TRAGIC DAYS OF BOXER UPRISING ARE BEING RECALLED

Thursday Occurrence Deplored by Spokesman of Government; Premier Baldwin's Statement

Administration congratulated on sending defence troops--fighting at Hankow between Nationalists and Reds

LONDON, March 25.—The British capital was shocked by the news of the slaying of foreigners at Nanking. The tragic days of the Boxer uprising were recalled. Only the briefest of accounts were received at official quarters, but a government spokesman deplored Thursday's happenings and declared that the guilty Chinese would be held responsible for the attack. Premier Baldwin said that the British were constantly in touch with the central Cantonese government at Hankow. Rapidly developing events, he said, would be largely left in the hands of the British representatives on the spot and any action they deemed necessary would be backed to the hilt.

FIRE ON SHIP EXTINGUISHED

WATER HAD TO BE PUMPED INTO VESSEL UNTIL DECKS OF BELIEVERS WERE EVEN WITH WATER LINE

ASTORIA, March 25.—The fire in the coal bunkers of the British steamer Believers, which was towed into this harbor late Wednesday night, was extinguished last night after it had been fought continuously since the vessel arrived.

Water was pumped into the ship until the deck was almost level with the water line before the flames were put out.

Fire fighters believe that the flames had eaten their way from the bunkers into the lumber cargo in the forward hold.

Extent of damage to the vessel, which loaded in Vancouver, has not yet been determined.

ALPINE FIR IS TOWED TO PORT

FORESTRY BOAT DAMAGED IN EXPLOSION AT BUTEDALE IS TOWED TO DRY DOCK

The forestry patrol boat Alpine Fir, which sustained considerable damage when an explosion occurred aboard the vessel last week at Butedale, arrived at the dry dock during the night under tow of the Lillian D. and was placed on the pontoons this morning for preparatory to repairs being undertaken. The upperworks of the vessel were shattered but it is understood that hull and engine are intact.

E. Nelson, who sustained a broken ankle, broken arm and broken nose when the explosion occurred, is reported to be making satisfactory progress toward recovery at the Prince Rupert General Hospital. He was the engineer of the boat.

THE TRUE NORTH

Nowhere in Canada is the scenery more diversified than in that section of northern British Columbia, traversed by the Prince Rupert line of the Canadian National Railways, or along the inland sea which lies between the mainland and the off-shore islands of British Columbia. There is something new and beautiful to see the whole of the distance, whether it is between Vancouver and Prince Rupert or Prince Rupert and Jasper. Photograph (1) shows a typical bit of the Scenic Seas Route as seen from the deck of an oil-burning Canadian National Steamship. A look at the face of the fisherman and his catch as shown in No. 2 is sufficient evidence that in Stuart Lake, just north of Vanderhoof, the fishing is good. To the right of that is (No. 3) a picture of a grave in the picturesque Indian Graveyard at Hazelton. The bottom picture (No. 4) shows one of the cabins at Douglas Lodge, on Stuart Lake, one of the most up-to-date summer resorts in British Columbia.

Premier Oliver Presents Claims of This Province on Peace River Question

OTTAWA, March 25.—Premier Oliver of British Columbia appeared before the railway committee of the House of Commons this morning to explain what he termed his province's "vital interest in the western outlet from the Peace River valley." The province was interested not only in the volume of grain expected to come out of the valley, but in the trade from coast cities to the adjacent territory he declared. The coast looked forward to the time when its factories would supply Alberta with manufactured goods. He detailed efforts that had been made to secure an outlet from the valley and said that British Columbia had been solely responsible for $34,000,000 which had been expended on construction work toward the Peace River. The province had suffered additional loss of $25,000,000 in interest and carrying charges.

FULL SEASON FOR HALIBUT MEN SOUGHT

KETCHIKAN CLUB REQUESTS BUREAU TO REVISE FISHING REGULATIONS

Fishing privileges for the halibut fleet throughout the entire year, rather than the existing plan of nine months, will be advocated by the businessmen of Ketchikan. The Commercial Club at its regular weekly meeting, instructed the organization's secretary to ask Henry O'Malley, commissioner of U.S. fisheries, to consider a 12-month season.

In revising the regulations to permit a full season, it was suggested that closed areas be established at regular intervals to protect the industry's resources. This plan, Commercial Club members believe, will allow adequate propagation of product and at the same time permit halibut owners to employ their huge investments throughout the year.

Under the present system, it was pointed out, the industry's entire investment, including boats, gear, and overhead which continues regardless of activities, lies dormant three months out of each season.

In the secretary's letter to the bureau it was also requested that the halibut report of 1926 be forwarded when completed.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—British and United States warships will bombard salient military points of Nanking, including Cantonese headquarters, unless immediate dispositions are made for the delivery unharmed of foreigners remaining ashore there according to an ultimatum delivered to the Chinese today by Anglo-American naval commanders after the Cantonese leader had returned an evasive and insolent reply to their demands of Thursday. The naval men consider that only drastic action can save foreigners who survived yesterday's fighting and rioting at Soocny Hill.

