Social Crediters Sweep B.C. By-Elections

Premier Jubilant: 'No Doubt Exists'

Social Credit took new lease on political life today after the landslide victories in yesterday's two British Columbia by-elections.

Jubilant Premier W. A. C. Bennett said:

"If there was ever any doubt in anyone's mind that the Social Credit government had the confidence of the people—that doubt can no longer exist."

Finance Minister Einar Gunderson snowed under CCF and Independent opponents in the Similkameen riding, while Attorney-General Robert Bonner sailed through CCF and Liberal opposition in Columbia.

Standing in the 48-member Legislature now is: Social Credit 19, CCF 18, Liberal 6, Progressive Conservative 3, Labor 1, vacant 1. The vacancy was caused recently by the death of Ernest Carson, Progressive Conservative House leader and member for Lillooet.

With the 54 polls complete in Similkameen, Mr. Gunderson had 5,481 votes, H. S. Kenyon, CCF, 3,552, and Joseph Klein, Independent Labor, 134.

With 19 of 22 polls reporting in Columbia, Mr. Bonner had 1046 votes, George Keenleyside, Liberal, 443, and Chris Madson, CCF, 365.

Mr. Kenyon and Mr. Madson also were defeated in the summer general election in the same ridings.

MAJORITY
Mr. Gunderson had an overall majority of 1,795 and Mr. Bonner majority of 238 with less than 100 votes still to be counted.

In the summer election, Social Credit did not win until the third count in both ridings and its final majority in Similkameen was only 44 votes.

More than 70 per cent of the electorate turned out Monday. In Similkameen, the total vote was only five ballots short of the number cast in the summer election — 10,718 compared to 10,723.

Mr. Bennett admitted his minority government's position in the legislature is "still difficult." He said the government's decision to open two seats for by-elections was a "terrible gamble."

The gamble has paid off with dividends and "we now can meet the House with confidence." The Legislature will meet in late January or early February, he said.

CCF leader Harold Winch said:

"I wish to extend my personal and individual congratulations to Mr. Gunderson and Mr. Bonner. But it is with personal regret that I cannot express congratulations on behalf of the party I represent."

Mr. Winch said Social Credit policies are ruinous to B.C. and that expressions and opinions of the Social Credit party "are a danger to B.C. and Canada."

The WEATHERMAN Says

The ridge of high pressure covering the area this morning is weakening very slightly in advance of a storm centred about 700 miles southwest of the Queen Charlotte Islands.

However, this storm will move northward into southern Alaska and is unlikely to cause much change to weather in B.C.

Low cloud has spread over nearly all sections of the province and a little light snow has fallen in the Cariboo and Kootenay regions. Dense fog has developed at numerous points and will lift very slowly during the morning.

Very little change in these conditions is expected for Wednesday.

Forecast
Cloudy today and Wednesday. Little change in temperature. Light winds. Low tonight and high tomorrow at Port Hardy 37 and 42; Sandspit 38 and 44; Prince Rupert 36 and 40.

Search For Globemaster Continues

ANCHORAGE (CP)—The Air Force and Coast Guard combined forces today for a sweeping search of the island-dotted northern Gulf of Alaska for the lost C-124 Globemaster and its 52 passengers and crew.

Twenty-seven planes were due to resume the search.

Three Coast Guard cutters continued radar and visual search of Prince William Sound.

A report that a wreckage had been sighted near Middleton Island, where the Globemaster made its last radio contact Saturday, caused a brief flurry Monday.

The Coast Guard cutter Bittersweet, which reached the scene, reported the "wreckage" was driftwood and seaweed.

Gold Subsidy To be Raised

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has decided to tap its treasury for an additional $4,000,000 a year to boost subsidies to Canada's hard-pressed gold mines in 1953.

Finance Minister Abbott announced the move in Commons Monday. He said he hoped it would halt the procession of mine shutdowns caused by climbing production costs and low returns.

Legislation to revise the payments program under a complicated cost-aid formula will be introduced during the current session.

Officials estimate the subsidy increase, effective Jan. 1 next, will average about $1 a fine ounce of gold produced, increasing the government's average payment in 1953 to about $3.80 a fine ounce from $2.80.

Campney Gets Defence Post

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent announced Monday that Ralph Campney, 58, of Vancouver, is being appointed associate minister of national defence as soon as the necessary legislative steps can be taken.

For the present, he told the Commons, Mr. Campney in effect will be vested with powers of associate minister of defence except that he won't be one in name. He will actually become the associate minister once Parliament passes a bill making the change.

EEL FROM TAP—Mrs. Jack Dunnett of Vancouver got a surprise when she turned on the tap the other day for a drink of water. Out popped a fresh water eel seven inches long. (CP Photo)

SYNGMAN RHEE

'Bomb Moscow' Only Solution To Cold War

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Daily Star in a dispatch from Seoul Monday quotes President Syngman Rhee of South Korea as saying he will urge Gen. Eisenhower to launch an offensive against Russia as the only solution to the cold war.

"From a global viewpoint, this struggle cannot be confined to Korea," Rhee said. "The United Nations is pouring out its strength fighting the Russian satellites. Only by bombing Moscow can we end it all. I believe democracy won't be safe until the Kremlin criminals are dead."

Manufacturers Urge Reduction Of Income Tax

TORONTO (CP)—The executive council of Canadian Manufacturers Association today suggested the Federal government consider a reduction of at least 10 per cent in personal and corporate income taxes.

Supporting the suggestion, it said: "Finance Minister Abbot's leeway for a tax abatement now has been provided."

The association also urged abolition of the stamp tax on bank cheques and promissory notes.

Drew Charges 'Failure' in House Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, Monday moved a motion of non-confidence in the government, charging it with "failure" to reduce taxes and living costs and with "failure" to regain export markets.

The motion is the traditional way of showing opposition to government policies as outlined in the Speech from the Throne.

