VANCOUVER, April 23.—In the report of the British Columbia Court of Appeal hearing on March 30 of the application of Joseph Sankey for a new trial from the death sentence imposed upon him for the murder of Miss Loretta Chisholm at Port Essington in May, a statement was credited to A. Watkinson, constable of the Indian Department at Prince Rupert, been removed from a waistcoat which the crown had been worn by Sankey." It now appears, according to Mr. Johnson, that some confusion may have arisen in certain references he made to the waistcoat but he wishes to make it clear that he made no charge against Watkinson that he was a party to the waistcoat having been cleaned.

DAILY EDITION Saturday, April 21, 1927

ARE SUCH THE TOBY METHODS?

The virtuous Tories, Frank Carlow, their informer, asserted, of Lord a thousand dollars to make his disclosures against the government of corruption in the matter of liquor purchasing. To such lengths, according to him, was that great reformer and advocate of cleanliness in public affairs, H. Despard Twigg, M.P., ready to go in order that a statement might be made to incriminate those horrible and dissolute liberals. That may be Mr. Twigg's idea of a good political move but it is to be questioned if the public will agree with him in it.

As the public benefactor which he assumes to be, Mr. Twigg is not enhanced by such exposure as these. Whether his general allegations be right or wrong, the methods he has used to support them are not creditable to himself or his party. If the Conservatives, out of power, cannot have their political fight on something better than this, it is hardly likely that they will be preferred against a government which, despite all the Tory wiles, they have been able so to attack on matters of corruption.

NOT SO VISIONARY.

Major E. O. D. Smeaton, who has been busy recently trying to see how much over 200 miles an hour his special racing automobile will travel, predicts that another quarter of a century will see motor traffic travelling at the rate of 150 miles an hour over ordinary highways.

The surprising thing about this prophecy was that the public was not surprised by it. Twenty-five years ago he had predicted that fifty miles an hour would not be an uncommon speed for motor vehicles on public highways in the year 1925 would have invited ridicule. And yet today there are few if any automobiles that are not capable of a speed of fifty miles an hour and there are few motorists who have not driven that fast or faster on occasion.

A speed of fifty and sixty miles an hour would have been dangerous on the typical road of a quarter century ago and it would be hazardous to drive 150 miles an hour on the representative highway of today, but there is every reason to believe that the motor road of twenty-five years hence will be as much of an improvement as the present is over that of a quarter century back.

It isn't far from 80 and 90 to 150 miles an hour, and already automobile manufacturers are advertising stock cars with speeds "in excess" of the former rates.

Twenty years ago speed limits ranged from 8 to 15 miles an hour; today there is neither observance nor enforcement of limits of 30 and 35 miles an hour where the road is straight and wide. Speed limits in this age of high speed seem to apply only where conditions make it difficult to break them.

MOVING INTO ONE'S OWN.

Well, it's getting toward moving time again, and how busy a good many folk will be! They'll have to bring in the piano box from the back yard, where it had been either a playhouse for the children or a coop for the chickens. They'll have to wrap the old comforts around the chifforoni, and newspapers around the chairs. The old house will have to be cleaned up, and so will the new one. Something will be lost—something always is—and much will be thrown away.

There is a great deal of waste about moving. Ben Franklin, in his wise way, said: Three removes are as bad as a fire. Yet when spring comes we see all the disadvantages of the old place; the landlord isn't willing to do very much in the way of papering and painting, and a new place looks a lot better.

What is even better than a new house of someone's else to live in, is a home of your own. Then you want something done you do it yourself and have the satisfaction of knowing it has added a little to your own property. You feel established and your neighbors begin to think you amount to something. This year you buy new screens, and next year you put a little hedge around the lawn. The whole thing's yours. You have a just pride in it.

It is a fine plan, if you must move, to move just once more—into a home of your own.

ANNUAL DANCE BY ELKS LODGE

BROTHER MILLS' PROVED THEMSELVES EXCELLENT ENTERTAINERS AT EVENT LAST NIGHT

Maintaining their long-standing reputation as entertainers, the local Elks last night proved excellent hosts to a very large number of guests at their annual dance, that ballroom dance at the Moose Hall. In addition to the familiar decorations of artificial flowers there were large streamers suspended from the ceiling and other decorations that had a very pretty and novel effect.

During the dance program several songs were contributed by local talent and many more contributed to the variety of a very pleasant evening.

Those dancing with vocal selections included Gen. Mitchell, E. Schmitt, Mr. Smith, J. Sims and A. Small.

After an appetizing supper had been served, at midnight there was an exciting hunt for dollar bills in some of the artificial flowers. This was enjoyed by the guests although they were often disappointed to find that some of the bills contained but scraps of paper.

In the first half of the dance program an interesting balloon popping contest, organized among the ladies, resulted much amusement. Prizes were awarded to Miss Catherine Jones and Miss Winnie Thompson as first and second prize winners in the contest.

An excellent program was discussed during the evening by Arthur's Generators which was agreed upon by A. Small and others. E. E. Miller, master of ceremonies, and was assisted during the evening by other members of the committee consisting of E. J. Evans, K. A. McClung and E. Schmitt.

