Winnipeg People Are Hysterical Over the Mysterious Murders

BIG BUSINESS DONE IN LOCKS AND DOOR CHAINS AND CHILDREN KEPT FROM STREETS IN SOME DISTRICTS

WINNIPEG, June 14.—Winnipeg and the surrounding districts is in almost a hysterical mood since the week end, following the strangling of two women. The police station and newspaper offices have been besieged without interruption by persons seeking information throughout the city.

In the suburbs the doors have been kept locked and the hardware and departmental stores have profited by the rushing business selling locks and door chains. Children are kept from the streets in many sections of the city. Doors are opened cautiously for bakers and other delivery men.

So far over one hundred suspects have been taken to headquarters by the police but all have been released.

HANGED FROM TREE BY CORD

NORTH VANCOUVER MAN TAKES OWN LIFE NEAR HIS HOME

NORTH VANCOUVER, June 14.—Hanging by a window sash cord from a tree near his home here, the body of Douglas Bowen, 55 years of age, was found by a neighbor while still warm. Bowen's widow and children received the first intimation of the tragedy from the police.

NOTED BRITISH HUMORIST DEAD

NORTHAMPTON, England, June 14.—Jerome K. Jerome, the famous English author, playwright, and journalist, died here today aged 68. Years ago he made all England laugh over his book, "Three Men in a Boat," and later he published "The Idler." Many of his shorter articles have been gathered together and published in book form, one of which was "Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow for an Idle Half Holiday." Some years ago Jerome toured United States and Canada on a lecture tour.

DAVIS RAFT TRIAL IS ON

VANCOUVER, June 14.—Whether the Davis raft is a patent device is the issue in a trial begun here before Mr. Justice W. A. McDonald. The Davis Ocean Log Rafting and Towing Company is the plaintiff against Cathels and Sorenson of Victoria. Defendants claim that the raft is not a patent invention but a combination of ideas already in general use in towing logs in raft formation.

DUKE OF BUCKINGHAM WINNER OF ASCOT STAKES ENGLAND TODAY

ASCOT, July 14.—William Gazaleth's Duke of Buckingham won the Ascot Stakes. Lady Ludgows's Incitatus II was second and Mrs. G. L. Whitelaw's Castlederg ran third. Eighteen horses started.

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil, June 14.—Eleven merry-makers, mostly women and children, were killed and 27 wounded by a detachment of soldiers who were refused admission to a ball at Monohay, Brazil. They fired upon the dancers. Those alleged to be responsible have been arrested.

PIRATES WIN OFF BROOKLYN

NATIONAL LEAGUE LEADERS PULLED THEMSELVES TOGETHER AFTER SERIES OF LOSSES—WASHINGTON IN FIRST DIVISION

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Pittsburgh Pirates pulled themselves together yesterday and ran out on the long end of a 4-3 score over the Brooklyn Dodgers who had beaten them two straight. Chicago Cubs seem to be making a strong bid for National League supremacy just now. Yesterday, they again defeated the New York Giants only the two games being played in the league.

The full group of games was played in the American League with no especial feature other than that the Washington Senators defeated the Chicago White Sox once more, thus culminating the capital's long fight to get into the 500 class in the standing where it now stands even.

With the White Sox turned back at least temporarily in their drive to oust the Yankees from the top of the American League, their National League townsmen, the Cubs, are making a spirited bid of their own against the Pirates whose recent winning streak has carried them to but one and a half games behind the leaders.

The day's scores were as follows:
NATIONAL LEAGUE
New York 2, Chicago 6.
Brooklyn 3, Pittsburgh 4.
AMERICAN LEAGUE
St. Louis 2, Boston 0.
Cleveland 6, New York 14.
Detroit 6, Philadelphia 7.
Chicago 0, Washington 10.

Political Contributions in Three Years Amounted to Huge Sum of $380,600

MONTREAL, June 14.—According to information given the Customs Commission, political contributions from the Consolidated Distilleries Limited from July 1923 to the close of 1926 totalled $380,600. The money was paid to both parties and deducted as part of the expenses of doing business for purposes of income tax. Evidence to this effect was given by James Lawrence, secretary-treasurer of the liquor firm.