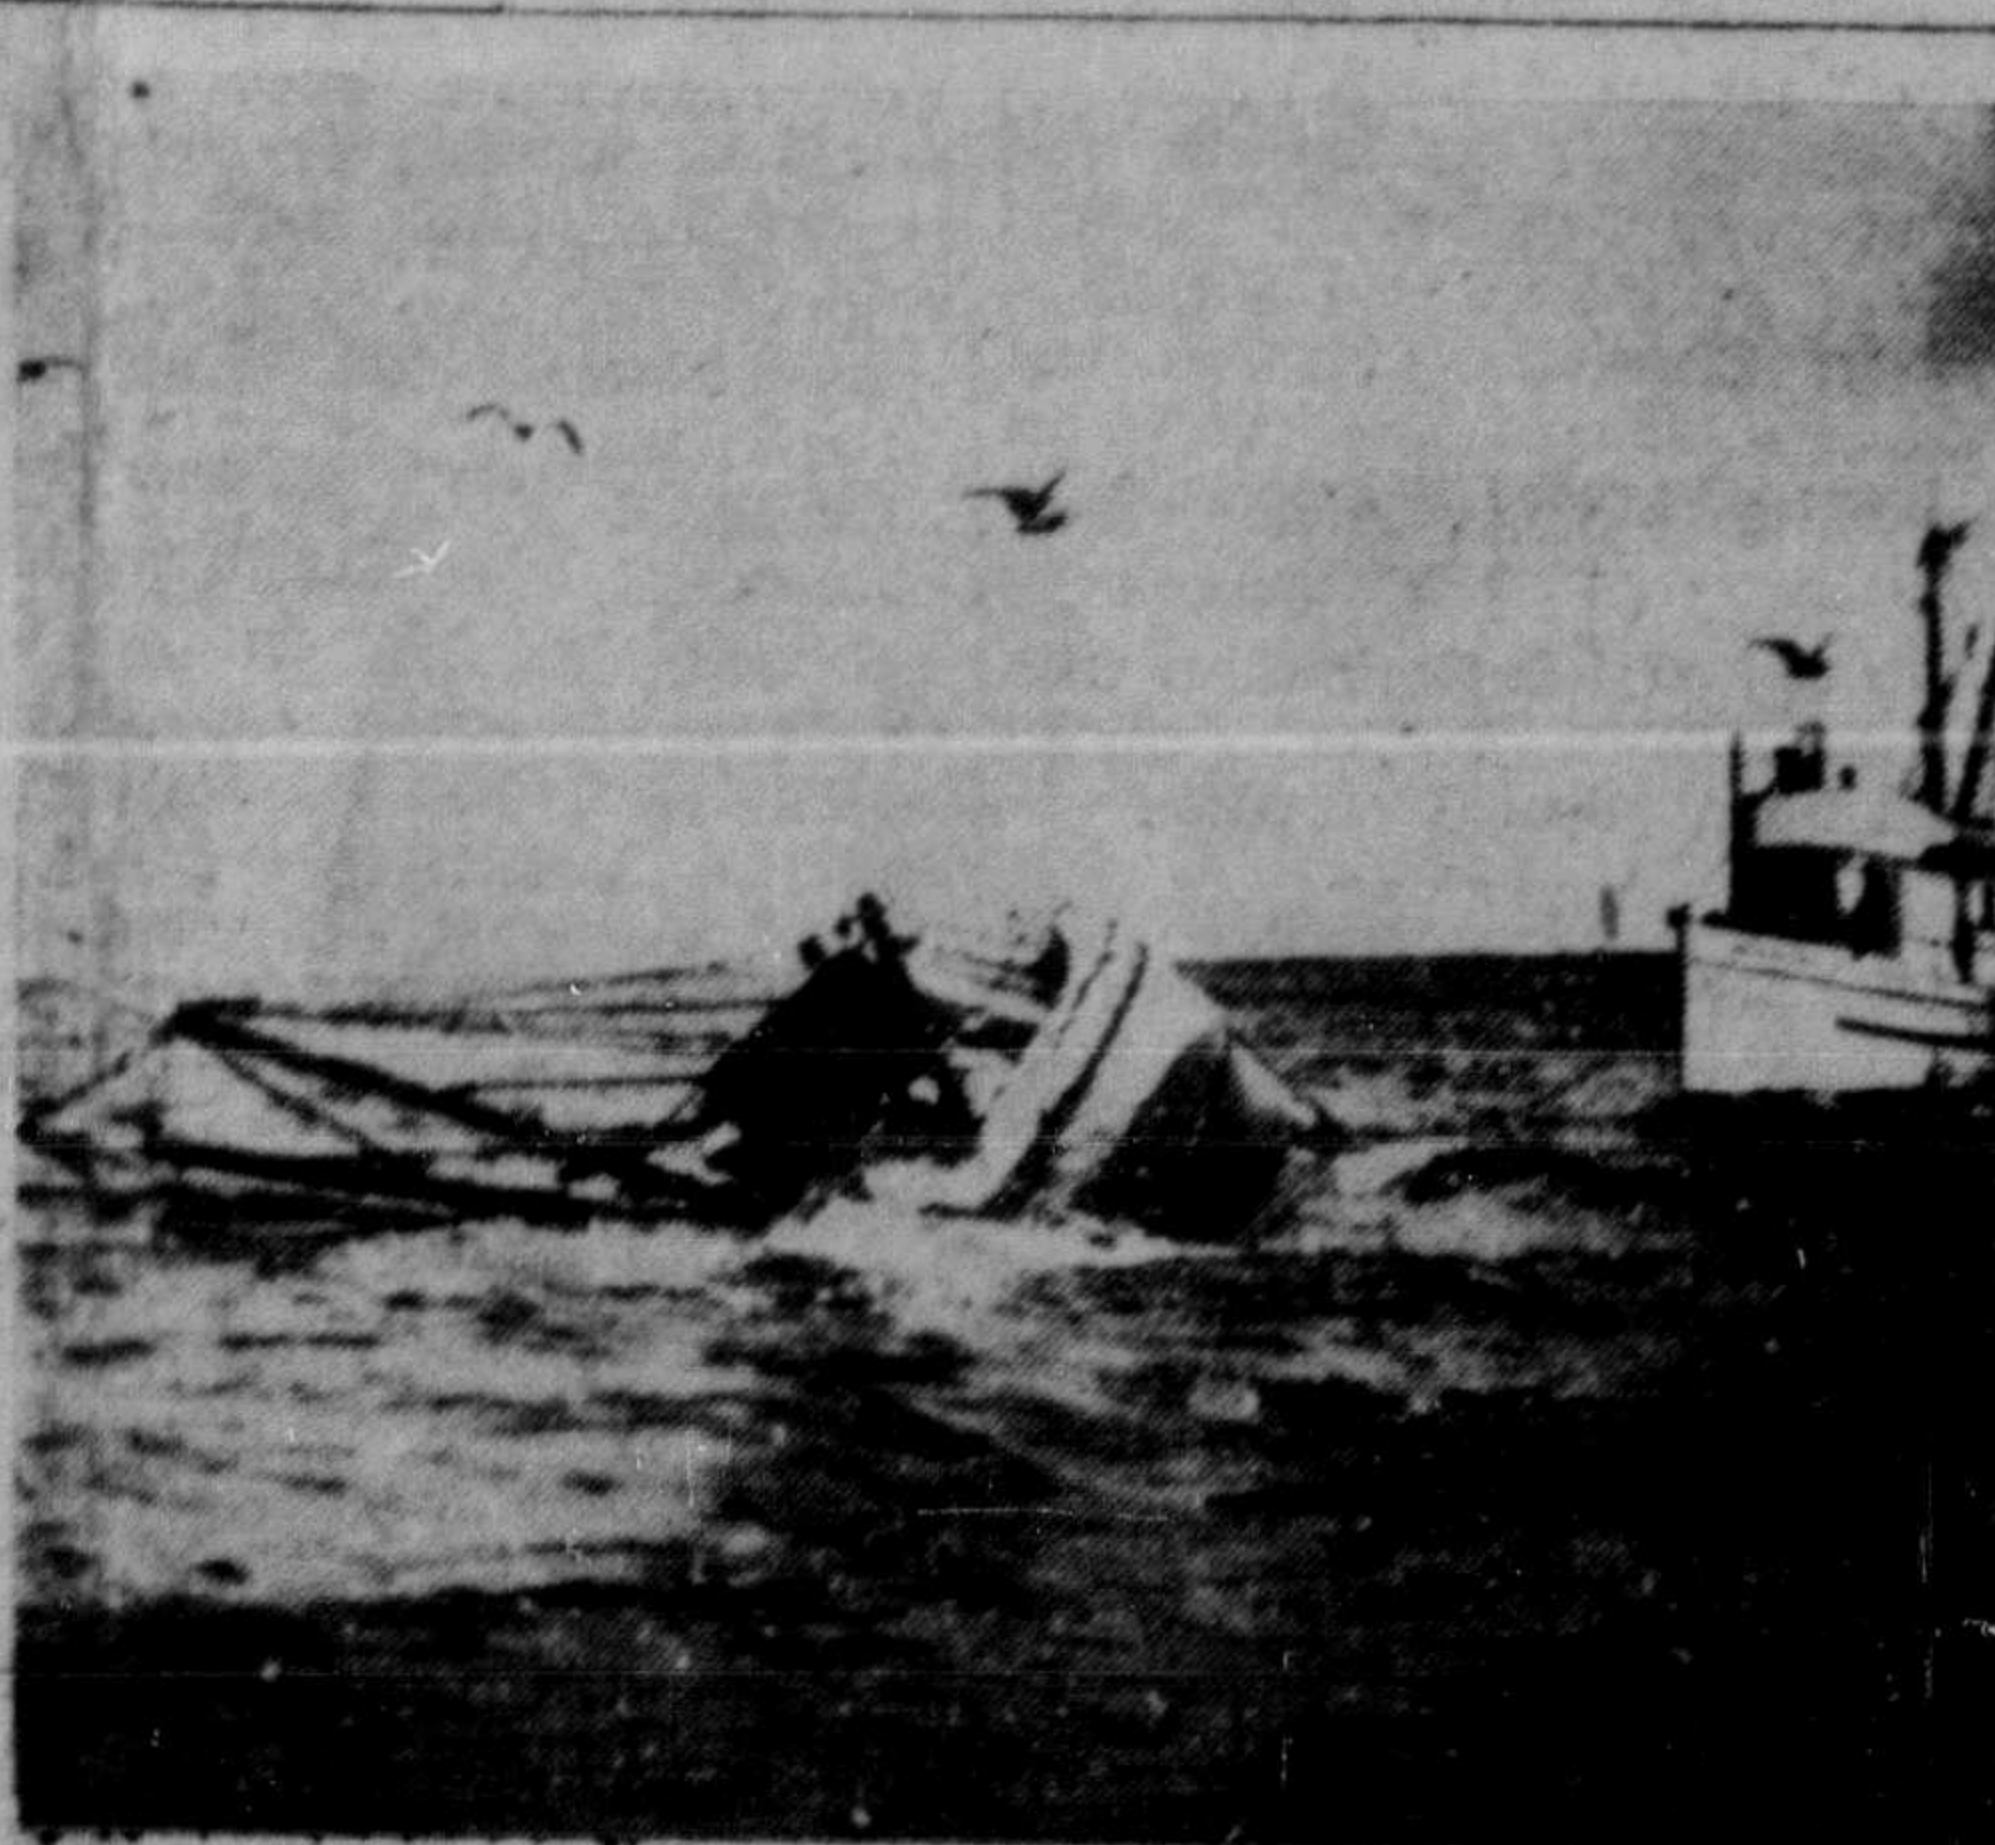

It will be voted on by Commons at the conclusion of the debate along with another motion to be moved by the CCF party.

WRONG NUMBER, ALCAN, BUT VERY INTERESTING

WINDSOR, Ont.—City clerk C. V. Waters received a letter Monday from the Aluminum Company of Canada asking for copies of the Windsor bylaw defining the duties of a city manager.

Windsor hasn't a city manager, nor is there such a city bylaw.

The company said it wanted the information, because it would be helpful during "possible incorporation" of the aluminum town of Kitimat.

SINKING FAST—The 52-foot seiner Sandra Carol, caught in a choppy sea November 17 in Hecate Straits sank quickly when water entered her hold without apparent reason. The Burnaby M. is shown attempting to tow the partially submerged craft to shallow water. The Sandra Carol sank completely in 50 fathom depth. Capt. Oliver Adams valued the boat at more than $30,000.

City to Aid Junior Chamber In Cost of Vote Campaign

A request from the Junior Chamber of Commerce for $50 to help offset cost of the club's annual "get out and vote campaign" was endorsed by city council at a meeting last night.

One of the Jaycees' yearly projects is the municipal campaign to get the citizens out to vote.

In past years the campaign has proved effective in getting out the vote and in stimulating interest in municipal affairs.

The group in its request said it feels "there is still much to be done in this field provided the necessary funds are available."

"The Jaycees' funds are limited," said B. J. Pettenuzzo, chairman of the civic affairs committee, in asking for a grant of $50 to cover partial costs entailed in the project.

Alderman George Casey moved that the request be granted and it was seconded by Ald. Mike Krueger. Council endorsed it unanimously.

Junior Chamber members for years have given their time, thoughts and energy to the "get out the vote campaign" and this year, as in the past, plan to arrange for public appearances of ratepayers seeking one of the four aldermanic seats which become vacant.

There is no mayoralty election this year.

2 Boys Drown In Revelstoke

REVELSTOKE (CP)—Two young brothers broke through thin ice on a river here Sunday and were drowned. They were Marvin Schmidt, 10, and George 7, sons of Mr. and Mrs. David Schmidt of Revelstoke.

Freedom Sect Makes Second Try in S.A.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stefan S. Sorokin, spiritual leader of the Radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, is en route to Uruguay in search of a new home for his charges. It is his second trip to the South American country.

He seeks new farmlands for the 5,000 Sons of Freedom, whose relocation from their Kootenay homes was recommended some months ago by a government Consultative committee.

It was reported here Monday some 200 Doukhobors seek visas, but F. C. Reif, Uruguayan consul at New Westminster, could not confirm the report. Applications might go directly to New York, he said.

Killed Island Crash 2 Survivors

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C.—An AF Lancaster bomber crashed and kindled a fire of death for eight Monday in a swamp near this Vancouver air base.

The pilot and co-pilot, thrown by the impact of the crash, were the only survivors as the bomber undershot the runway approaching through a evening mist.

RCAF spokesman said the pilot and co-pilot are expected to be recovered. Their names, and names of dead airmen are with pending notification of their families.

Colin Y. McLeod, department of transport weather forecaster, said the eighth victim, a civilian aboard the bomber, was recovered.

Lancaster was on a supply mission from Vancouver to Coombs and carried new personnel from the wreckage, a plane from the field, and the sky for hours after the crash and the intense heat investigators from probing the site.

Chief Lorne Cielena of the Courtenay said: "We wandered around the wreckage looking for bodies by lanterns. There was no use we could do."

In Vancouver, a woman who was talked to three airmen they took off on the plane the day developed trouble earlier in the day had to be repaired.

