PATTULLO IS HEARD IN LEGISLATURE

MARIE CHARLOTTE, "MAD EMPRESS," IS DEAD IN BELGIUM

Speaking of Timbering, Lands Minister Refers to Big Deal on Islands

Should be co-operation to revive depressed lumber market---compares volume of exportation---plenty of national parks

VICTORIA, January 19.—Continuing the debate in reply to the speech from the throne in the legislature on Tuesday, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, called attention to the depression in the market as far as lumber was concerned. He said that it was a buyers' market in which the advantages were with the buyers rather than the lumbermen. He urged co-operation in selling.

British Columbia, the minister said, contained about twenty-five per cent of the coniferous timber of the world and seventy-five per cent of the world's structural timber was derived from the coniferous species which belonged in the most part to the northern portion of the world. In United States, the cut of timber was six times the annual growth while, in British Columbia, it was twice the annual growth. The best reforestation results were not obtained in the planting of trees but in their protection from fire he said.

LITTLE GUS IS GETTING BUSY

MEMBER SUGGESTS IN LEGISLATURE THAT CANADA SHOULD DO SHARE IN IMPERIAL DEFENCE

WOULD REDUCE TAXATION

VICTORIA, Jan. 19.—A resolution urging the Canadian government to shoulder its fair share in naval defence of the Empire will be introduced in the Legislature this session by Major Gus Lyons, Conservative member for Victoria. In making the announcement, in the course of the debate in reply to the Throne speech, Major Lyons said that he felt it was a shame for Canada to have to listen to such an address on Imperial affairs as had been delivered last week by Premier Bruce of Australia.

"The time is ripe for this province to take a stand on the matter," declared Major Lyons. "If we are going to be as big a people as we think, we should take the initiative in pressing upon Ottawa to assume the proper share of Imperial defence."

Major Lyons, in the course of his address, also spoke on what he termed "needed reforms in the matter of taxation." He was afraid that the government thought too much of trying to get taxes out of the people. The time had arrived, he thought, for a reduction in the income tax.

TO AID FATHER DUNCAN'S FLOCK

KETCHIKAN MINISTER FORMS COMPANY TO HANDLE ANNETTE ISLAND INDUSTRIES

SEATTLE, Jan. 19.—Henry R. Sanborn, minister of St. John's Episcopal Church at Ketchikan, returning from here to Ketchikan, announced the organization of a company to handle industries on Annette Island, the Fort Simpson Indian Colony founded 39 years ago by Father Duncan.

The Indians will receive 49 per cent of the profits. Rev. Sanborn is president of the company and has 51 per cent of the stock. A three line cannery, box factory, sawmill and boat building plant will be put in active operation soon.

Rev. Sanborn said that "since the death of Father Duncan, in 1914, the Indians have been getting about one per cent of the profits."

ALASKA PACKERS PAYING DIVIDEND

Two Dollars a Share Will be Distributed For Quarter—Similar Allotment to Insurance Fund

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—The Alaska Packers' Association announces the payments of regular quarterly dividends of two dollars per share and a similar payment on insurance fund. The dividend is effective February 10.

Defending the policy of the government, Mr. Pattullo said that the Conservatives allowed the export, while they were in power, of more than twice the amount of timber in the raw state than the present government did. The minister defended the policy of his department in the recent sale of timber for pulp purposes on the Queen Charlotte Islands. He explained that the area, which had been opened for a long time, was such that no mill could go in and use it on the ground as there was no power to permit of operations. It would require 25 miles to reach power. Had there been the opportunity of having a company go in and erect a mill, Mr. Pattullo assured the legislature, the Powell River would never have got it. The company was to extend the capacity of its plant as a result of getting this supply of timber. It was supplying paper in the form of newsprint in the province at the same price for which it was supplied in Eastern Canada.

On the subject of the extension of the park system of the province, Mr. Pattullo said that he did not hold out much hope for extension. Everywhere in British Columbia there was scenery which could not be excelled. In addition, there had been a liberal distribution of parks provided in the country. Concluding, the minister took the ground that the country, on the whole, was in a prosperous condition.

California Has Plague of House Mice Which Destroy Foods, Clothing and Grain

BERKELEY, California, January 19.—Kern County is alive with mice and, according to Raymond Hall, assistant director of the University of California museum, it is the strangest occurrence of its kind in the history of the United States. The pests are not field mice but house mice which makes the invasion all the more strange he says. Their breeding place is the bed of the reclaimed Buena Vista Lake, now a vast grain field. The roads and highways are carpeted with the tiny pests and they swarm into houses and barns, destroying in their path, foodstuffs, clothing, bad coverings and grain. Hall estimates that one pair of mice is responsible for the birth of more than sixteen thousand in a year's time.