It was learned this afternoon that fifteen Britishers and ninety Americans, including 44 women and 48 children, still remain to be evacuated from Nanking.

SATISFACTORY STATEMENT OF CANTONESE COMMANDER.

Considerable satisfaction may be derived from the manifesto of the Cantonese commander, General Pai Tsung Hai. Openly professing his nationalistic and revolutionary principles, he has, however, counselled his followers that the property of foreigners must not be destroyed and that it is not the intention of the Cantonese to create a general anti-foreign movement. The manifesto presents one of the most encouraging declarations that has come out of China since the present trouble began.

The manifesto may be taken as an answer to the demands of Great Britain and United States for protection of the persons and property of foreigners. It is to be expected that Pai Tsung will do his best to live up to the requirements but he has a difficult situation to handle. If there should be further casualties among foreigners they might not constitute an overt act. Such casualties are very liable to occur among such frenzied Chinese mobs as there are in Shanghai today.

If Great Britain and United States went to save their people, it is up to them to take as many of them as possible out of the seat of the trouble until the danger is over. That would be more effective than making demands which it is apparent will be most difficult to fulfil until conditions have righted themselves with the new order of things.

POOLEY AND TWIGG CHANGE THEIR TUNE.

Mr. Pooley and Mr. Twigg were very free with their charges under the protection of the legislature. Their change of face when under oath before a royal commission where they are responsible for their statements is very significant. It is difficult to reconcile their words in the legislature with what they have said before the commission. Mr. Pooley said to the court that he "had not the slightest reason for supposing that campaign fund contributions in 1924 had influenced the vote of any member of the B.C. legislature." Mr. Twigg confessed that "he had no knowledge of beer transactions." Such admissions are nothing but amazing in the face of their previous declarations.

PATTULLO TAKES STAND FOR RUPERT.

It is obvious that, despite ten years of residence in Victoria, Mr. Pattullo's heart is still in Prince Rupert. His reply to the report of the Peace River outlet engineers, as published in the Daily News yesterday and in the Vancouver Province earlier in the week, was very reassuring. It would have been very easy for Mr. Pattullo to let the Prince Rupert aspect slide. He has probably let himself in for some trouble in his protest against an obviously prejudiced report but he will have the support of every one of his constituents in the fight he has started.

GOOD LISTENERS AND GOOD TALKERS.

To refer to an individual as "a good listener" is by way of paying a high compliment, but it is a compliment scarcely deserved. It arises not from the intrinsic merit of the good listener, but from the fact that the demand is greater than the supply. The small crop brings the best price.

Nothing could be more depressing than thought of a company of good listeners with nary a good talker among them, unless perhaps it is a company of good talkers with not a single good listener.

As a matter of fact, the ability to listen attentively is almost invariably a sign of inferiority as a talker. Listening is an admission that the other fellow has something more important to say. How can a man of spirit and intelligence and convictions listen without once being provoked to break his "golden silence?"

Good listeners have the admiration of the majority because the majority of people prefer talking to listening and do not like to talk to themselves. But the fellow who prides himself on being a "good listener" is no less an egotist than the person who takes it for granted his opinions alone are worth while.

There is one specimen of listener who is intelligent; but because interruption is regarded by him as a cardinal sin against good manners, he permits another to hold the floor to the latter's content. He has intelligence but it is as worthless as that of an individual who, in an emergency, knows what to do but does nothing.

EXTINCTION OF HALIBUT THREATENED

REPORT ON SITUATION IS ISSUED BY PROVINCIAL COMMISSIONER OF FISHERIES

VICTORIA, March 24.—While the International Fisheries Commission has not yet decided on methods of conserving the halibut resources of British Columbia and Alaska, it has established beyond all question the alarming depletion of great Northern food fish.

This summary of the Canadian-American commission's work so far was given out by John P. Babcock, chairman of the commission, and deputy commissioner of fisheries for British Columbia, in an explanation of the results secured up to the time when the commission's stout little sloop the "Scandia" was wrecked on Kodja Island.

"The present supply of halibut," says Mr. Babcock's summary, "is being maintained by resorting to new and far distant fishing banks, by more intensive fishing on depleted banks and the use of smaller hooks. The outstanding feature of the work like that previously conducted by the Provincial Government, is the establishment of depletion."

The commission, he added, is laying plans to proceed with its work so that it may gather knowledge on which it may base regulations to preserve the halibut herds.

TAGGED SPECIES

"The Scandia was chartered by the commission in June last and has been in our service most of the time," Mr. Babcock said. "During the summer and fall of 1926 the staff was engaged in tagging halibut from the banks off the Oregon coast to the Gulf of Alaska. Fishing was conducted in the usual commercial way. The halibut caught which were not seriously injured were tagged and released. Those too seriously hooked to survive were retained and, after examination for racial characteristics, age, etc., were cleaned, iced, and sold in the regulation manner. During the trip last year 3230 halibut were tagged and released and 14,000 examined. Since tagging operations began 8300 fish have been tagged. Of the fish tagged in 1925-26 some 800 have been recaptured and the tags returned to the commission, the greater proportion being those tagged in 1925.