There was no indication trouble caused the crash. RCAF declined to comment.

Workers Ask 12-Cent Wage Increase

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Mayor announced Monday a 12-cent wage increase at the city election.

He will hold an independent. Already held are Tom Alsbury, Everett Irwin, and both are school principals.

Mayor Hume Seek Election

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Mayor announced Monday a 12-cent wage increase at the city election.

He will hold an independent. Already held are Tom Alsbury, Everett Irwin, and both are school principals.

City Seeks Reply From Commission; Power Firm Offers Expansion

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—City clerk Bill Long contact the Commission either by telephone or telegraph today to ascertain what it plans to do and "also to acquaint them with the contents of the NBCPC letter."

The motion was seconded by Alderman George Hills.

Ald. Ray McLean took exception to the motion stating that NBCPC "are offering extra horsepower to the city at a time when it is sorely needed and I think we should back them up."

He moved an amendment that before the city clerk contact the commission council meet in special session next Monday to give more consideration to the request from NBCPC. It was seconded by Ald. Mike Krueger but on a vote was defeated 5-2.

Later Ald. George Hills moved that the letter from NBCPC be tabled and brought up at the incidence of any alderman.

In answer to a query from Ald. George Casey, Mayor Harold Whalen said the NBCPC money would be spent on diesel expansion.

"As I see it," said Ald. Casey, "we are saddling ourselves with a $400,000 diesel unit. . . In one week from now we should know what the B.C. Power Commission is going to do and one week is not going to make any difference."

Ald. McLean said "we are not concerned with the B.C. Power Commission in a sense. We are concerned with a power shortage that will strike the city this winter and shortages to come in future. I suggest that if Northern B.C. Power propose to instal diesel units and expect only a fair return on their investment that we have no grounds for refusal or delay."

"We have no dealings here with the Power Commission and I maintain that we have a chance of getting extra power when we need it and we should jump at the chance."

The motion by Ald. Casey was endorsed by aldermen Hills, Gomez, Glassey and Prusky. Aldermen McLean and Krueger dissented.

Aldermen McLean and Krueger backed the amendment with the other aldermen dissenting.

Mayor Whalen said the letter from the NBCPC which said the contemplated expansion would bring total investment by the company in additional plant development since 1950 to approximately $1,000,000, asked only council endorsement.

"Only thing the company has to do, I believe, is receive approval from the Public Utilities Commission to go ahead with the job and they are asking concurrence of the council."

Ald. Hills said "I think we should ascertain the intention of the B.C. Power Commission before backing this move."

"Throughout the entire time we have had the contract with Northern B.C. Power we have had power shortages," he said.

Ald. McLean said "we should not stall off any move by the company to install this diesel unit. If we do, I maintain we will have another power shortage this winter."

"I ask that we do not stall because no matter what the Power Commission says, we are not going to be any further ahead unless we get additional power."

"Regardless of what hydro-electric development the Commission could or would attempt it would take two years to complete and this proposal by Northern B.C. Power should be concurred in without delay."

(City voters last year approved by a narrow majority a plebiscite authorizing council to ask the power commission to supply electricity to Prince Rupert, since the power company's franchise terminates in 1954.)

(Later, council asked both the commission and the Northern B.C. Power Company to negotiate with the city to supply its future power.)

Two Parts to B.C.