VALERA TIES COSGROVE IN FREE STATE

EACH SECURES 41 MEMBERS AND MANY OTHER STRONG GROUPS

DUBLIN, June 14.—The latest returns from the general election in the Irish Free State to choose representatives in the Dail or Irish Parliament show the Cosgrove government supporters and the Flanna Fail or De Valera party tied with 41 each. The next group in point of strength is the Labor party with 22 members, the Independents 10, Farmers 9, National League 8, and Sinn Fein 4.

The government may easily carry on if they can secure the support of some of the other groups, sufficient to give them a majority in the Dail.

The city council last night accepted a recommendation from the finance committee that $50 be granted toward the entertainment of the Vancouver Board of Trade party during its visit here on June 22.

McLENNAN IS ASSESSOR YET

COUNCIL DIVIDED ON MOTION AND AMENDMENT LAST NIGHT AND MAYOR GAVE CASTING VOTE

After an informal discussion on the subject, the city council last night settled the question of a 1927 assessor by reappointing J. C. McLennan to the post at the usual stipend of $600. A recommendation that Mr. McLennan be appointed was returned to the finance committee by the council last week and the matter was again sent back to the council by the committee.

It was moved by Ald. Perry and seconded by Ald. Tinker that Mr. McLennan be appointed. Ald. Stephens moved an amendment, seconded by Ald. Brown, that the position be advertised before making an appointment. On the question being put, Ald. Stephens, Ald. Brown, Ald. W. J. Greer and Ald. Linzey voted for the amendment while Ald. Perry, Ald. Jos. Greer, Ald. Tinker and Ald. Larson voted against. The vote being even, the mayor declared the amendment lost. On a similar division, the motion appointing Mr. McLennan was carried.

Wonderful Welcome is Given Captain Charles Lindbergh by People of New York City

NEW YORK, June 14.—Captain Charles Lindbergh flew unaccompanied from Washington yesterday and landed in Mitchell Field here where he had hopped off for Paris on May 20. He transferred to a seaplane in which he was taken to the harbor. There he boarded a civic tug and was brought to the city and received a welcome from millions which is declared unparalleled in history. The famous aviator was driven through the financial district where thousands knee deep in ticker tape waste paper thrown from windows above, cheered themselves hoarse in greeting.

BIG BUSINESS IN VEGETABLES

VANCOUVER CHINATOWN RESEMBLES LONDON'S COVENT GARDEN IN EARLY MORNING

VANCOUVER, June 14.—Investigation of reports of unlicensed wholesale and retail trading conducted along Penster Street East in Chinatown here daily between three and six o'clock in the morning revealed that Chinese truck gardeners on the outskirts of Vancouver instituted a market similar to London's famous Covent Garden according to the report made to the city council by E. H. Mark, market superintendent. During a personal visit early last Saturday, the report states, he counted six hundred trucks and wagons on the streets and alleys of Chinatown, from which a thriving business was conducted.

PARIS, June 14.—Captain D'Osly, the noted French aviator, and his navigator Gopin narrowly escaped death when a heavily loaded plane hopping off on a non-stop flight to Karachi, India, crashed soon after it started and was destroyed by fire. The aviator was not hurt.

The store of F. E. Hunt Ltd. on the waterfront was entered during the night and the cash register looted of something like $11 in cash. The hinge was broken off a storeroom door at the rear and entry made into the main store through a window.

It was only on May 6 that the place was similarly visited and a small amount of change taken from the cash register.

IRISH ELECTIONS INTERESTING

Nobody seems to get excited over the Irish elections yet nobody seems to know exactly what will be the outcome. There are so many groups that it will be difficult to place some of them after the election count is complete. While the government is in the lead, apparently, it has no semblance of a majority over all and if it remains in power must seek the support of other groups. What effect it will have, not even Irishmen who have followed recent political developments in the Old Country can predict.

There are a lot of people who try to do their work and another lot of people who spend much of their time advising them how to do it.

CROPS ARE DOING WELL

News from the prairies indicates that the acreage sown to wheat is almost as large as last year and that the young crops are growing with great rapidity. The outlook is excellent as long as frost and hail do not take too large a toll. At any rate the calamity we feared did not happen. And this is the usual outcome of our worries. We think everything is going wrong and suddenly the sun begins to shine again and everything is lovely.

