ITALIAN LINER SANK IN MID-OCEAN

MANY VESSELS WENT TO RESCUE; MOST OF PEOPLE SAVED

Italian Liner Foundered Near South American Coast Carrying Many Passengers Mostly Emigrants

Wreck caused by explosion of ship's boilers; ten vessels took part in work of rescue and nearly all saved

RIO DE JANEIRO, October 26.—The Italian liner Principessa Mafalda enroute from Genoa to this port and Buenos Aires foundered and sank last night 130 miles southeast of the port of Bahia, Brazil. It is believed that the loss of life was large.

The liner carried 1,600 passengers, many of them immigrants for Argentine. Hundreds were rescued but in spite of the heroic efforts of the crews of four rescue ships which answered frantic wireless calls for help, many went down with the ship.

As far as known only 720 out of the total aboard have been accounted for. The French steamer Formosa picked up 120, the British Empire Star 200, the German Athena 400. The Britisher Radioleone assisted in the rescue work but it is not known whether any rescued persons are on her.

ONLY 34 MISSING

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 26.—Only 34 of the 1258 persons aboard the steamer Principessa Mafalda were missing today, said a message here.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 26.—Latest advices here indicate that almost all on board the Principessa Mafalda have been saved. Some ten ships aided in the rescue work. The British ship Avalona saved three hundred.

Advices says the cause of the accident was the explosion of the ship's boilers.

POSSIBLY STRUCK HULK

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 26.—The latest theory in regard to the sinking of the Italian liner is that she collided with a floating hulk, following which her boilers burst.

ASK DRIVERS BE INSURED

Should Carry Liability to Amount of Five Thousand Dollars is Suggestion

VICTORIA, Oct. 26.—That every motorist in British Columbia be required to carry insurance against accidents was the proposal made to the cabinet today by a delegation from the Vancouver City Council.

A plan whereby all drivers carry insurance for public liability to the amount of $5,000 is proposed unless the driver can show that in case of accident he is able from his own resources to pay that amount.

NO MORE SPECTACULAR RAIDS ON NIGHT CLUBS

Commissioner Doran Orders Change of Tactics in Regard to Law Enforcement

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 26.—Spectacular raids on night clubs and cabarets will not be tolerated by prohibition commissioner Doran, who has sent out a new code of instructions for dry agents. The agents were ordered to cease the practice of dramatically rushing into cabarets with drawn revolvers in making raids. Arms, the commissioner said, should be used only in self-defense as their unnecessary display encourages shooting. Agents, however, may still use shot guns, rifles and machine-guns in operating against moonshiners in the mountainous sections.

The commissioner also admonished agents against unnecessary drinking of liquors to obtain evidence. Drinking, the order stipulated, should be used only strictly in the line of duty.

Mr. Justice Martin Sticks to His Guns in Strictures Passed Upon Judgment of Supreme Court

VANCOUVER, October 26.—Following a recent attack by the Supreme Court en banc on the Court of Appeal, Mr. Justice Martin of the Court of Appeal in a considered judgment reiterates the comments which provoked a protest by Chief Justice Hunter. After reviewing the case at length, he said:

"In the case at bar I think it unnecessary to say more than that there has in my opinion been a gross miscarriage of justice and that there should be a new trial held upon what Lord Langdale, master of the rolls, aptly describes as 'the first principles of justice.'

"But while I say no more than that, my clear duty to the public, for the protection of which it will be remembered the courts of appeal are established, constrains me to say no less."

The case concerned the custody of the three children of Edward McCabe of Victoria. Mr. Justice Morrison of the Supreme Court awarded the custody of the two daughters to distant relatives of the deceased mother and the custody of the son to the uncle. The father appealed and the Court of Appeal ordered the case reheard by the Supreme Court.

Labor Conference in England Interesting as Showing Trend of Movement in That Country

BLACKPOOL, England, October 26.—(By Mail).—The conference of the British Labor Party showed considerable change from former similar conferences in that it devoted most of its attention to attacking the present government and drawing up a program. Socialism and Liberalism were almost ignored. It left the way open for a consolidation of forces such as has been mentioned a good deal in this country of late in order to present a united front against the Baldwin Government at the next election which is likely to take place possibly next year.

