HUDSON STRAITS TO BE EXAMINED GOVERNMENT SHIPS TO PLY TRADE AGREEMENT ROUTE

Hydroplanes and Navy May be Utilized for Survey of New Route

Federal minister of railways makes recommendation to government for intensive study relating to Bay railway

WINNIPEG, February 3.—The Manitoba Free Press carried the following Ottawa special yesterday:
"Intensive study of Hudson Straits in 1927 by a fleet of hydroplanes is being strongly recommended on the government by Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of railways. If his recommendation is accepted, the Royal Canadian Air Force, in co-operation with the Canadian navy, will carry out an extensive examination of the straits. The government departments concerned have prepared an estimate of $900,000 to cover the cost of such an examination which would be undertaken for the purpose of determining whether further work on the Hudson Bay Railway is warranted."

BELLA COOLA ASKS HIGHWAY

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT URGED TO GIVE DOWN COAST VALLEY
CONNECTION WITH CARL-
BOO ROAD

BELLA COOLA, Feb. 3.—At the annual meeting of the Bella Coola Farmers' Institute here it was decided that the Provincial Government should be urged to continue the Mackenzie highway to connect with the Cariboo highway. This, it was pointed out, would give the farmers a market for their products.

The Bella Coola Valley is noted for the good quality of its produce, especially potatoes, apples, rhubarb and practically all popular vegetables. The only reason no progress is being made is the lack of a market. If the road were extended it would mean not only a market but the influx of new settlers to this place and no doubt in a short time a good portion of the 20,000 acres of the fine agricultural land which at the present time lies vacant, would be put under a state of cultivation. In addition a large tract of land situated between Anaham Lake and Chilcotin comprising some 40,000 acres, would be available for settlement. This land is particularly adapted to sheep, cattle and horses, which are able to find their living the year around without feed from the ranch. It is hoped that the government will see the benefit of the road and work toward its completion.

Budget Criticized by Tories; Jones of Okanagan Sees in It Forecast of Election Shortly

VICTORIA, February 3.—"There must be an election coming," commented J. W. Jones, Conservative member for South Okanagan in the legislature yesterday in replying to Hon. J. D. McLean's budget speech announcing reductions in provincial taxation.

Mr. Jones was the only speaker in the budget debate and Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, whose policy toward irrigation districts he criticized, will reply today. Mr. Jones contended that the Liberal government had doubled several taxes and invented other new ones during its ten years of office, the first signs of reductions coming only in 1924. He also criticized the statement of the minister of finance in regard to provincial assets and charged lack of constructive genius on the part of the government in having to hand the Pacific Great Eastern Railway over to a group of Vancouver business men to tell them what to do with it. Although the minister of finance claimed increases in revenue, Mr. Jones said the government had not used those

H. Despard Twigg, Conservative, Victoria, moved his amendment to the resolution of Premier Oliver on better terms. He urged that a federal Royal Commission investigate British Columbia's case as had been done in the Maritime provinces.

The debate was adjourned by H. G. Perry, Liberal, Fort George.

Log Carrying Barge Drumrock Total Loss After Stranding at Takush Harbor Down Coast

VICTORIA, February 3.—The big log carrying barge Drumrock, driven ashore in Takush Harbor, Smith's Inlet, while carrying a million or more feet of logs in tow of the tug Cape Scott, has broken up and will be a total loss according to word received by the Pacific Salvage Co. The tugs Cape Scott and Pacific Monarch were standing by the Drumrock but could not save her from destruction. The Salvage King was rushing to the scene but was too late. It is expected that most of the logs will be saved.

The Drumrock, formerly a British sailing ship, was acquired about three years ago by the Hecate Straits Towing Co. and converted into a log carrier. She has been in Prince Rupert harbor and has loaded logs at Alice Arm and Queen Charlotte Island points. Latterly she belonged to the Pacific (Coyle) Navigation Co. which absorbed the Hecate Straits towing company and other towing concerns.

