LORD MAYOR OF LONDON CHOSEN TODAY TO FILL POSITION IN NOVEMBER

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Sir Charles Batho was today chosen Lord Mayor effective on November 9, in succession to Sir Rowland Blizard.

BODY IS REPORTED SIMILAR TO AVIATOR FLOATING IN WATER

HARBOR GRACE, Sept. 29.—A report that the body of a man with a helmet similar to that of an aviator, was seen floating in the current in Conception Bay is current here today.

fishermen and operators of canneries would be out of business. To prevent this they should work together and form a working agreement satisfactory to both and upon which the department of fisheries could build regulations as satisfactory as possible to both branches of the industry.

The suggested method or plan, Mr. Gasse said, was to divide the province into areas and to allot to each area a certain amount of gear; to reduce the number of purse seines fifty per cent and gill nets thirty per cent. Under such an arrangement Barclay Sound and the Alberni Canal would only have twelve seines for canneries instead of about one hundred as at present. The independent fishermen should come first. The independent fisherman is usually a resident and as such was to be encouraged. The troller and gill net fisherman under the proposed arrangement would not be interfered with.

In Barclay Sound there are at present only two canneries buying sockeyes. During the sockeye run, the fishermen dispose of their fish to either of these canneries. At any other time during the year the independent gill net fisherman could sell his catch anywhere he pleased. This applied particularly to fish fishing and the independent man would be eagerly sought after by canneries and fish buyers, but, he contended, there should be a limit put upon the gill net as well as upon the seine.

There must be give and take, said the speaker. He pointed out that the fisherman did not have to go to the cannery for his license as had been interpreted. He pointed out that under the present way of operating the independent gill netter always makes arrangements where he is going to deliver his fish. He does so to enable him to know where he is going to live and where he can take care of his gear. Under the new plan, he would only have to state what arrangement he made so as to enable the department of fisheries to check up the number of licenses that had been issued to each cannery.

FIRE ABOARD BOAT ADVANCE

Former Canadian Boat Hippo Has Rather Thrilling Experience at Kelchikan

With gasoline fire flames spouting from her hold, what appeared to be an extremely dangerous fire on the power boat Advance, was almost instantly squelched shortly after 11 o'clock this morning when the fire department arrived on the scene and played its chemical into the hold says the Kelchikan Chronicle.

The Advance was lying moored to the city float. There was considerable excitement among other boat owners, for fear the fire would spread. The origin of the fire has not been determined. Antone Carlson, the owner, who has been using the boat for a trap tender, was pumping gasoline from the rear tank which was leaking into a bucket to be emptied into another tank forward. Both large hatches were off and the hold was open and he was standing on deck.

Provincial Government Gets Highest Price in Years for Bond Issue

VICTORIA, September 29.—Bonds of the province of British Columbia amounting to $6,000,000 were sold yesterday at a price higher than any realized by the province in almost forty years. To be exact it is the highest price since 1889. There were thirty tenders submitted and the bonds were sold to a syndicate composed of A. E. Adams Co., Wood Gundy Co., and the Royal Bank. The average yield of the issue will be 4.62½ per cents.

The bids were 98.69 for the two-year-old four per cent bonds and 97.23 for the thirty-year 4½ per cent.

Half the proceeds of the issue will go to refunding expiring issues and the other half to financing new work, particularly new provincial buildings in different parts of the province and roads.

The sale of these bonds at such a good figure and the keen competition to get them is looked upon here as a vote of confidence in the new premier by financial men. It is an indication by them that they consider the administration safe and efficient.

DAILY EDITION Thursday, Sept. 29, 1927

LOCAL ADVERTISERS

The Daily News carries a good deal of advertising and most of the men who use space in this paper are men who deliver the goods. The things they advertise are as stated.

The man who fails to deliver the goods as advertised is due for a business collapse for people soon find him out.

