WONDERFUL PROGRESS OF CANADA

AGENT GENERAL, LONDON, URGES WESTERN PEACE OUTLET

National Debt Reduced and the Country Prosperous so Government Will Proceed With Public Works

VANCOUVER, October 15.—The National debt of Canada has been decreased by $149,000,000 in the past five years and taxation has been reduced by an average of from twenty-seven to thirty million dollars in each of those years and further economies are regularly being made, Hon. J. C. Elliott, minister of public works, told the Laurier Club yesterday.

Heavy obligations, the minister said, were maturing this year and these had previously entailed some worry but the anxiety had been removed by a recent statement of Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of finance, that the government had the cash with which to meet them.

Vancouver's prosperity, the speaker said, was not exceptional. All Canada was enjoying the same. In view of this the government felt it was justified in proceeding with the somewhat delayed policy of public improvements, particularly in regard to public buildings. British Columbia need not think she would be penalized because she had failed to send Liberals to Ottawa. She would be accorded the same fair treatment as other parts of the country.

LUCKY SUTTON FEARED LOST

Has Been Missing Since Yesterday at Noon From Camp Near Hudson's Hope

SEARCH PARTIES OUT

Feared That Famous General May Have Fallen Into Raging Peace Torrent

EDMONTON, Alberta, Oct. 15.—Speculation is rife here as to whether Lucky Sutton, the famous general who recently came to British Columbia from China, is dead or whether his luck still remains with him in the wilds of the Peace River country. He has been missing from his camp near Hudson's Hope since yesterday noon and fears are expressed that he may not return. It is thought he may have slipped into the precipitous canyon of the Peace River which is a raging torrent at that point. Search parties are out looking for him.

General Sutton was visiting the Peace River country with a view to interesting capital in the Old Country to extend the P.G.E. into the district and thus provide a western outlet for wheat.

Manitoba voted for Rogers on the first ballot but was practically unanimous for Bennett on the second. Maritime provinces went for Bennett and Ontario and Quebec on the first ballot went for Guthrie and Cahon respectively but considerable numbers switched to Bennett on the second ballot.

He said he believed that through the Peace River British Columbia would eventually take its place as a wheat exporting province.

CHANGE IN CONSTITUTION

The essence of the constitutional declaration made by the Imperial Conference last November is contained in the statement that the parliaments of the Dominions are no longer subordinate to the authority of the Parliament of Great Britain, says the Manitoba Free Press. In the article by Sir John Marriott, referred to yesterday, this definition of equality among the parliaments was represented as a revolutionary and sinister innovation. That the change is radical and profound cannot be gainsaid; and it is understandable that to those who have held firmly to the belief that the Dominions should either be provinces in a centralized empire, or subordinate to the authority of the British Parliament, it should wear the sinister significance which Sir John attaches to it.

The acceptance by the people of the various British nations of this new relationship brings into being an association of nations in which every nation possesses, potentially or actually, all the powers which any other nation in the association has, and in which no nation is subject to control either by any other nation or by the majority opinion of these nations in conference. There are those who try to escape the necessity of appraising the consequences of this declaration by holding that it is a mere form of words, having no relation to actuality. But a study of the finding of the Balfour Committee shows a practical application of the principle thus set forth with respect to a number of important matters. Some of these may be profitably considered.

EACH COUNTRY INDEPENDENT

It was formerly the rule in any international gathering in which the various British nations were represented, for the King to issue "unrestricted full powers" covering the whole Empire to the plenipotentiary nominated by the British Government, while plenipotentiaries appointed by the Dominions were given only "restricted full powers" in respect only to the particular country which they directly represented. By reason of this the British plenipotentiary signed for the whole Empire; and to protect the Dominions it was necessary to include in the treaty a provision exempting the Dominions unless they formally gave their consent. This procedure no longer exists. Hereafter, all full powers issued by the King will correspond to the jurisdiction of the government recommending the appointment. Thus the British representative will have full powers only for Great Britain; the Canadian plenipotentiary will have full powers only for Canada; and so forth. Hereafter, in an international convention no plenipotentiary appointed by the government of one British country can, by his signature, bind any other British country.