The Drumrock, of steel construction, was built as a sailing ship by Ramage & Ferguson at Leith, Scotland, in 1895. She was originally named the Drumrock but, changing ownership, was renamed the Persimmon. Then she came into German hands and was again renamed the Helwig-Vinnen. She was interned off the coast of Chile during the war and about three years ago was acquired by the Hecate Strait Towing Co. and converted into a barge, reverting to her original name of Drumrock.

The vessel was of 3,100 tons gross, 329 feet long, 45 feet wide and 25 feet 7 inches draft. She is valued at about $100,000 and is understood to have been at least partially covered by insurance.

GRAND OLD WHITE HEADED LEADER.

Premier John Oliver is an honest man. That statement of fact imparts no new information to the people of British Columbia, but it has been re-impressed upon them by the dishonest action of the members of the Conservative opposition in the provincial parliament during the last ten days, says the North Vancouver Review.

While the walls of the House echoed and re-echoed to "my honor" and "honorable men" until the public feels like a small boy with an overdose of pink-centred chocolate creams, the staunch, white-topped figure of the premier has stood like a monument facing a howling mob, demanding fairness, honesty, calm consideration and, most important of all in the eyes of those who make the present Victoria meeting possible, a cessation of that rank atmosphere of hypocrisy pervading the House since the Conservatives lately discovered campaign funds had been secured from the brewers by the Liberals as well as by themselves.

Some have been unkind enough to say the opposition is angry to find the source of supply for its war-chest has been invaded all along by others, but most know the opposition can afford to be angry at nothing and finds itself on the offensive, if the recent attack on the government can properly be lent the dignity of the term employed, only by reason of its extended period of non-responsibility to the electorate.

NO FINER SPEECH EVER MADE IN HOUSE.

No finer speech was ever made in the British Columbia Legislature than was made by Premier Oliver last Monday no sword swallower in a travelling carnival ever downed his pointed weapon in better fashion than was the opposition forced to eat its words by the first minister of the province.

"Don't insinuate, don't back-bite, don't deal in generalities," the premier said in effect when speaking of the Conservative move to force a campaign fund investigation.

What could be fairer than the premier's request that if the Conservatives are sincere in their demand for an investigation of political campaign funds they should make charges against the government, any member of the House or any government official?

If such charges are made, the premier asserted, an investigation will follow immediately.

That the opposition had been dishonest with the public and with itself was proved when no charges were made in reply to the premier's challenge, and there have since been no indications that such charges will be made.

Hours before the premier turned aside the onslaught of the members at the speaker's left, it was apparent to every thinking man that the opposition was not sincere.

NO REASON FOR MINISTRY'S DOWNFALL.

There is no good reason why passage of a motion to investigate campaign funds should in itself cause the downfall of the ministry. Yet that is precisely what the motion as framed by the Conservatives as an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, which had been in progress for two weeks, would have done had it passed instead of going down to defeat.

Had the opposition been sincere it would have waited until after the conclusion of the debate and then have moved for the investigation and not for a vote of want of confidence in the government.

Premier Oliver is not given to word wastage. He intimated that an investigation may yet come and that it may surprise "my friends opposite."

His friends opposite have been served with surprise enough; they need but little more.

HUMORIST ON ELECTION TIE

ALDERMANIC SITUATION HERE SUBJECT OF SALLIES OF P. W. LUCE IN VANCOUVER PROVINCE

P. W. Luce, who writes the column known as "The Odd Angle" in the Vancouver Province takes the aldermanic tie here as the subject for the following screed:

A recount of the ballots cast in the recent election at Prince Rupert shows that James Black and P. H. Linsey polled a tie in the aldermanic contest. As a result, a by-election is to be held to decide which of these gentlemen is to enjoy the dignities and emoluments of aldermanship.

This is most regrettable. It shows a lamentable lack of originality and imagination that ill-befits a port with such a hectic history as Kaien Island. The popularity of Messrs. Black and Linsey is so very evenly divided that the tie vote is quite likely to be repeated at the by-election, and the council will be no nearer getting full than is the case at this moment. The vacant chair will still be there, and the whole year may be spent in a series of contests with Mr. Black representing the irresistible force and Mr. Linsey the immovable obstacle.