The attack on the Government was well developed. It was charged with incompetence at home; inaptitude, short-sightedness, and lack of courage abroad and malevolent hostility to its political opponents. F. O. Roberts, M.P. looked back on "the tragedy of Britain under Toryism"; nearly a decade of Tory domination broken only by the brief interval of Labor in office in 1924. It was a period, from the workers' standpoint, of "disillusionment, disappointment and degradation," and he singled out the Government's "restrictive and negative" policy towards the League and the inglorious moral isolation into which Sir Austen Chamberlain has brought Britain to the League Assembly. The Government had rejected the Protocol principle of arbitration in international disputes, inclusive bilateral treaties, and the optional clause of the Permanent Court.

SUTTON GETS AN INTERVIEW AT EDMONTON

EDMONTON, Oct. 26.—Carrying the Peace River railway campaign a step nearer the front line General Sutton waited on Premier Brownlee and asked approval of the provincial government for the scheme to open up the Peace River country by means of a line of railway to Vancouver by way of the P.G.E.

He also sought the consent of the government to a request for land grants from the Dominion by means of which the construction of some 150 miles of railroad in Alberta to connect the Edmonton, Dunvegan and B.C. lines with the Pacific Great Eastern in B.C. might be financed.

JUNEAU, Oct. 26.—Two slight earthquakes were felt here yesterday.

President of Alberta Wheat Pool is in the City Today Looking Over Situation Here

"I have just come up to look personally over the situation. There is no special significance to my visit," states Henry Wise Wood, president of the Alberta Wheat Pool and guiding spirit of one of Canada's greatest marketing organizations, who arrived this morning from Vancouver and will be here until tomorrow night when he will return south. "It is the first time I have been here and, so far, everything looks all right to me," he said. Mr. Wood was chary about responding to enquiries as to his impressions of this port before having the opportunity to make a thorough inspection of it.

Apart from stating that the Wheat Pool still had the local elevator under lease for another year and that it was the intention of the Pool to utilize it to the full during that period, more specifically the coming winter, Mr. Wood declined to make any further pronouncement as to the Pool's future activities in Prince Rupert. On the Pool's sales would depend largely, he said, the extent to which the elevator would be used during the coming winter. What effect the erection of a large elevator by the Pool in Vancouver would have in relation to the port of Prince Rupert Mr. Wood also declined to predict. "Anyway," he said, "the elevator there won't be in operation for another year at least."

Speaking of the prairie crops this year, Mr. Wood said that the Alberta crop was the largest in history. Owing, however, to rains, frost, lack of sunshine and other factors, the quality was not as high.

Mr. Wood, though he is one of the biggest figures in Canadian business today, still proudly boasts that he is a real Albertan farmer. With his wide brimmed hat, long black coat and general air, his appearance does not belie the fact that he is a real farmer, to say nothing of being a power in the business world. His home is in Calgary where are located the headquarters of the Wheat Pool.

In Mr. Wood's party is C. M. Hall of Calgary, general manager of the Alberta Wheat Pool. Mr. Hall recently suffered the amputation of a leg and is accompanied by Miss A. C. McKee, R.N., of Calgary, his nurse.

Joseph Bennett, superintendent of the Wheat Pool's Pacific Coast elevators, is also in the group, his particular business being to supervise the loading of the British freighter Fishpool, first boat of the season to take on grain at this port.

The forthrightly service to the Queen Charlotte Islands and Vancouver will be continued as at present, the Prince John taking the run after the next voyage in place of the Prince Charles.

The tri-weekly train service will also start about November 15 when the daily trains will be discontinued.

REFORM OF CANADIAN SENATE

The difficulty with party papers is that when the party is out of power they harp on the things for which they stand but the moment the party is in power they conveniently forget. That was what happened to the Canadian Senate in Laurier's time. There was a pledge to reform it before Laurier went into power and after he got in he reformed it by appointing Liberal senators. It was a grim joke and one that is not yet forgotten by those who believe in the carrying out of pledges.

Again the Liberals are in power pledged to reform the Senate and something will have to be done as soon as control of that body is secured or the people will lose confidence in the party.