Usually we buy from people because we believe the goods they sell are good value. Once we lose faith in the merchant we do not care to go to his store again. We give him absent treatment and all his efforts to attract the public by advertising are abortive.

The man who advertises is usually the man who is ready to stand behind the goods he handles. He believes in the quick turnover and keeps the goods fresh on the shelves. If he fails to advertise, look out for the stale sugar, the old fashioned suits, the last year's dress goods. In order to move the goods rapidly advertising is necessary.

Children should remember it is not right to smoke or lie until they are grown up.

HONEST STATEMENT OF FACT

The best advertisement is an honest statement of fact. It means telling the customer what you have so that he may take advantage of the offer. It is very difficult to move the goods if the customer is not told about them.

The two people who should not advertise are those who have nothing attractive to offer and those who live in a place where the people have no money with which to buy. If a merchant is ready and willing to stand behind his goods he should tell the public about them and the prices at which they can be purchased. This can best be done through the columns of the daily newspaper.

Dempsey was beaten by a better man but most people are brought low by high living.

SIGN OF PROGRESS

Advertising is a sign of progress. All merchants believe in it. Some feature the display in their windows which is one of the best forms of advertising. But window display is not enough. Many people do not go window shopping. They prefer to scan the newspapers in the evening and decide what they want.

There was a time when the advertiser was looked upon as more or less of a charlatan. The advertisement was a trap to catch the unwary. Today it is just the opposite. The person whose display does not appear in the newspapers is usually ranked as of little repute. Usually the best dentist, the best grocer, the best furnishing store, the best butcher, the best coal merchant, is he who lets the public know exactly what he has to sell and possibly tells them why they should use his service.

The average merchant cannot afford to do as does the insurance company. He cannot afford to seek out his customer and sell directly. It is too expensive a way of selling. He has to adopt some other method.

At one time dodgers were issued, but the man who uses a dodger today is looked upon as one who fears to place his prices alongside those of his competitor. Also he usually fails to reach his objective.

The difficulty with most of us is that we let time pass us instead of keeping up with it.

WHY PEOPLE BUY NEWSPAPERS

While the average person buys a newspaper to find the news of the day, there are a great many who buy the Daily News chiefly to read the advertisements. It is the first thing they look for when they open it.

It is argued that a great many do not read advertisements. The man who lives at a boarding house does not usually read the grocery advertisements because he is not interested. The man who keeps house and more particularly the wife of that man is the one who looks them over carefully.

Some women read editorials and to those we would suggest that before they make up their next order for grocery they look over the grocery advertisements in this paper and see if they are getting value for the money they are spending.

TELLS ABOUT DUNWELL MINE

Expert Writes in Vancouver Paper Explaining Why the Slump

E. A. Haggan, the mining expert and writer, writes about the slump in Dunwell in the Vancouver Province as follows:

The market vagaries of Dunwell shares require explanation. Three years ago Dunwell was a market leader with its shares selling up to around $6. The directors made a few issues of stock at $1 a share. The market naturally dropped to the same level. When further funds were required to finance the mill, another issue of stock was made at 50 cents, so that the market is at present a little below the valuation placed on the stock by the directors. There is every reason to believe the mine to be a valuable property. Three of the leading mining companies in Canada and an English company were of that opinion, for they offered to take it over, finance it, and place it in production. Had either of them done so the mine would probably today have been on a dividend basis, but the deal with any one of them involved turning over control. To this the directors were opposed, for the reason that they wished to demonstrate that a mine could be financed, developed and put into production by British Columbia people.

WEAK POINT IN DUNWELL

The weak point with Dunwell has been the failure to develop more than sufficient tonnage of ore to carry the mill over its first year of operation. The management has never claimed a greater reserve, although the science of mining engineering demands that before a mine is equipped with a mill it should have sufficient reserve to enable it to earn a profit to liquidate the entire cost and provide a reasonable return to shareholders by way of dividends.