Opportunity knocked at the door of Clarence Chamberlain to win fame and wealth by flying from New York to Paris. He dallied, and the opportunity was snatched from him by ruthless fate and today Lindburgh is the hero while Chamberlain is over in Germany trying to work up enthusiasm over his flight.

ALTERNATIVE VOTING

Alternative voting or proportional representation is a very cumbersome method. Here is the way one paper explains it: In the coming elections in Manitoba the alternative vote is to be used in 45 provincial constituencies. The object is to insure that where there are three or more candidates in the field the one chosen will be the choice of the majority of the electors. The method of what is known as the alternative or transferable vote is, of course, in the nature of a subterfuge. Voters are required to give their preference, as it were, and then to give a second preference, which means that a voter may have a first choice of a Farmer candidate and a second of a Conservative. He may not want to vote for the Conservative at all, but, apart altogether from his views on the subject, in order to insure that a successful candidate has the "support" of a majority of those voting, he is given a second choice. There is nothing mysterious about this method of voting except that it presupposes that voters are quite ready to split the franchise in elections. All the elector has to do is to mark the figure 1 opposite the name of the candidate who is his or her first choice and the figure 2 opposite his or her second choice. Then, in the case of four candidates being in the field in a constituency, the voter has the further privilege of mutilating his or her political predilections by marking the figure 3 opposite the name of his or her third choice. As a palliative for the alternative vote it is explained that it does not help at all for a voter to plump for any one candidate. That is the most he or she can do, but the one plumped for may not be the victor, and it is naively pointed out that "the effect of indicating a second choice is that in case the first choice is not elected the voters' alternative vote may help to elect the candidate who is regarded by him or her as "next best."

Under the system the counting of ballots becomes more complicated than it has ever been in the past. A candidate with a majority of the first choices is declared elected. If he fails to secure this majority then the candidate with the smallest number of first choice votes is eliminated. The second choices on the ballot paper are then distributed between the other candidates and the one then obtaining a majority will be elected. The Manitoba Free Press says the alternative method "is quite simple," and that newspaper believes it secures "an adequate expression of the will of the electors in any constituency where there are more than three candidates than is possible under the present system of her first past the post." What is not taken into consideration at all is the question of policies involved. A voter may be keen on a candidate as second choice but may absolutely abhor the policies of his party. The transferable vote is one of voting for men and not measures, a question of personal likes and dislikes which tends to ignore the policies that guide the destinies of a country. It sets candidates above the measures for which they are responsible.

PRACTICE FOR FIRE BRIGADE IS URGED

Ald. Perry's suggestion that Department be Given Weekly Practices Evokes Discussion at Council Meeting

Ald. Perry urged at last night's council meeting that the fire department should be given regular weekly drills as a means of assuring its efficiency in time of need. In all cities in which he had been such was the custom and he thought it might well be established here. There should be hook and ladder drill and such other practices.

Ald. Brown pointed out that it was Ald. Perry's privilege, if he so wished, to call the department out at any time for a drill. As it was, however, he thought the department had frequent practices. They were often called out when there was no fire.

Mayor Newton pointed out that the fire chief monthly reported the equipment to be in good order. When ever there was an alarm there was always prompt response and he took it for granted that the department was retaining its efficiency.

Ald. Larson said that he had frequently seen the department testing its signal boxes and other equipment. That seemed to be a regular procedure. He thought there were frequent enough alarms to keep the department in practice.

Ald. Stephens felt that sending in false alarms was a practice that should be frowned upon. It was the place of the chief to give his men exercise and keep them in proper shape to handle fires. He did not know personally of any delinquency. On the contrary, he thought the fire department was a very fair one. That was borne out by the board of underwriters which had been gradually reducing the rates in the city. The underwriters would not be doing that if they did not think the department was an efficient one.

Ald. Tinker enquired if there were not some standing rules for keeping the force in condition and practice. The matter was something he thought for the chairman of the committee in charge to look into.

WOULD CHECK INGRESS OF LABOR TO RUPERT

Contractors Awarded Contract for Construction of Kasten Island Highway Will be Advised Plenty of Men Here

Ald. Larsen moved and Ald. Linzey seconded at last night's council meeting that the mayor be urged to communicate with the contracting concern that should be awarded the contract for the continuation of the Kasten Island highway advising that there was plenty of labor in the city without bringing any from the outside. The motion carried.