"The primary purpose of the work of the Scandia has been to obtain data as to the existence or non-existence of distinct differences between the halibut on variously located banks—to determine whether the fish are homogenous, or more or less distinct races; to determine if there are significant body proportions and differences in anatomical structure, and variation in time of spawning and age at maturity. Some progress has been made in the study of propagation.

"Several types of tow-nets, young fish trawls and hydrographic instruments were used in the effort to solve some of the problems—the location of spawning banks; location and depth at which eggs, larvae and new hatched fish may be obtained—in other words their environments and in what way the water currents are likely to affect the drift of eggs and young fish—for drift is important to determine isolation.

AGE AND GROWTH

"To determine the age and rate of growth in widely scattered banks, it has been necessary to collect data from a great number of fish—more than 15,000 scales and ear-bones, by which growth and age is established, have been collected.

"In addition to the data as to age rate of growth, racial characteristics, migration and propagation, much progress has been made in other features of the work. Complete records of the halibut landed on the Coast since 1902 have been assembled, with records showing the banks on which the fish were taken, average weights and catches per unit of fishing gear per 'skate.' Enough data has been obtained to show the catch per skate for many years on many banks. Take the banks in Hecate Strait for instance.

"In twenty years the average catch per skate has dropped from 477 pounds in 1907 to 45 pounds in 1926. That shows the depletion that has taken place in Hecate Strait. All the older known and long-fished banks show a similar rate of decrease. The present supply is being maintained by resorting to new and far distant banks, by more intensive fishing on depleted banks and the use of smaller hooks. The outstanding feature of the work, like that previously conducted by the Provincial Government, is the establishment of depletion.

PERIL OF DEPLETION

"Notwithstanding that much has been accomplished in the last three years the work is still being directed, as it has been from its inception, to ascertain what steps, if any, can be taken to arrest depletion—to the maintenance of supply.

"The commission, however, still faces the fact of its lack of knowledge. We are still seeking data necessary on which to build foundations on which to frame regulations. Take for instance the question of protecting the young rather than the old. There are great fisheries which flourish on the capture of young only, and there are more which depend upon adults.

"Possibly because of the fact that more fisheries depend on the catch of adults, there is a tendency to depreciate the catching of the young. Yet, as Dr. W. F. Thompson, our director of investigations, has pointed out, it is a fact that in most fisheries the toll taken by man from the young of any species is but a minute fraction of that taken by other enemies—that a greater proportion of the young which could be taken by man will later be consumed by natural enemies only. That being the case, why not take the young? On the other hand, even though an adult survives many perils to arrive at spawning size, it has increased greatly in bulk, so that it might pay to protect the young and profit by their growth.

naired asking himself whether if he throws it back into the water it might not return to his nets a year or more later many times larger, but pausing when he saw the many enemies awaiting the return of the young fish to their reach. Would he have to return twenty young fish to get one large one back? Would that be an even trade? Would that, he asks himself, be good business? In which case would he destroy the most spawners?

"The present knowledge of mortality as compared with rate of growth is emphatically so deficient as to be of little value in determining such questions. Only close study and experience can demonstrate the way to administer a great marine fishery. A fundamental fault of our present knowledge is that we do not know what balance should be maintained between adults and young, between marine spawners and non-spawners. This can only be determined by skillfully framed and continued experiments.

"In short, consideration leads to the conclusion that the duty of the commission is to work out carefully the distribution on the banks of the north-west coast of North America of the categories of halibut, to determine as closely as possible the strain placed on each category by fishing—that we may be sure the minimum numbers are allowed to survive; to determine the economic value of these various categories of halibut; to preserve as good a balance as possible in proposing methods of protection—of conservation. When regulations, however scientifically and wisely framed, are formulated, their adequacy and efficiency must still await the results of application to show their worth."

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

MARCH 25, 1917.

It is expected that repairs to the steamer Prince Rupert will cost approximately $100,000. The vessel is still aground on Genn Island outside the harbor.

Charles Harrison, of Lakelse Hatchery, reports that he has four and one half million fine young salmon all ready to take to the running water.

F. W. Hart, who left Prince Rupert a few days ago, was married in Vancouver on March 22 to Mrs. Amelia E. Ferguson.

A bill has been introduced at Victoria to authorize the Dolly Varden mine at Alice Arm to lay out and operate a line of railway for a distance of twenty miles.

The Salvor, from Vancouver, is standing by the Prince Rupert and, as quickly as possible, the job of getting the big boat off will be under way.

H. F. McRae has returned to the city after a short business trip to the southern part of the province.

A recent issue of an eastern publication contains an interesting article on Prince Rupert and the growth of the fish trade on the Pacific coast.

HAVE YOU YET VISITED MONTREAL IMPORTERS?