It would be far better to let these two doughty opponents share the one seat. The council should give them an extra large desk and a chair made to measure, establish a few common sense rules for the Siamese twins aldermen, and then proceed with the first order of business.

It is true that this two-in-one scheme has never been tried, but that is one of the points in its favor. Two heads are better than one, especially where aldermen are concerned, even when they are of the rare variety known as "hard-headed." The word "alderman" as every schoolboy knows, is derived from "alder," which is one of the softest woods in this province, though there are some authorities who claim it has some connection with "elder," a tree which is even softer than alder and, furthermore, exceedingly hollow.

NO CAUSE FOR JEALOUSY

So that there would be no just cause for jealousy in the matter of precedence the mayor could stress the combination alderman as Alderman Black-Linsey and Alderman Linsey-Black alternately. The city clerk could keep a careful check of the mode of address on the margin of the minute book and warn the mayor in a loud whisper if he should happen to play favorites in the heat of controversy.

It would never do, of course, to give the double-headed alderman any undue advantage over his fellows. If the Black section chose to make a speech the Linsey part would have to maintain a solemn silence. Otherwise there might arise the embarrassing situation of Alderman Black-Linsey favoring a license for umbrellas and Alderman Linsey-Black clamoring for a bonus for more rain.

The logical thing, therefore, would be to establish a rule that whenever Black spoke to a motion Linsey should cast the vote, and vice-versa. Naturally this would tend to cut down the speeches of the tied aldermen very appreciably when their views did not happen to coincide. While this would be hard on them, the excellent example set the other city fathers would be of great benefit to Prince Rupert as a whole.

ONE HALF OF DOUBLE-HEADER

If by chance only one-half of the double-header combination showed up at a council meeting, then Demi-Alderman Black (or Linsey) could talk but not vote, or vote but not talk, depending on the ruling of the chair, subject, of course, to the usual appeal to the majority.

There might be occasions, presumably, when the Siamese twins aldermen would find themselves involved in minor difficulties and would have to go into conference with themselves in the back alley to decide certain points too technical for the city clerk to rule upon. Such incidents would add a spice of gaiety to the council meetings which they sorely lack at present, and would in no way detract from the amenities of public life after a while.

The city charter does not permit the paying of a double indemnity for a double service, unfortunately. Prince Rupert aldermen do not get as big a salary as they would like and this, divided between two, is scarcely worth carrying to the savings bank. Messrs. Black and Linsey might, if they wished, split the cheque, but, as they are good sports, they would most likely shake dice for the lot. Provided, of course, that shaking dice is not illegal in the good city of Prince Rupert.

UNANSWERED QUESTION

By the end of the year, working this arm-in-arm for the good of the community, the tied aldermen would get to know each other very well indeed. They might even fall in love with each other, though this seems unlikely, judging by the way they have been glaring at each other since the tie vote was announced. Whatever their feelings, it is more than probable that the voters would have watched their work so closely throughout the year that at the next election Messrs. Black and Linsey would discover a huge majority electing them—but whether electing them to return to the council, or to stay at home is a question which it is better to leave unanswered.

WE'VE WORN THAT KIND!

CANADA IMPORTS BRITAIN'S COAL

MUCH MORE WAS BROUGHT INTO DOMINION THAN WAS SENT OUT

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—Canada's total importation of coal during the calendar year of 1926 was 17,520,000 tons, and her total exportation was about 900,000 tons. Of the total of imports 17,120,000 tons came from the United States, and the remaining 400,000 tons from Great Britain, Germany and the Netherlands. The Dominion's production for 1926 was 16,105,000 tons, showing that Canada produces about one-half of her coal requirement.