The same principle applies in the change of title in the case of the British Government. It was formerly entitled "His Majesty's Government" and it spoke for all His Majesty's Dominions. There is no longer within the British Commonwealth any government which is entitled to call itself simply His Majesty's Government. There are instead, His Majesty's Government in Great Britain; His Majesty's Government in Canada; together with Governments for each of the other nations.

SUPREMACY LOST IN MOMENT

The British Parliament supreme over all the possession of the King; suddenly, almost in the twinkling of an eye, it becomes the Parliament only of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. How could this happen in the absence of resolution or legislation authorizing this renunciation? There were in the Canadian Parliament last session eminent public men to the left of the speaker who wanted it distinctly understood that, in their opinion, Canada couldn't lose the blessed privilege of being subordinate and dependent by reason of any declaration of constitutional right such as that made at London last November.

These questioners find it hard to understand that these declarations constitute the recognition of a constitutional right which is bound to govern, in the future, the decision of government and the action of parliaments. The British Parliament, whatever its latent technical legal rights may be, will never hereafter by any act, assume that it has authority over this Dominion; and in Canada, no government, by whatever name it may be called, will ever do anything itself, or consent to anything being done elsewhere, which will put the Canadian Parliament back into a condition of subordination. The declarations of the Imperial Conference are now part of the immutable principles by which the British Commonwealth lives.

ONLY ONE MORE STEP

This change, profound and far reaching, creates new problems. One change called for by the necessities of the situation is that of domesticating, in Canada, the power and the machinery for amending the Canadian constitution. If the Parliament of Great Britain has ceased to have jurisdiction over Canada, is it not the height of absurdity that in this parliament alone should be vested the right to change our constitution at will?

Biological Board Undertakes Work With View to Studying Movements of Fish

(Issued by Biological Board of Canada) The salmon is perhaps the first fish to come to mind when mention is made of the fishes of British Columbia. The scarcity of this fish along our coasts this year has perhaps brought it even more vividly into the public eye, and we are reminded of the great part which it plays in the industry of our coast. The scarcity, and our inability to point to the exact causes, brings home to us how much we will have to learn concerning the habits and life history of the salmon, and emphasizes the necessity for even more intensive study of this problem.

We must obtain accurate knowledge of its migrations. We must be able to say where it travels, and how fast it travels. We must endeavor to obtain knowledge of the factors which affect its control and its movements, such as its search for food, the influence of ocean temperatures and currents, and of its natural enemies. When we are able to do this, we shall be able to prescribe methods of conservation and exploitation which will ensure a permanence of this fishing in the way that will be most profitable.

INVESTIGATIONS

Investigations which have been carried out so far, have furnished us with certain knowledge. We know that salmon appear at the mouths of fresh water streams along our coast, swim up to the head waters, lay their eggs and then die. The eggs hatch, the young fish stay in the lakes for a year as a rule before swimming down to the sea, where they become mature in from three to six years in the case of spring salmon. The questions which arise are these, where does the young salmon go after it leaves the river? and what does it feed upon? by what route does it return to its native stream? does it always follow the same route? does it mingle and associate with fish from other streams? and so on.

The work of answering some of these questions was placed in the hands of Dr. H. C. Williamson. In the years 1925 and 1926 Dr. Williamson worked on the spring and coho salmon. A report of his findings may be found in Vol. III, No. 9 of the Contributions to Canadian Biology and Fisheries, which may be obtained from the Biological Board at Ottawa.

TAGGING FISH

The problem of tracing the movements of a fish in the sea is a difficult one. Obviously one cannot follow the fish in its paths through the sea, and so some other method must be resorted to. This is done in the following manner: A salmon is caught on the feeding grounds at sea by means of a troll. While still alive the fish is weighed and measured. Next a thin strip of aluminum metal bearing a number is fastened to the fish's tail, after which it is placed back in the sea. A careful record is kept of the length and weight of the fish, and also of the time and place of tagging. A reward is offered for the return of this tag so that when a fisherman catches a tagged salmon he returns the tag to the central office together with information as to where the fish was caught and if possible its length and weight. Thus the investigator is able to tell where the fish has travelled and its increase in weight and length. By this means it is possible to find out something about the migrations.