It Will Pay You to Drop into Their Store and See for Yourself the Values Offered at Their Sale

The Quick-Money-Raising Sale at the Montreal Importers is certainly being appreciated by the Prince Rupert people. There are sales and sales and bargains and bargains but the prices offered by the Montreal Importers for their goods this week show not only apparent bargains, but real ones. Their necessity for ready money now—at once—is being met by slashed prices. It is not a matter of price with them now—it is to get the cash—and for your cash you can get the greatest value you ever got. And that's the truth!

Just you call into the Montreal Importers store and see their stock. There are household goods—Hudson's Bay blankets, pillowslips, etc., suits and shirts and sweaters and everything that a boy can wear and everything that a man wears also. And the prices will surprise you. See them for yourself!

J. B. Miller is a keen buyer too. He has got his values at the minimum to begin with and he stands behind the quality of every article he sells. He wants your assistance in this time of his necessity. He will pay you back in return for your being a friend in his need by maintaining Montreal prices. It will pay you! And what more can he do for you than that?

Women's Missionary Circle of Baptist Church Honored Departing Lady

At the close of the regular meeting of the Women's Mission Circle of the Baptist Church held last night at the home of Mrs. Rolf Walker, Hays Cove Circle, a very pleasant social hour was spent in honor of Mrs. J. W. Ledlie, who is leaving next week, with Mr. Ledlie, for Kamloops where they will make their home.

During the evening, Mrs. Ledlie, who has been a very active and valued worker in the circle since its organization last autumn, was presented with an attractive autograph album and address. Mrs. Ledlie responded in her usual happy manner thanking the ladies for all their good wishes for her in her new home.

WALES PARTNER REAL PROBLEM

LADY KATHLEEN ROLLO HAS BEEN PRINCE'S FAVORITE THIS WINTER

LONDON, March 25.—The Prince of Wales is so energetic and so modern a dancer that the problem of finding him an adequate dancing partner is extremely difficult. When one is in favor, wise hostesses who wish to attract the Prince to their balls take care that the young lady shall be present.

Lady Kathleen Rollo has been in enormous request this winter because the Prince enjoys dancing with her so much. Often, when the Prince has arrived late, owing to other engagements, Lady Kathleen has abstained from dancing until his arrival, in order to dance first "duty" dance with him. She admits she finds it a pleasant duty.

TURNED DEFEAT INTO VICTORY

MAPLE LEAFS, UNUSED TO SLIPPERY SMITHERS FLOOR, HAD NARROW BASKETBALL VICTORY LAST NIGHT

SMITHERS, March 25.—Prince Rupert Maple Leafs last night won by a score of 14 to 12 the first game from Smithers in the two-game playoff for the ladies' championship of British Columbia.

Last night's game was marked by heavy checking and Smithers had the lead up till the last two minutes of play when the coast girls, finishing with a desperate rally, scored two baskets ere the final whistle blew.

Smithers had much the better of things in the first half which ended 8 to 2 in their favor. The Prince Rupert girls, not used to the small hall and an exceedingly slippery floor, showed considerable improvement in the second half. They expect to put up a better performance tonight.

Miss Marjorie Roberts and Miss Mabel McIntyre starred for Smithers.

The hall was packed to capacity with an exceedingly enthusiastic crowd.

Referees were George Roberts of Smithers and George Mitchell of Prince Rupert.

The Smithers team consisted of Miss Marjorie Roberts, captain; Miss Avis Wall, Miss Mabel McIntyre, Miss Alice Lattimer, Miss Dolly Carpenter, Miss Kathleen Durham and Miss Agnes Erickson; spares, Miss Vina Eby and Emma Morris.

The Prince Rupert players were Miss Helen Grant, Miss Lillian Lowe, Miss Margaret Graham, Miss Myra Harvey, and Miss Catherine Harvey; spares, Miss Helen Sims, Miss May Thompson, and Miss Cathie Irvine.

SPORT CHAT

The suggestion has been made that a lacrosse game between two local teams would be a good attraction for Dominion Day celebration. It might be possible to arrange a match between a couple of junior teams if a little interest was shown at the present time and some real good practice games held this spring. However, to pick up a couple of teams at the last minute and expect much interest to be taken in this Canadian sport would be hardly fair.

Next winter will see professional hockey on the Pacific coast. Vancouver, Portland, Seattle and Tacoma have already granted franchises. Frank Patrick is president pro-tem of the new league which expects to receive applications from Los Angeles and possibly San Francisco and Oakland for berths. It is hardly expected that the first year will see any surplus of first class players in the league, but rumor says that quite a few young amateurs, who have been playing excellent hockey this year, are anxious to step into the professional arena.

Billy Sunday, the evangelist, is conducting a meeting in Tampa, where the Washington Senators are getting into shape for the baseball season and he impresses on occasion for the big leaguers. Sunday was just finished his career with the Chicago club when Clark Griffith, now president of the Senators, joined the club. "No one can knock Billy Sunday to me and get away with it," Griffith says. "He wasn't always a great evangelist. I remember when he was doing mission work and getting very little money, sometimes none at all, and wasn't eating regularly. But he kept on preaching just the same."