IT IS worth noting that Prince George is as sensitive as Prince Rupert to the indifference shown by Victoria and Ottawa towards the north country, and for much the same reason.

Like this city, Prince George has a highway problem which is consistently neglected while grand plans are hatched for development of roads to the south. Although the vital link between Prince George and McBride is still just as nature made it, legislators in Victoria are talking about a third express highway to link Vancouver and New Westminster. Likewise the federal government is considering a paved road for the sparsely populated communities on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The continued slights cause the Prince George Citizen to recall that back in 1920 T. D. Pattullo, then representing Prince Rupert at Victoria, advanced the idea that northern B.C. could readily be separated from the south somewhere close to the 53rd parallel. The thought was later raised again by E. T. Kenney as member for the Skeena riding.

"In view of the tremendous developments in central and northern B.C. in the last dozen years and continued slighting of this country by Ottawa and Victoria authorities, it is quite possible that our progress would have been ever more rapid had the plan been carried out," the Citizen remarks.

"The northern part of the province has for years been a section from which the provincial government has drawn enormous revenues without commensurate return. The present revenue from timber sales and stumpage, taxation, land sales, motor car and game licences and liquor and beer sales is enormous when contrasted with the amount of money spent in the territory from which this revenue springs."

Although such a scheme would create its own new administrative difficulties, a continuance of the present discrimination against northern B.C. will make it seem less impractical all the time. Eventually it may prove the only way to obtain the benefits for which we are now footing the bill.

No Canadians Worth Knowing

IT HAS taken a 17-year-old Canadian to describe in precise words a deficiency in our national character which sometimes receives a fumbling, apologetic allusion, but is usually considered better left unsaid.

The youth is John Sanderson of Montreal who made his remarks in the course of a brief address that won him first prize in the national public speaking contest for high school students recently held under sponsorship of the Rotary Clubs.

On the subject of "Let's Be Canadians Together!" young Sanderson said:

"We Canadians seem to have developed a national silence, a muteness. It seems to be part of us, a frozen, polar, arctic silence. We do not know a single Canadian, as other nations know their heroes. Not one! This has convinced youth of my age—utterly bored by what we read in history books—that there are no Canadians worth knowing.

"And there lies the danger. We have denatured our history and produced a pallid, lifeless picture that we turn to other nations in search of heroes and adventure when our whole national story is nothing else.

"So far, we seem to be unable to form national symbols. We have not developed an Uncle Sam or a John Bull. That man with the cowboy hat is surely a little absurd when most Canadians have seen a cow only in a livestock show and many think it can be milked merely by pumping the tail."

The boy is right, but it does not necessarily follow that he will always be so. There is evidence that other countries have an increasingly high opinion of Canada, regardless of how uncertain we feel about ourselves. Perhaps in fifty years or so we will become sufficiently impressed by this to deem it worthwhile to put a little flavor in our history books for the generations coming after. We might also start thinking about symbols that would give our descendants the spicy feeling of pride.

But Canadians are as good now as they will be then. Why wait?

Reflects and Reminisces

Santa Claus always brings oranges, of course, but this year, so far as Prince Rupert is concerned, the Japanese freighter arrived a month early.

WE HAVE OUR OWN

Ottawa is reported to be annoyed because in other towns people are referring to the nation's capital as "Charlotte-town" meaning that's the name of the mayor. It's likewise the chief centre of Prince Edward Island. And also there's a Queen Charlotte City on the opposite side of the continent a few miles from Prince Rupert.

An optimist is the citizen who expects taxes to be reduced without a general election.

"We feel men should work as long as they are able to produce," comments the Meaford (Ont.) Express. "They are generally the first around in the morning and the last away at night."

STILL COMING!

Klondike is history, yet the north keeps yielding a couple of millions in gold every summer. The four months' freeze-up never fails, neither does the yellow metal. Only we get it in another way.

Two important stories broke at Nanaimo, when the SS Princess grounded, and six natives perished in a fire. News of consequence, of course, but Nanaimo's editor collapsed from a heart attack. A feature of journalism not infrequently heard of.

15,000 ON WAY

Some folks say Prince Rupert has no more than 10,000 population but when, with more dwellings there should be 15,000, the parking problem may be just too bad. Available space on side streets in Section I is becoming scarcer. And you can spot a new car any old time, even if credit is not becoming exactly thrust on one.

The Lethbridge Chamber of Commerce is sore as a boil at Woonsocket in Rhode Island, because that city has declared Lethbridge is quite close to Alaska. Lethbridge is 60 miles north of the U.S. border and 2300 miles south of Fairbanks in Alaska. Somewhere, there must be an underwear sales mixup.

Newsman Gets Ottawa Post

VANCOUVER (CP)—Erwin Kreutzweiser, Vancouver newspaper man, has been appointed executive assistant to Solicitor-General Ralph Campney.

A political writer, he came to Vancouver in 1948 from Saskatoon. Recently he joined the Vancouver Province following four years on the Vancouver News-Herald.

Announcement of his appointment came from Ottawa today.

BIGGER HARVESTS

Britain in 1952 produced enough food for two-thirds of her population, compared with only half in 1939.

ALUMINUM has been flying high in civil and military aircraft for a good many years. Recently Prof. Pierre Demers of the University of Montreal found a new use for this air-borne metal. He used aluminum to encase a camera which he sent aloft attached to a hydrogen-filled balloon in order to photograph cosmic rays, ten miles up in the cold and empty stratosphere.

From the luxurious interiors of modern transports to the white-hot heart of a jet turbine engine, aluminum is lending its lightness and strength to Canada's aircraft industry. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

As I See It

BY

Elmore Philpott

CHURCHILL WAY BEST

WHEN IT comes to politics the British can teach North America valuable lessons. Compare the number of speeches and miles travelled by the two pair of contenders for office in U.S.A. and Britain.

Here are the figures, partly as given by James Reston in New York Times for Nov. 9, and partly as compiled by myself as eye-witness of the British election.

Eisenhower	228 speeches
Stevenson	203 "
Churchill	7 "
Attlee	56 "

It would be silly to compare distances travelled, disregarding the difference in geography. But just for the record Eisenhower travelled over 50,000 miles, mostly by air. Stevenson covered 32,500 miles. Churchill made only three shortish train trips—one from London to Liverpool; the second from London to Glasgow, with two stops en route; the third to Plymouth where he spoke for his own son. Attlee made his fifty odd speeches on a two week loop from London up through the English midlands. His wife drove him in the old family car, and he often stopped where the crowds happened to be, speaking to them out of doors.

BY WAY of comparison, Reston notes that the great President Lincoln never made a single speech outside his own home town of Springfield between his nomination and election. New ways are not always best.

With things as they are, the wonder is that any human being can live through the campaigns in U.S. let alone survive his term of office, if elected.

Somebody once wisecracked that the U.S. presidential system was a "dictatorship, tempered by assassination." It would be more accurate now to say "tempered by the fact the strain kills off most presidents before their time."

THE BRITISH handling of radio and TV for elections also seems better and fairer than the Americans. The BBC allots free time to the various parties, much as we do over the CBC. They did the same thing with TV last year.

In Britain no party has to pay for the radio or TV time for elections and only a modest amount of program time is given over to politics. The result is that many more people do listen when the big shot statesmen do come on the air.

In the U.S.A. it now literally costs a fortune to put on the coast to coast radio and TV casts. But TV has also added tremendously to the local costs of political campaigning—for no party can allow the others to get too far ahead of it in this field.

OUR OWN election technique, like almost everything else Canadian, falls about half way between the British and U.S. models. Because of the sheer facts of geography we cannot make our campaigns as short as the British. But we could keep them shorter than they are—and so be a little more humane to our public servants.

OLD-TIME RACER

BARNES, England (CP)—Henry William Payne, cycle track star of the early 1900's died in this Surrey district. In his prime he held four world records, and once won every race from 1/4 mile to five miles at the same meeting.

Union Claims Violation of Confederation

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian government has been charged with violation of the terms of confederation with Newfoundland by the United Steelworkers of America CIO-CCL.

The union claims the government has violated the terms by paying government workers in Newfoundland lower rates than government employees in other parts of the country.