MOVEMENTS SHOWN

In 1925, 1125 spring salmon were tagged off Ucluelet. Seventy of these were recaptured during 1925 and forty-four were recaptured in 1926. Of the fish tagged in 1926, seven were recaptured in the Ucluelet grounds which seems to indicate that these grounds are a favorite feeding spot of the spring salmon, for they had returned there after an interval of 15 months, and if seven fish had returned it is reasonable to suppose that a great many more fish there were not tagged at all also returned. It is possible, of course, that the fish had remained in that district the whole of the time, but even in this event, it would still show that the fish used these banks as a feeding ground.

Two salmon were recaptured on the Swiftnore Banks off the coast of Washington. The remainder, thirty-three in number, were distributed in two main regions: (1) The Straits of Juan de Fuca, and Straits of Georgia; and (2) the Columbia River.

COMMON FEEDING GROUNDS

In 1926, 1353 spring salmon were tagged, and up to June, 1927, 121 of these had been recaptured. Twenty-eight were captured in B.C. waters and 93 in the United States waters. Of the latter 61 were found in the Columbia River, one in the Nasel River, and thirty-one in Puget Sound. Only nine of the salmon were found in the Fraser River, which is a small return considering the size of the fishing on this stream. The Skagit and Swinomish Sloughs contributed 12.

From these experiments it will be seen that spring salmon from various rivers congregate on a common feeding ground. When the time for migration comes, they split up into groups and travel to their native streams. Thus it will be seen that fish which feed in Canadian waters do not all migrate to Canadian streams, but that a majority of them in this case are destined for the rivers of the United States.

Speculation as to how fast a salmon travels has always been of interest. The salmon is a very strong and vigorous fish and can undoubtedly swim with great speed, a fact which makes them very attractive to the sportsman. But when a salmon is making its way from the spawning grounds of the sea to the feeding grounds of the river, we cannot tell just how fast it swims, we can tell how long it takes to get from one place to another.

The migrations from the feeding grounds do not all take place at the same time of the year. Thus it was found that the fish begin to move towards the Fraser and Skagit Rivers from the Ucluelet grounds in May, and the migration from these grounds to the Columbia River begins in June.

Some salmon were captured within two weeks after tagging. One was caught at Kalama, Columbia River, seven days after it was tagged. The distance from Ucluelet is 265 miles, which gives a minimum average of 24 miles per day. In 1925, one of the springs tagged at Hippo, Queen Charlotte Islands, had reached the Columbia River, 680 miles distant, within 19 days. That gives a minimum average of 35 miles per day. It is of course quite possible that the spring salmon can and does travel at a higher rate of speed, but for confirmation of this and many other points much more work of this kind will have to be done.

PRESENTATION McINTOSH CUP

Interesting Event in Cathedral Hall Yesterday Afternoon Under Music Club

A most interesting event took place yesterday afternoon in the Cathedral Hall when Mrs. R. L. McIntosh, president of the Prince Rupert Music Club, presented to Jean McLean and Elsie Finlay, music students taking highest marks at the last Conservatory examination, the McIntosh Cup, each to hold it for six months and to have their names engraved thereon. Each of these girls took 85 per cent on the Toronto Conservatory examinations.

A great many of the music students and their parents were present as well as members of the Music Club.

In making the presentation Mrs. McIntosh spoke of the difficulty they had on this the first occasion the cup had been presented, because two students had an equal number of marks. The idea was for the cup to be held each year by the student making the highest number of marks. The name of the winner each year would be engraved on it.

Mrs. McIntosh spoke of the value of music and of the way, even in small communities, they sang and played. She cited examples of people who had succeeded and urged the students here to continue their studies.

Miss Way, whose students were the winners presented each with a leather music case and spoke of the value of co-operation of parents in connection with musical education. She urged that parents try to encourage their children and give them praise when they did well.

Prior to the presentation there was an interesting musical program and at the close ice cream and cake was served by members of the club. The program follows:

- Piano solo—"Sunshine and Showers," Irene Gavigan (Werner).
- Piano solo—Elsie Finlay.
- Paper—Mrs. Marentette.
- Piano solo—"Finlandia," Miss Lancaster (Sibelius).
- Presentation of prizes by Mrs. McIntosh and Miss Way.
- Piano solo—Jean McLean.
- Recitation—Adella Thurber.
- Piano solo—"Narcissus," Marie Balagno (Slater).
- Song—Mrs. Ernest Anderson.