The management claimed the average value of the ore to be around $25 a ton; and it was expected the cost of production would not be more than $15 a ton. Although the initial capacity of the mill was 100 tons a day, it is now capable of handling about 150 tons a day.

On the official estimates of the management the company should now be earning a profit of about $1500 a day. On these figures the company should be earning $500,000 a year, or 50 per cent. on its authorized capital. But it isn't, and why?

ORE IS COMPLEX

The ore is complex. It carries values in gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc. The concentrates are shipped to Great Britain for treatment on a basis which is a little more favorable than Trail smelter rates. Not all values are paid for; and for those metals for which value is received the return is much less than the original estimate by the management. For instance, the company gets only about a cent per pound for its zinc, while the market price for the refined metal is over 6 cents per lb.—only 16 per cent of the assay value—while prices of the metal have shown a serious drop since the first estimates were prepared.

There are several veins on the property, and they vary as to their metal contents. Shipments have been mainly from the Dunwell vein, which has been developed to a depth of about 950 feet. The Sunbeam and Ben All veins are stated to be important. The latter is the richest, and it is now being opened up for mining to supply the mill with a view to producing a concentrate of higher value and ensuring more favorable returns from the ore-purchasing company.

The management states the mill is now producing thirty tons of concentrates per day, consisting of ten tons of lead and twenty tons of zinc concentrates; and that the recovery is 90 per cent. of all values. The production for July was stated to have a net value of about $40,000, after deduction of freight and smelter charges. On this basis the company would be doing well, provided it is able to keep its developments ahead of new requirements and that values stand up to anything like the estimates.

NOBODY gets much nourishment from heaving the rag.

HERE is something I ran across recently. It is about the way the little angels' talk nowadays and is taken from one of the down east papers:

"It was a wonderful wedding. The girl was as sweet as any girl who ever lived, but modern. As she walked up the aisle on her father's arm, her lips lightly tilted at the corners in a happy smile, she was a picture of modest beauty. Her filmy wedding gown and gossamer veil floated around her fair blonde head like a halo. She was as nearly an angel as girls get to be in this world. At the altar as she passed from her father, the man she had always loved, to the man to whom she would devote the rest of her life, her dainty slipper touched a potted lily resting on the floor and turned it over. Smiling again, she turned to the dear old pastor waiting at the chancel, and said: 'That was a hell of a place to put a lily.'"

RESTRICT CATCH OF HALIBUT SUGGESTED BY SEATTLE PAPER

(Seattle Times)
 Fish can't think very well. They don't have to. If the best of them were dependent on themselves for protection, they would be in great danger of extinction; but their welfare is a matter of governmental anxiety, which tends to their conservation.

Recently salmon have received Federal attention and the season for taking them was abruptly shortened. Now halibut fishing may be subjected to strict regulations.

Of the world's annual yield of halibut, 50,000,000 pounds, or 80 per cent of the whole, comes from North Pacific waters, chiefly Alaskan and British Columbia. Yearly catches have shown no important changes lately, but this is due to the activity of fishermen in continually moving to more northerly banks after having exhausted other grounds. If present practices are permitted to go unchecked, the supply will gradually suffer depletion.

American and Canadian authorities are conferring on the situation. Inasmuch as artificial propagation of halibut is impracticable and control of the food supply or the natural enemies of the fish is impossible, officials are limited to regulating the catch so that it may not exceed natural increase.

Halibut require from eight to eighteen years to mature. Once depleted, their restoration would be difficult, if feasible at all. They live an average of twenty-five years. But that isn't long enough to teach them how to take care of themselves.