Ald. Larsen stated that large numbers of men had already been attracted to the city through the prospects of this work being undertaken at an early date. He estimated that there were at the present time in the city 200 men who did not know where they would get their next meal. So that there would be no undue influx of men he felt that the contractors should be notified that there were already plenty here. He also felt that local men should be given the preference on this work.

Ald. Perry pointed out that the successful contracting company was at liberty to hire or fire such men as it saw fit. Resolutions passed by the council could have little effect upon it.

SEVERAL TAX SALE LOTS DISPOSED OF

City Council Accepts Recommendations of Finance Committee Transferring Property to Private Owners

Transfer of several lots from the city's delinquent list to private owners was effected through recommendations of the finance committee accepted by the council last night.

Lot 2, block 26, section 1, and lot 27, block 35, section 1, will be transferred to Hon. A. M. Manson in exchange for his half interest in lots 8 and 9, block 26, section 1. Ald. Jos. Greer explained, in answer to a question by Ald. Brown, that some years ago Mr. Manson and another party had purchased a double corner on Second Avenue. The partner had let it drop by not paying taxes and the property reverted to the city. Mr. Manson had applied for the other lots of similar value and assessment to his undivided half-interest in the first property and it was to settle the matter in this way that the recommendation was brought in. The council then accepted this recommendation as well as recommendations that other lots be sold as follows:

Lot 11, block 40, section 7, John Lindseth, $100.
Lot 29, block 7, section 7, A. K. Geary, $85.

Lot 25, block 35, section 7, J. Squirchuk, $200.

There was a special meeting of the school board last night in the city police court chamber when salary revision was the topic of discussion. On the same subject there will be another special meeting tomorrow night.

SEWER IS REQUESTED FOR SUMMIT AVENUE

Petition from People Residing on Acropolis Hill Presented to Council Last Night

Residents of Summit Avenue again asked the city council last night for the construction of a sewer, under the local improvement plan, to serve them. Their request came in the form of a petition assuring that it was expedient to construct a 9 in. vitrified sewer on Sixth Avenue, across Taylor Street and along Summit Avenue to the boundary line between lots 24 and 25, block 28, section 5, together with laterals therefrom. Those signing the petition, owners of property abutting the proposed work, were Mrs. Frances M. Minns, A. J. Lancaster, E. A. Mann, S. Bloom, A. J. Phillipson, Mrs. M. D. Mann, Mrs. F. E. Phillipson and Charles G. Minns.

NEW HALIBUT BOATS REACH KETCHIKAN

Charley Ness Formerly of the Polar is Now Has the Venture

KETCHIKAN, June 14.—Two more halibut boats reached port on their maiden trips, costing some $30,000 each, the Venture, Capt. Charley Ness, and the Pacific, Captain Ole Larsen.

Both men are old-time Alaskans. Captain Ness formerly was on the Polar.

The two vessels were built in Seattle. Each one is equipped with a large Estep engine, and is of the larger type for cruising. They are equipped with modern conveniences and their trim lines suggest private yachts, rather than fishing boats, many of which have entered the port of Ketchikan this season, are all of a modern design in contrast to the old-time fishing boats.

Tinker stated at last night's council meeting that arrangements were being made to have special lighting on the court house grounds for the July 1 celebration and suggested that something similar might be done at the City Hall for the occasion. At the suggestion of the mayor, the matter was left in the hands of the Board of Works which will have the decoration of the building in hand.

Mayor Newton has been advised by head offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Vancouver that it will be impossible to hold over the steamer Princess Alice to the evening of July 1 to take home the Ketchikan visitors who will be attending the celebration that day. It was explained that the vessel would be full to capacity out of Vancouver. The matter will be further gone into by the celebration committee with a view to making suitable arrangements.