REWARDED FOR HIS BRAVERY

WELL KNOWN LOCAL FISHERMAN RECEIVES MEDAL FROM SPANISH SOCIETY

Reward for signal bravery displayed on January 4, 1922, came last night to Hilmar Mork, well known local halibut fisherman, in the form of a bronze medal with diploma from the Spanish life saving society through the Norwegian consul general at Montreal. The presentation was made by John Dybbavn, local Norwegian vice-consul, at the annual meeting of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

On the date mentioned, Mr. Mork was a member of the crew of the Norwegian freight steamer Randsfjord, which was anchored off the city of Gandia in the Gulf of Valencia on the coast of Spain when a terrific storm came up and a Spanish fishing vessel, Manuela Garcezar, ran for the harbor, capsized, eight members of the crew being thrown into the sea. Mr. Mork was one of the crew from the steamer sent out in a lifeboat to attempt the rescue of the drowning men. Swimming around in the turbulent waters for several hours, Mr. Mork was successful in saving all but one of the fishing vessel's distressed crew.

For his bravery he has been already rewarded by the Norwegian government in addition to this token of gratitude just received from Spain.

Excessive Freight Rates Give Advantage to Foreign Product Witness Tells Ottawa Hearing

OTTAWA, January 19.—When the freight rates hearing was resumed yesterday, T. H. Dean, representative of the Steel Company of Canada, Hamilton, stated that the rate from Hamilton to Vancouver was 55c per hundred pounds. The company's chief competitor was a Belgian concern which, beside having a rate of 20.4c to Vancouver, had to pay 35c per hundred duty and 10c insurance and wharfage costs, making the rate laid down at the Pacific coast practically identical. The Belgian competitors, Mr. Dean said, took the greater part of the business on account of lower original cost.

Only when some special line was needed or expeditious delivery necessary half of the steel business in Canada being unable to compete successfully with United States and Belgian mills, he said.

WILLIAM DUFF WINS CONTEST

CAPTURED ANTI-GONISH-GUYSBORO SEAT YESTERDAY WITH MAJORITY OF 1132 OVER CONSERVATIVE

ANTIGONISH, N.S., Jan. 19.—William Duff, Liberal member for Queen's-Lunenberg for nine years prior to his defeat in the September election by W. G. Ernst, returns to the House of Commons at Ottawa as member for Antigonish-Guysboro as a result of his victory with a majority of 1132 over the Conservative candidate, Neil R. McArthur, in the by-election held here yesterday to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. J. C. Douglas, Conservative member. It was one of the most energetic campaigns ever waged in the province, the Liberals being successful in their effort to regain a seat which has been almost traditionally in the Grit column until C. F. McIsaac was defeated by the late Mr. Douglas last September. Among the former members of the riding have been W. Chisholm, J. Sinclair, C. F. McIsaac and Hon. E. M. MacDonald. Duff received 6339 votes and McArthur 5131. There is a missing poll not counted in the detailed totals but it gave Duff a majority of 27, making the final majority 1132.

End Comes for Royal Woman Who Has Been Insane Sixty Years

BRUSSELS, January 19.—Marie Charlotte, widow of the Emperor Maximilian of Mexico, died this morning at the age of 85 years. She was suffering from pneumonia and it was realized a few days ago that, owing to her advanced age, she could not recover.

The life of the "mad Empress" Charlotte was filled both with romance and pathos. For more than half a century, after she fell in a faint at the feet of Napoleon III. at the court of St. Cloud when he refused the aid of France for her husband, she was considered by many to have been insane but whether she was really mentally unbalanced has remained a mystery to all that time.

While she lived in the utmost simplicity at her little Belgian chateau, her fortune grew throughout the half century until it was estimated to have amounted from 60,000,000 to 100,000,000 francs.

Charlotte was the daughter of Leopold I. of Belgium, the sister of Leopold II. and the wife of Maximilian, archduke of Austria, who was shot at Queretaro, June 19, 1867 at the end of his ill-starred Mexican adventure. She was born at Laeken, Belgium, in 1840 and baptized "Marie Charlotte Amelie Augustine Victoire Leopoldine." Her mother was Princess Louise of Orleans, the daughter of Louis Philippe, King of the French. Charlotte was an aunt of King Albert of the Belgians.

BATTERED AND WORN AFTER 81-DAY PACIFIC OCEAN CROSSING, SAILING SCHOONER REACHES ASTORIA

ALL ON BOARD WELL
Was Many Times in Grave Danger of Being Dashed on Rocky B.C. Coast—Manned Lifeboats

ASTORIA, Oregon, January 19.—Battered and worn after an eighty-one day trip across the Pacific, the sailing schooner Oregon Fir was towed into port last evening. Her crew of fourteen, including the wife of Capt. F. G. Neilson and a lady passenger, although having suffered extreme hardships, was in good health.

