City Bonds Fetch High Prices on Open Market City Council Pleased

The offer announced to be the best the city has ever received for its bonds, the council last night accepted a bid from the Royal Financial Corporation of 96.31 for issues aggregating $85,000 which include all outstanding local improvement bonds as well as the issue of $5,000 passed by the ratepayers at the election last January to cover extensions of the sewerage system. All the bonds are five per cent repayable in ten years. The finance committee recommended that the offer be accepted and the council complied unanimously.

C.N.R. ACCEPT OFFER CANADA

Will be Paid 96 for Five Per Cent Bonds Outstanding to Amount of $55,000,000

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Holders of Canadian Northern five per cent income debentures unanimously decided today to accept the offer of the Canadian government and redeem them at 96 per cent.

St. Charles Garnsey, chairman of the London committee representing the debenture holders, paid tribute to the reasonable manner in which the Dominion government and the Canadian National Railway had met the stockholder throughout the negotiations.

The amount of debentures outstanding is approximately $55,000,000, the settlement of which now awaits the decision of the Canadian parliament.

WATER MAIN IS VEXED PROBLEM

New Subdivision of Lots is Involved in Application of Railway Company for New Connection

The making of a new subdivision of lots being involved in the application of the Canadian National Railway for a new water main connection, the city council last night decided to defer action in the matter of putting in the new main until the company had been further consulted.

The council was in receipt of a recommendation from the board of works that the new six inch connection be put in in compliance with the request of the company.

Ald. Greer wished to enquire from the chairman of the board of works or the city engineer if the present connection was really in bad condition. Was it in any worse shape than some other mains in the city?

Ald. Perry asserted that it was necessary to renew the main at once, otherwise, a break might occur at any time which would deprive the railway company of water. He produced samples of the pipe showing wear that was general in the entire line at present.

NOTHING IN ESTIMATES

Ald. Jos. Greer inquired if it would not be possible to carry on until the first of the year. It was only six weeks now and there was nothing in the year's estimates to provide for such work.

Ald. Perry felt that there should be no delay. There had been three breaks during the past summer. The railway company itself was already putting in a new six inch cast iron pipe of its own. The company was taking a large amount of water and was paying for it. He felt that no chance should be taken of depriving it of water. The cost was estimated at $550 and the board of works had found that it had ample funds on hand to take care of this work and carry on until the end of the year. It might cost a lot of money to repair another break. Apparently some members of the council were not inclined to agree.

OTHERS JUST AS BAD

Ald. W. J. Greer regretted having to disagree with the board of works on this particular matter. Many pipe lines in the city were in just as bad condition as the one in question. Eventually, he thought, the new connection would have to be made but he saw no necessity for rushing into it before the first of the year. In any case, if the present line should go out of business, the company had ready access to water at other points. He thought that the sale of lots and subdivision was involved in the matter, this being something that would first have to receive municipal authorization.

City Solicitor E. F. Jones read over the application of the railway company and found that authorization for a new subdivision was sought therein. "Is it necessary for the city council to approve the subdivision before proceeding with the water main?" queried Ald. Perry.

"That is an engineering proposition," replied Mr. Jones.

REFERRED TO SOLICITOR

Ald. Tinker could not see where the approval of the subdivision was involved in the putting in of the water main but he moved that the matter be referred to the city solicitor so that he might take it up with the railway company.

The motion was seconded by Ald. W. J. Greer and carried, only Ald. Perry voting in opposition.

FINE SKATING ON LAKE LAST NIGHT

Fully one hundred persons enjoyed splendid skating last night on the lake near the present end of the Kaien Island Highway. The ice was in the best of condition, weather was fine and conditions were entirely favorable.

One of the largest groups consisted of members of the United Church Young People's Society to the number of twenty-five or thirty who called off their regular meeting and, riding in two trucks, repaired to the ice at 7:30, there to fully enjoy themselves until 11:30.

The function will continue with a supper followed by a program in the evening.