It has taken six cases to the Exchequer Court, involving 500 employees, at Gander airport. Total amount of money said involved is about $1,000,000.

Barmaids Recommended in B.C.

VICTORIA (CP)—A few old-fashioned barmaids would do much to spruce up British Columbia's drinking establishments, says the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CBRE) next sitting here.

The brief says that if women were allowed to serve liquor the result would be a higher standard of conduct than sometimes apparent when the serving is done by men alone.

MORE MACHINES
Britain had more than 260,000 farm tractors in 1952, compared with 60,000 in 1939.

Many Guests Attend Bazaar

A successful and colorful bazaar was staged recently in the Civic Centre by the Ladies Orange Benevolent Association. Many guests were received at the door by Mrs. W. H. Hill, Worthy Mistress of the lodge.

In charge of the various stalls were: sewing—Mrs. A. McNeil; Mrs. V. Morrison; drawings—Mrs. E. A. Evans, Mrs. B. C. Rudolph; homecooking—Mrs. B. Skinner, Mrs. H. Paulson; candy—Mrs. A. J. Croxford; past mistress's stall—Mrs. J. Johnson and Mrs. H. Killin.

Pouring were Mrs. H. Smith and Mrs. W. J. Moorehouse and serviteurs were Mrs. W. Way, Mrs. J. Flewin, Mrs. F. Willson, Mrs. J. Feasby and Mrs. A. Lien. Cashier was Mrs. Heise. In the kitchen were Mrs. J. McRae, Mrs. W. Field, Mrs. E. Carlson and Mrs. F. Gladdish.

Prize winners were Mrs. Margaret Bell, grocery hamper; Kathleen Majore, doll; Mrs. Elizabeth Thomson, cake; Mrs. N. Cornish, vanity set; Mrs. James Robertson, dollie; Mrs. J. Krause, chocolates.

Women Force Modern Trend In Packaging For Shoppers

All jokes to the contrary, what is on a woman's mind is of vital importance to Canadian businessmen. Instead of distrusting women's opinions they have developed a healthy respect for what the Canadian housewife thinks and they have done so with scientific surveys.

Consumer research, as it is called, tells Canadian business whether milady selects that tricky looking package with the brand new recipe or whether she prefers hers round or square, as well as a host of other facts about her buying habits.

From such studies, new ideas for more effective and more informative packaging were developed; packaging designed for small families where waste is a problem; packaging to assure freshness and packaging which stresses convenience. Today's housewife shops with her eyes and buys what looks good but she is also extremely conscious of packaging for sanitation and cleanliness.

The ladies interviewed placed food items at the top of the list of things they liked to buy in protective packages. Baby's clothing and toys came next for obvious reasons. Household articles like linens and towels were third and clothing fourth. They consider it important that such things as blouses, men's shirts and sheer hosiery be packaged.

Although the housewife is still the "king pin" shopper of the family, the surveys reveal that she no longer does all the family food buying. Her husband or children often trail along with her and they greatly influence her buying.

Men like the convenience of self-service stores but the surveys show they do a lot more impulse buying than their wives. The males are inclined to spend more, buy larger quantities and succumb to the temptation of exotic food items which may catch the eye.

Junior is getting in his say, too, according to consumer studies. A recent survey showed that 77 per cent of women shoppers bought something at the request of their small fry. Cookies, crackers, candies and soft drinks were typical of these purchases.

All these facts and more, modern business is learning by asking the ladies.

Scott Novel Inspires Young Reader to be More Helpful

Another in a group of prize-winning books reviews in the Prince Rupert Public Library Association in connection with Young Canada Book Week. The following was written by Allison, Grade 7 pupil at Booth Memorial High School.

LITTLE WOMEN by Louisa M. Alcott—The characters in the story are the four March girls, Meg, 18; Beth, 16; Jo, 14; and Amy, 12.

The March family is poor. Father is away at war. The girls are very unselfish. The door neighbor, Mr. Laurence is extremely rich. He has a great big house. The March family has one boy, Laurie, who is 14 years old.

One of the most interesting parts in the books is that about Christmas. The girls know they won't get many presents. They each have a dollar to spend. They unselfishly spend the money on their mother.

On Christmas, Mrs. March asks the girls if they will give up their breakfast to the hungry Hummel family down the street. The girls generously do this, and are rewarded by Mr. Laurence who gives them a better breakfast.

New Year's Eve the girls go to a dance with Laurie. They have a nice time, although Meg sprains her ankle. This gives them a chance to ride in a carriage for the first time. There are many problems but lots of fun in the days that follow.

One day Mrs. March receives a telegram saying to come at once as Mr. March is very ill. She is upset, and goes the next day to him. He recovers and everyone is happy.

What I liked about the story was the attitude of the girls. This made me feel like being more helpful to others. I wish Miss Alcott had told me more about the maid Hannah and her family. But the book was so interesting I want to start reading the book, the sequel, "Little Men," as soon as possible.

Officers Joe Ward and Officer Garrett picked up the cadets themselves.

You can't go ALL-OUT If you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

Six Rules For Driving In Winter

Brains plus chains equal sound advice on snow and ice! That is a streamlined summary of the many important recommendations contained in "Basic Winter Driving Rules," a new booklet just published by the National Safety Council which sets down for the first time the results of 11 years of test research by the Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards.

The booklet is aimed at reducing the high death and accident rates resulting from inadequate traction and reduced visibility—the major winter driving problems from November through February.

Six basic rules for safe winter driving offered:

1. Get the feel of the road. Try your brakes occasionally, while driving slowly and away from other traffic, to find out just how slippery the road is.

2. Slow down. Adjust your speed to road and weather conditions so that you can stop or manoeuvre safely.

3. Keep windshield clear. You must see danger to avoid it, so be sure your headlights, windshield wiper blades and defrosters are in top-notch condition.

4. Use tire chains on snow and ice. They cut stopping distances about in half, and increase starting and hillclimbing traction by four to seven times. Even with the help of chains, however, lower than normal speeds are a must on snow and ice.

5. Pump your brakes to slow down or stop. Jamming them on can lock the wheels and throw your car into a dangerous skid.

6. Follow at a safe distance. Keep well back of the car ahead so you have room to stop. Remember that without tire chains it takes three to 12 times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry concrete.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Playing Strictly by Book
 Doesn't Always Pay Off

Mrs. Rhule plays strictly by the book—or at least by her interpretation of the book. In her opinion, when her partner opens the bidding and she has three-and-a-half honor tricks, she makes a jump-shift. In today's deal she had better than three-and-a-half tricks. In fact, she had a little better than four tricks. Therefore, she had no hesitancy in bidding two spades over Mr. Champion's opening bid of one heart.

There are two serious faults in Mrs. Rhule's hand which should have made her decide to take things easy with a simple one over one response of one spade. The first is the void suit in her partner's bid suit. The second is the lack of solidity in her own two suits—spades and diamonds.

As usual, blind adherence to "rules" and lack of individual judgment led to disaster. When you make a jump-shift you must not only have a big hand, you must also have some reasonable idea as to where the hand can be played for a practically certain game. In this case Mrs. Rhule could not play either of her own suits at game without fairly good support from her partner. And obviously she could not support the suit her partner had bid.

Over her proper first response of one spade Mr. Champion would have rebid two hearts. Mrs. Rhule could then have bid three diamonds and Mr. Champion would have said three hearts. Mrs. Rhule could now have rebid her diamonds at the four range. When Mr. Champion bid four hearts she should have passed, even with her void. And four hearts would almost certainly be made.

As it was, Mrs. Rhule found the queen of clubs right and still went down three at five diamonds.

"Anyway, we weren't doubled," said Mrs. Rhule. Mr. Champion shook his head sadly. "A real victory," he replied. "A real victory."

More Money, Better Roads Says Minister

INVERMERE, B.C. (CP)—As soon as the government will give him the money, he will "splash" it on roads, Works Minister Gagliardi told a Social Credit party meeting here.

Mr. Gagliardi said his party had spent $9,000,000 on roads in the past several months. B.C. was a rugged country, producing rugged individuals, but he felt some of the roads were pretty rugged too.