SOUTH POLAR DIFFICULTIES

Commander Richard Byrd to Set up Series of Camps Before Making Dash

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 29.—(By the Canadian Press)—In planning his flight to the South Pole, Commander Richard E. Byrd confronts obstacles that make his hazardous North Pole hop seem, at least, to the layman, like child's play in comparison. In the Arctic he had a land base, at Spitzbergen, within 800 miles of the Pole. In the Antarctic his permanent supply base probably will be established 2,598 miles from the Pole, on Stewart Island in the New Zealand group. Since the distance prohibits a take-off from his base, as was possible on the North Pole flight, Commander Byrd is planning to sail by ship to New Zealand and from there into the ice field, to set up a series of camps, 200 miles apart, toward the objective. From one of these, with two planes, he would try a dash to the Pole, he said. To reach the ice field from Stewart Island, he would have to sail along the little known coast of South Victoria Land into Ross Sea, the open bay entered by Captain James Ross, English explorer in 1841. That coast is described by the National Geographic Society from available records as being a wild range of ice covered peaks, rising at times to a height of 15,000 feet, without vegetation or animal life. A vast continent is believed to stretch beyond that range. Somewhere further south a great icy plain, 10,500 feet above sea level, windswept and perilous to aircraft. Within it lies the South Pole, unmarked by any topographical feature.

COMMUTING BY AIRPLANE

Big Machines Being Built to Carry Rich People to Business

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Commuting by airplane from suburban homes to Manhattan offices, hitherto confined to theory and conjecture of whimsical humorists, will become actuality next spring, it is learned from the Fairchild Aviation Corporation of Farmingdale, L.I., which is building "commuting express" at the rate of one a week. The company has received a dozen orders from business men who have decided that fast motors and speedboats are not quite fast enough to compete with the ever increasing traffic congestion on land and sea in this vicinity, and so have turned their serious attention to air commuting. The Fairchild Company has in production a new type of passenger amphibian, capable of carrying six persons, and which will sell for $15,000. It will make a maximum speed of 100 miles an hour. The intention is to bring the suburban resident from his home each morning to anchorage in either the East or North Rivers and take him home as speedily in the evening. The commuter will be able to smoke and have his breakfast cooked and served for him in the specially-enclosed cabin of the serial "bus," according to plans. The planes will be equipped with 220 horsepower Wright whirlwind motors. "It is still a rich man's way to travel," said Sherman M. Fairchild, president of the company making the planes. "But the time is bound to come when commuting by airplane will be a common affair."

GOLFER'S FOOT IS LATEST DISEASE

Unnatural Strain on Arches Throws Feet Out of Alignment Says Chiropodist

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Mr. Golfer, do you have sharp pains in the instep and calf of the leg? If you do, the chances are that you are afflicted with the latest orthopedic ailment, commonly called "golfer's foot." Dr. Frank Furch, president of the Illinois Association of Chiropodists, declared recently that orthopedic specialists throughout the country have been called upon to give relief to this new condition. The ailment is caused by extreme extension of the feet while the golfer is in the stance preparing to strike the ball. This puts the weight of the body on the arches of the feet, resulting in unnatural strain, tending to break down the arches and throwing the feet out of alignment, stated Dr. Furch.

Arctic with specimens for the field museum here.

Each of the scouts kept a diary on the trip and from the pages of these came stories that rivaled the best of boys' adventure books, such as slaying of the giant polar and kodak bear, pursuit of the killer whale, struggles to reef a sail on waves that ran twenty-five feet, swimming parties in northern seas and in the crater of a steaming volcano, and of defeat in a game of baseball at the hands of Eskimos. The boys were unanimous in the assertion that their captain and owner of the vessel, John Bordon, wealthy Chicago explorer, "was a Prince," and that his guests, men and women, were good shots with the rifle. As testimony of this marksmanship the, Northern Light brought back for the museum the skins of 11 kodak bear, 15 walrus, one oogrook (whiskered seal), 8 polar bear and 135 birds.