Work Commenced on Wreck to Release It from Rock Burnt Cliff Island Reef

While arrival is being awaited of cables from headquarters of Lloyds underwriters in London, England, definitely deciding what is to be done in connection with the salvage of the wrecked steamer Catala on Burnt Cliff Island reef near Port Simpson, the Vancouver Dry Dock and Salvage Co. is starting work at the scene of the disaster today, the big salvage boat Salvage King having left early this morning to institute operations. Eric Rozing of this city has been awarded the contract to carry out the blasting which will be required to be done before there will be any chance of the vessel being released.

If a successful salvage is to be carried out, it is conceded that weather will be an all important factor. The job of getting the ship off will probably take a month's time and there will be always the risk that unfavorable weather may prevent the work being carried on and possibly might result in the ship slipping off the reef into deep water.

Provided the weather is favorable, it is considered that chances are good of salvaging the vessel despite difficulties that will attend the work on account of the exposed position of the ship.

FERRIERVILLE, Nov. 15.—Constable Russell Hayward, of the provincial police was shot and killed in the parish of Sheffield, Sunbury County, today. Nehemiah Hadjin, a Negro, whom the police seeking to arrest, is believed to have fired the bullet.

END OF EXCLUSIVE FINE WEATHER FOR RUPERT IN SIGHT

The low mark of the season—22 above zero was recorded during the night at the Digby Island meteorological station. With the barometer dropping, clouds coming over and the wind in the northwest direction with a tendency to southeast, snow is now expected soon to end the fine spell of ten days that has been prevailing here.

Reports reaching the city indicate that the recent period of fine weather has been exclusive to the north. In the south, there has been rain and cloudy weather, considerable of the former in some places. Hail, snow and rain was reported all at the same time at Bull Harbor at noon today.

SCOUTS AND CUBS ENJOY EVENING OF GAMES AND RIDDLES

The scouts and cubs, in conjunction with the Presbyterian Church, had a little banquet last evening with the scoutmaster, Ben Ferguson, in charge. They were addressed by George Rorie Jr. on scout work and Rev. J. R. Frizell also spoke to them. Riddles and scout games were enjoyed, a most pleasant evening being spent.

INJUNCTION ON ROCK SELLING

City Council Receives Threat From C. C. Ketchum Through His Solicitors

Through his counsel, Williams, Manson & Gonzales, C. C. Ketchum announced to the city council last night that, if the city engaged in the practice of selling rock to residents of the city, he would institute proceedings with a view to obtaining an injunction which would restrain the city from such practice. The letter on the matter suggested that the city had sold rock and intended to make further sales which it had no legal power to do. Mr. Ketchum had no desire to proceed if he could avoid it and would refrain from doing so if the city would undertake to make no further sales.

City Solicitor E. F. Jones substantiated the view that the city had no power to sell rock or enter into such engagements with private companies.

Ald. Brown inquired if the city had actually sold any rock and was informed by Ald. Perry and Ald. W. J. Greer that it had not done so.

The communication, at the request of Ald. Perry, was referred to the board of works for report.

LAKE OLIVER IS SUGGESTED

Proposal to Name Sheet of Water Alongside Highway After Late Premier

Lieut.-Col. McMordie, D.S.O., suggests that the lake now being used for skating purposes on Kaien Island adjoining the new road be named Lake Oliver after the late premier.

The Colonel points out that this lake is likely to be used a great deal by the people of Prince Rupert and on that account it will be important. While there are in the city streets named after Premiers McBride and Borden, there is nothing to perpetuate the memory of Oliver. There would be nothing political about such a name as the premier is gone and his name is generally revered.

CHARLES R. HOSMER DIES AT MONTREAL

Was One of Leading Financiers of Dominion and Had Town Named After Him

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—Charles R. Hosmer, 76 years of age, one of Canada's leading financiers, died last night. Mr. Hosmer started life as a telegraph operator on the old Grand Trunk Railway and later was appointed manager of the C.P.R. telegraph service. He was a director of a host of important business concerns, vice-president of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company and the town of Hosmer in the Crow's Nest Pass is named after him.

Eleven Drowned When Fishing Boat Exploded and Nine Bodies Found Unclothed on the Beach

JUNEAU, November 15.—Eleven persons, including seven children, probably all perished when an explosion took place aboard a fishing craft, apparently while the occupants were sleeping. This was revealed Monday after finding nine unclothed bodies on the beach fifty miles southeast of here. The dead are Johnny Albert with his family and his wife's parents, residents of Sitka.