Mr. Wicks said B.C. would stand out as having the best Labor Department in Canada, perhaps in North America, because its basic principle is the establishment of responsible government.

Team work had been established in the department, a fine spirit of team work neither spectacular nor fast, a link between the Social Credit government and the Labor Board.

Carpenters' representatives reported that some employers had protested that overtime must be paid by them while some union members accept extra hour employment at regular wages.

Co-operation of all unions was urged in protecting hours of work agreements. This would not apply to a man working during the week-end on his own place or on a charitable project.

Guided Missiles Manufactured In Quebec Plant

By KEN STEWART

Canadian Press Staff Writer
 QUEBEC (CP)—A guided missile and bazooka-type weapons are being designed at the Canadian armament research and development establishment, 17 miles northwest of Quebec City near Valcartier military camp.

This was learned during a tour of the establishment conducted for newspaper and radio men.

While names and details were not disclosed, it was learned they are developed from initial conception to production of the prototype at Carie, one of the largest of the defence research board's 12 establishments across Canada.

It is here a phase of Canada's defence effort which is relatively unknown is being carried on.

The establishment consists of a combination of units from the army, the inspection board of Canada and the United Kingdom, and the national research council.

SWIMMING CLUB BARGAIN FOR $500,000 BEG POOL

VANCOUVER (P)—Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club applied to the city for permission to build a $500,000 swimming pool for the British Empire Games in the Little Mosquiton district near Capilano Stadium.

Club officials said negotiations are being carried on the BEG whereby 2,000 permanent seats will be provided for spectators and 8,000 additional bleachers supplied by games society.

The pool would be left open for the games and later in as a permanent year-round sports centre for the use of the general public, the officials said.

Court Room Turns To Surgery

BRISTOL, England (AP)—A court-room here became an operating theatre—complete with operating table, anaesthetist, instruments, surgeon, nurses and patient. Surgeon Douglas Fairman went through the motions of taking out the patient's tonsils.

He didn't really operate, however. It was all part of a court hearing yesterday in a suit filed by Mrs. Dorothy Moon, Bristol widow, against the Bristol General Hospital. She charged Fairman with negligence during a tonsil operation on her husband in 1949.

Mrs. Moon contended her husband became paralyzed because of rough handling during the operation and died later. The defence claimed the patient had a degenerated disk in his neck and that was the cause of the paralysis.

The mock operation was staged to show how a patient's head is handled during a tonsillectomy. The court said it would rule later on the suit.