CRIMES INCREASE ON GLOOMY DAYS

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 29.—When things go awry, blame it on the weather, says D. S. Landis, poet, philosopher and for 25 years weather observer here for the United States Weather Bureau. Temperature and humidity affect the human nervous system and fluctuations, creating nervous activity, are reflected in the actions of people over a large area, he believes. A bright day cheers, raising the spirits of the people, making everyone more congenial and reducing likelihood of friction. A cloudy day, on the other hand, while a sedative for people of a phlegmatic type is an irritant to persons of a more vital nature and causes unrest and brittleness of temper, according to Landis. He says that police records show that crime, especially suicides, increases on gloomy days.

OYSTERS NOT DUMB DECLARE SCIENTISTS

NORFOLK, VA., Sept. 29.—The old saying "mum as an oyster" has been proved a myth by hydrography and topography experts of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, who have been attempting to make underwater experiments with the radio off the North Carolina coast between Cape Hatteras and Cape Lookout. The oysters made so much noise the work had to be abandoned at the first attempt. A second attempt to make the tests proved just as futile. The oysters were so noisy that no other sound but that of the bivalves opening and shutting their shell-covered mouths came through the delicate instruments with which the experiments were being conducted.

DRANK KING'S HEALTH WITH CANADIAN LEGION

Governor General and Lady Willingdon Visit Returned Men's Quarters

JASPER, Sept. 29.—Just before the Governor General's special train pulled out of Jasper for Edmonton last evening, Viscount and Lady Willingdon paid a visit to the club rooms of the Jasper branch of the British Empire Service Legion and met the returned men of the district, nearly sixty in number. The veterans were highly delighted at the Governor General is on a quiet holiday and is not fulfilling any official duties. He did not hesitate, however, when Dr. O'Hagan, president of the branch, invited him and Her Excellency, and said he was very pleased to meet the boys. He had a glass of beer with them and proposed the King's health himself.

A RECORD

Golfer (on a western course where many Scotchmen played)—"Who holds the record for this course?"
 His Scotch Opponent—"McNabb. He's been playing here three years, and lost only one ball."

His cruise resulted in the introduction of a method of establishing longitude by observing the oscillations of the fixed stars.—Washington Star.

GOVERNOR OFF FOR THE EAST

Left Jasper Last Evening but Played Golf Until Last Moment Before Boarding Car

JASPER, Sept. 29.—The Governor General and Lady Willingdon left Jasper for Edmonton at 6:15 last evening on their special train. They played golf until almost the last moment and had the cars which took them to the station pick them up at the caddy house. "I have had a splendid time," said His Excellency as he stepped on the train. I played too much golf. Lady Willingdon was equally enthusiastic about Jasper, and in fact, everyone agreed that the eight days had been nothing but pleasure. The trip to Maligne Lake, where a night was spent at Brewster's Chalet, the drive to Mount Edith Cavell and the Ghost Glacier and the fishing expedition to Caledonia Lake, were outstanding events in the all too short stay at the Lodge, as one member of the party put it, and the quiet and the beauty of the surrounding mountains stood as an ever changing background, while golf was well woven into the scheme of things. Before leaving the Lodge, where they stayed in picturesque pine log cabins, and where nothing was spared to make them comfortable, their Excellencies presented the manager, John O'Brien, with handsome autographed portraits of themselves, as a mark of appreciation, and gave Mrs. O'Brien a beautiful brooch.

The vice-regal party was given a hearty send off at the station in the village of Jasper. Fifty or more youngsters, girl guides, brownies, scouts and cubs, mustered on the platform, in the care of Rev. Harold Edwards, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. W. C. Aynsley, and were reviewed by their Excellencies.

SEX INSTINCT YOUNG GIRLS

Importance of Junior High School Stressed in Lecture at Convention

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—(By Canadian Press).—The problem of the troublesome adolescent girl and the importance of the junior high school in reformation of this type was the subject of an address at one of the meetings of the World Federation of Education Associations meeting here by Miss Jessie B. Colburn, junior high school principal of New York City.