It has been announced that there will be no tennis at the Olympic games next year.

CHANGES IN FOREST SERVICE IN NORTH

J. M. Gibson of Fort George Goes to Victoria in New Capacity—Succeeded by Nelson Man

J. M. Gibson, who for the past four years has filled the position of district forester at Prince George has received notice of his transfer to Victoria, and will assume his new duties about the first of next month.

During his service as district forester in the Prince George district, Mr. Gibson has proven himself a very efficient officer, and one able to enforce the rulings of the forest branch and at the same time hold the good opinion of the men engaged in the milling business.

The best wishes of a host of interior friends will follow him in his deserved promotion. He will be succeeded in Prince George as district forester by C. D. Orchard, at present assistant district forester at Ivelson. Mr. Orchard is not a stranger to Prince George, having spent several weeks in the city in 1924 while he was in charge of timber cruising for the forest branch.

T. A. Clarke, assistant forester at Prince Rupert, succeeds Mr. Orchard at Nelson.

SMITHERS

Douglas Lay, resident mining engineer for this district, gave an interesting lecture on Tuesday night in the town hall before a good sized crowd of spectators and others interested in mining. He declared that the Topley strike of last year was one of the outstanding features of great progress that had been made by the district during the twelvemonth.

All available forces at the Duthie mine are being turned to the task of rushing the construction of the mill as the Duthie mine and development work is being consequently held up for six weeks. The mill should be in operation by May 15.

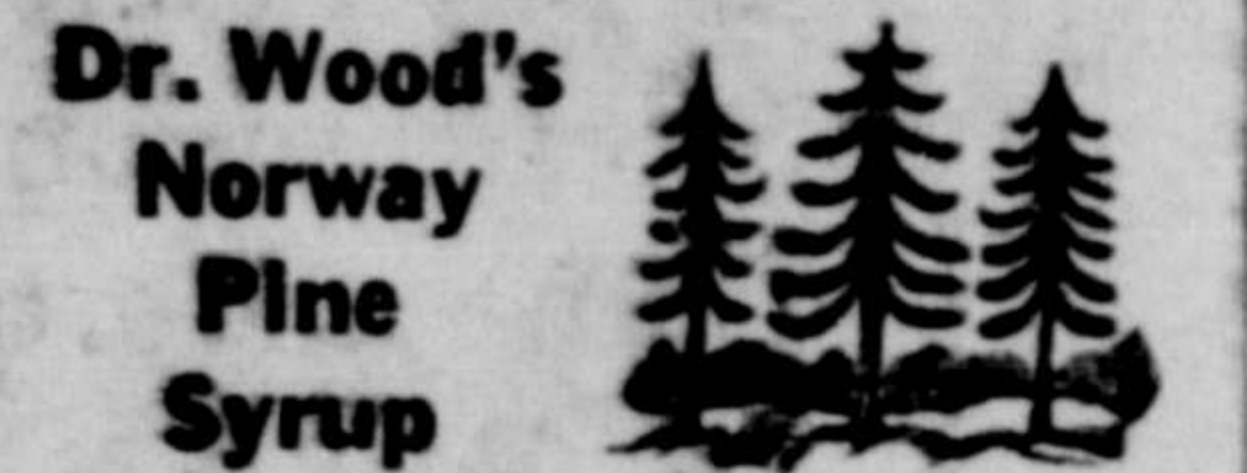

High grade ore is being taken out by C. G. Harvey on his group of claims in the Babine Operations have been carried on throughout the winter and there is a good quantity of sacked ore ready for shipment to smelter as soon as weather conditions permit.

Lou Wood came in this week from his trap line at the head of Driftwood Creek. He was expected last month and his safe arrival alleviated anxiety as to his welfare.

The Smithers council has passed an account of $70.70 for the local hospital. This represents the 70c per capita daily grant for patients in the hospital during the month of February.

O. A. Reigel of Telkwa is making arrangements for the shipping of one or two carloads of gold-silver-copper ore from the Hunter Basin property this season. During the war, this property made a shipment which netted $80 per ton.

Water has been delaying work somewhat on the Topley mine. The shafts now been sunk about 100 feet and about seventy feet from the tunnel. The ore maintains its original strength and value.

B. F. Messner has let a contract for the construction of a store building on Main Street across from the Interior

News office. It will be a two-story structure measuring twenty-six feet by forty-two. The main floor will be occupied by E. C. Dawson as a men's furnishing store, the upper floor to be utilized as Mr. Dawson's living quarters.

Responsibility for the maintenance of the Belknap children is again a live issue, the town council having received an account from the Children's Aid Society for February charges, also a bill from Mr. Van Horn from Telkwa for the balance of the time he maintained the children. The council takes the stand that, as the family was only transient, it is not responsible for them.

F. L. Chapman of Spokane, western manager of the McGillis & Gibb Pole Co. of Milwaukee, is on his annual visit of inspection to this district.

