As sponsor of this bill, I stated that the bonds would only be guaranteed in case the company was able to secure a lease from the Canadian National railways, the annual rental of which would pay the interest and sinking fund on the bonds. This, it will readily be seen, would be equivalent to the Canadian National railway building the line itself, and the effect carried no risk on the part of the provincial government.

SOVIET DISARMAMENT SCHEME

The disarmament scheme put forward by the Soviet government is not just now possible of acceptance. We have not got beyond the point where we are sure to quarrel at times and the recent movement in Russia against the British Empire which seemed to have reached the boiling point as a result of skillful dissemination of specious lies by the controlled press of that country, is an indication of how necessary an army and navy is just now.

The suggestion of disarmament like many of the suggestions of the Soviet Republic, is an ideal one and not at present practicable. It is revolutionary. The British idea of making changes is to bring them about gradually. By carrying on in that way no injustice is done anyone and the country is not brought into a condition of turmoil.

No citizen of the British Empire would like to see bloodshed in bringing about changes such as was shed in Russia. We are naturally a peaceable people but we are ready to fight when necessary. Within the British Empire are tribes that only a few years ago were cannibals and even today some of them cannot be classed as anything more than savages. Not all have made the progress that have the natives of this coast. With such people force is necessary. Even with more highly civilized countries, a certain amount of force is effective. It is too soon to do away with armaments, but it is not too soon to make a beginning in that direction with a view to finally reaching the goal.

LORD DEWAR'S EPIGRAMS

Lord Dewar is a bright speaker and some of his epigrams indicate genius. Here are some of them:

No man can tell what moths lived on before Adam and Eve wore clothes.

Man wants but little here below, generally a little more than he will ever get.

The man who does nothing does somebody.

The great misfortune to mankind is that only those out of office know how to solve great problems.

The pessimist always grumbles because there is not enough gloom to go around.

Sometimes a pessimist is the man who backed an optimist.

The optimist is certain of going to Heaven; the pessimist is certain he won't like it even if he gets there.

A motor car with one horn can toss a man farther than a bull with two horns.

In the poultry industry it is a diplomatic wife who makes her husband believe he is doing it all.

Today women display more backbone than men.

It is safest to tell your wife everything—but tell her before somebody else does, and tell her that which you are sure she will find out.

To work eight hours a day for thirty shilling a week is domestic service. To work sixteen hours a day for nothing and appear to be pleased is marriage.

Experience is what you get while you are looking for something else.

The one thing that hurts more than having to pay income tax is not having to pay income tax.

When the time comes for the meek to inherit the earth taxes will be so high they won't want it.

PONTIUS PILATE WAS GRAFTER DECLARES DAUGHTER OF BRYAN

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—A municipal scandal hushed up nineteen centuries ago was aired recently before 2,000 members of the Executives Club by Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan. Pontius Pilate, Roman governor of Palestine, she said, pocketed funds which he had been given to construct a water supply base in the hills near Jerusalem and was accused of graft. The records were seized and hidden near the water tanks and the charges of fraud were quashed but English engineers, she said, uncovered the records while they were searching for a water supply for the British army and found the tanks in 1918. Mrs. Owen, wife of Major Reginald Owen of the Royal Engineers, was in Cairo during war times.

SHAKESPEARE TODAY IS A VITAL FORCE SUITED TO MASSES

WINNIPEG, Dec. 1.—(By the Canadian Press)—Archibald D. Flower, chairman of the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, Stratford-on-Avon, was a visitor to Winnipeg recently from England. He friends spreading the gospel of Shakespeare as a vital force throughout the west. Born in the great playwright's native town, Mr. Flower believes that Shakespeare stands today as the greatest of entertainers and philosophers. His aim is to eradicate the idea that Shakespeare is for the classicists and not for the masses. He regarded the presentation of Shakespeare in modern costume as an interesting experiment, stating its value lay in the fact that it demonstrated Shakespeare was timeless. CANADA IS NOT YET QUITE FREE

Has Not Power to Revise Own Constitution But Will Get It

LONDON, Dec. 1.—How far is Canada, the oldest of the Dominions, actually a "Sovereign State?" asks the Manchester Guardian.

The phrase was used in the famous resolution of the Imperial Conference which recognized the autonomy of the overseas British nations, yet a conference at Ottawa has just been occupied in discussing whether Canada should now seek to achieve a first condition of sovereignty, the right to amend her own Constitution.

The problem is not an easy one. The British North America Act, with its seventy-four highly complex clauses regulating state and national rights and safeguarding for all time the language and culture of the French minority, was the outcome of a conference of the provinces embodied sixty years ago in a British statute. That Constitution provides that no alteration shall be made in it except with the consent of the original contracting parties. At their instance, and theirs only, the British Parliament may act.