GYRO HOEDOWN FINE SUCCESS

Substantial Sum Realized For Playground Fund at Event in Auditorium Last Evening

Upholding the reputation of such events in the past, the hoedown dance held last night by the Gyro Club in the Auditorium was a great success. All members of the service club worked energetically to put the event over and their efforts were amply rewarded. Some 35 persons were present and, when the final returns are known, it is expected that a substantial sum will have been realized to be placed in the club's trust fund for children's playgrounds.

The event was in progress from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. and for five hours the crowd fully sported itself in an informal manner, with rustic glee, to the strains of tuneless music rendered by the Westholme Orchestra, under the direction of Charlie Balagno, augmented by Miss Irene Morrison, Bobbie Greenfield, Kenny Rood and George Rorie Jr. Lionel Holtby was, as usual, an efficient master of ceremonies.

Many sideshows gave the event a carnival air and provided amusement and comfort for the patrons as well as proving profitable for the cause.

Charlie Mills, Bill Nelson and Norris Blott were completely in their element at the cider counter, while Bill Watt, Bill Tobey, Ed. Bayless, Lou Kergin, Eddie Mann, Joe Greer and Glen McMillan handled the hot dog crowds in effective manner. Charlie Starr, Howard White and Jimmy Farquhar pushed the ice cream sales to the limit. The raffles for aluminumware proved popular under the direction of Ralph Le Pine, Bob Robertson, Dave Balfour, Milt Gonzales and Joe Gosse.

Responsible for the effective decorating scheme were Norris Pringle, Claude Kirkendall and Norman Freeman, while Roy Nicholls, Alex Hunter and Frank Dibb had in hand the difficult but unappreciated work of publicity. Charlie Balagno and Howard White arranged for the music.

For the success of the event much credit goes to George R. Tite who was general chairman in charge. He will have the satisfaction of being able to report a complete success to his brother member.

Mort McLachlan was a hardboiled doorman while Bill Cruikshank and Leo Waugh demonstrated their aptitude at gathering in the shekels at the wicket.

Man in the Moon

THE greatest water power known to man is woman's tears.

THE Provincial Police here make it difficult for a bootlegger to make an honest living. What are we going to do about it?

THEY say the only thing lacking at the Tory convention in Winnipeg was Grits.

THE battle is over at Winnipeg but it is still going on at Nelson and when that battle is won and lost there will be plenty of other little battles to fight. The business manager of this paper says he has a continuous battle to make the business end pay the editorial expenses.

TEACHER—Surely you know what the word "mirror" means, Tommy. After you've washed, what do you look at to see if your face is clean?
Tommy—The towel, sir!

LAWYER—Was the man you found under the street car a total stranger? Witness (who had been told to be careful)—No, sir, his arm and leg were gone; he was only a partial stranger?

SAPLEIGH—Would you—advise me to—marry a beautiful girl or a sensible girl?
Hammersley—I'm afraid you'll never be able to marry either, old man.
Sapleigh—Why not?
Hammersley—Well, a beautiful girl could do better, and a sensible girl would know better.

DAUGHTER OF SIR J. FORBES-ROBERTSON ROLE OF PETER PAN

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The yearly problem of who is to take the role of Peter Pan in Sir James Barrie's famous play of that name has been solved for the coming season here, and Miss Jean Forbes-Robertson, daughter of Sir John Forbes-Robertson, the famous actor, is to be Peter Pan. She follows Nina Boucicault, Pauline Chase, Gladys Cooper, Dorothy Dickson, and other famous actresses who have played the part of "the only aviator who never had engine trouble."

Miss Forbes-Robertson, whom Sir James Barrie has known since she was very young, has been successful in other plays.

This year's performance will be Peter Pan's 23rd season. Refused at first by manager after manager, and described by the late Sir Herbert Tree as "all rubbish," the play has already made a fortune of over £50,000 for the author.

And it looks like going on forever. Clearly children, in spite of all that is said about them, have not changed much in the last 20 years.

AUTHOR ARRESTED FOR NOT PAYING ALIMONY TO WIFE

SEATTLE, Oct. 15.—Edward Curtis, internationally known authority on Indian lore and noted author and lecturer, was arrested here when he walked ashore from the steamship Alantida as it arrived from Nome. Mr. Curtis was accused by his divorced wife, Clara, with having been in contempt of court for seven years for his failure to pay alimony which is said to total $4500.