The boat left a week ago for Hoonah, where they had been trolling, to return to Sitka. As the small craft was in the entrance to Whiststone Harbor the explosion occurred, apparently destroying the frail gasboat and leaving the unwarned family helpless in the icy waters.

The recovered bodies were badly discolored as though from an explosion. Searchers are seeking traces of the boat and two missing persons.

NO FURTHER ACTION ON TRAIL THROUGH SCHOOL GROUNDS

No further action was taken by the city council last night in connection with the placing of lights on the shortcut to the east end of town through the grounds of Booth Memorial School, a report from the utilities committee recommending the putting in of two lights not being dealt with following the refusal of the school board to have the grounds used as a thoroughfare.

Ald. Perry suggested that the school board might again be approached with regard to the matter. It was a great convenience for people to use that route.

Ald. Jos. Greer inquired as to prospects of having the Hays Cove Circle continuation of Fifth Avenue opened soon.

Ald. Perry announced that that would depend altogether on how much material might be available. If rock from a few more lots could be obtained, it might be possible to open it by next summer.

Ald. W. J. Greer reported that A. Antorelli was seeking the privilege to dump muskeg and rock from an excavation on Third Avenue for Ross Bros' building. Possibly that might see that part of Hays Cove Circle through.

DAILY EDITION Tuesday, Nov. 15, 1927

RUSSIAN POLITICAL SITUATION

The Russian political situation is difficult to understand. Practically the old revolutionary leaders have been ousted from the Government and from the Communist party. This sets them outside the ruling aristocracy of that country, where approximately 140,000,000 people are ruled by the vote of less than a million.

It is possible now that the ousted members of the party will form an official opposition which will function somewhat along the line of an opposition in this country, but is conceivable that if they become very active they may lose more than their standing in the country. Russia is not altogether unlike Mexico in its methods.

Stalin is the present head of the government. He has gradually nosed out the others and has a strong following of men practically unknown outside of that country.

On the other hand Trotsky and his associates have been jeered when they attempted to speak. They have gradually lost their hold on the people largely through the control of the press being in the hands of the Stalin section who have seen to it that their side of every question has been presented in a favorable light.

GYROS AND SKATING POND

The Gyro Club is making a skating pond at Morse Creek and the people of the city are being asked to contribute to this fund by purchasing tickets to a Dam Dance to be put on at the auditorium toward the end of next week.

It is pointed out that the chief reason for making this rink is to provide a skating pond for children. At present they have no place large enough for them all to use, and the cost of getting out to the lakes is much more than children can afford to pay.

Many people do not dance and do not want to attend Friday night but the cause being such a good one we suggest that they purchase half a dozen tickets for the occasion. The work is already under way and it is announced that on this occasion it will be done well and results will follow.

KRISHNAMURTI, THE NEW MESSIAH

Krishnamurti, the young Hindu who has been discovered by Mrs. Anna Besant and educated and prepared by her to take the position of a new Messiah, world leader and Buddha, any name to suit the nationality or religion to which he may belong, has come out from his retirement and is about to become active.

Krishnamurti's message is first to India and then to the rest of the world. It is purity of mind, emotion and body. He is planning to make the big announcement of his message to the world from Happy Valley, California, next May.

This is an age when people are all looking for some new thing and it is possible that the young Buddha may arouse quite a following. If he can contribute to the improvement of world conditions, his message will be welcome, but in these days of religious charlatans, people find it as difficult to realize that it may be a live message as it was for the people of Judea two thousand years ago. At any rate, the way has been well prepared by a very clever woman, and women we know took a very prominent part in the dissemination of Christianity and also today they have a wonderful influence in all religious matters.

WATER REPORT IS MISSING

At the meeting of the city council last night a report was read from the utilities department on the result of the operations of the light and power and telephones on which there is a profit but no report on the water on which there is a loss. As these are all city utilities and closely related, although under separate departments, the publication of one without the other is misleading to the city and seems like a deliberate attempt of the city council to make the city utilities look better than they really are. Holding back this report looks like underhand work.