ON CONFERENCE PROGRAM

Senate reform, of necessity, will occupy a leading, if not the most important, place in the agenda of the conference between the Dominion Government and the provinces which has been called at Ottawa for the first week in November, says the Winnipeg Free Press. The origin of the conference goes back to the pledge made by the Dominion Government in the speech from the Throne with which the session of 1925 was opened, that such a conference would be called for the discussion of this particular business. Mr. King outlined his idea of the nature and scope of the desired reform as long ago the session of 1924, when, on the last day of a session which had been marked by exceptional activity by the Senate in the way of butchering government bills, he spoke in these terms:

"The time has come when the Commons in Canada should seek to gain rights and privileges with respect to legislation which owes its origin to this chamber, similar to those which have been obtained by the House of Commons in the Parliament at Westminster.

"I may say that the government had under consideration, prior to the opening of this session, legislation with this end in view, but it was anxious that the public should feel perfectly assured of the necessity of it before pressing it on the attention of Parliament.

"Hon. members will recall that at the close of last session and at the close of the preceding session, bills which were passed by this House, and which touched matters that are vital to the electorate, failed of enactment owing to the action of the Senate Chamber. This year we have cases of bills that have passed this House at three separate sessions of Parliament, and which have been rejected each time by the second chamber.

"I think we owe it to the people of the country to see to the supremacy of this elective chamber in Parliament with respect to laws of this kind. I would assure the House that when Parliament re-assembles, steps will be taken by the government to obtain, if possible, means whereby bills may pass, by and with the consent of the House of Commons, under conditions similar in principle to those which have been sanctioned by the Parliament of the United Kingdom."

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

Mr. King's proposal to the provincial conference will serve to open the whole question of Senate reform, continues the article. His proposal to make the veto of the Senate suspensory for a stipulated period of time has not been favorably received by the Conservative majority in the Senate, nor by the Eastern Conservative press. The claim has been boldly made on behalf of the Senate by some of its members that it has, and should have, larger power in the Canadian scheme of government than the House of Lords has in Great Britain. They claim for it complete equality of legislative power with the Commons, except that it has no power to initiate financial legislation. Mr. King's plan, if it becomes effective, will, of course, make the subordination of the Senate a matter of formal law. To this extent it is good, but there are many who think the proposition is simply the beginning of a more drastic reform of the Upper House.

It refused to recognize "that a new international order and a limitation of sovereignty are necessary for our very survival." Whenever reaction had raised its head Sir Austen was looked on as its leader.

LIBERAL PARTY LET OFF

The other main charge against the Government was its Trade Union Act. The indictment led Mr. Roberts on to exhortations to hard work and the preparation of a fighting program on which to return Labor to office and power. But there was nothing in the speech which ruled out a repetition of 1924.

He spoke of a "policy in harmony with the needs of the time," laying "the foundations of a new social order." One also heard a warning to the "keener spirits of our movement" not to embarrass responsible leaders by impatience at "the slowness with which great changes are made." We cannot destroy century-old traditions in a day. We cannot undo the evils wrought by competition and laissez-faire in a week or a month. This the I.L.P. will no doubt take as another douche of cold water on "Socialism in our time."

Mr. Robert ended. It is worth noting, not with his eyes on the co-operative and Socialist Commonwealth, but with the backward vision of an attempt at "recapturing and revitalising the spirit of 1918"—the idealism of the first days of peace.

SECOND DAY

The Labor party has always been freer than the others in drawing drafts on the future, but it has never yet tied itself down to a short series of propositions constituting "a program of legislative and administrative action for a Labor government." Such a program is now, by today's decision, to be framed in time for the next general election. The debate which led up to it was one of the most enlightening of recent years.

It was perhaps curious that nobody seemed very keen to know exactly what set of subjects is to be put in the program, or, indeed, how many points it is likely to have. Mr. Thomas mentioned unemployment, and at a guess one would say that other points will include finance (the surtax and a lightening of indirect taxation on the lines of the Snowden Budget); some reform of local government, especially in the matter of the Poor Law and grants-in-aid; agriculture; education; repeal of the Trade Union Act; and first steps towards reorganization of the coal industry, including repeal of the Eight Hours Act.

But this is mere guesswork; the debate afforded no light. What it was concerned with was in essentials whether the program should be one that a Labor minority Government could tackle with some prospect of success, or whether it should be a definitely Socialist one on which co-operation with other political sections could hardly be expected.