It is not suggested even by the most ardent of Canadian nationalists that this fact is changed in any way by the resolution of the Imperial Conference. Whether or not it should be altered, whether Canada should attempt by inter-provincial agreement to present Westminster with a plan for taking her Constitution into her own hands, is the subject of the present discussion. The government puts forward a tentative suggestion that formal legislative authority should be sought from the British parliament for Canada to amend its Constitution within certain limitations that would safeguard existing rights. But even to this careful plan Quebec and the Maritime provinces maintain in the meantime a highly critical attitude. Sooner or later, as the government's supporters maintain, some such change, it would seem, must be made if Canada is in fact to keep abreast of her nominal status. But it is clear that the way will not be easy and that an anomaly curious even among the many that distinguish British Imperial relations may for some time persist.

LIQUOR TRADE OF PROVINCE

Threat Made That it Will be Removed to Mexico if Legislated Out of Business

VICTORIA, Dec. 1.—If Parliament legislates British Columbia's far-flung liquor smuggling traffic out of business at its next session, as it is expected to do, the base of the American bootleg supplies probably will be moved from here to Mexico. This is the expectation of liquor officials who have kept in close touch with export operations for many years and who are strongly behind the movement to abolish this trade altogether. The smuggling of liquor into the United States is far too lucrative a business to be allowed to perish without a fight, it is believed. After hanging on to a precarious existence for years in the face of the Provincial Government, smugglers undoubtedly will do everything in their power to avoid the fate which is foreshadowed for them in the proposed abolition of private liquor importation. But if the necessary legislation is passed by Parliament at its next session, after being rejected three times by the Senate, officials cannot see how the export traffic of British Columbia can live. It will have to find another base and Mexico is considered ideal for this purpose.

EXPECT STRONG FIGHT

The necessary legislation, however, is not yet through Parliament. While the Federal Government has agreed to introduce it, and while the House of Commons has voted in favor of it three times before, the proposed amendment to the Canada Temperance Act, prohibiting private liquor importation, has yet to run the gauntlet of the Senate. A strong fight against the bill at Ottawa is expected here. Liquor interests will contest it on the ground that it will interfere with private rights and will inaugurate a restriction on which the public of British Columbia has never voted. This was the argument used with success in the Senate before when similar legislation was vetoed.

Even if the private importation of liquor is abolished, liquor exporters may find some way of escaping the intention of the new legislation. Undoubtedly all these possibilities will be explored by the liquor interests but if the legislation is drafted along the same lines as in the past British Columbia officials do not see how the exporters here can escape it. If all private importation were forbidden it appears that the exporters will be unable to secure supplies to ship into the United States. It is some clause in the legislation by which the exporters would be able to get supplies somewhere, somehow, that is feared here.

EXPECT MOVE If no such loophole is available, however, the vast liquor organization which has been built up in this Province since prohibition times will not allow its American trade to perish, is the opinion of those most closely in touch

During the month of November the city fire department responded to three alarms. In no case was damage of a very extensive nature. The calls were as follows: November 11, C. T. Saunders, 349 Ninth Avenue West; November 11, P. M. Rayner, 508 Fourth Ave. East; November 20, J. Postulo, First Avenue.

H. O. Crew, a pioneer of this city and one of the first returned men of Prince Rupert, has resigned from the municipal engineering staff, with which he has been identified for several years, and will be leaving about the middle of this month for Vancouver where or in the neighborhood of which city he plans on locating. Mrs. Crew and daughter, Joan, have been in the south for several months.

Wireless reports of the vessel's position this morning indicated that C.P.R. steamer Princess Mary, Capt. Arthur Slater, southbound from Alaska to Vancouver, would not arrive here before midnight or the early hours of tomorrow morning. Over thirty-six hours behind schedule on account of snow and storms she has experienced throughout the voyage, the Mary did not leave Juneau until 10 o'clock last night. The run from the Alaskan capital to Prince Rupert will take well over 24 hours, steaming for the Princess Mary. A number of local passengers are awaiting the arrival of the Mary to go south.

HUGE X-RAY INSTRUMENT

Chicago Has What is Probably Largest in the World at University

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—A gigantic x-ray machine, weighing more than four tons and costing $500,000 has been operated successfully in the research hospital of the University of Illinois here.

The huge piece of mechanism, probably the largest of its kind in the world, pours 250,000 volts of rays through the human body, performing in from eight to twelve minutes a treatment for cancer or sarcoma which formerly required from one to two hours.

It has destroyed cancer in its early stages and retarded old growths, officials of the hospital announce.

So powerful are the penetrating rays that flow from the apparatus that it has been necessary to cool the great x-ray tube, the largest ever assembled, by a constant flow of water.

The problem of devising a way to keep the tube cool held back development of the machine for years. Engineers in the employ of the company developing the apparatus finally conceived the idea of insulating the water from the source of current, this preventing it from acting as a conductor and carrying off some of the current vibrating into the tube.

The control apparatus of the machine looks like the power house of a light plant. To operate the machine it was necessary to install apparatus occupying three large rooms. A transformer room houses a huge electrical generator which "steps up" ordinary electric current to 250,000 volts. Measuring devices control the force of the ray. An operator's booth contains a control board and in a treatment room are the machine itself and other devices.

The x-ray was developed to give treatment in shorter time to patients suffering from deep seated cases of cancer or sarcoma. To prevent over-exposure to the skin the rays are projected through several surface portals, allowing an extremely powerful ray to penetrate the body without burning the skin of the patient.

