

LONDON, Aug. 12.—In England they'll bet on anything. Not merely on the outcome of a sporting event, but on whether a train will arrive on time or whether it will rain before noon.

When the total solar eclipse was approaching, betting odds on whether the weather would be clear fluctuated according to the weather forecast and finally settled at 7 to 2 against. Those who took the small end won.

The latest in wagers is a frantic betting over when a 120-foot chimney at Homerton, a London suburb, will fall. Shortly after the chimney cracked the odds were 2 to 1 that it would stand

WORLD POPULATION CONFERENCE SUBJECT

GENEVA, Aug. 12.—Foremost scientists, sociologists and students of "population problems" from nearly every country in the world will meet in a World Population Conference which is to be held in Geneva from August 31 to September 3. Sir Bernard Mallett will preside and among other British representatives will be J. M. Keynes, Prof. J. S. Huxley, Sir Humphrey Rolleston, Prof. A. M. Carr-Saunders and Dr. F. E. Crew.

The problem of overcrowding and unemployment in some parts of the world, the wide empty spaces in others, as well as the question of quality—the C3 nation—will be considered in all their aspects. Geneva has been chosen as the meeting place because the problems are essentially international, and it is hoped the results may point the way to international solutions.

WATERMELONS AGAIN IN POPULAR DEMAND

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 12.—(By Canadian Press).—Watermelons are coming into favor again. For some reason, shipments of that succulent vegetable dropped off steadily during the last five years. During the last year they suddenly jumped to a record high level, of 54,705 carloads, 15 per cent higher than ever before. They were shipped to every point of the compass and more than a quarter of them came from Georgia.