Mr. Curtis was released on a bond of $2,000 after he had been locked in jail for a few hours. She charged that her husband, who had been in the far north studying the Indians and Eskimos of Alaska, evaded the local courts since he left Seattle late in 1920.

KETCHIKAN MAKING CITY SAFE AGAINST HAZARD OF ELEMENTS

KETCHIKAN, Oct. 15.—As the result of recent fires an effort is being made to clean up the fire traps in this city and make the city more secure against the elements. Fire Chief Kubley and other members of the department have been out spotting fire hazards, inspecting the whole city in sections and ordering changes made by property owners and tenants.

Residents of the city are being asked to co-operate with the authorities in their efforts to make the city safe.

GREYHOUND RACING IS FINANCED BY BETTING

(Manchester Guardian)

It is interesting news that, on the initiative of the National Anti-Gambling League, proceedings are to be taken to test the legality of betting on greyhound racing. Some idea of the magnitude of this betting may be derived from the statement that the taxes upon it yield a sum of about £10,000 a week to the Treasury. In Australia the courts have already been invoked. In New South Wales a bookmaker has been fined £20, the magistrate holding that mechanical hare coursing was "not coursing within the meaning of the Act." A message from Melbourne says that the Government of Victoria is prepared to bring in a bill making the new sport illegal. The proposal seems unnecessarily drastic. The simple prohibition of betting would be sufficient, and it seems more probable. As it is organized in this country, greyhound racing could not live without betting.

SPORT CHAT

"Kid" Gleason is endeavoring to pull off a ten-round boxing contest in Prince George. He wants to match Bill Hudson of Giscome with Billy Hill of Victoria. The Victoria fighter has issued a challenge to Hudson and Gleason thinks there is a good chance of bringing them together in the interior town.

The basketball season was opened in Smithers on Tuesday night of this week. The C.G.I.T. defeated the High school 14 to 2 in the Junior girls' game while the Town ladies' team downed the Pirates 10 to 6. In the men's division, the Boku team, last year's champs, were beaten by the Church 28 to 24, while the C.N.R. won over the Town in the fourth game.

While United States representation in the 1928 Olympic Games to be held in Amsterdam has been cut about 100 from that of 1924, the nation will be entered in practically all the events. The only games the Americans will stay out of will be rifle, trap and revolver shooting and rugby. For the first time in history, American women will take a major part in the Olympics being entered in sprinting, jumping, discus throwing, relay racing, gymnastics and fencing.

LIVE WIRE ATHLETIC CLUB IS FORMED FOR WINTER SPORT NELSON

NELSON, Oct. 15.—Members of the Live Wire Baseball club, which earned a good name for itself in that line of sport in the summer have reorganized under the name Live Wire Athletic club.

Arrangements were completed for obtaining the use of the gymnasium room in the Kootenay Hotel, and first workouts in boxing were held. A few members failed to show up on account of various objections of their parents, and a special meeting has been called to discuss these objections. It is hoped so come to some satisfactory agreement with the parents in question, and, if they care to, they may attend the meeting and participate in the discussion.

The Live Wires are an independent group of boys, all under 19 years, banded together for the promotion of all kinds of sport. They handle all their affairs themselves, the executive being elected from and by the boys. The present officers of the club are: President, Cy Jackman; vice-president, Paul Hunden; secretary, Art Waters; and treasurer, Stanley Leno. Leul Hunden was captain of the baseball team.

Bait Shortage is Becoming Serious Question—Little Damage in Wednesday's Storm—Halibut Landings Heavy This Week

Unless an unforeseen and immediate source of bait supply becomes available, the Pacific coast halibut fleet may be faced with the necessity of having to tie up and quit operations nearly a month before the close season comes into effect on November 15, or else fish for their own bait. At practically all points on the coast, including Prince Rupert, vessels are already being held awaiting the arrival, with more or less faint hopes, of a supply from some quarter. It is a serious situation and one which, from present prospects, may reduce considerably the year's production to say nothing of loss in the earnings of the boats and men. Reports indicate that there is little if any bait left at any point on the coast. It was reported that there was a quantity at Kildonan cannery, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, but, as far as can be learned it is a small one. The Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., whose plant has now been cleaned out of everything in the nature of bait, even to sweepings and an old stock of kippers, is expecting ten tons to arrive today from Kildonan but this will do little to relieve the situation even at a limit of one ton a boat. There is also reported to be some bait left at Sitka, Alaska, but it is being given out only to boats that land their catches and outfit there. A few boats are reported to be making preparations in Alaskan ports to fish their own bait but, at this late date in the season, it is not supposed that many boats will resort to this practice.