Al Finnerly has returned to his duties here after having spent several weeks at Vancouver on account of the serious illness of his mother in whose condition there is little if any improvement.

Mrs. R. W. Champion was hostess last Saturday afternoon at a shower in honor of Mrs. E. C. Dawson, a young and popular Smithers bride.

An overheated chimney at the Hotel Smithers Cafe gave volunteer firemen a run on Monday evening. No damage was done.

Spring weather is prevailing in Smithers district and the snow is fast disappearing under the influence of warm sunshine.

The Salmon Valley Farmers' Institute avers the putting of a $7.50 bounty on coyote during the summer months.

The log scale for Prince George district took a jump during the month of February sufficient to put the scale for the first two months of the year almost one million feet in excess of the total for the first two months of 1926. The total scale for the month was 6,241,256 feet as compared with a total of 4,491,346 feet in the same month last year. For the first two months of the current year the district scale stands at 9,802,078 feet as compared with 8,980,773 feet for the corresponding months of 1926. The past year was a very profitable one for those engaged in sawmilling throughout this district.

Good progress is being made by the recently organized band and orchestral organization here. The weekly practices have reached an average attendance of twenty-one. The band, it is expected, will furnish music for the July 1 celebration in Prince George this year.

Ina Allen has taken the lead in the popularity contest being held here by the Canadian Legion. The standing of the four candidates to date is as follows: Ina Allen, 5876; Alma Grundall, 5514; Rose Wood, 2477; Muriel Rogers, 276.

"Deafy" Dayton arrived in the city this week with the skin and skull of the bear which he asserts killed Thomas Meaney a year ago in a fight at the headwaters of the McGregor River. The skin of the grizzly measures 9 by 5 1/2 feet and Dayton is endeavoring to dispose of it. He has had one offer of $60 but it is such a fine specimen that he is holding out for $75.

The victim of some clever private detective work by Sergeant Walker of the provincial police, Arthur Sayers, whom it is said the police of Edmonton and Calgary are anxious to get, was arrested at the end of last week and charged with the theft of a $27.55 check and cash amounting to $22 from a man at McBride. Sayers was duly committed for trial and pleaded guilty to the charge in the County Court before Judge Robertson who deferred the passing of sentence until Monday.

In The Letter Box

MR. MALLORY CORRECTED Editor, Daily News. I see an item in your valuable paper of recent date to the effect that A. R. Mallory of Port Clements was the first to arrive at the Liberal convention in Vancouver. This may be true, but when he styles himself as president of the Masset Inlet Liberal Association he is going beyond his bounds. There is no Liberal association in Masset Inlet, so how could he be president? He also states his association has eighty members. Probably no delegate to the convention would be put to so much sacrifice to attend. Mr. Mallory, he states his home is at Port Clements in the heart of Graham Island. He left in a gas boat and out in the open waters of Hecate Straits he hailed the ss. Prince John. This is not right. He left in a gasboat all right but he hailed the ss. Prince John less than ten miles from Port Clements at Ship Island. He also states he will leave for the north March 14, taking the regular C.N.R. ship to Prince Rupert where he will have to find a fishing boat bound for the Queen Charlotte Islands to take him home. When did the ss. Prince John stop running to the Islands? What good purpose is there in printing such bunk as appeared in your paper? Everybody here knows that it is bunk and untrue.

Hoping you will find space in your valuable paper. MALCOLM MILLOY, Port Clements.

ZIEGFELD SAYS HE'S ASHAMED

PRODUCER OF FOLLIES SAYS HE'S GOING OUT OF REVUE BUSINESS—RAPS PRESENT CORRUPTION

NEW YORK, March 25.—Florenz Ziegfeld, who "glorified the American girl," and created a new type of musical show when he launched his first "Follies" twenty years ago, says box office madness and out-of-town visitors are to blame for the present "corrupt" condition of the theatre.

"I'm ashamed to be in the revue business with all this going on," he said recently, "so I'm going to get out."

When the "Follies" opens next year it will be more the old-fashioned musical comedy, with a plot, and no longer a revue.

"The modern revue," said the producer, "is far worse than the old burlesque show. In fact, the revues have driven the burlesque shows out of business. The stage in New York has been corrupted to the point where it is risky to take one's mother, wife or children to the theatre. Not because there is a large public that wants filth but because the theatrical people have gone box office crazy."

AGAINST IMMORALITY

Ziegfeld entered the lists against stage immorality when police recently started a cleanup campaign and raided three legitimate shows. He telegraphed city officials a suggestion that they extend their operations to revues, which he said were such that they would not be tolerated in other cities.

"The revues have gone too far," he said, "and I cannot go with them. Pornographic stories such as are heard in smoking cars are being acted out, nudity has become the order of the day and the beauty of the draped figure has been forgotten. I don't want it even said of me that I'm producing a revue."

The New York stage, he said, needs censorship, and needs it badly.