EVIDENCE IN LIQUOR CASE

Two Colored Women Convicted by Magistrate McClymont but Evidence Not the Best

WOMAN GIVES EVIDENCE
Tell of Visit of Operatives and Give Their Version of How They Behaved

George Snowden, Eighth Street, and Theda Gale, 814 Second Avenue West, both colored, were each fined $300, with the option of three months' imprisonment, by Magistrate McClymont in city police court yesterday afternoon for selling liquor. The disposal of these cases left but two more to be heard today of the group of seven resulting from recent activities in the city of Provincial Constables Darroch and MacDonald, operatives of the Liquor Control Board of British Columbia. The remaining two cases—those of Louis Ross and Charles Ross—were to be heard this morning.

In the Gale case, in which City Solicitor E. F. Jones prosecuted with L. W. Patmore defending, there was some contradiction on minor points which the magistrate commented upon, stating, however, that on the main point of the sale of liquor itself there was sufficient corroborative evidence for him to convict.

The first witness was Constable MacDonald. He told of going to the place of accused about 4 p.m. on November 9 in company with Constable Darroch. They went upstairs and rang the bell, accused coming to the door, unlocking it and asking them in. They went in and she said, "Sit Down." That was in a small room. Accused asked "Are you boys going to buy me a little drink?" MacDonald said that he would and accused went out and brought back three hot rums for which $1.50 was paid in the form of six 25c pieces.

HOT OR COLD RUM
The commencement of Mr. Patmore's cross-examination was the signal for the fireworks to commence. Witness did not know for sure whether or not the rum he received was hot. He was not confused as to whether or not it was rum and he felt sure that he had ordered hot rum. However, it was not a material point. The most important thing was that it was rum. Mr. Patmore wondered how witness was so sure it was rum when he could not recall whether it was hot or cold.

Mr. Patmore's next inquiries were along the line of attempted improper conduct on the part of the other detective, Constable Darroch. Witness said they usually talked this way to convince those that they were after that they were "all right." Mr. Jones held that inquiries along this line had nothing to do with credibility of the witness or with the charge. Mr. Patmore thought otherwise and was sustained by the magistrate. Accused, witness continued, had heard conversation between himself and Constable Darroch in which the latter had said he had been fooling around but that he "wouldn't take a chance. Accused became very mad and had said: "I am all right and I can prove it." She then produced a paper which he (witness) supposed was a doctor's certificate although he did not examine it. He did not recall accused saying "Get out." The drinks had been served previously. Witness denied saying "All right. We'll get you again."

NOT ADMITTED
An examination of witness' notes followed. They were not his original notes but had been copied from a slip of paper made at the time into a book. Some minor alterations came into question. The drinks had been served in three small glasses. After consulting his notes, witness was prepared to swear that it was hot rum. Witness stated that they had gone to accused's place again that evening and she had refused to admit them.

Mr. Patmore—"Was that because the old man had been so foul mouthed?"
Witness—"Perhaps."

CONSTABLE DARROCH
The evidence of Constable Darroch, under examination by Mr. Jones, was corroborative of that of Constable MacDonald.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Patmore, witness could not recall positively whether it was cups or glasses the drinks had been brought in. He had drunk out of both at that house. He was sure, however, that it was rum they had drunk. Mr. Patmore asked His Lordship to consider such a thing as witness being sure it was rum he had drunk although he could not remember what the container had been. The witness further testified that it was hot rum.

"How do you know?" asked Mr. Patmore.

"By the feel on my mouth," responded the witness. "I am a pretty old man and I ought to know hot from cold."

"And you don't know whether it was a cup or a glass."

"It was one or the other. It wasn't a pall or a dipper."

Another squabble arose through a remark made by Mr. Patmore.

"Mr. Patmore has no right to cast slurs on the witnesses," objected Mr. Jones.

"Mr. Patmore will make slurs as long as—" from Mr. Patmore.

"Keep quiet you and get down to business," advised His Worship.

Witness remembered still distinctly that the drink had been hot.

"Your notebook may help you," suggested Mr. Patmore.

"Yes, the note book may refresh my memory, I admit frankly, though I also have this in my memory."

First a Joke . . .
Now a Necessity

NO period in history has seen such development as the last fifty years . . . and in the forefront of that development no improvement is more marked than in the transmission of speech by electricity.

