Election Campaign in Nelson Warming Up as Polling Day Approaches

NELSON, October 14.—Considerable interest is being taken here now over the provincial election to fill the vacancy here caused by the death of the late John Oliver. The candidates are vying with each other in trying to show the benefits that would accrue to the district should either be chosen. While nothing is so uncertain as an election the consensus of opinion seems to be that the Liberal, Mayor McDonald, will be chosen as in that way the constituency would be more likely to benefit until a change of government takes place.

City Council Given Jolt by the School Board Which Says They Did Not Know Their Limitations

At the meeting of the school board last night Chairman Rochester referred to recent statements made by the city council in regard to extraordinary expenditures of the school board. He said the idea was prevalent that the school board did not know what it was doing, whereas it was the finance committee of the city council that did not know what it was doing.

Mr. Rochester said the board had not yet been notified that the city had struck out their extraordinary estimate of $10,000. If they objected to it, their only recourse according to law was to refuse it and then put it up to the people to vote on. Anyway the board had to its credit two sums of $4,200 and $4,000 which were not expended in the past two years and which they were entitled to expend without any reference to the council. Neither the finance committee or the council were responsible for the expenditures made by the Board. It was the council that did not know what it was doing. He felt that in connection with the recent incident they had been handled a bit rough.

NEW CONSERVATIVE LEADER

Hon. R. B. Bennett is a Conservative, there is no doubt of that, and the party is to be congratulated on having a man at the head in whom they can depend rather than one who has come over from the other side.

Mr. Bennett is an orator, a millionaire, and a man of high standing in his party and throughout the Dominion. He is a leading lawyer and man of affairs, having a good deal to do with the operations of big business.

The fact that he is a lawyer is sometimes counted against him but if so the same thing may be against Premier King and dozens of other leading men of the Dominion. He is a westerner but his work has been largely in the east of late and his sympathies are with the manufacturers of Ontario rather than with the farmers of the prairies where his home is supposed to be.

On the whole, we do not see that from the list of names presented, the Conservatives could have chosen better than they did. At any rate they have a real leader and one who is sufficiently independent to refuse to have anyone else usurp his position.

SCHOOLBOARD AND COUNCIL

There has at various times been friction between the city council and the school board over the matter of expenditures. The council has taken the stand that it is supreme and that the council is subsidiary to it. The case has been fought out again and again but in practically every case the school board has won. It has been shown that while the city council collects the money and pays the bills, the school board is supreme when it comes to deciding how the expenditures shall be made and how much shall be spent.

The most common source of trouble is the procedure under which extraordinary expenditures are made. If the school board wishes a new building, additions or large renewals to buildings, making of playgrounds or any other expenditure which may not be classed as ordinary expenditure it makes an estimate of the proposed cost and gives detail of the proposed work and sends it to the city council asking that body to provide for it. If the council feels that it cannot do so out of ordinary expenditure, which is usually the case, it refuses to include the item and notifies the school board of the refusal. Then it is the duty of the council, according to law, to pass a bylaw which it puts before the people for them to vote on, to say whether or not the extraordinary expenditure shall be made. The council has no option in the matter.

In the case in dispute between the city and the school board it seems that the city failed in its duty in not formally notifying the school board of its refusal to include an estimate of $10,000 for additions to a school building, for making playgrounds and for the installation of a heating plant in one of the schools. It also failed in its duty in not putting before the people a bylaw providing for the expenditure of that amount if the people so wished. The people have the say and not the city council. The powers of the city council are limited to those matters provided under the Municipal Act and the school board is supreme in its own particular department, the chief difference between an alderman and a school trustee is that while the alderman is paid for his work the school trustee works without pay. But the trustee sits back and kicks his heels while the alderman faces the responsibility of raising the money.

MARINE BIOLOGICAL BOARD

The Marine Biological Board of Canada is an organization founded by Act of Parliament and which operates under the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. It is composed of men of science from the various universities of the Dominion, representatives from the fishing industries on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, and representatives from the Department of Marine and Fisheries.