KAIEN GARAGE BRING IN A NEW PONTIAC CAB

The first Pontiac Six cabriolet ever to reach the city has been brought in by the Kaien Garage and it was promptly purchased by Alex Prudhomme of the Savoy Hotel. The first Pontiac was only built in January, 1926, yet so great has been the demand that orders have always been far ahead of production and this one has arrived after months of waiting.
Among all the sixes made, the Pontiac is the lowest in price for the value received; with its large bore slow speed motor, its efficiency is demonstrated by its low maintenance costs.
Made by the General Motors Corporation at Oshawa, the Pontiac is a car of which its manufacturers and its owners may be well proud, and its exceptional two tone color scheme with light green fenders and sand colored body give it an outstanding appearance.—Advt.

Ald. Perry, at last night's council meeting, suggested that the Shawatians Lake pumping station be placed under the Board of Works which has other waterworks in charge. The station is now under the direction of the utilities committee but Ald. Perry felt it could be more efficiently handled by the board of works. The suggestion was referred to the utilities committee for consideration.

BRITISH PROFESSIONALS PLAYING IN OPEN GOLF TOURNA-MENT BE-GINNING TODAY

NEW YORK, June 14.—America's supremacy on the links, which reached its crest last year in sweeping British victories by Bobby Jones and Jess Sweetser, will be subjected to its most threatening challenge since 1920 in the American open Championship at Oakmont, Pa. which opened today.

Taylor's Position The success of British forces in these two campaigns, however, was pronounced, for on both occasions compatriots finished in the run-up positions.

There was one other notable British invasion in 1913 by Vardon and Ray, when the two famous overseas players finished in a tie with Francis Ouimet.