In 1876 the idea of transmitting sound by electricity was treated as a joke. Skeptics despaired of its future; the less charitable laughed.

Today it has become a necessity. The social and business life of the civilized world depends to a great extent on its use. The increasing number of daily calls is the barometer of the growth which this service has earned.

Canada's million telephones in homes, offices and factories throughout the Dominion have added much to the industrial growth of the country and to the happiness and well-being of its people.

The Northern Electric Company is proud of the privilege of manufacturing and distributing most of the telephone equipment which serves an ever-increasing number of Canadians every hour of the day.

"Point out the words 'hot rum' in your notebook to the magistrate" asked Mr. Patmore.
Witness found that the book did not say "hot rum." Nevertheless, it was hot rum. The magistrate refused to accept Mr. Patmore's deduction that witness could not be sure because it was not in the book.

Neglected Eyes

NEGLECT is doubtless the cause of most of the ills that afflict humanity. This is so self evident that it seems hardly necessary to tell you. If your eyes are giving trouble, have them attended to—and at once. OF ALL absurdities in the kingdom of foolishness, surely the loss of eyesight through neglect is the most inexcusable. DON'T lose health and efficiency through neglect. Come and see!

the day in which the liquor had been purchased. The day before he had bought rum in accused's kitchen. She played the gramophone and they had a waltz. He denied having been ordered out by accused. As a matter of fact when they did leave accused had said: "Come back again, darlies."

"And darlies did go back and was refused admission?" questioned Mr. Patmore.

"No we were not," countered witness. "Lars! Why I've never seen anything like it," asserted Mr. Patmore.

"I most strenuously object to such comment," ejaculated Mr. Jones. "It is the most improper remark I have ever heard in a courtroom. As for lying, your clients today can equal about anything I have ever seen."

Mr. Patmore continued his observations about the lying of the crown witness.

"Somebody seems to be lying, all right," agreed the magistrate.

THEA GALE

Thea Gale was then called to the stand to give evidence in her own behalf. She told of keeping a place above Trotter's store for the C.N.R. porters. The company furnished the linen. She had been running the place since October 17. She had formerly been on Comox Avenue but had moved up town as she wished to better herself. She had bought Mrs. Harris out. Witness denied selling any liquor there whatever. Darroch first came in on Wednesday, October 9, and asked for a room. Witness told him she was afraid she could not give him a room for a week. Her charges were $1 a night or $3 a week. Darroch had inquired about girls and she had told him there were places for that. Darroch inquired how about herself. Accused said that she told Darroch that she was busy, having beds to make before she had her lunch. There was more talk and the gave Darroch a cup of coffee. He had fooled around until she had to drive him out of the house. Further inquiries were made and witness said: "I don't run a house like that. I am not on the line now and I demand a certain amount of respect. You better get out before there is trouble." Darroch went and said "Good-bye."

ASKED FOR ROOM

Darroch returned to the house in the evening, accompanied by MacDonald. Witness continued. Darroch said that he had come back to get a room for his friend. When they got inside, Darroch said, "We don't want a room. We want a girl." Accused told them not to come back again and walked out. She heard the men whispering, one telling the other it was a drink, not a girl, they wanted. Witness was brought into the conversation. She was mad and went back to them. The younger man told her not to pay any attention to the older man. They asked for a drink which was refused. On departing, MacDonald said: "Never mind. We'll be back and get you."

Later, the men did come back but accused denied admitting them or selling them a drink.

Under cross-examination, accused denied the story of the sale of liquor in whole cloth. When Darroch came to her place in the morning, he said that he had been drinking all night. He looked it too. Accused started to weep. "When one wants to be a lady I don't see why one should be brought here to be humiliated," she said.

ARGUMENT OF COUNSEL

In asking for dismissal of the case, Mr. Patmore submitted that less evidence than ever had been offered in connection with this charge. The men could remember nothing more than that they had got rum. They could not remember whether it was hot or cold or whether it was glasses or cups in which it had been served. It was usually the little things surrounding such cases that called the main incidents to attention. Witnesses could not remember the taste of what they had received or how they had drunk it. Surely that was not sufficient evidence upon which to convict. If the men lied about one thing, they would certainly lie about another. He referred to the fact that, on the point of proposed improper conduct, the old man had contradicted MacDonald regarding the conversation. There was evidence that positive lying was going on. Nor were there any exhibits in the case. "If the court is going to accept such evidence as this, where is anyone of us going to be safe?" queried counsel.