The vessel left Shanghai on October 28 and ran into a succession of gales. After having been reported by the steamer Prince Charles on January 4, the ship managed to catch a fair wind and worked her way home under such remnants of such sails as were left. At one time, the crew stood by and provisioned the life boats for three days and nights as the fight was waged to keep the vessel off the rocky British Columbia coast, the ship being within three hundred yards of the rocks at one time.

DAILY EDITION. Wednesday, Jan. 19, 1927

REPLY TO THRONE SPEECH AT VICTORIA.

There is as usual a lot of beating the air at Victoria in connection with the reply to the Speech from the Throne. So far, however, complaint cannot be made at anything that has been taken up or said by either side of the House. Campaign funds have been featured but the topic is an important one and the public will suffer some discussion and expense on that account. It is difficult, however, to see where anything much is to be gained by talking about such things but they are interesting. There can certainly be no political advantage on either side by discussion of them for there is no disputing the fact that both sides get them and use them, too, and both parties have, doubtless, been involved in more or less shady transactions along that line.

The reply debate can still go on for a while yet and be of benefit in producing wise criticism. When it gets to that stage of being nothing more than a political mud-slinging party then it will be time to stop. So far, it can hardly be said to have presented such an aspect although of course both sides will always try to make as much capital as they can. The Opposition has had the preponderance of the debate so far. Now the people will be awaiting to hear from the government.

PLAY NEED AS SCHOOL ANTIDOTE.

Four to six hours of vigorous play activity each day are a necessary antidote for the bad effects of school on the child's development, according to Jay B. Nash, associate professor of physical education at New York University, in a recent talk under the auspices of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, on the topic, "After-School Play for Boys and Girls."

"Try as you will, and as the best educators are trying, the school is a great strain on the physical and the mental life of the child. It is a strain as it is at present organized but it should not be and will not be as we learn more about the child and the matter of education. The curse of the school is the long hours of inactivity—the bad seating, the poor ventilation, the artificial lighting and the artificial heating."

Play activity in the open offsets the effect of long hours of sitting with its marked result and decreased appetite; it offsets bad ventilation which tends to decrease respiration; it offsets the effect of bad seating conditions with their tendency to slow up physical development; and finally, it offsets the many conditions of mental strain with their tendency to delinquency and to the cutting off of development of power, according to Professor Nash.

"Playing jacks, marbles, the piano, or sewing, cannot be classed as vigorous play," said the speaker. "There should be plenty of running, skipping, chasing, dodging, and climbing. Unless streets can be closed, children should not be allowed to play in the street. Vigorous team games, such as baseball, basketball, soccer and tag games of all kinds fulfill the child's physical needs. Skating and coasting are also good types. Where there is a little space about the house, a basketball standard can be put in the back yard or there might be room in the back yard for a bar or a pair of rings. A work-bench in the garage or the basement will give the boy an opportunity to make many of the things in which he is interested, such as bows and arrows, coasters, basketball standards, etc."

"All of the play life of the child needs leadership, if the best results are to be obtained," Professor Nash concluded.

STIRRING LIBERAL VICTORY YESTERDAY.

The wave of Liberalism that is sweeping over Canada was again manifested in the stirring victory yesterday of William Duff in Antigonish-Guysboro county, Nova Scotia. Not only have the Liberals regained a seat which was lost to the Conservatives in the general election in September but the party will benefit in having the virile Duff, who suffered reverse in Queens-Lunenburg, his own riding, in September, back again in the House of Commons. He is one of the most powerful of the Liberal forces in the maritimes and the party throughout the Dominion will rejoice at his victory which is the more remarkable on account of the fact that he left home to win it. It might be noted that, however, the seat he has brought back into the Liberal column is traditionally Liberal, having returned a candidate of that party even in the election of 1917 when conservatism was the issue.

With the Antigonish election now over, interest in the federal field will next centre in North Huron (Ontario) the Progressive member of which, J. W. King, died at the end of last week. There was no Liberal candidate for this seat at the September election, King winning in a straight fight over a Conservative. It is to be supposed that, in the by-election for this seat now made necessary, the Liberals and Progressives will again combine.

Rapid Development of United Farmers of Alberta Recounted in President's Annual Address

EDMONTON, January 19.—(By Canadian Press).—The rapid development of the United Farmers of Alberta Association, the problems confronted at its inception and the remarkable and successful efforts in co-operative organization were dealt with by President H. W. Wood, in his annual address at the United Farmers of Alberta convention here yesterday.

"We have come to realize that as individuals we can no longer meet our responsibilities in either the political or industrial field, and farmers today cannot turn back to the death and decay of individualism; they must go forward to the fuller life," Mr. Wood declared.

From a small membership, when organized eighteen years ago, the United Farmers of Alberta Association has developed into a strong organization, active in the industrial and political life of the province, "trying," Mr. Wood emphasized, "to contribute to a true civilization, which when perfect, will be a living thing, not one that lives, reproduces and dies. Its life will be eternal, and in it human well-being will be established."