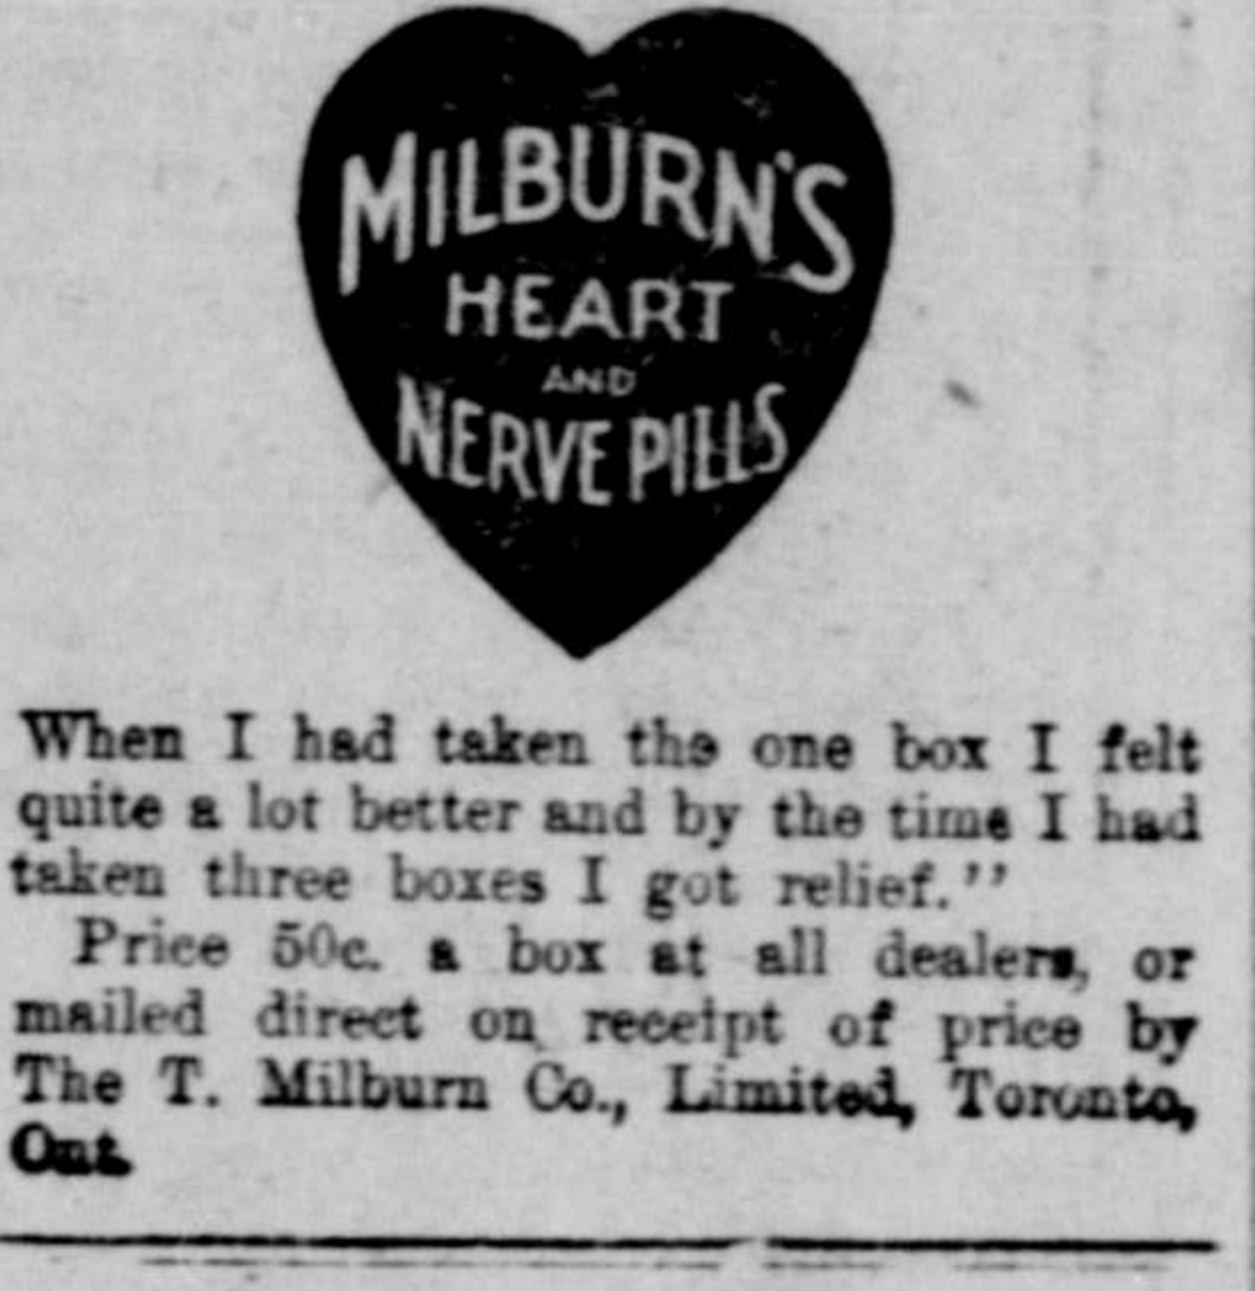

SPORT CHAT

With only three games to qualify for the finals, each of these football matches between now and July 1 when the final of the Dominion Cup will be played is going to prove of particular interest and soccer fans may be relied upon to turn out in numbers.

Bobby Jones launches his eighth drive for the American National open golf championship today at Oakmont, New York, from a background of record streaking which has no parallel in links history.

Mrs. W. H. Yates, Ashern, Man., writes:—'I was bothered very much with my heart and nerves, and the least noise would make me jump and almost stop my heart beating.

When I had taken the one box I felt quite a lot better and by the time I had taken three boxes I got relief.

The roll of championship possibilities in this year's open golf tournament contains the names of three well known veterans whose shadows have frequently fallen across the title gateway during the last five or six campaigns.

Mehhorn only once in the last five years has failed to place among the first ten. Last year he was third after being fifteenth in 1925.

Diegel looked like a winner in 1920 losing out in the final round to Ted Ray of England by a single stroke.

TROUT PROVES FICKLE LOVER

SPORT FISH ARE SEEN ACTIVE IN HATCHERY WHERE HABITS ARE STUDIED

BANFF, June 14.—Many interested visitors are these days seen around the big pool at the Banff fish hatchery, for the rainbow and cut-throat trout are spawning and their operations as they prepare the nests can be easily watched. Usually, at spawning time, the few fish in the pool are caught with a net and stripped of their spawn by hand. This year, however, they are left to spawn naturally. In the same pool are several salmon trout and a few Nipigon. Both of these species spawn in the fall and just now are busily engaged in attempting to feed on the eggs deposited by the spawning species.