The lesson this year will, doubtless, result in much more herring being put up for bait during the coming winter with the probability of an over supply. It will be better, of course, to be on the safe side so that another such eventuality as the present one may not arise. Many local halibut boats have returned to port during the past week from cannery packing charters. Among them have been the Gibson, Capt. Chris. Henriksen; W.T. Capt. Charlie Edwards; Livingstone, Capt. Tony Martin; M. M. Christopher, Capt. Alf. Jacobsen and Cape Beale, Capt. Edgar Arnett. Some of them plan making one or two halibut trips before the season closes.

IN NEW HOME

The B.C. Towing & Lighterage Co. has moved into its new and permanent home on the rebuilt western portion of the old Rupert Marine Ironworks dock. Paul Armour, local manager of the concern, has taken up his residence there.

The Salvage Princess landed a tow of 525,000 feet of logs from the J. R. Morgan camp at Rivers Bight for the Seal Cove Lumber Co.'s mill on Tuesday. Another million and a half feet are to be delivered.

The staff of the Prince Rupert Boat House has been busy this week installing a 25 h.p. Fairbanks-Morse engine in the company's gravel scow, replacing an old 35 h.p. Buffalo. A house will be built over the gadgets.

Powerboat "23" with Capt. Bob Thomas at the helm, made a trip to Galloway Rapids road camp on Thursday with supplies and men.

Axel Anderson, formerly owner and skipper of the local halibut boat Binger, has been given contracts to build two new trolling boats during the coming winter at the old marine ways at Seal Cove which he has rented from the government.

Last winter Anderson built the trawler Troy for Mike McFadden.

Edward Lipsett, head of the well known local ship chandlery concern bearing his name, is here for a two weeks' visit to his business. From the looks of Mr. Lipsett, his recent trip to Europe apparently agreed with him. He is looking fit as a fiddle and says he is feeling likewise. His many friends along the waterfront were glad to see him back again.

DOC'S DOUBLE

Should we have been walking down Broadway the day after the reputed fight between Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey we would surely have believed that our good old friend Doc Clapper-ton was up to a new stunt in the metropolis. Doc has received from a friend a picture clipped from a newspaper depicting how one man paid his bet on the fight by riding another down the main street in a wheelbarrow. The man in the wheelbarrow, where he would, of course, expect our warty Doc to be, is a perfect double of the blithe-voiced member of the local government wharf staff.

George Purvis Connelly, storeman at the Digby Island marine station, returned home today from a holiday trip to Vancouver. G. P.'s pals across the way have been wondering if the fact that he forgot his permit dampened (?) his vacation.

Jack Piant sustained minor injuries to his arm recently while operating the cement mixer near Port Edward where a beacon has been under construction.

To the most of hunting trips there usually hangs a tale and it is not always a deer's tail either as witness the recent expedition down the coast aboard the good ship Myfanwy of Tom Watt and John Wick. Said tale cost Tom and John, 'tis said, some fifteen rounds of ammunition and as well as some of their dignity and a few, only a few, of course, choice cuss words. They were poking along in search of the wily when, lo and behold, over a log was seen the head and horns of a four prong buck. "This looks like good shooting!" says Tom to John and both let fly. But that blinkin' buck took all they had to give him without even batting an eye. After sending a few more over, they began to mutually doubt their capacities as marksmen or else that deer had an iron hide. Besides, they felt that the animal must also be deaf, dumb and blind so they warily proceeded to investigate. Soon our brave heroes found that they had been made the butt of what is usually described as a practical joke. They had been peppering at a well propped head and horns of a long since killed carcass. This is to tell the perpetrator that his little joke worked well on two of the best of them.

DAMAGE AT YACHT CLUB

Two of the dolphins at the Yacht Club floats suffered rather severely in the big blow early Wednesday morning and it is perhaps due to the good offices of the caretaker, Shief Thompson, that pleasure boats were not strewn all over the harbor that fine day.
Rotted and toroed-eaten under water, it only needed the wind to break the tops off the old piles and then the floats started playing tag with one another. Further examination showed that some half a dozen or so of the piles had been so damaged and, at an emergent meeting of the directors of the Prince Rupert Rowing & Yacht Club Thursday night, it was decided to have the repairs proceeded with as soon as possible. John Currie & Son have been assigned to do the work.