Mr. Wood described the United Farmers of Alberta political movement and the Alberta Wheat Pool as the two greatest products of the organization.

CITIZENSHIP EFFORT

"Each of these institutions represents an organized co-operative citizenship effort. The object of the political movement is to use our united citizenship strength in our own way, for the purpose of bettering our own condition and that of society in general in the political field. The object of the wheat pool is to use our united citizenship for the purpose of bettering our own industrial conditions, and those of industry in general."

Outlining the development of the farmers' movement in Alberta, Mr. Wood said:

"The organization of farmers is not an end within itself. It is simply a systematic getting together to build the machinery necessary to carry on co-operative activities in the development of capacity for doing things. Our records will show some heroic efforts to deal directly with some of the biggest industrial and political questions by arbitrary adjustments. But along with this we also began to lay our foundations for constructive work. We have kept the United Farmers of Alberta fairly vigorous and healthy, with results up to the present time that are encouraging."

The United Farmers of Alberta was organized in 1909, Mr. Wood said, when, through unsuccessful efforts to organize, agricultural conditions were growing worse, and many of the Alberta farmers saw that, as individuals, they could not hope to keep up with organized, marching industrial forces. It was organized to help, and the farmers organized with an initial membership of 2,147.

OUTSTANDING SUCCESS

The outstanding success in the realm of co-operative effort, starting in a small way when various local groups began to buy some of their necessities co-operatively, was stressed by Mr. Wood.

"These small beginnings grew and expanded," said Mr. Wood. The farmers found they could make more progress in establishing right relationship of prices of all commodities by developing selling strength than they could by developing buying strength. Out of this gradually grew the idea of the wheat pool.

"From a local buying a few pounds of gopher poison co-operatively to the three prairie provinces selling one hundred and ninety million bushels of wheat, is truly a real forward step in a constructive program. But it is only a step, a first real step of our infancy. As compared with the life of an individual man, our organization is young, and the wheat pool represents the progress we have made in the industrial field, but our efforts have not been confined to that field alone."

The entry of the United Farmers of Alberta into the political field, "when we saw a political system at work that was giving very unsatisfactory results," was dealt with at length by the president.

Realizing the importance of reform in the political field, said Mr. Wood, the United Farmers of Alberta in 1919, decided that direct political action could no longer be delayed, the old system was repudiated and a new one established.

POLITICAL STRENGTH

Mr. Wood spoke of the early criticism of farm organizations entering politics.

"Many predictions of evil were made concerning it, but these predictions, so far, have not been fulfilled, and its strength—the U.F.A. political movement—has been demonstrated."

The farmers' political organization has lived seven years and has passed through both a provincial and federal election successfully.

The farmers are acting collectively in both political and industrial fields, and, declared Mr. Wood, the character of opposition met in both is the same. "In the co-operative marketing of our products we are opposed by those who hope to profit by the buying and selling of our products, and in the political field we are opposed by those who hope to profit personally by the use of our franchise."

"The opposition of these two forces we cannot hope to escape. All along the way we will have to consider this, and be ready to overcome it. This we can hope to do only by keeping on the basis of right principles, in obedience to natural social laws—a scientific process—and carrying on our constructive program in a practical methodical way."

PREMIER MINE CLUB CHOOSES NEW OFFICERS

S. F. MACDONALD IS PRESIDENT OF ACTIVE BODY AT NORTHERN MINING CAMP

PREMIER, Jan. 19.—The annual meeting of the Premier Mines Community Club was held in the Community Hall last Monday evening and the following officers elected for the year: President—S. F. Macdonald. First Vice-President—A. D. Cogan. Second Vice-President—F. G. Elder. Secretary-Treasurer—S. H. Altow. Chairman, Entertainment Committee—W. J. Asseltine. Chairman, Hall Committee—P. A. Lepage. Chairman, Sports Committee—David Bath. Library Committee—W. H. Watson and P. Hughes.

The club has had a very successful year, the membership having increased to over 200 and being instrumental in promoting many entertainments which were greatly appreciated. The latest pictures are now being shown twice a week and the library and reading room are being enlarged. A great deal of interest is being taken in the interdepartmental basketball league which has always provided keenly contested games. Tennis and badminton tournaments were arranged during the past season and all other sports encouraged. With an energetic committee in charge, the outlook for 1927 seems very promising.

TIMBERING IS VERY ACTIVE

LARGE ORDERS FOR LUMBER, ETC., WILL KEEP TERRACE OPERATORS BUSY THIS WINTER

TERRACE, Jan. 19.—Indications point to a busy winter and spring here in the timber industries and prospects are brighter than for some time past. The local mill has now on hand an order for a large quantity of 40 foot spruce boom sticks to be used in rafting pulpwood in the east. An order has also been received for between a quarter and half a million feet of cedar culvert timbers to go to Obed, Alta., for construction work on the C.N.R., and another large order for hemlock switch ties for the Canadian National has been accepted. As a result of these orders not only the local mill and camps are working to full capacity but all the smaller mills in the district are assisting in the filling of the orders. George Little, the local mill man, left on Monday for Edmonton district where he will purchase a car load of horses to be used here in the logging business. The pole contractors are also looking forward to more prosperous times, weather conditions being much more favorable than last winter.