The total amount of coal available for consumption in the Dominion during 1926, according to the latest compilation of the Bureau of Statistics, was 32,725,000 tons, divided as follows: Soft coal, 24,960,000 tons; hard coal, 4,020,000 tons; lignite, 3,344,000 tons, and sub-bituminous coal, 401,000 tons.

Coal imports into Canada last year from the United States consisted of 13,000,000 tons of soft coal, and 4,120,000 tons of hard, Ontario's part of the imports for last year were estimated at about 12,000,000 tons of hard and soft coal, and Quebec's total at about 3,000,000 tons of all grades of hard and soft coal.

Ontario imported 9,880,000 tons of soft coal from the United States and Quebec brought in 1,700,000 tons of that variety. Ontario imported 2,100,000 tons of hard coal from the United States, and Quebec, 1,000,000 tons, and Quebec brought in, in addition, 250,000 tons of soft coal from Great Britain, the Netherlands and Germany. While most of the totals given above respecting Ontario imports relate only to central or older Ontario, there was a certain amount brought in at the head of the lakes, which bring Ontario's aggregate importation up to the 12,000,000 mark.

Final production figures for the year 1926 are now available. The 16,105,000 tons produced in Canada are distributed as follows: Nova Scotia, 9,810,000 tons; Alberta, 6,117,000 tons; British Columbia, 2,634,000 tons; Saskatchewan, 376,000 tons; New Brunswick, 168,000 tons.

"Impossible!"
they Said

Fourteen months ago, many declared it was improbable that home music would ever be improved to the point of absolute realism.

—then came the new Orthophonic Victrola, throwing a bombshell into the musical world.
Music critics were among the first to acclaim the invention as the musical sensation of the present day.

For the first time, this newcomer revealed tones, instrumental effects and nuances which had never been revealed before by any home musical instrument. Such performances are made possible only by virtue of the Victor-controlled principle of "matched impedance" or smooth flow of sound at all registers.

Today you can have the new Orthophonic
Victrola with an electrically driven turntable, run from your lighting circuit. Thus you may sit back at your ease and enjoy without physical exertion any selection of the large and varied Victor repertoire.

The new Orthophonic Victrola is made in various models, from $430 down to $115, obtainable on convenient payments from any "His Master's Voice" dealer.

AERIAL MAPPING IS DEVELOPING

FIFTY THOUSAND SQUARE MILES THIS COVERED LAST YEAR—SERVICE OF GREAT IMPORTANCE TO PROSPECTORS

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 3.—(By Canadian Press.)—How Canada's aerial surveys have grown from 50 square miles a year to 50,000 square miles a year in the short space of five years, was related at the Dominion Land Surveyors' Convention today by W. A. Fletcher, D.L.S., who presented the report of the aerial Topographic Surveys Committee.

"Just five years ago," he said, "one of your members, A. M. Narraway, now chief aerial surveys engineer, photographed for experimental purposes some fifty square miles of unmapped territory in Northern Saskatchewan. This, the first flight of a surveyor over such territory, marks the beginning of aerial surveys in Canada." Year by year the experiments were extended until during the past year approximately 50,000 square miles were covered by useful aerial photographs. Mr. Fletcher characterized it as "a record which demonstrates clearly the adaptability of Canada's surveyor and the investment which this country has in his years of training and experience in all parts of the country and on all classes of surveying and mapping."

Tribute was paid to the splendid co-operation of the Royal Canadian Air Force. It is to the credit of this force, Mr. Fletcher said, that not a single casualty has occurred during these five years in connection with the photographic operations.

MEASURING USEFULNESS
The usefulness of aerial surveys is to be measured in terms of the utility of the photographs themselves and of the maps produced from them in the development of Canada. That the aerial photograph is of great value as a permanent record of the terrain is emphasized, Mr. Fletcher said, by the number of requests received from widely different sources for photographs of the same area and the various uses to which they may be put.