WERE DETECTED BY SHOP GIRL

LONDON FORGERS, NOW SAFELY IN PRISON, WERE SUCCESSFUL FOR EIGHT YEARS

LONDON, March 24.—(Canadian Press).—Even the Bank of England was deceived by the cleverness of two forgers, now safely in prison, who manufactured thousands of Treasury notes and distributed them in London and 54 other cities and towns in England, during the last eight years. They outwitted Scotland Yard, but were caught at last after a shop girl in Oldham became suspicious and warned the police.

The two forgers, Arthur George Southgate and Fred Green, were sentenced to penal servitude at Manchester Assizes. Counsel for the prosecution said it was the most dangerous case since Treasury notes were instituted in 1914, and the cleverest forgery ever known.

Several thousand forged notes had been traced to the prisoners' press. In many cases they had passed through the Bank of England and it had been utterly impossible to detect them.

INITIATED WORK

Sentencing Southgate to seven years in prison and Green to three years, Mr. Justice Wright told the prisoners that the notes of their workmanship which he had seen were such that an initiated individual could not possibly, or at most rarely, distinguish them from the genuine.

The forgers' plant, now in possession of the police, was of the most efficient kind. An expensive camera, engraving plant, printing press and lithographic plates, together with a quantity of good paper, were used in making notes which were classed by experts as the finest exhibition of workmanship in forged notes ever known. A special plant was used apparently for placing watermarks on the notes.

Our theory is that those who become criminals never were loved enough or spanked enough.

CHIROPRACTIC REMOVES CAUSE COMMON COLDS

UNIVERSAL AILMENT RESPONDS TO MODERN TREATMENT AND FULL HEALTH RETURNS

Everyone, at times, suffers from colds, and there is perhaps no one common condition that is so disagreeable to contend with. Some people have only one or two colds a year and then they may not be severe; but on the other hand there are millions of people who suffer from many colds each year and some of them are so severe that not only is life made miserable during these times, but it actually impairs the health of the body. A cold is a source of continual drain of vitality, and every time the human organism is subjected to it, the vitality and resistance is lowered.

In different individuals colds affect the body in different ways. In some they settle in the nose and head; in others in the throat, and in some they affect the bronchial tubes and lungs. The part affected depends very largely upon the resistance which is present in the mucous membranes in these different areas. If it is the nose and head which is affected, it is assured that the membrane here possess a comparatively low resistance and are unable to withstand the toxins which have accumulated in the body.

CAUSE

As a matter of fact a cold does not have an immediate cause. That is, there is no condition which occurs immediately before a cold manifests itself which can be considered as a cause. The real cause lies far deeper than this. It is the result of an accumulation of poisonous materials within the body for a certain period of time preceding the cold. The amount of poison which is accumulated and the rapidity with which it is formed determines, then, the frequency of colds. If the excretory organs of the body are comparatively normal these poisons will not be accumulated and colds will rarely manifest themselves.

WHY CHIROPRACTIC?

However, this does not get at the real cause of the condition, viz., the abnormality in the excretory organs which permit poisons to be accumulated in the body. This is the thing which must really receive the attention of the thoughtful practitioner. Chiropractic is the only system which offers a logical reason why the excretory organs are abnormal and follows that with a means of relief.

METHOD

The chiropractor is thoroughly trained to detect these abnormalities in the spine and to correct them. He knows what parts of the body are supplied by nerves emitting from between certain vertebrae. As soon as he knows what organs are affected, he immediately goes to a certain region in the spine and there locates the trouble.

He does something more than this. He locates, in the spine, that vertebrae which is producing pressure on the nerve trunks supplying the nose, throat or bronchial tubes. He realizes that inflammation in any one of these organs is the result of a lowered resistance dependent upon a nerve pressure in the spine. By correcting the abnormality which is producing lowered resistance here and by adjusting the vertebrae which is responsible for the lack of proper excretion, he corrects the real cause which is behind the local inflammation and the individual recovers normal health in the natural way.

Nor is the recovery temporary. It is permanent just so long as the spine of the patient remains in the normal condition because there is no longer the accumulation of poisons in the body until the point is reached where the cold manifests itself as an adaptation.

If you are subject to colds whether you have one at the present time or not, you should see your chiropractor, have him restore your spine to its normal condition, and thus be free from these disagreeable occasions that are a continual and steady drain upon your vitality and strength.

Chiropractic is a science that is based on a firm foundation of fact. It has been repeatedly demonstrated and is becoming more and more a universal health system. A few years ago there were only a few million people in the United States who subscribed to drugless systems. Today there are approximately forty million people who sponsor drugless health systems of one kind or another. Of all these Chiropractic is the leader. It has attained and is maintaining that leadership through past performances. Case after case has received aid by this system when all other systems have failed. Time after time the chiropractor has discovered the fundamental causes of the disease from which patients were suffering and has removed the cause.