POLE CAMPS ACTIVE In the Remo camps great activity is being manifested and the work of getting out to the river bank last year's as well as this year's cut is being pushed while the sleighing is in such ideal condition. Owing to lack of snow last winter a good part of the summer's cut had to be left in the woods. These poles will later be rafted across the river for loading, or if heavy frost continues may be brought over on the ice.

ALICE ARM

Good grade of ore disclosed in tunnel work that has been carried on indicates that the Silver core property, situated on the northeast fork of the Kitsault River about 6 1/2 miles from the town of Alice Arm, may become a big mine. Development operations will be enlarged in the spring and a good deal more tunneling will be carried out.

Skating and hockey playing is now on in real earnest here, the cold weather having provided a fine sheet of ice. During the past week there have been three games between Alice Arm and the Timber Wolves from F. L. Housley's logging camp. Alice Arm won the three games. Beside the logging camp team, two hockey teams have been formed in town—the Tigers and the Wildcats.

Charles Wilson, who left for Vancouver last summer, has returned to Alice Arm and intends to spend some time here.

Al Falconer left last week for Vancouver and will spend a month there on business.

H. Butler has returned from Saskatchewan where he spent the Christmas and New Year holidays with his parents.

A bountiful ice harvest is now being taken here, hotel keepers and others being busy putting up a supply for the cooling of edibles and drinks during the hot weather season.

William Stephen has returned here from Prince Rupert where another son was born to himself and Mrs. Stephen on January 5.

BRINGING UP FATHER

DUNWELL MILL TO OPEN SOON

TWO PIECES OF MACHINERY NOW COMING WILL ENABLE OPERATIONS TO START IN FEBRUARY

Residents of the district are awaiting with interest the commencement of milling operations at the Dunwell, says the Portland Canal News. There is a large amount of Dunwell stock held here, but it is not the shareholders alone who wish to see the production of concentrates under way. The Dunwell, being in the most advanced stage of any property in the Bear River section, is naturally more prominently in the public eye than any other, and its success will mean much to all properties of this section. Latest advices are that the mill is all ready for operation except for the installation of ball mill and generator. The ball mill will arrive on the Amur early next week, and the Crawford Transfer Co. have made special arrangements for its delivery at the Dunwell in the quickest possible time. The roads are in perfect condition for heavy freighting. The generator has left Peterboro and should arrive here within a week or ten days. With no unforeseen occurrences to delay the installation of this machinery, the whole plant should be ready for tuning up within three weeks, and possibly by the first of February. Meanwhile mining operations are steadily going forward and the latest report from the mine, on good though unofficial authority, is that the winze, sunk from the No. 4 level, is down 100 feet all in ore, and that drifts are being run both ways on the vein. When it is considered that this gives a depth on the vein of close to 1,000 feet, the question as to production of sufficient tonnage to keep the mill in operation at its capacity of 100 tons daily seems to be easily solved.

Statistics for the year 1926 as announced by J. P. Scarlett, mining recorder, showed 371 miners certificates issued, 18 company certificates, 422 mineral claims recorded, 1012 certificates of work recorded, 257 hills of sale, 75 certificates of improvements, 2 abandonments and 90 fillings in Portland Canal district during the twelvemonth.