Around the edges of the pool can be seen patches of gravel which have been cleaned almost white. These are the nests. When ready to mate, male and female choose the spot they fancy, and there, side by side, they set up a rapid fanning motion with their tails. This fanning motion serves two purposes—it cleans all the silt and mud out of the gravel, a very necessary precaution, for, just previous to hatching, the eggs require large quantities of oxygen, and if they cannot get this, on account of silt, they smother; and it also digs down into the gravel, piling the latter in two ridges on each side of the fish.

REAL FIGHTERS

About two days are occupied in preparing the nest, this being done a few days before the female is actually ready to spawn. Each time the mated pair proceed to the nest, one or two salmon trout will follow, waiting a chance to rush in and suck the eggs out of the gravel. In the Banff pool, strangely, all the male rainbow and cutthroat are small trout, yet, as in the animal world, when the mating season commences these small trout become veritable demons to fight.

They will charge salmon trout weighing twice as much as themselves, and will every time put the enemy to rout. With open mouths they tear at the larger fish, and to many visitors who do not understand what is taking place, the actions of these fish seem almost ludicrous. When ready to spawn, the female deposits a quantity of eggs, keeping up the tail fanning, the result being that the eggs are driven into the interstices of the gravel. When a small number have been thus placed in the gravel, the female moves away while the male fertilizes them. During this period the female is called upon to defend the nest from marauders and no less dauntless than her mate is she in this work.

To make the second deposit, the female moves slightly forward and commences fanning vigorously, forcing some of the forward gravel back to where the first deposit of eggs was made thus burying them safely from the other trout, who are waiting to suck them from the nest.

FIGHTS FOR MATE

Although the male trout is such a brave fighter in defence of the nest, and though previous to mating he has to fight others of his own species and sex for possession of the lady he chooses, yet he is a fickle lover, for remove the female from the nest and he immediately departs in search of another, and, if not finding an untainted one, he at once engages in battle with an already mated one, and, if victor, usurps the vanquished one's place. For this reason, when it is intended to strip the spawn from the fish, it is imperative that the male be first caught and placed in a tub of water, and no trouble will be experienced in catching the female. Reverse the order and the required gentleman vanishes quickly in search of another mate. It is hardly probable that present natural spawning will produce any fish, for the fry that hatch from those eggs that the salmon trout are not successful in getting will be quickly eaten by the larger fish when the former first venture out from the gravel. In the fall when the Nipigon and Salmon trout are spawning, the rainbow and cut-throat will return the attentions now being shown them by the first two named, and thus neither species will increase.

OLD COUNTRY WELLS BLESSED

CURIOUS CEREMONY IN WHICH CHRISTIANITY AND PAGANISM ARE STRANGELY MINGLED

LONDON, June 14.—The blessing of the wells at Tissington and other Old Country remote villages, particularly in Derbyshire, was carried out as usual this year. It is supposed to date back from a time before the Christian era. Everything conspires to make the ceremony one of memorable beauty. The time of year, to begin with, finds the English countryside at its best. The English is dressed in maidenly green, and the village, even without this cloak is very beautiful. It is all that story-book villages are. There is a fine house, built with the grave and pensive beauty that country houses have in England; there is a small ancient church in a lovely churchyard; there are cottages of the strong decent grey stone of the district; there are green spaces everywhere, and trees full of rooks; and there is water.

It is difficult to doubt that thanksgiving for the great gift of water lies at the beginnings of its immemorial ceremony. Everywhere in Tissington there is water. It is said that the village has never known a drought, that when other villages have been baked and dry and the cattle have stood forlornly in the cracked mud beds of the rivers Tissington has enjoyed the singing of water. One writer has suggested that the very name "Tissington" sounds like the hissing of water over pebbles. It does. And if you stand quiet in Tie-lington of an evening you will hear that hissing all round you. There are ponds of water, there are streams of water running everywhere about, and there are wells of water.

City dwellers, accustomed to the hourly miracle of turning a tap and drawing water that has reflected the pines circling a hill-bound lake a hundred miles away, find it hard to realise the intimate affection of a village for its wells. Tissington knows that intimate affection; and almost always the story of Rebecca at the well or of the woman of Samaria who at a well came upon so wonderful an encounter, finds a place in the well-dressing.