No health system could have grown in the short space of twenty-eight years to the proportions which Chiropractic has attained unless it possessed merits substantially superior to those offered by any other system. And yet that is the record of which Chiropractic has made since its discovery. There are now approximately eighteen thousand practitioners who are carrying this health message to millions of people daily. This is in the face of the fact that Chiropractic has built its reputation very largely upon successful results obtained in those cases which have failed to obtain results by any other method. Today, the general public is coming more and more to realize that Chiropractic is more effectual in acute conditions than in

The Well-Managed Home

THE manager of a household is the purchasing agent for a large proportion of the family needs. In order to do a good job she must know what, when and where to buy. She must study goods and the concerns which make goods and have them to sell. She must put her home on a business basis and run it on business principles in order to make the most of the family income.

Information is the only basis for intelligent purchasing. And the right way to get the greatest amount of necessary information is to read the advertisements.

Advertisements tell you what is new and good in merchandise. They reveal improvements and inventions to make your home life easier, more comfortable and more convenient. They give you information about a thousand and one things that are useful.

Every manager of a household—every member of the household who shares the responsibility for the family's welfare—should make a habit of reading the ads.

PRINCE GEORGE LOG SCALE UP

BIG MILL AT GISCOMBE IS EXPECTED TO RESUME SAWING BEFORE THE END OF THE WEEK

The log scale for the Prince George district took a jump during the month of February, sufficient to put the scale for the first two months of the year almost one million feet in excess of that for the corresponding months of 1926 says the Prince George Citizen. The total scale for the months was 6,241,236 feet, made up of spruce 4,961,309, Douglas fir 1,005,719, lodgepole pine 452, and balsam 238,776. For the month of February 1926 the total scale of the district was 4,491,346, represented by spruce 3,875,558, Douglas fir 160,436, lodgepole pine 61,275, balsam 378,711, and cedar 15,366. For the first two months of the current year the district scale stands at 9,802,073 feet, and the scale for the corresponding months in 1926 at 8,880,773 feet.

As compared with the month of February 1926 there was a gain made in the output of poles and a drop in the number of railway ties during the past month. For the past month the pole scale was returned at 33,840 lineal feet, as against 16,330, and the ties at 114,662 as against 132,884 for February 1926.

It is conceded the past year has not been a very profitable one for the men engaged in sawmilling throughout the district. They have got their costs of production down to the point which admits of their running upon a very small margin, but prices continued consistently low throughout the year. Two of the mills made a record of running throughout the entire winter, the Allen-Thrasher at Snowshoe, and the Cranbrooks mill to the west of Prince George. Sawing has been resumed by the Longworth Lumber company at

LORD LASCELLES TO BE MADE PEER

Will be Elevated to Peerage in His Own Right

LONDON, March 25. — His Majesty King George will elevate his son-in-law, Viscount Lascelles, to the House of Lords as a peer in his own right. Official announcement to this effect is expected in the near future. A peerage for Lord Lascelles will involve no change in either the rank or title of Princess Mary's husband, but the title will become an actual one, instead of merely one of courtesy, as at present. This will be another instance where father and son sit in the House of Lords at the same time.

RESPONSIBILITY SETTING FIRES

JUDGE ROBERTSON GIVES JUDGMENT IN CASE OF INTERIOR INTEREST

Judge Robertson of Prince George has handed down in the County Court at Smithers a decision of considerable interest which deals with the responsibility of those setting fires for any damage which may result therefrom. On June 24, the farm of a man named Berg, in the vicinity of Lake Kathlyn, was run over by fire and all improvements and a quantity of timber destroyed. It was a very hot afternoon, and when the Berg shack caught fire its owner was sleeping and he lost everything, even his clothing.

Berg entered suit against Charles Wilson, a neighbor, alleging he had set the fire, and that through his negligence the damage was occasioned. The case was tried at Smithers by Judge Robertson, who is relieving Judge Young, P. E. Wilson appeared for Berg, and M. Gonzales, of Prince Rupert, and L. B. McGill, of Smithers, for the defendant Wilson.

The judgment handed down by Judge Robertson reviews the evidence taken at the trial and then proceeds:

REVIEWS CASE

"I have reached the conclusion that the fire which burned the plaintiff's place originated at the defendant's; that the defendant did not take reasonable precautions to safeguard the fire; did not see that it was absolutely out; and did not exercise that care a prudent and cautious man should have done if he had a proper regard for his own and his neighbors' safety.

"As to the damages, plaintiff says his cabin, unfinished house, stable, lumber and household articles and clothing, were of the value of $384. As to the value of the timber the evidence is not the very best, and I think if I allow plaintiff $300 for the timber that it will be a fair allowance.

"There will be judgment for $384 and costs of the action."

WOMEN MEMBERS AT WESTMINSTER AGITATE FOR BIGGER BOUDOIR

LONDON, March 25. — Britain's six women members of parliament are agitating for an enlarged "boudoir" but officials of the House of Commons say it is difficult to give the women additional room as the space at Westminster is much overcrowded. The present quarters, the women members claim, have a tendency to make them feel cramped and dull their speech-making inspirations.