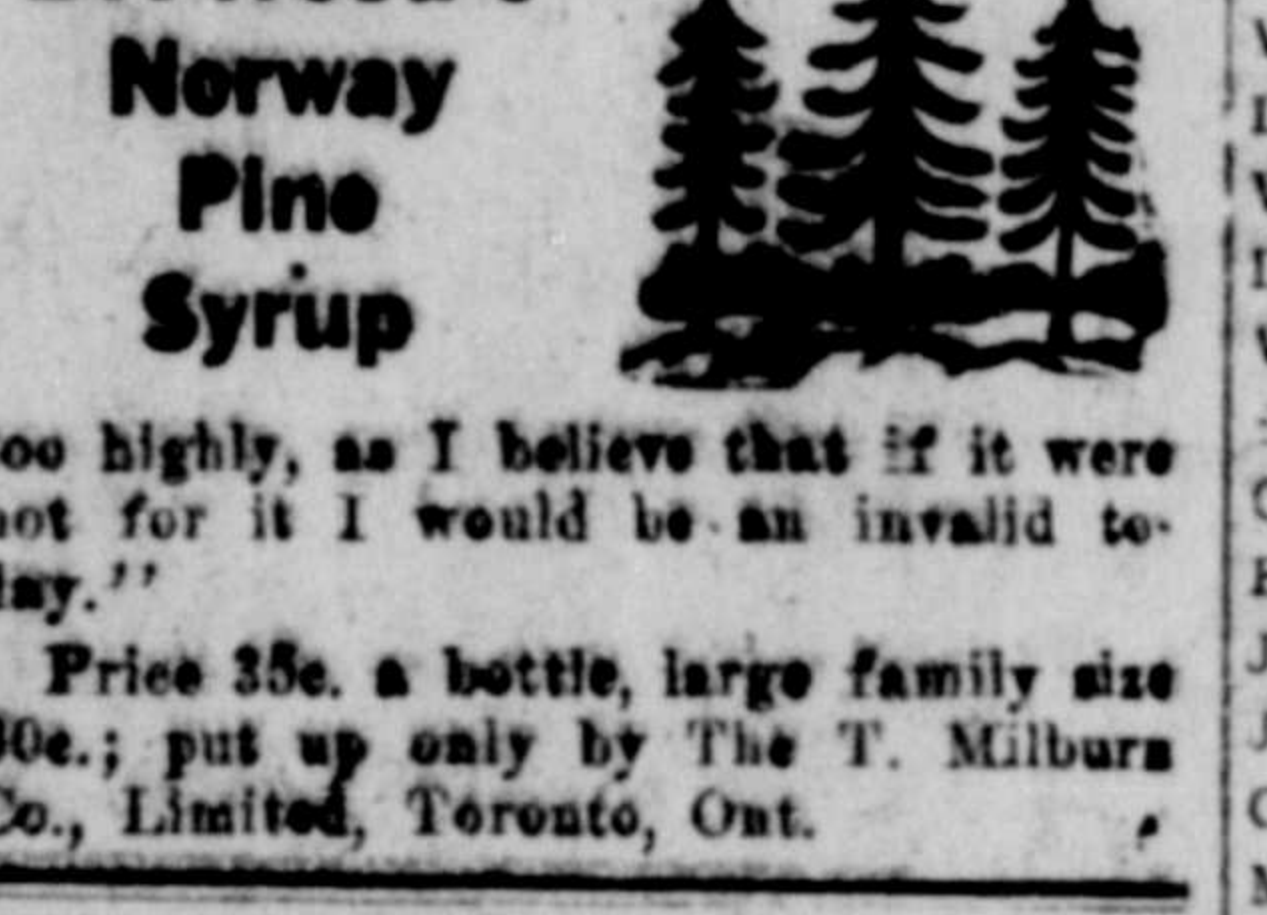

STEWART

Gerald Stewart has instituted an action in the Supreme Court against F. R. and Gladys D. Jancowski to have a bill of sale embracing an eighth interest in the Prosperity group of claims set aside and also for an accounting by defendants in connection with the sale of said interest. The Premier Gold Mining Co. recently acquired 52 per cent interest in the Prosperity group with a large initial cash payment.

Jock Cameron had a narrow escape from injuries if not death last week when he was completely buried with ore, only his hands showing of the surface, when the ore caved in from a

GOT HER FEET WET CAUGHT BAD COLD

Mrs. Ernest Hall, Cardinal, Ont., writes:—Last winter I got my feet wet and I caught a terrible cold. I took different kinds of medicine, but none did me any good and I seemed to be getting worse all the time. One day I was reading about what your medicine had done for others, so I thought I would get a bottle. After I had taken a few doses I found it was helping me, so I took a few bottles and was completely restored to health. I cannot praise

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup too highly, as I believe that if it were not for it I would be an invalid today. Price 35c. a bottle, large family size 60c.; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In 1926 there were thirteen births, nine deaths and four marriages according to figures announced at the local government offices.

The Grand Terminals continued their winning streak by defeating the Gyro team last night at billiards by a score of 968 to 824. The majority of the games were very evenly contested and some of the players were able to improve their averages although no change was made in the positions of the teams, the Terminals still occupying first place.

The majority of the games were very evenly contested and some of the players were able to improve their averages although no change was made in the positions of the teams, the Terminals still occupying first place. SPORT CHAT

Basketball got away to a good start last week at Anyox when three games were played at the Beach gym, and from the interest shown by the spectators and the character of basketball displayed by the players in all these fixtures, the hoop game would appear to be in for a season of favor. For the El Dorado Cup the Mine Intermediates and B. High School team clashed, the students winning over their opponents, 30 to 26, in a good game to watch. The Mine girls again demonstrated better combination and team work in their argument with the Freshies, who will have to take the game more seriously if they wish to be in the running for the Ever Ready trophy and get a chance at the Silverware representing the championship of Northern B.C. The surprise of the evening materialized in connection with the main event, the Senior League fixture between the Concentrator and Mine teams. It was thought generally that the newly-formed Mine team, comprised of players experienced in basketball, with the pick of an exceptionally good intermediate team, would have no trouble with the B-S representatives, who proved that they could concentrate on something else beside "muck" for a little while. With four well-balanced teams in this league, the chase for the Simmin's Cup promises to be a merry one.