The refreshments were looked after by Jack Cobb and Eddie Cogg and Hugo McLeod, while W. Hunt and W. D. Vance attended at the door during the evening.

Guard Them - Those things that money can't buy

"It is an unpardonable crime" writes Mrs. Ethel Baillie, of Montreal, "to use any other suds than 'Lux' for the exquisite hand-made woolsies, belonging to the 'Teenie Weenies;' the soft, dainty shirts, panties, jackets, booties, etc.

"They represent, besides the expense, many hours of skilful, patient work, done by the loving hands of adoring Grannies, Mothers and Aunties. To risk spoiling these lovely, delicate little garments, by using anything but 'Lux' would be an unpardonable crime, for they cannot be replaced. Money cannot buy what love gives."

There is a lot of good common sense in this letter.

EARTHQUAKE AND WIND PREDICTED

LORD WAVERTREE SEES MANY DISTURBANCES DURING COMING SUMMER

LONDON, April 22.—Lord Wavertree predicts a summer of bad earthquakes, hurricanes and tempests.

So firm in his conviction that he has refused to have his yacht, the Vocna, put into commission. Lord Wavertree puts much faith in the horoscope, and his horoscope foretells such a bad summer that he has decided to forego ocean travel.

The serious earthquake in Jugo-Slavia which involved Sarajevo and extended to various parts of the Mediterranean supported Lord Wavertree's pessimistic forecast and influence many of his yachting friends to forego outings to the Mediterranean in small boats.

Lord Wavertree is one of the keenest of sportsmen among the British peers. He bred and owned Minoru, which won the Derby for King Edward VII, won the Grand National with Soarer and won the National Hunt Steeplechase with Glen Royal.

FISHERMEN'S FLOATS HERE

MEMBER FOR SKEENA IS TOLD BY MINISTER OF PUBLIC WORKS THAT HE HAS MATTER IN MIND

J. C. Brady, M.P. for Skeena, shortly before the House of Commons at Ottawa prorogued last Thursday, made an eleventh hour appeal for the construction of the fishermen's floats here. The conversation between himself and Hon. J. C. Elliott, minister of public works, on the matter according to Hansard, was as follows:

Mr. Brady: I do not intend to keep the minister more than one minute, but I feel that it is my imperative duty to draw the attention of the minister to the state of the Prince Rupert fishing fleet.

Mr. Elliott: I think that is what my hon. friend spoke to me about before. I have it in mind.

Mr. Brady: I have only one request to make and it is this—that by a happy, I will call it fortuitous, amendment, vote 452 was rescinded by the House half an hour ago and it totals $13,560. Now if the minister would only transfer that $13,560 to the task of caring for the floats at Prince Rupert, where there are 300 fishing boats worth over a million dollars, I would be indeed gratified in the interests of the fishing fleet. I ask the minister now if he will be so kind as to get the prime minister to do that.

Mr. Elliott: I think my hon. friend knows my views on this subject, because he cannot be charged with any neglect of this harbor or any of the other harbors in his section of British Columbia. There is a general vote provided and it cannot all go to my hon. friend nor to any other hon. member, but I may say to him that it will be utilized to the very best possible advantage.

Mr. Brady: I would point out to the minister that there are 300 vessels at Prince Rupert, and it is of the greatest importance that provision be made for

AIR TRAIN IS COMING SOON
GERMAN AVIATION IS MAKING VERY RAPID STRIDES
BERLIN, April 22.—Observers of German aviation developments are picturing a time in the not-too-distant future when the "air train" will be an accomplished fact. The locomotive will be a powerful aeroplane and the "pullmans" a row of gliders coupled to the locomotive and to each other, as the cars of a train, only with considerably greater spacing between the units.
Passengers in each glider will be destined for some particular town, and as the aeroplane of each town is approached the glider for that destination will be released from the end of the string and settle gracefully down with its special pilot and passengers.
The possibility of such a development has been worked out from the recent experiment at the Karlsruhe flying harbor when a glider was hitched to an aeroplane by a wire cable. It took the air as a "tow" of the motored aeroplane, and was propelled to a considerable height. The glider's pilot then cut his machine loose and guided it successfully back to a landing.
"In my view," said Pilot Espenlaub, who manoeuvred the glider, "long distances can be covered without difficulty by a plane and glider in this fashion."

CLAIMS FOR FORTUNE LEFT 135 YEARS AGO BY LUNATIC HEARD
LONDON, April 22.—(Canadian Press).—Claims to a fortune left by a lunatic 35 years ago, are to be heard in the Chancery Division this term. In the interval the original sum of £50,000 has increased in value to hundreds of thousands of pounds.
One of the claimants is Viscount Bangor, of Castle Ward Co. Down, Ireland. In 1792 the fortune was in the possession of Mary J. L'Epine, then living at Port-mouth. It passed in 1798 to Maria L'Epine who died a lunatic.
No heirs to the property came forward and the estate reverted to the Crown.
A year later the property is alleged to have been presented to Lord Howe by King George III, under a special indemnity that in the event of any next-of-kin being discovered, the estate should be forfeited.
It is now claimed that Abigail Eccles was an heir to Maria L'Epine, and that she married Robert Goldwell. It is through her descendants that the present claim is being preferred.