Was it not possible that the story of the woman was correct? She was entitled to the benefit of the doubt. Was it likely that a woman seeking to improve herself, as accused was doing,

DISCREPANCIES

Mr. Jones remarked that Mr. Patmore, through experience with some of his own witnesses, was undoubtedly an authority upon the subject of lying. It was true that there were discrepancies in some of the evidence of the crown witnesses which could not be reconciled. However, the episode in question had nothing to do with the charge. The evidence as to the sale of liquor was convincing. On no material points, Mr. Jones pointed out, had defence counsel been successful in breaking the witnesses down. The question was: Did the men buy liquor or did they not? Both had sworn positively that they had obtained rum and this was the important point. He asked for a conviction.

The magistrate commented that, on details, he found the evidence of crown witnesses unsatisfactory. On the main issue of liquor sale, however, there was corroboration. "I therefore," addressing the accused "find you guilty of the charge and fine you $300 with the option of three months' imprisonment with hard labor."

Evidence of liquor sale in the Georgia Snowden case was of a similar nature, the defence consisting of a denial. Mr. Patmore also appeared for Snowden.

MUST NOT RUN WATER PIPES

Residents of Prince Rupert will be given two more weeks to see that exposed water pipes are covered and, at the expiry of that time, if it is found that taps are still being allowed to run to prevent freezing, the water will be shut off forthwith. Such was the decision of the city council last night following the receipt of reports that a shortage of water supply for the city was impending and that, accordingly, no waste could be permitted.

The matter was brought up when Wilfrid Gratton appeared before the city council protesting that water supply to some of his houses should be cut off because taps were allowed to run when such practice was general throughout the city. The premises referred to, it was pointed out, were shacks on Second Avenue, west of the junction, where pipes were exposed.

Ald. Perry pointed out that, in summertime, precautions were taken to guard against a waste and shortage of water. In winter time, there was even greater fire risk and, if the present weather kept on, there would soon be a shortage which might make it impossible to fight fires unless the strictest of economy was observed. Notices had been published and the people had been given all summer to have their pipes protected. Eighty per cent of the cases had been met but a few had not complied with the warning. This was a case where the public was to be taken care of and, no matter how much any individual might be paying in taxes, that did not make it any the more right for him to break the law. He suggested that two weeks' more time be given and, if the water was still allowed to run, then it should be cut off.

This was seconded by Ald. W. J. Greer.

Mr. Gratton signified his willingness of taking the necessary precautions but he wanted to be assured that everyone else was doing the same.

Ald. W. J. Greer pointed out that the co-operation of all citizens in this matter was desired. No discrimination, in favor of or against any person or persons was proposed.

City Engineer H. A. McLean pointed out that the department was trying to be fair in the matter. Mr. Gratton had been warned but he had failed to do the necessary work.

Ald. Brown thought that the two weeks' notice was fair. He pointed out that the water scarcity was to a large extent due to the fact that the Shawatlans Lake power plant was running to full capacity, open taps, of course, contributing to the shortage. If there was a water shortage at Woodworth Lake, more power would have to be developed at the dry dock at a higher cost. It was all a matter of dollars and cents insofar as the city was concerned.

The council decided that the two weeks' notice should be given. Adver-

THE FIRESIDE CLUB HOLDS MEETING AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The first meeting of the Baptist Fireside Club since its organization a week ago, was held in the church parlors last night. The club meeting, as its name suggests, was held around the open fireside with the President R. W. Howard in the chair. The club is endeavoring to present to the young people in particular the foursquare plan: literary, devotional, social and recreational. Last night being literary a very enjoyable program was given. After the opening exercises and business of the evening, J. C. Brady, M.P. and Mrs. Brady gave a sketch "As You Like It." The sketch was very forcefully presented and the humor well enjoyed and appreciated by those present. A piano solo by Miss Brady and one by Master Archie Thompson brought the program to a close. Refreshment were then served.

Next Monday the club will have a program of some of the native legends of B.C. All young people are welcome and all are invited to make themselves at home by the fireside.