"The problem to be faced," said Miss Colburn, "is a girl whose budding womanhood is expressed in an aggressively expanding ego, and intense vanity and love of dress and excessive use of cosmetics." She wants money, so insists on going to work. If the mother refuses or the law intervenes, she is apt to become a truant. When returned to school she is rather apt to lay hands on whatever money she can find at home—in her own euphonious (?) phrasing, "borrows" it and tries running away.

Miss Colburn stated that the sex instinct which was being minimized by some authorities on child psychology could not be ignored by the teacher. It created a most dangerous situation resulting very often in "an over-confidence in the ability to take care of oneself."

Miss Edna Hood, of Racine, Wis., supervisor of art in Kenosha, is a busy secretary, who is all on fire with her own work and ready to talk about it. A graduate of Chicago and Columbia, and a post-graduate of Oxford, Miss Hood wants to see the principle of creative work permeating every grade of education, from kindergarten to the university. "Self-expression, self-realization is the keynote of all we do and we try to surround the child with the environment that will bring out his latent gifts. We believe that every child is born with some artistic power and we seek to have him develop it through the many mediums—clay, sand, snow—we are strong on snow modeling—that lie ready to his hand."

makes Warm Air Heating the most efficient system known to Science!

A MONG heating experts warm air is known as the most healthful and economical form of domestic heating. It fosters health—gives winter-long comfort. It costs about one-half that of other systems. Yet, because so many warm air furnaces are unscientifically installed, thousands of householders are not getting the results they should.

How can this condition be remedied?

The answer is "Code Installation". A "Code Installed" Warm Air Heating System is a system installed according to tried and proven scientific principles. There is no guesswork. "Code Installed" warm air guarantees an unfailing abundance of moist, circulating healthful heat—seventy degrees in every room during sub-zero weather.

McClary's are the only Canadian members of the National Warm Air Heating and Ventilating Association—an association which has adopted a scientific code for installing warm air furnaces. By insisting on a McClary's "Code Installed" Sunshine Furnace you are guaranteed a heating system which costs less to buy and less to maintain than more elaborate systems—yet provides 70 degrees of heating in every room.

Ventiblast

McClary's Ventiblast is an exclusive feature of McClary's Sunshine Furnace, which burns soft coal equally as well as hard coal, coke or wood. It uses pre-heated air with soft coal gases and converts them into flame—thus eliminating soot, waste and dust.

Fill in and mail attached coupon, and we will send you name and address of the nearest McClary's dealer who will guarantee a "Code Installed" heating system which will give lifetime satisfaction.

AMERICANS TO COUNT NUMBER OF WATER FOWL

ALAMOSA, Colo., Sept. 29.—The one hundred million or so water fowl in North America are to be counted by the Federal Biological Survey.

Adoption of better protective laws and ultimate increase in the number of the migratory water fowls, are the aims of the census which will require a year to take. Harry C. Oberholzer, of Washington, chief biologist of the survey, said.

Seven hundred stations are ready to start the census. It will be made in Southern Canada, Mexico and the United States, he said.

SMASHED BOTTLE OF WET EVIDENCE

E. Wyard, taxi driver, was given a fine of $500 and costs by Judge J. W. Kehoe on a charge of violating the prohibition act, says the Ketchikan Chronicle.

Wyard was arrested by federal officers last night near the fire hall. When approached by the officers he smashed a bottle of whiskey across the fender of an automobile. The officers quickly "mopped up" enough of the wet goods to use for evidence, and took the accused before the commissioner this morning.

PLAIN SCOTCH.

Two Aberdonians who were visiting London for the first time discovered that there was no soap in their hotel bedroom, and one rang for the chambermaid.

"Ye might bring a wee bit o' sape," he suggested.

The girl, not understanding the request, simply gaped at him.

"Hasta, lassie," he grunted testily, "can ye no understand plain Scotch?"

The maid sighed with relief and shortly returned with two tumblers and a bottle.—Royal.