'SOUR EGGS' INVESTIGATED BY VICTORIA SCIENTISTS

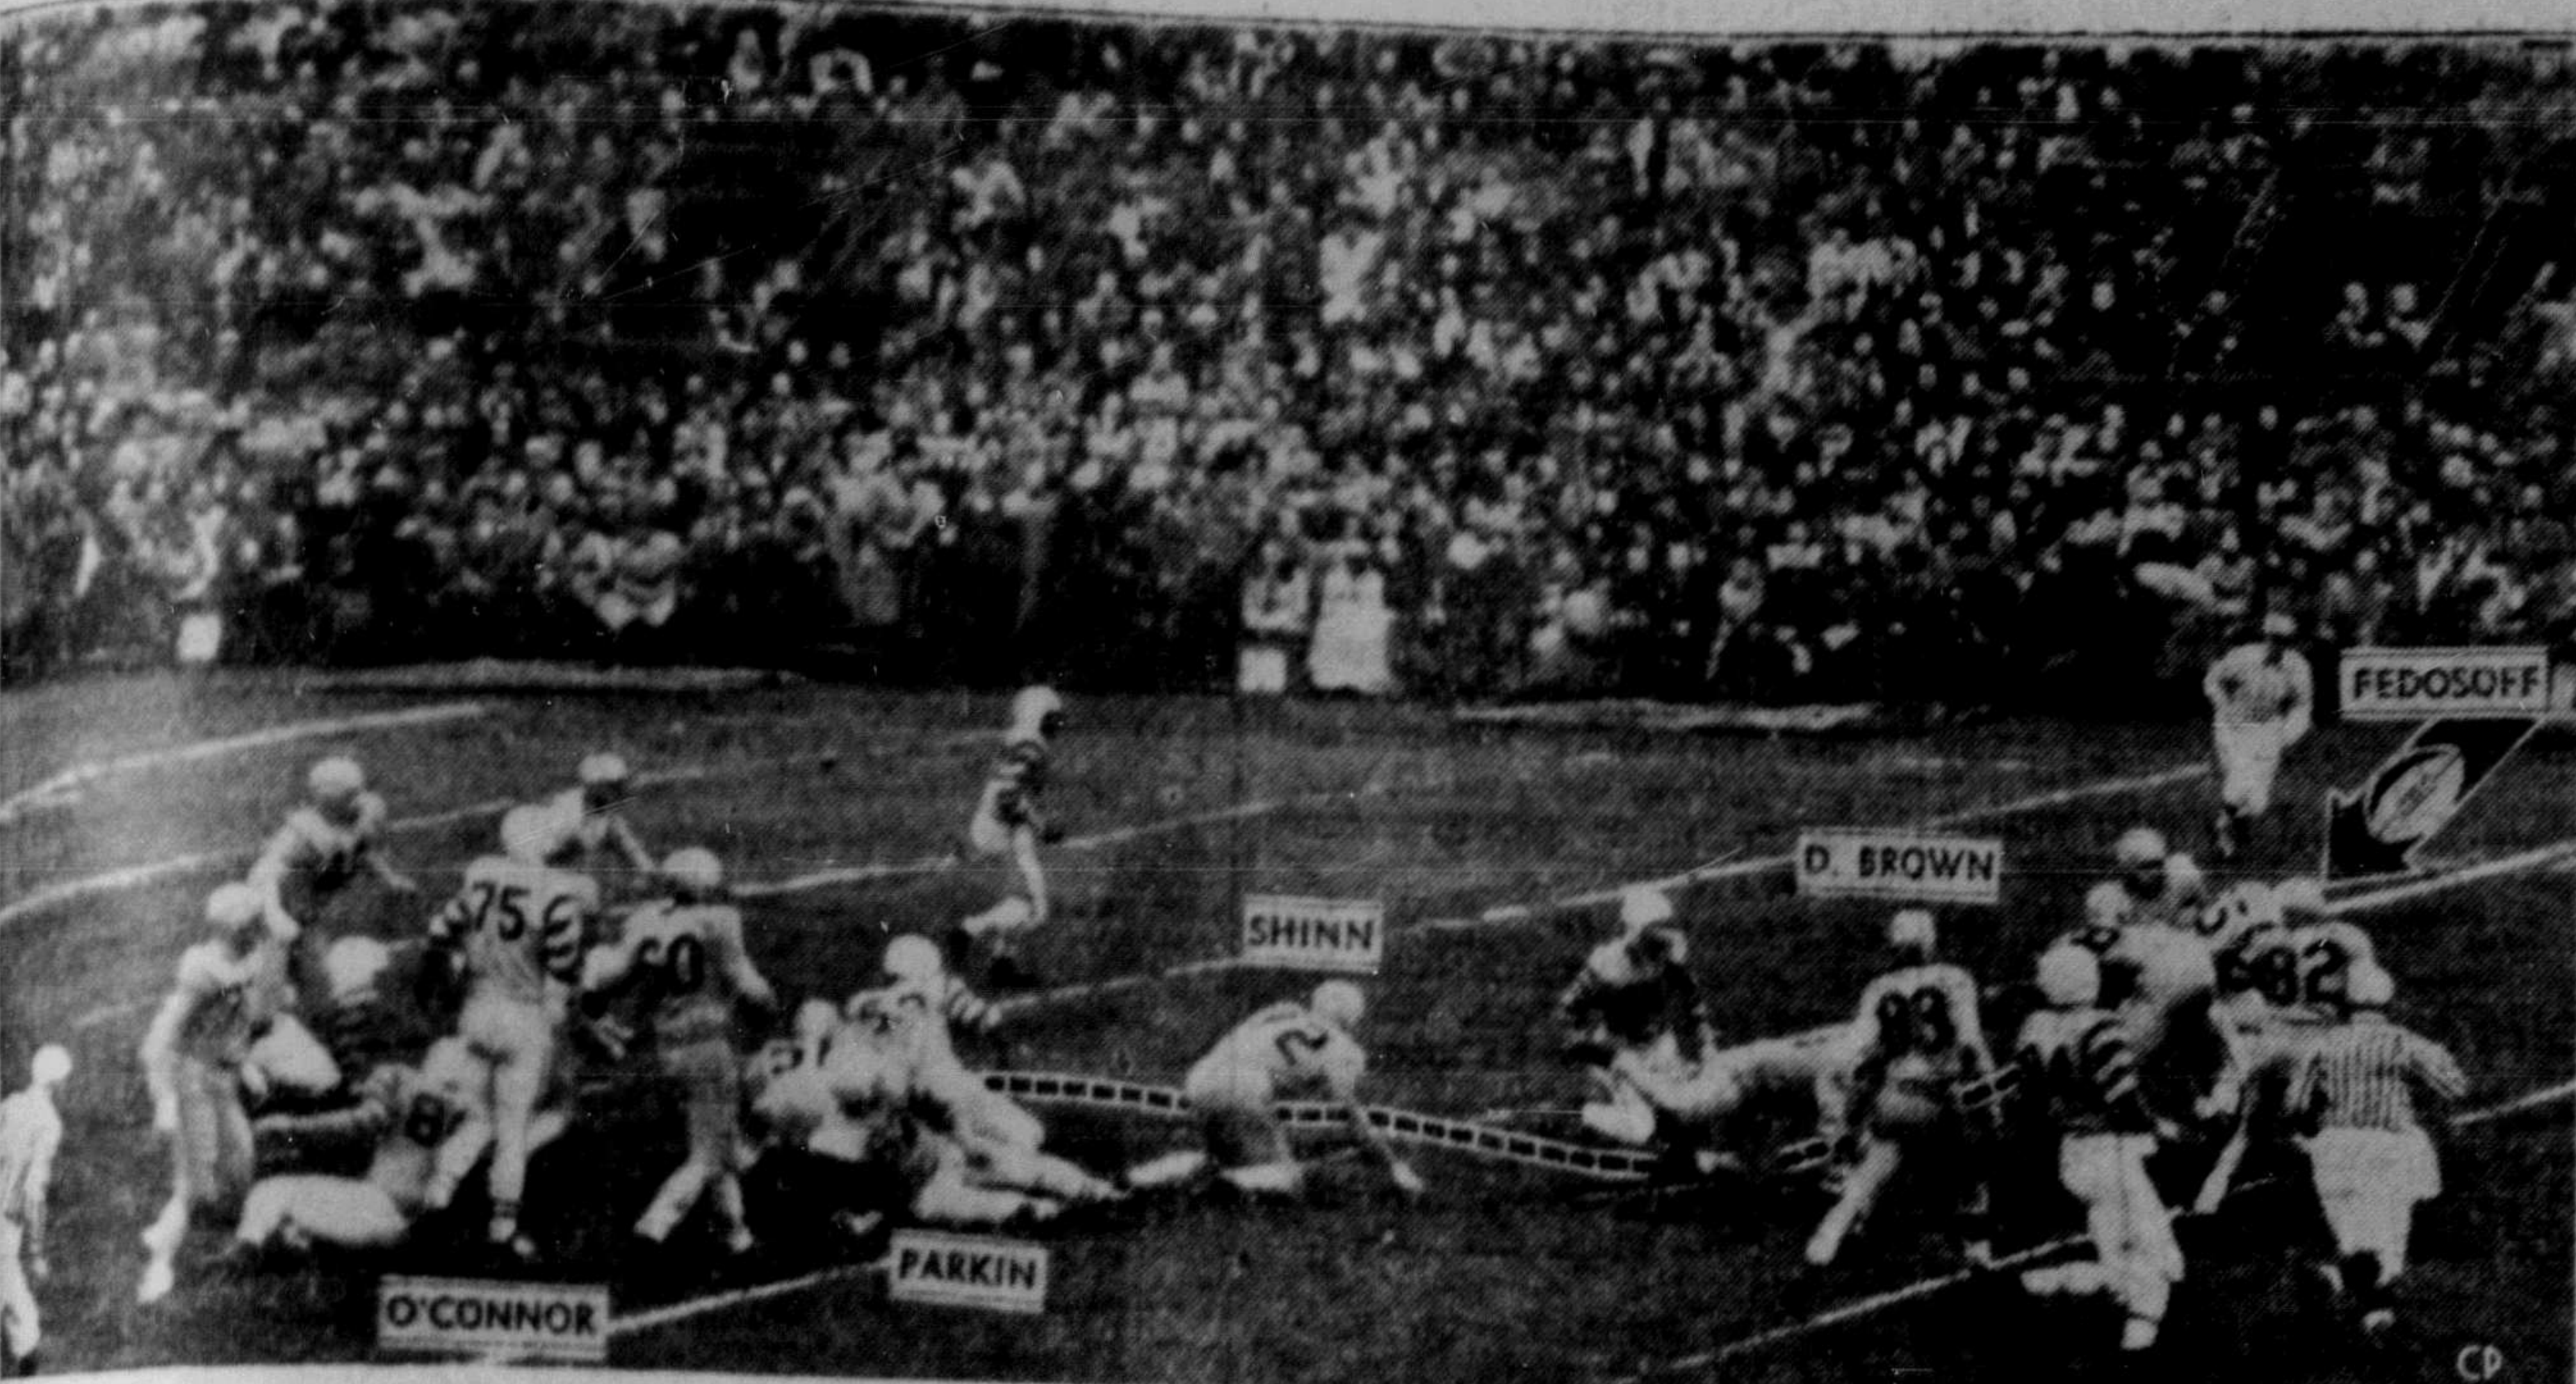

VICTORIA, B.C.—Agriculture department scientists are looking into the mystery of the sour eggs.

Officials said today that an increasing number of sour eggs are being detected by British Columbia candlers and graders. They said the same number of sour eggs have been produced in past years, however, because only recently have new candling and grading systems been able to detect them.

Candling stations now use a "black light" which causes sour eggs to fluoresce.

RUMPS FOR ARGOS—Johnny Fedosoff, Toronto Argonauts' prize rookie, romps off centre for the yardage in the third playoff game against Hamilton Tiger-Cats for the Big Four title. Fedosoff (85) crashed into the Tiger-Cats line head down. The special game at Toronto was made necessary when Argonauts and the Tiger-Cats tied 33-33 on a two-game points-on-the-round series. Argos won the deciding game 12-7 and will meet Sarnia in the eastern Canada playoff tomorrow. The winners will meet Edmonton in Toronto Nov. 29 for the national championship. (CP PHOTO)

Choose Right Bullet to Bring Down Game

There is at least one Nimrod in every who has returned from his annual moose hunt without having scored a kill. Of course he has a share of meat shot by others in the party, but he is at a loss to know why he never caught up with the big bull he saw bleed from.

The answer almost certainly is the style of bullet used.

Today's market offers so many different types of bullets, that even the less well-informed hunters become bewildered when they come to the store. This need not be the case if one standardizes on one type of bullet.

Here in Canada we are most likely to find "Dominion" ammunition in the city or country store wherever we happen to be, and right there all the perfectly good American ammo eliminated from this discussion. This is as it should be, for our own C.I.L. product is not inferior to any manufacturer's elsewhere, and it is made in virtually all the calibres normally used. Wildcats are not under consideration.

At this stage we are down to the ordinary soft-point, the copper-point expanding, and the copper-point mushroom; this comes in only a very few sizes (mostly small and low velocity) and may be immediately eliminated.

The copper-point has a limited use of usage, mainly for long-range work where projectiles are not to be upset by striking in-bush or twigs, for so they would break them up and prevent their remaining flight from the original line.

It is the reason that they are eliminated from my list, in spite of the great amount of highland hunting I had to do each year.

The exclusive use of soft-point gives these advantages: mental hazard as to which bullet for a certain shot, ample penetration and expansion to do enough damage for a quick kill on the animal, properly placed slug for least wind resistance with consequent minimum velocity and flatness of trajectory; and a fair amount of brush-bucking ability.