Its function is to conduct and promote the study of problems which have to do with the aquatic life and the utilization of the products of the sea, as well as the fresh waters, in order that knowledge may be obtained which will enable the fullest and wisest use of this great natural resource.

Its work is divided into two main parts—first, the study of the lives and habits of animals before they are caught, and, second, the study of the utilization of these animals and their products after they are caught. The former study is carried on in the biological stations, which are located at Nanaimo, B.C., and St. Andrews, N.B. The latter study is conducted in the fisheries experimental stations which are located at Prince Rupert, B.C., of which D. B. Finn is director, and at Halifax, N.S.

On the Pacific coast, the various scientific workers meet together once a year in order that they may benefit by an exchange of ideas and that they may be kept informed of work which is being undertaken in fields other than their own. Such a conference was held recently in the biological station at Nanaimo and a series of four articles to be published in the Daily News, starting tomorrow, have their foundation in the reports which were presented there.

BOOM COMING AT STEWART

Yukon Visitor Inspects Camp and Say People There Feel Flurry on Way

That the people of the Portland Canal district are expecting a boom in that camp was the news brought to town and expressed at the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday in the course of an address by C. R. Settlemer, former editor of the Dawson News and now a mining man of the Mayo District. He said he also was very optimistic in regard to the district but he rather expected a steady development. He said he spent several days there and examined a number of the mines and he assured the members of the club that it was a real permanent camp and might be expected to develop very rapidly.

Mr. Settlemer said that British Columbia and the Yukon were close neighbors with interests closely allied and they should be staunch friends. The territory had produced $225,000,000 in gold, $6,000,000 in silver, about an equal amount in lead and several millions in copper in addition to a large output of the very best furs in the world. The territory was industrially in its infancy.

Keno City was similar to Portland Canal in many respects. Mining was carried on profitably and there were plenty of opportunities there for capital. British Columbia shared in any prosperity they had and he asked that co-operation be given.

The visitor prophesied that there would in time be a railway to the Yukon. At present the only way they could ship their ore was by courtesy of an American company which handled all the ore shipments of the district.

Northern British Columbia and the Yukon had a bright future Mr. Settlemer felt sure. The interest taken in the districts by the big companies insured that it was worth developing. It would be well for Prince Rupert to tie to the mining camps, especially Portland Canal.

"CATS NOT WANTED" SIGN ON THE DOOR

Invasion of Felines Follows One Little Innocent Looking Want Ad.

"No Cats Wanted" is a sign hung on the editorial rooms of the Daily News office. Also the downstairs staff is instructed to allow no one carrying a cat to pass upstairs and anyone mentioning the word "cat" is to be summarily ejected from the premises. It all arose thuswise.

One of the members of the editorial staff required a cat. Mice had invaded the domestic quarters and none of the friends could supply the immediate need although it was suggested by several that if an order was put in at once a few dozen could be guaranteed within two or three weeks. Not wishing to wait that long a miniature advertisement was inserted, costing under protest the sum of fifty cents. The result was instantaneous and complete. So great was the pressure on the telephone that the staff very soon vacated the premises and allowed the telephone to ring and ring.

Finding efforts to place the cats by telephone useless they began to arrive in sacks and bags and baskets and the end is not yet. No member of the staff is now safe from danger of finding a cat thrust into his pocket or placed trustfully in his arms by some person wishing a good home for the feline. "Cats not wanted" will have to be hung around the necks of members of the staff if the trouble continues. "And it all began over one little classified advertisement inserted once and costing fifty cents."

SCHOOL REPORTS READ TO BOARD AT ITS MEETING

Reports submitted by the principals of the schools to the school board last night are as follows:

High School—Total enrollment 157, of which boys were 64 and girls 93. Average attendance, 95.11. The average was low because of several pupils not returning to the city for the opening of the terms. Ten students are taking senior matriculation and 27 in the commercial class.

Principal Peddie asked for a number of books, particularly for the use of the senior class, chemical apparatus valued at $111.65 and chemicals. He also asked that the playground be given a covering of cinders.