Capt. Alfred Swanson brought a fine buck home from across the bay on Monday. It's a good thing some one got one over there. Surely enough have been trying. The meat didn't taste like bull beef either.

The fish packer Lincoln, owned by J. W. Moorehouse, chief engineer, and skippered by Capt. Joe Desmullies, arrived during the week from Massett and is moored at the dry dock. The vessel may go south, where fishing is still in progress, before tying up for the winter.

The forestry boat Alpine Fir was taken into the old McLean ways in Cow Bay on Tuesday to have some leaks repaired.
Capt. Arnold also has his gillnetter Silver Star there having some minor changes made before the little vessel proceeds down the coast to engage as tender to a lobster canoe near Swanson Bay. Later in the winter, McLean will rebuild this boat at his new Seal

FLOATS FILLING UP

With the salmon fishing season now over in all parts of the district, the government floats at Cow Bay are beginning to fill up again. During the past week a number of seineboats have returned. The most of the trollers, however, have yet to report to winter quarters. They should all be drifting in shortly.

Albert Freuborg's buoy, which marks the rock near the Lipsett wharf, went adrift in the big wind Wednesday morning and was recovered at the dry dock. Now it is back on the spot and the harbor is safe for navigation once more.

The same wind also caused the guard and cover boards to be torn off the local halibut boat Ingrid H., which was moored at the time at the Nelson Trading Co.'s wharf. Damage to the extent of about $50 is being repaired at the dry dock without delay.

After having been engaged in packing and other duties for the Massett Cannery during the summer, the Royal Fish Co.'s powerboat Delphinium arrived on Thursday afternoon from Massett Inlet. John Dybhavn, who spent ten days at the cannery, came back on the vessel.

A number of Indian boats have departed recently to engage in dogfish fishing off the coast of Vancouver Island.

RECOVERED CRANK SHAFT

A successful operation was conducted by the B.C. Towing & Lighterage Co. on Thursday when its diver went down off the wharf of the Nelson Trading Co. and recovered the crankshaft of the old engine from the Toodie which had been subsequently bought by Axel Anderson. The shaft had inadvertently gone overboard when the Toodie had a change of engines recently. James McRae, diver for the salvage company, went right to the spot and soon located the all-important piece of machinery.

Owing to the capstans having not been yet bolted down and a boom being in the way, the government wharf could not take the steamer Princess Alice on Wednesday as was expected. The Princess Beatrice, landing there today, is the first steamer to use the dock following recently extensive repairs thereto.

Hans Berquist was discharged on Tuesday from the Prince Rupert General Hospital where he was receiving treatment for an injured leg. Hans is now at the Knox Hotel, completing his recuperation from the effects of the accident at Kinaham Island fox farm where he fell over the wharf on a pitch-dark night recently.

Today marks the opening of the season for the shooting of ducks and geese in this district. Despite unfavorable weather conditions, many hunters are planning embarking on this first day for their favorite haunts. If some good bags are not brought home it will not be the hunters' fault.

H. Mok, formerly with Bill Sellg on the Onah and in the halibut fishing fleet for several years, has quit seafaring to engage in the no less perilous railway game. He will help Sir Henry Thornton bring the golden harvest of grain to Prince Rupert this winter.

INSIST ON B.C. PRODUCTS They Lead in Quality

With unfavorable weather general and a bait shortage imminent, there seems little chance now for halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert this year to catch up with last year's record before close season becomes effective on November 15, just a month hence. Landings for this season up to yesterday totalled 22,436,750 pounds as compared with a total of 23,154,300 pounds at a similar date in 1926. Heavy landings during the past week totalling 681,000 pounds—of which 691,500 of which 691,500 pounds was American and 159,600 pounds Canadian—helped to reduce the shortage from last year but it is considered unlikely that there will be another week as heavy. Of the total for the present season to date 16,449,350 pounds has been landed by American vessels and 5,987,400 pounds from Canadian. The Canadian catch is not far behind the total of 6,040,900 pounds last year at a similar date, the big decrease being in American fish which is down from 17,114,400 pounds. Owing to the heavy landings, prices have been comparatively low during the week, the best bid for American fish having been 16c and 6c which was paid the Eastern Point by the Atlin Fisheries on Friday for 4,000 pounds while the highest Canadian mark was 12.6c and 5c bid by the Atlin Fisheries on Thursday for the 2,000 pound catch of the Brant. Lowest bids were 10.8c and 5c on Wednesday for American fish and 10.1c and 5c on Thursday for Canadian.