Aerial surveys, Mr. Fletcher said, are intimately connected with the development of the mining industry. The publication of the Red Lake map, within a few months of the first discovery, and of subsequent maps of adjoining country, has opened up thousands of square miles to intensive prospecting. The prospector is enabled to carefully and thoroughly cover the country rather than to grope blindly through a maze of unknown waterways. The report of the Committee indicated just how wide the field for mapping from aerial photographs has grown. It is not being confined to mining districts but has taken in many other areas, land photographs over an area of 1900 square miles north of Edmonton, Alberta, last season; aerial photographs were also used in mapping the rough and hilly districts west of Calgary and in the vicinity of the Turner Valley oil field in Alberta; 800 square miles were photographed in Central Saskatchewan to aid in the production of the Battleford sectional map. One of the recent developments is the use of the aerial method for detailed mapping proposed power developments.

AREAS COVERED
The committee reports that maps in print so far cover The Pas, Manitoba, mineral area, the Red Lake district of Ontario, the Reindeer Lake area of Saskatchewan and the Minaki tourist region lying partly in Ontario and partly in Manitoba. Eight of these maps are in the course of preparation. In addition during the past summer the Air Force were able to make available for the first time plans and photographic equipment for use in western Quebec and these planes were successful in obtaining detailed vertical photographs of some 5,650 square miles of territory in the Rouyn field. This represents the largest operation of detailed aerial surveys ever undertaken in Canada.

CANADIAN RADIO FIGURES GIVEN

Congestion in Air Is Felt Keenly in the Dominion

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—It is estimated that in Canada there are about 300,000 radio sets in the Dominion which would indicate, assuming that at least three persons are served by each set, that between 900,000 and 1,000,000 Canadians listen to radio-cast programs, according to a report to the Department of Commerce from Trade Commissioner Meekins at Ottawa.

Between April 1 and November 30, 1926, the radio branch of the Canadian Department of Marine and Fisheries issued 146,186 licenses to owners of radio receiving sets. This total represents an increase of 11,700 in comparison with the number of licenses during the corresponding eight months of 1925 when the total was 134,486. Canadian manufacturers of radio apparatus are said to be anticipating a domestic consumption of their products of about 1,000,000 sets within the next few years.

It is said in Canada, however, that the popularity of the radio will be affected adversely unless arrangements can be made to prevent interference caused by several stations on the same wavelength. Eastern Canada now has only four exclusive wavelengths, and western Canada only two. With 48 radiocasting stations in the Dominion it is appar-

LACK SPIRIT OF INTERNATIONALISM

MONTREAL, Feb. 3.—(By Canadian Press.)—People who criticize the use of text books published in foreign countries in Canadian schools, lack something of the spirit of internationalism. This is the opinion that Professor Carrie Derick, M.A., of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education expressed before the Notre Dame deGrace Women's Club.

"We should not have text books except they are made in Canada, is what I am told continually," stated Professor Derick. "What are you going to do about that history, The World's Progress? I am asked by others. I have replied to persons who speak in this way that if they will prepare a history even better or quite as good as this American volume, which is not anti-British, I would be very glad to see if it can be adopted for use in Canadian schools. The important thing is this, should we give our children less than the best, if the best is not made in Canada? There should be in intellectual circles, the spirit of internationalism."

PRESENTATION MADE TO HOWARD WHITE ON EVE OF LEAVING DRY DOCK

On Monday night, the eve of the taking effect of his resignation from the dry dock staff on which he had been accounting for several years, Howard White was the recipient of a reading lamp and two easy chairs, a presentation to mark the esteem in which he was held by the officials and employees of the yard. The presentation was made in the general office by G. A. McMillan, superintendent of the dry dock, who referred to the popularity and efficiency of Mr. White, voiced the general regret that he was leaving and bespoke for him success and prosperity in his future undertakings. Mr. White responded suitably.