New "female sportspingmen" as they are sometimes called are cropping up again, although for a while there was an absence of lady magnates, and lady trainers, and lady managers. Just now there are three in the public eye. There is Mrs. James Dunn, principal owner of the Cleveland ball club, and Miss Margaret Donahue of Chicago, who was recently elected secretary of the Chicago club of the National League, and Mrs. Florence E. Knapp, secretary of State of New York, who suddenly has been placed in charge through some political changing of plans of the racing and boxing commissions, which many say will be abolished in the near future. It is not likely that the last named lady will remain in sporting power long, for her time of office has expired and a new Secretary of State of the opposing party will shortly be appointed and will probably be a man.

That rugby is the greatest money-maker in amateur sport was once more shown by the recent issue of the financial report of Yale University. It only dealt with the twelve months ending June 30 of last year and this did not include the receipts of the big games played last autumn, but even at that, it showed that a net income was gained by football during that period amounting to $986,699.73, but there was so much money lost in promoting other branches of sport that this amount was reduced by half. All this remainder and more was eaten up by administrative expenses and salaries of coaches and others, and if it had not been for a surplus during the previous year the athletic society would have been in debt. Ice hockey, it seems, also produced a surplus but very little else. In Canada both hockey and rugby usually are moneymakers. Lacrosse used to be and so were skating rinks. Then skating went out of fashion somewhat but it is now picking up again and once more lucrative to the promoters. Basketball has seldom made money because in Canada there are few places large enough to accommodate paying crowds.

PAPER GIVES HEALTH HINTS

HIG EASTERN PUBLICATION TELLS ITS EMPLOYEES HOW TO KEEP WELL AT THIS TIME OF YEAR

The following communication was placed in the pay envelope of each employee of a large Eastern newspaper recently at the direction of the publisher.

Last year about this time there were, at periods, two and three persons off in each department on account of colds and attending complications.

This not only caused discomfort, suffering and expense to those individually affected, but lowered the efficiency of The Journal as an organization, and threw a great burden on those who remained in the departments in keeping up the work during the absence of those suffering illness.

I know that all this can be prevented this year by just a little care and precaution on the part of each of us individuals and at no expense.

WINDOW OPEN
Sleep with a window at least part way open. Don't keep your living quarters too warm—65 to 70 degrees is enough.

If your occupation is confining, why, walk a part way to or from work and breathe deeply.

Drink plenty of water—a glass an hour.

Drink two or three glasses of water right out of the tap on getting up and then take some bending and standing up exercises.

Keep your bowels open!
Remember: Elimination is as important as nutrition.

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD
Eat whole wheat bread. Balance meat and other concentrated foods with rough vegetables.

Eat plenty of raw vegetables and fruits—apples and onions if you like them.

The bowels should move at least three times a day—get rid of the waste of one meal right after the other.

Remember that fruit and vegetables are better than pills.

A dose of castor oil will often save a bed-ridden illness and frequently an operation.

If you get a cold, don't go in crowds. Keep on the hungry side of your appetite.

KITCHEN AND DINING ROOM
Your appetite is the kitchen of the human system, the upper intestine is the dining room and the lower intestine is the garbage bucket.

You know what happens at home if the garbage bucket is not emptied.

When people are sick they cannot think—they can only feel, and most of this feeling consists in getting angry.

The Well-Managed Home

THE manager of a household is the purchasing agent for a large proportion of the family needs. In order to do a good job she must know what, when and where to buy. She must study goods and the concerns which make goods and have them to sell. She must put her home on a business basis and run it on business principles in order to make the most of the family income.

Information is the only basis for intelligent purchasing. And the right way to get the greatest amount of necessary information is to read the advertisements.

Advertisements tell you what is new and good in merchandise. They reveal improvements and inventions to make your home life easier, more comfortable and more convenient. They give you information about a thousand and one things that are useful.

Every manager of a household—every member of the household who shares the responsibility for the family's welfare—should make a habit of reading the ads.

Read the advertisements in order to buy wisely and as a girl was not only noted for her beauty but for her rare gifts, being possessed of quite remarkable artistic and literary talent. In her seventeenth year she married the archduke Maximilian of Hapsburg, a brother of the Emperor Francis Joseph and her early married life gave promise of much happiness.

Maximilian was then chief of the Austrian navy and soon afterward, as governor of Milan, took up his residence at the charming castle of Miramar near Trieste where the young couple for a time led an almost ideal existence. The archduke was a man of liberal views and attracted the Italian people to him but the bureaucracy managed to undo the good impression which he created. During the negotiations at Villafranca Napoleon III. offered to create the Kingdom of Venetia for the archduke but Francis Joseph refused.