CANNERY COMPANY IS WINNER OF ANOTHER ROUND IN ITS SUIT

VANCOUVER, Oct. 15.—The Somerville Cannery Company scored another point in its fight against control of the salmon canning industry by the federal department of fisheries, when W. E. Williams, counsel for the company, obtained an order from Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald, calling on the department to pay the costs of litigation in which the company has become involved with the department.

Successfully defending prosecution by the department on a charge of operating a cannery without a license, the company again won out when the matter came before Mr. Justice Macdonald on appeal from the decision of Magistrate Alexander in a stated case.

The department has announced its intention of carrying the matter to the supreme court of Canada now but in the meantime, by the order made, it must put up the costs so far of the litigation.

A. B. Macdonald, K.C., represented the department.

ONE OF LARGEST TROUT ON RECORD

EDMONTON, Oct. 15.—One of the largest fish in the trout species yet caught in Alberta, if not the largest of the kind ever caught anywhere else in the Dominion, was taken out of the waters of Lake Athabaska recently by A. A. Arason, a fisherman. The trout weighed 55 pounds, according to a report received by R. T. Rodd, inspector of Dominion fisheries. Between the opening of the season, on June 25, up to the end of August, 699,260 pounds of lake trout and 38,178 pounds of white fish were taken from Lake Athabaska by the commercial fishermen operating there. The season closed on September 30.

LABOR SESSION STIRRED ABOUT COURT ORDERS

Fires of Resentment Burning at Los Angeles Convention

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—Smouldering fires of the resentment of organized labor against a court injunction as applied to labor disputes broke out on the convention floor of the American Federation of Labor.

Leading champions of the working classes took the platform and gave voice to their sentiments against the new weapon of the equity court after the legal question had been brought up in a report of the resolutions committee.

The report declared that the court's action of enjoining the mandate transcends all other questions before American labor today and demanded the repeal or amendment of the Sherman anti-trust law or any other anti-trust law, and the substitution of legislation

CIGARETTE SMOKING FOR WOMEN IS NOT THOUGHT INJURIOUS

Contradiction Given to Recent Statement That Children Were Injured

MONTREAL, October 15.—(Canadian Press).—Sixty per cent of babies born to cigarette-smoking mothers most emphatically do not die, in spite of what was said at a recent medico-physical convention in the United States by a speaker. Such a statement is characterized by local obstetricians as anything from "greatly exaggerated" to "absolute nonsense."

Dr. W. W. Chipman, professor of obstetrics and gynaecology at McGill University and obstetrician-in-chief of the Royal Victoria Hospital, compared an expectant mother to an athlete in training, and said that she should exercise as much care for her physical condition as the person who is preparing for an athletic event.

"I don't think cigarette smoking to excess is good for expectant mothers, nor for nursing mothers. But to say that sixty per cent of the children born to mothers who smoke die is a ridiculous statement. Of course, a mother should not smoke to excess, and during pregnancy, I think it best that she should not smoke."

H. M. Little, McGill, said: "Utter, arrogant nonsense! I consider that if an expectant mother can smoke a cigarette 24 hours before the birth of her child, that is a sign that she is in good condition to bear a child successfully." His experience shows that nine-tenths of the young mothers of today are smokers.

HALIBUT BOATS AT KETCHIKAN WAITING FOR SUPPLY OF BAIT

Word received from Ketchikan is that more than a dozen halibut boats lined the waterfront and others were berthed at the various floats, all anxiously waiting to hear where herring bait might be had. But none has been located.

Other boats have cleared for the sea fisheries with whatever scraps they could secure in the hopes that they will be able to locate bait en route. It is impossible to estimate the amount of money lost to the fishermen by the lack of bait, but when it is realized that each trip of one of the larger halibut boats means several hundred dollars, the missing of a few trips means a considerable sum.