COMPLIMENT IS PAID BOYS' BAND

BANDMASTER MILLER OF GIZEH TEMPLE PREDICTS IT WILL BECOME ONE BEST ORGANIZATIONS OF ITS KIND

The following letter, paying high compliment to the proficiency of the local Boys' Band, has been received lately by Thomas Wilson, bandmaster, from T. W. C. Hawkins, president of Gizeh Temple Shrine Band, Victoria:

"It was our pleasure last summer to hear your very excellent organization perform and we were astounded at the proficiency which the boys exhibited in their rendition of the numbers and the program arranged. Immediately upon our return we intended to write giving our frank criticism such as you would ask for but pressure of affairs here caused the matter to be pushed aside.

"In answer to direct question our Bandmaster Miller made the following comments on your band and we are pleased to transmit them to you:

"Mr. Miller says that never in all his experience has he heard a boys' band of the size of your organization in which every member handled his instrument so well and where the instruments were played so well in tune. He predicts that under your guidance and leadership this will become one of the premier boys' bands of this continent.

"In view of the experience that Mr. Miller has had in conducting bands—he has been for some years the bandmaster of the 16th Canadian Scottish Regimental Band, bandmaster of Gizeh Temple Shrine Band and last year was unanimously chosen to conduct the Victoria Municipal Concert Band and is considered by all as being the outstanding conductor for this part of the country—his comments should carry considerable weight.

"On behalf of the Gizeh Temple Shrine Band I wish to mention the favorable and enthusiastic comments that were made by our members about your band and I wish to express our best wishes for your future success."

MOOSE OFFICERS INSTALLED WITH PUBLIC CEREMONY

A pleasant evening was spent last night in the Moose Hall, the occasion being the public installation of the officers of the Moose Lodge for the ensuing year. In addition to the installation, a social time was spent, followed by dancing.

The following officers were installed by B. M. Simpson for the ensuing year: Past Dictator—B. J. Bacon. Dictator—Gillis Royer. Vice-Dictator—Sam Haudenschield. Prelate—J. Judge. Secretary—P. Cameron. Treasurer—Thor Johnson. Trustee—Fred Scadden. Sergeant-at-Arms—Alois Chnesorg. Inner Guard—C. Biggart. Outer Guard—Louis Astoria.

The evening was brightened with several selections from a string orchestra composed of J. Bond, B. Blackhall, Len Bond, H. Gathorn and H. Odlin, while Clifford Cameron, W. Derry, D. Ross, G. Brochu and F. Cameron composed another orchestra.

SPORT CHAT

The forthcoming series of basketball games with Ketchikan on Monday and Tuesday is tending to stimulate interest in the game locally. In addition to the team which will travel here for the series of games, Ketchikan has also sent its High School team to Seattle for a series of ten games in and around that city. In the absence of any ice skating during the winter months, this indoor sport should be very popular with coast cities. Inter-city matches also help to foster that interest which might sometimes lag if local teams only were pitted against each other for the entire season. The All Stars had a good practice on Tuesday night against a picked team and will again meet a selected team on Friday night. They are quite confident of their ability to take the measure of the visitors although it is difficult to secure much information as to the latter's strength.

At a meeting of the Prince Rupert Basketball Association last night it was decided to play an all star intermediate game as a preliminary to the main event with Ketchikan on Monday night and, on Tuesday, to play an all star junior game and a game between two picked girls' teams before the main event.

After the games on Monday, a dance will be held in the Boston Hall to entertain the visitors. After the games on Tuesday will be given a supper along with the Rupert team and members of the association. The Ketchikan team will arrive on Monday.

The recent readjustment of players in the Billiard League bids fair to even up the contest therein, thus winning a larger share of public interest. The loss of Pete O'Donnell from the Grand Terminal team, which has been so far beaten only three times—by the St. Andrew's (twice) and Gyros—is apparently going to make the players under Charlie Balagno extend themselves to retain first place which they have held since the season opened while the Moose, having acquired George McIlmoyle as their first player, may be expected, though now in the cellar, to make a serious bid for supremacy. Gyros, St. Andrew's and Grotto, with unchanged line-ups, also have good chances. There is plenty of time between now and the close of the season on March 11 for any of the five teams to capture first place. The remaining postponed games between the Moose and Grand Terminals will probably be played tonight and tomorrow evening. Gyros will meet in a regular league fixture.