Perhaps our hypothetical hunter used the correct bullet but did not place it in the right spot. The correct course in anatomy is not to hit one's quarry in the shoulder; after this has been done on a moose just once, the hunter draws!

Our often have guides tried to make headstrong dudes from the shoulder shot? It has been a misfortune on several such occasions to have to follow up on a moose with a shoulder shot but none the less he goes on for miles on three legs. The muscle and bone on the shoulder of a fair bull is more than twelve inches thick, and definitely only the magnum cartridges have sufficient remaining energy to get into the chest cavity after traveling a hundred yards or so; whereas the lowly 30/30 with 170 grain soft-point bullet, if placed just a few inches forward of the animal's middle, will have at most only a rib, the hide, and LESS THAN TWO INCHES of meat to penetrate before tearing into the base of the lungs and letting loose a whole lot of blood in which the animal quickly drowns!

There is an old-timer in the Interior whose ancient 30/40 Krag is equipped with fixed iron sights set at about 500 yards. Long usage has taught him about where to aim at various ranges, but somehow most of his shots at moose end up high in the creature's shoulder hump. Because of the long vertebral processes in this hump, the shock of the bullet's impact sets up a temporary paralysis in the front quarters, which gives our old-timer opportunity to get to his quarry for the coup de grace.

I certainly do not advise any of you to emulate him, because eventually, one of these stunned animals is going to make a quick recovery, and kick scmet-dy's teeth down his throat!

Just one other thing should be considered, and that is the judgment of distance. To the trained rifleman this is separate branch of study, and is of supreme importance at the longer ranges where the higher velocity cartridges have a chance to show their wares.

I once measured a shot at 530 paces on level ground where my client dropped a standing moose with one shot, a 130-grain soft-point .270 with 4X scope. This shot was perfectly placed, and because the creature was unalarmed, he absorbed the slug, and no reflex caused him to make a run for it. The hunter knew his trajectory, used proper allowance at the estimated range, took plenty of time and made his perfect kill.

Always remember that your first shot at game is almost certainly your best chance, usually the subsequent shots are simply throwing good lead after bad; so select just one type of bullet, learn its capabilities, and stick to it. Place your shots in the easy killing zone, and finally, check on your judgment of distance and I'm sure you will bring home more meat from future hunts.

Deer season finishes this week-end, maybe the present unwelcome fog will clear and let many disappointed hunters get away to the Islands.

A few geese are being brought in from Pillsbury Cove, an occasional Spring salmon around 10 pounds is taking spoons in deep water close to town, a small school of tiny herring at the Yacht Club is being cleaned up by rick-fish at the high tide; anxious trollers are expecting the main run of herring to make an appearance any day now, and the Burns Lake Rod and Gun Club is on record as favoring fly-fishing only on the Stellaco River, which is rapidly becoming depleted of its trout by the many deadly spoon combinations now in use. Food for much thought here!

'Skid Road' Business Helps Youth

VANCOUVER (CP)—In the old section of Vancouver called "skid road," Bill Roddy is known as a police constable with a purpose.

Vancouverites generally are getting to know him as the managing director of a successful business.

He calls his business "youth salvage," and the title has a double meaning. He employs 10 youngsters who were formerly either needy or in some kind of trouble. Bill's business is to take as much work as is profitable away from the regular garbage collectors.

About eight months ago Roddy nominated himself as guardian of a young fellow who had got into trouble over some car thefts.

"He was a fine lad," says Bill, "but he had no work habits." Bill decided the boy needed a business and "youth salvage" was born.

The boy was lent Bill's panel truck and set to work collecting everything from newspapers to discarded furniture—everything that could be sold. The business grew and more boys were brought in.

Today the business has two stores and a warehouse. One store sells clothing and shoes and the other used furniture, books and hardware. The stores do a thriving business and the boys all draw weekly salaries.

Full Slate Likely For House Seat

VICTORIA (CP) — No shortage of candidates is expected when the by-election is called to fill the Victoria seat in Commons made vacant by appointment of Hon. R. W. Mayhew as ambassador to Japan.

Five parties have signified their intention to run candidates—Liberal, Progressive Conservative, CCF, Social Credit and Labor Progressive.

Name of G. A. A. Hebdien is being given as the most likely starter for the Liberals.

Reports that W. Bruce Hutchison, editor of the Victoria Times, had been approached to stand for the Liberal nomination were spiked by Mr. Hutchison today.

"I am not a candidate for political office," he said.

William Chant, unsuccessful Social Credit candidate in Esquimalt in the last provincial election, is being mentioned as a likely candidate for that party.

In Ottawa last week House speaker Ross MacDonald announced that he had instructed the chief electoral officer to issue a writ for a by-election in Victoria.

Although, under statute, the government could hold off the election as long as six months from the date of issuance of the writ, it is considered most likely the vote will be scheduled for early in 1953.

HERE And NOW

By LARRY STANWOOD

THIS IS A CHALLENGE to the taxpayers of Prince Rupert.

Will they give the city—and themselves—a break by asking that the council-manager plan be investigated for adaptation to Prince Rupert, or will they take no action even though they stand to win much and lose little?

Will the council-manager plan work, they ask. Here is an excerpt taken from a Canadian publication:

"The continued success of council-manager government in the United States has at least demonstrated beyond question its value in that country. The difficulties occasionally encountered in manager cities and the relatively small number of United States places that have reverted to the mayor-council form are more apt nowadays to be regarded as evidence that the system was not being properly followed than as any sign of weakness in the plan itself.

"In all probability the same observation holds true for Canadian experience."

Today, in the States there are 1,047 municipalities governed by the council-manager plan. In Canada, 35 municipalities have adopted it, while a much greater number has a form of government that differs only slightly to the council-manager plan with a chief administrator who holds dual appointments of city clerk and treasurer.

These facts alone should answer the question, "will it work?" But it will never work until given a try.

Some examples of a city manager's duties are laid down in the following terms as applied to a particular Canadian city:

To administer (plan, co-ordinate, direct, supervise, and control) the day-to-day business affairs of the city in accordance with the policies and plans approved and established by the council.

To co-ordinate and direct the preparation of plans and programs to be submitted to the council for the construction, re-habilitation, and maintenance of city property and facilities; for the development, expansion and improvement of city services.

To co-ordinate, direct, and broadly supervise the implementation of such programs upon approval by the council.

To exercise general financial control over all departments of city government in terms of approved appropriations.

To carry out or direct collective bargaining with all city employees . . . to recommend to council agreements concerning wages, salaries, and working conditions.

To account to the council for his stewardship by presenting reports and information regarding progress and accomplishments in programs and projects.

Unions May Seek Full Labor Group

VANCOUVER (CP)—A full-time provincial labor federation to serve AFL-TLC unions in British Columbia may be recommended by the B.C. executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada at a convention in Nanaimo Dec. 10.

The central organization would replace the present scattered provincial executive committee.

The plan was first voiced last year at a TLC conference and if approved will form the first provincial group in about 25 years.

In other provinces, TLC has central federation in Newfoundland, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario, and Alberta. Along with B.C., Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Nova Scotia have executive committees only.

Doesn't Work

At present, this type of administration is being attempted by an eight-man council which, practically speaking, is an impossibility. There are too many loose ends left dangling with the result that the entire organization becomes so involved in detail that often sight is lost of things of major importance.

Among the nine men who today handle the city's affairs, there are some who favor a council-manager plan; others are non-committal; some are opposed to it.

The opposition offered is that it would limit representation of the taxpayer, there being less aldermen needed.

Let's See Now

There is little more than a week left in which candidates for the four vacating seats in the Dec. 11 election can show their hand. Yet no one has been in any hurry to file papers.

Does that display Prince Rupert taxpayers as crying out for representation?

No. It proves that the silence of Prince Rupert taxpayers itself is crying out loud, "We are too busy to care!"

So, why not a city manager?

AFL Names Successor

WASHINGTON — (CP) — The American Federation of Labor today chose 58-year-old George Meany as its new president to succeed the late William Green, who died last Friday.

The AFL made a new bid to the CIO for a merger. The AFL council empowered a nine-man committee to invite the CIO to join in new discussions on a merger.