A voyage to Brazil in 1860 shattered the archduke's health but later when the great "Mexican plot" to overthrow the republic and place a European prince on the throne was hatched Napoleon, Maximilian was approached. The city of Mexico had already fallen to the French troops. An assembly of nobles offered him the throne. After long hesitation Maximilian accepted and in May, 1864, he and his consort arrived at the city of Mexico.

The Empress' role in the subsequent history of the Mexican Empire and its complete collapse after Napoleon III abandoned it was large. The loss of Maximilian's initial popularity was largely due to measures which she is supposed to have inspired and when at last Maximilian, maddened by Napoleon's desertion and the impossibilities of meeting the enormous debts he had piled up, determined to abdicate it was she who persuaded him to cling to his throne. She agreed to go to Paris and Rome to plead his cause and in 1866 at the age of 26 she arrived in the French capital. Her mission was a complete failure. Napoleon III turned his back on the man whose throne he had raised. At Rome she had no better success and her reason seemed to be giving way under the strain.

BECAME UNSANE
After Maximilian had been captured, tried and shot, apparently her mental breakdown became complete and she was found one day wandering in the streets of Rome, babbling like a child. When taken charge of she was washing her hands in one of the street fountains. An appeal was made to the Tuilleries for assistance but it was refused. She retired to Miramar and subsequently was received at the Chateau de Laeken near Brussels by her brother. Here for more than 50 years she had dragged out a miserable, solitary existence. Very rarely she received a visit from a member of her family.

The fiction that she was still Empress of Mexico was continued by the widow of Maximilian and her little court of five persons and also by the Belgian royal family during all the time she remained a recluse at the Laeken chateau.

The question whether she really was insane has been a matter of much speculation. For a long time the Empress suffered from hallucinations of persecution but these gradually subsided and eventually disappeared. There have been many instances showing that her mind was clear. Many friends maintained that she feigned dementia through pride so that she could continue to act, talk and be treated still as an Empress. Her relatives never took any action to have her declared incompetent as the Belgian law requires in cases of violent insanity.

STARTLED ENTOURAGE
"The ex-empress some months ago started her entourage by showing indications of independence and sanity. She summoned Colonel Van Eekhoud, commander of the castle, and asked: "I am entirely free, am I not?" "Certainly, Your Majesty," replied the colonel.
The former empress indicated that that being the case she would go outside the boundaries of the extensive forests surrounding the chateau. In the course of her customary walk she requested the guard at the great iron gates leading to the main road to let her pass. He did so and for the first time in more than 50 years the former empress walked about 100 yards beyond the domain in which she had lived in such seclusion. The ladies in charge remained at a distance observing her. Charlotte returned with a pleased air and several times afterward repeated the experience but never going far on the road."

"Her chateau was situated several miles outside Brussels in a park of about 400 acres, which was surrounded by a high iron fence. In her latter years the members of her household kept up the imperial court, maintaining every form of respect and deference, much as though Charlotte were a reigning sovereign.
"The former empress continued her practice of rising about seven in the morning, and after making a careful toilet, went for a walk in the gardens or for a drive to the more remote parts of the domain. After dinner it was her custom to talk with members of her court or to listen to music of the piano or phonograph, both of which she was very fond. She treated everyone near her with lofty courtesy.
Never in the 50 years or more was Charlotte known to have mentioned her deposed and executed Emperor husband, Maximilian, and never in all that time was the word "death" spoken in her presence. She was never known to have spoken or written anything that settled definitely whether she was sane or insane or realized that she had lost her title.
Neither was it known whether she left a will.
When the Germans swept through Belgium at the beginning of the European war they left the asylum of the ex-empress unscathed by shot and shell, for the Austrian flag floated over the gateway of the grounds. Later, however, the Governor-General at Brussels was obliged to order the following notice placed at the entrance to the grounds to prevent annoyance of the Empress by the increasing number of trespassers curious to see her:
"This habitation, the property of the Belgian Crown, is occupied by Her Majesty of Mexico, Archduchess Maximilian of Austria, and sister-in-law of Emperor Francis Joseph.
"I instruct German soldiers passing here not to ring the bell and to leave the place intact."

BRIDE AND GROOM OF THIRTY-SEVEN YEARS ARE HONORED

Thirty-five old time friends assembled last night to pay a surprise visit on Mr. and Mrs. A. Halverson, Eighth Avenue East, who were celebrating the thirty-seventh anniversary of their marriage, and also Mrs. Halverson's birthday. Whist and dancing were indulged in and, before the festivities of the evening were brought to a close, occasion was taken to present an electric percolator to the bride and bridegroom of such long standing. There was a speech by Ald. Oscar Larsen and, all in all, it was an evening most well and enjoyably spent.