CAROL HAVING HECTIC TIME

PHILANDERING ROMANIAN PRINCE ASKS PROTECTION FROM HIS FORMER LADY LOVE

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Former Crown Prince Carol, philandering exile from Roumania, again has appealed to the Paris police, and this time has asked protection from Madame Zizi Lambrino, his morganatic wife, and his small son Mircea. Enduring a year-long siege of police, Roumanians who would have him to Bucharest, and newspapermen, Carol became furious, when Mme. Lambrino and her son picketed his villa, and the boy, standing outside the barred gates, called, "Papa, papa."

The former royal heir to King Ferdinand's throne went immediately to the office of M. Bressot, one of the directors of the police, and asked for protection against further such incidents. He asked that Mme. Lambrino be deported. It was Carol's second call in recent weeks at the police offices. Previously when it was erroneously reported that he had left Paris, he sought the aid of police in keeping newspaper reporters away from his villa.

DEPORTATION IMPOSSIBLE

He was told by Bressot that deportation of Mme. Lambrino was impossible, but that she would be asked not to visit his villa in the future. Two detectives would be kept on duty there day and night, Carol was assured.

CANADA HAS NO REASON TO FEEL ASHAMED HERSELF

INSPIRATION FOR THIS PAINTING

UNDERGROUND RAILWAYS AS ART—RUSSIAN PAINTS NEW STYLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Shivering slumber in subways provided inspiration for a painting that has put the underground railways in art and brought recognition to the painter that used them as his boudoir.

The painter, who has immortalized the subway stations, where penniless sometimes sleep, is Anatol Shulkin, who came to New York from Russia as an immigrant in 1912, when he was 13 years old. The painting, under the title "Half Past Five," is one of a group of his canvases placed on exhibition at the Art Center Gallery as part of its January exhibit.

Struggling masses of humanity strive for entrance to a subway train, while burly guards "strong-arm" them into the doorways, in the interpretation of the rush hour painted by Shulkin. In the grotesque light of the tunnels, the crowds are caught at the moment when guards would be shouting "plenty of room up front!" although every car is packed.

The subway scene, Shulkin said, is not an attempt to put something new in art, but is a fancy born of his recollections of nights spent in the subway when, without money to pay for lodging, he slept in them. His lack of funds was due, he said, to the fact that his family would not aid him in his attempt to become an artist. It was intended that he should become an engineer, but when he refused to study that profession he was unwelcome at home.

He attended classes at the National Academy and made his way as best he could. At the age of 27, Shulkin's dream of an artistic career fructified with the present exhibit, his paintings being shown with those of such famous artists as Rodler, Anisfeld and Mestrovic.

TORONTO WOMEN SEARCH HEARTS

DANGER OF CHILDREN GOING TO SHOWS UNACCOMPANIED IS REAL ONE

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—(By Canadian Press).—There has been much searching of heart among mothers in the city over the tragedy of the tiny children, smothered and crushed to death in a moving picture theatre in Montreal. The danger of children being unaccompanied by adults is a very real one.

The Ontario regulation as to this reads:

"A child under the age of 15 years unaccompanied by an adult shall not be permitted to attend any exhibition by cinematograph, moving picture machine, or other similar apparatus, for admission to which a fee is charged, except on Saturday of each week and on public and legal holidays, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m., during which hours a matron, to be remunerated by the exhibitor, shall be engaged in such theatre, whose duty it shall be to supervise the conduct of such children and of adults toward them while in such theatre, the appointment of such matron to be sanctioned in such manner as the Treasurer of Ontario may direct; and the Treasurer of Ontario may at any theatre, in his discretion dispense with the attendance of a matron."

The Well-Managed Home

THE manager of a household is the purchasing agent for a large proportion of the family needs. In order to do a good job she must know what, when and where to buy. She must study goods and the concerns which make goods and have them to sell. She must put her home on a business basis and run it on business principles in order to make the most of the family income.