DEER FOUGHT UNTIL DEATH

Horns Interlocked and Unable to Shake off Opponent After Victory

WESTFIELD, Mass., Dec. 1.—Death was the victor in a mighty battle waged between the deer for the supremacy of the forest range in Montgomery. The story was revealed by Peter P. Monahan, deputy game warden, who came from the woods with the interlocked antlers of two large buck deer, which had been cut from the bodies.

The battle ground gave evidence of a terrific struggle, according to the game warden. The deer, it is believed, marched into an open lot of ground where they might settle their differences as to which was to roam the Montgomery hills as leader of the pack.

Warden Monahan said that it was after the antlers of the deer became locked that the two monarchs of the hills pulled and tugged until one had fallen in death. The lighter of the two bucks, weighing 250 pounds, was conquered, but only after its neck had been broken.

Then the victor, weighing some 300 pounds, prepared to leave the scene to take up his leadership. But he was unable to shake his antlers loose from those of the defeated foe. The body of the dead deer was dragged for many feet, but then the other fell, probably from sheer exhaustion. The victor was unable to rise again and death slowly overtook him in the form of starvation and exposure.

TATOOSH CLAIMED AS HIGH BOAT FOR HALIBUT SEASON

KETCHIKAN, Dec. 1.—The Tatoosh, Captain Chris Martinsen, is the prize halibut boat for the season which closed November 15, the five members of the crew dividing $3700 to the man for the season's work.

Ketchikan is the home port of the Tatoosh, and she is not one of the larger of the long range boats either, measuring 57 feet in length and powered with a diesel engine. She came through the stormy weather with only one dory smashed and two skates of gear lost, and the crew claim that it was all due to a "luck charm" or rabbit's foot carried by the cook.

The Tatoosh which finished with a light cargo, made 12 trips, beginning February 17, fishing almost entirely on the Portlock bank, and ending the season November 12.

Members of the crew are Neils Peterson, Ole Goldstein, Nick Hendricksen, Knut Roberg and Chris Smith, the cook. Last year some of the halibut fishermen divided as high as $5,000 per man.

COALSPUR SHIPPING PRODUCT TO RUPERT

EDMONTON, Dec. 1.—First shipments from the new coal mine opened by the Coalspur Collieries Limited, have started to roll to eastern and western markets. Among the points which will receive these initial consignments are Vancouver, Prince Rupert, Prince George, B. Shaw, Moose Jaw and Winnipeg.

Large orders are on hand for the coal market and it is expected that a trade of considerable volume will be developed there. This will also mean that a summer market will be provided, something that Alberta mines have long been in need of and which will mean steady employment for many miners. The company also has a standing order for 100,000 tons to be supplied to the Ontario market.

SPORT CHAT

Port Simpson basketball players, who cleaned up honors in the city last season, are desirous of having another series with local players within the near future. To deal with the matter, a special meeting of the Prince Rupert Basketball Association is called for tonight. Though the visitors may find their opposition on the forthcoming occasion more vigorous than they did last year, the series, which it is to be hoped may be successfully arranged, will doubtless be spirited and most interesting. It will prove a timely mid-season diversion from the regular league activities here.

The further the season advances and the more the players get into practice, the better is becoming league basketball in quality in Prince Rupert this season. Predictions already made in this column that Prince Rupert would see the finest basketball ever played in the city during this 1927-28 season are rapidly materializing. Tomorrow night, in the Senior League, Elks and Grand Terminals will get together to decide who is to keep up the chase of these wild Native Sons of Canada who have been cleaning 'em up lately. High School and Elevator will meet in the Intermediate League with an ever popular Ladies' League engagement to round out the program.

GURVICH-CORKLE BOXING BOUT DISCUSSED.

Editor, Daily News.
Have read two articles in your paper regarding Dido Gurchich. As far as boxing Corkle is concerned, we wanted him to come here under much better terms than were arranged there. Our recent trip to Anyox, boxing for a promoter such as Fred Brown was a very trying ordeal. First, our arrangements with Brown was to have a capable referee. He selected James McAlennan of Stewart who we accepted but on arrival found that he was not there. We were then told by reputable people in Anyox that there was a man in town by the name of Steve Dumas, who was capable and we asked Fred Brown for him and he would not accept him. He selected a referee from there and we were told by people was incapable which we found out. I then demanded two judges and was given the names of four reputable businessmen there. Of the four, there was not one selected. Fred Brown selected his own judges. As we were fighting winner take all it looked like we were in for a bad night (We are not casting any reflection on the judges selected) but we are just showing Fred Brown's sportsmanship and we do not care for a repetition of that. As far as George Corkle is concerned, Gurchich will fight him here and let him have a voice in the selection of officials as any fair minded promoter would do. Hoping Corkle will come here. I remain
CHAS. H. BROWN.

Sanitation in The Laundry

Hygeia, March, 1927
A kitchen is properly a food shop and should be used for little else. It is distasteful to think of the possibilities attending laundry work in the kitchen in the winter when doors and windows are closed to keep out the cold and when steam from the boilers, and later from the drying clothes, mingles unchecked with the foods that are being prepared.