WELL PICTURES

But doubtless there are many who do not know what this well-dressing comes to. It is prepared for long before the day, and it is a matter for the villagers themselves. There are five wells, and a picture is designed for each. The design is the work of one person, and many helpers come in to carry it through. The labor of this is immense. Imagine, for example, that the picture is the "Agony in the Garden." (That subject was chosen one year.) The picture will be ten feet high by six feet wide. A wooden frame is made. Wet clay an inch deep, is laid over this; and the picture is made of flower petals, every one pressed individually upon the clay. Tens of thousands of petals are used in each picture, and five pictures are made each year. The effect is a brilliant mosaic. The spring leaves give their gorgeous green; blues are worked in with pansies or forget-me-nots; wall flowers make lovely patches of brown velvet; and with berries or geranium petals vivid scarlets are introduced.

Overnight these pictures are put up, one over each well. Then, on Ascension Day, the little village, whose inhabitants do not number 300, goes to Mattins in the church. There is usually a sprinkling of visitors, but the well-dressing has happily never become a gew-gaw show; and the appearance of an odd side-show or two on the village green makes an impression simply of rustic jollity.

After the church service the round of the wells is made. A few surprised clergy lead the way. Then comes the choir, not surprised—just a handful of villagers with hale voices, and behind them straggles a general knot of folk. A pause is made at each well, a psalm and hymn are sung, and a collect is said. Then the priest pronounces a blessing upon the water. Whether the words of the blessing are the same on all occasions I do not know, but when I heard them they were these: "May the blessing of God Almighty, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, be upon this well and those who use it and care for it, now and for evermore. Amen."

BOY BAPTIZED
IN A NEW TUB

CURIOUS CEREMONY AT GREEK ORTHODOX SERVICE IN MON-TREAL.

OTTAWA, June 14.—With all kinds of ceremonies, strange to Canadians but part of the usual ritual of the Greek Orthodox Evangelismos Church of Montreal, little John Tragiskos of this city was baptized by a Montreal priest in a large galvanized wash-tub never before used, and afterwards destroyed.
The water from the tub must always be either emptied into a stream or into a hole in the ground. After it was partly filled with water holy oil was poured in. From the tub the child was placed in a sheet held in the godfather's arms.
Then the priest clipped the child's hair and threw the locks into the tub, after which the child was removed to another room to be dressed, then given the holy sacrament by the priest. During the actual ceremony the child was in charge of his godmother until the final word of the ritual had been pronounced. Until the baptism is finished the child is not considered free from sin and must not be handled by the parents during the rites.

The godfather was Jimmy Atsalinos of this city and the godmother Miss Florence Pilon, sister of Mrs. Frangkos. The ceremony of giving the baby his Greek name Ioannis (John) took place in the parlor in the presence only of those directly connected with the christening.

It is an ancient custom for a gift to be made to the first person to notify the parents of the name under which the baby has been christened. It is also a custom for the godfather to present a gift to all those present and in this case Mr. Atsalinos presented the mother with a handsome sum of money and a gift of the same nature to all those present, including children. A dinner and musical program followed.

SURPRISE PARTY

Mrs. George Rudderham Honored by Friends Saturday Night

Mr. and Mrs. George Rudderham, 201
Eighth Avenue West, were given a surprise party Saturday night at their residence by a group of some twenty-five well wishing friends, the occasion being in the nature of a farewell to Mrs.
Rudderham who is leaving June 25 on an extended visit to her former home in Sydney, Nova Scotia. Cards, dancing and singing were enjoyed and a pleasant feature of the evening's proceedings was the presentation to Mrs. Rudderham of a set of silver knives. The presentation was made by Mrs. Rex Publicover and the recipient suitably responded.

Prizes at whist were won by Mrs. G.
Geddes, Miss Jones, Mrs. Warne, G.
Geddes, and A. Guyon.

Delicious refreshments were served.

The Japanese freighter Yomel Maru, having completed lading, at 1 o'clock this afternoon moved down from the dry dock to the elevator to start loading grain for Japan. The vessel should be done here about Thursday and will then proceed to Vancouver to complete cargo with wheat and logs.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Waugh and little daughter returned to the city on yesterday's train after having spent the week-end at Terrace.