Information is the only basis for intelligent purchasing. And the right way to get the greatest amount of necessary information is to read the advertisements.

Advertisements tell you what is new and good in merchandise. They reveal improvements and inventions to make your home life easier, more comfortable and more convenient. They give you information about a thousand and one things that are useful.

Every manager of a household---every member of the household who shares the responsibility for the family's welfare---should make a habit of reading the ads.

The provincial court of revision completed its work yesterday afternoon when certain adjustments were allowed by John Dybhavn, judge, to the Granby Company. All other appeals heard by the board were of minor character and in several minor adjustments were made. PARIS HAVING WAVE OF CRIME

VIOLENT MURDERS AND OTHER OFFENCES GIVING DWARFISH POLICEMEN PLINY TO DEAL WITH

PARIS, Feb. 3.—The Paris police have had to deal, in the last few months, with an unusual number of crimes of violence. Burglaries, holdups and murders have occurred with striking frequency—not, of course, in numbers comparable to those of such offenses in Chicago and New York, but in sufficient numbers to cause concern over what in America would be known as a crime wave. The Bois de Boulogne, in good weather, is one of the favorite spheres of operation of thieves, who prey upon motorists and promenaders alike. A recent increase in the night staff of peace officers in the park appears to have had some effect.

Many books have been written in the last five years to show the causes of crime waves and to prescribe for their elimination. But the explanation and cure are simple neither in the case of American banditry nor Parisian violence. In neither country is there any great amount of unemployment or economic suffering, as there is in Great Britain, which is almost without crime. The apaches of Paris, about whom one has heard so much in the past, are, if not tamed, at least fairly well checked.

FOREIGNERS BLAMED

There are some who place part of the blame upon the foreign residents, who, especially since the war, have crowded into Paris as well as other French industrial cities. Among them are many natives of the French African colonies.

to whom civilized life is a novelty. Other critics contend that if Paris expects to reduce the crime within its walls it must grant a larger budget to its police department.

The Paris policeman, to one accustomed to seeing the police of New York or London, looks like a dwarf. He is often scarcely more than 5 feet tall, and frequently does not convey the impression of great physical strength. He is neatly dressed in his blue uniform with military cap and cape. He invariably salutes when addressed, and is nearly always extremely polite. When called upon to rebuke a chauffeur he does it usually in a dignified and not too noisy manner. If it develops upon him to interfere with the free movement of a citizen, he is as likely as not to begin by laying the situation lucidly before the culprit and appealing to his sense of fitness and reason. He hesitates to arrest a man guilty only of having drunk too freely, and if any action on his part is necessary he may try to limit it to advising the inebriated person to undertake a seemly journey in the direction of his home. And he does it in a tolerant and sympathetic manner.

CONCEPTION OF JUSTICE

The French policeman's conception of justice is sometimes a bit odd, though well meant. An American recently was badly beaten by three thieves and robbed of his purse and his watch. Two small but agile policemen arrived in time to catch two of the assailants. After taking the American to a hospital for slight medical attention they asked him to make a statement at the police station. Arrived there, the officer in charge said: "We've got those two men in separate cells. They treated you rather roughly, being three men against one. Why don't you go into their cells, taking them one at a time, and even the score?"

Small as he is in comparison with the American uniformed giants, the Paris policeman is capable of putting up a stubborn fight when the occasion calls for it. The records of the police department, showing 307 policemen wounded and several killed in the course of duty in less than a year, testify to that. The question now facing the municipal council is whether the policeman should not, if possible, be better rewarded and his work made easier by more adequate organization.

It has been pointed out, for example, that the squad charged with watching the night cafes and dance halls consists of only ten inspectors. And while the night life of Paris is not quite what some have represented it, it is sufficiently extensive and is in need of police surveillance. The total police force of Paris is about 12,000 men, whose salaries vary from $930 to $2,400 francs a year. Upon them are imposed a long list of duties unrelated or indirectly related to crime.