THE WORD SOCIALISM

There were anxious attempts from the floor to prove that the word Socialism is, in spite of yesterday's lapse, not yet dropped from the party vocabulary. The leaders, on the other hand, were laying all stress on the attainable. Mr. MacDonald, Mr. Bevin and Mr. Thomas all declared that the next Labor government must be able to "deliver the goods"; presumably those which the electorate will have ordered on the strength of the election bargain list.

The Executive has been led into this program making by the competition of the I.L.P. Temperamentally Mr. MacDonald is against tying his hands, but, as he said, unauthorized programs are even more dangerous. Mr. Bevin also complained of the I.L.P. intervention in trade union policy, saying that Labor must aim at something which the way-faring man, though a Tory trade unionist, can understand and vote for.

After several varieties of Left-wing opinion had had their say, Mr. MacDonald wound up the debate by summarising the position in a form something like this: In the background of all our schemes is Socialism. In the background as the completion of all that is going on, of all that is working out on the great stage of Parliament, is Socialism. All our plans and schemes would be meaningless if we were not Socialists.

It is pretty comfortable doctrine, and the real successor to Mr. Webb's inevitability of gradualism. The Party conference settled down today to the enunciation of policies which will take their place in the new election program. Today's subjects were coal, education, unemployment, the Poor Law and social services and local government. The Executive's proposals went through with little challenge. In only two debates was there a serious division of ideas—on the I.L.P. living-wage policy and on birth control. By 2,885,000 votes to 275,000 the Conference refused to make birth control a party question.

The debate was most instructive. The Executive had turned down the repeated demands of the women's sections that Labor should declare in favor of the giving of birth control information by public medical officers. The women's case, put extremely well by both middle-class and working women, had the support of Mr. Brailsford's earnest pleading. The bitterest opposition came from the Roman Catholics, the passion of one of whom—a woman—was a foretaste of the kind of trouble which even a modest approach to the subject can raise. Jack Jones for once overstepped the line of decorous speech, and the Conference angrily withdrew from him the license he is usually accorded and demanded the withdrawal of an offensive remark.

Mr. Henderson, with his sure political touch, brought the debate to the touchstone of the next election, drew the painful moral of the turbulent few minutes through which the Conference had just passed, and recalled the party tradition of respect for religious convictions. The result was not in doubt; the great overwhelming trade union vote was cast for the Executive.

NEW MINES POLICY

The debate on mining was on the remarkable resolution published below. While still holding nationalisation to be essential, the resolution puts forward "an immediate program for the amelioration of existing conditions, and especially of the serious and growing volume of unemployment." This program includes the repeal of the Eight Hours Act, the restriction of recruitment of mining labor, and the pensioning off of old miners, compulsory grouping and amalgamation, and the setting up of selling agencies. Neither Mr. MacDonald, in the fine and moving piece of oratory in which he moved the resolution, nor Herbert Smith, in his well-documented speech on the appalling conditions in the coalfields, dealt much with the actual proposals. Mr. MacDonald declared that "if Labor comes into office it will take upon itself the duty of nationalising the mines."

RAISING THE SCHOOL AGE

The education policy was set out in detail, and Mr. Trevelyan called it the marching orders to the next Labor Education Minister. He made a strong point of the raising of the school-leaving age, which has now become a cardinal point and enters also into the party's unemployment and mining policies. The resolutions on unemployment, the Blanesburgh Report, and local government brought nothing new, as the main heads had already been settled months ago.

For the third year the I.L.P. tried to impress the Conference with "Socialism in our time," which, to put it shortly, demands drastic State reorganization and the control of industry to enable it to pay a living wage, and which sees its principal instruments in the control of banking and credit, and in family allowances. Last year the Conference referred it to a committee to be set up in conjunction with the Trade Unions Congress, but the committee has only just begun to sit.

Mr. Henderson for the Executive, promised that the proposals should be examined in time for their possible inclusion in the new party election program, but he surely went a little far in saying that "The principles are not in dispute." Mr. Maxton accepted the assurance, and the I.L.P. opposition to the report was withdrawn.

COAL POLICY RESOLUTION

The resolution on the coal policy follows:

This Conference deploras the disastrous condition into which the mining industry has fallen as a result of the Government's lamentable surrender to the mineowners during the dispute of last year and the absence of any constructive policy on the part of either the owners or the Government to deal with the situation. It reaffirms its considered view that the nationalisation of the mines, the development of coal treatment as an integral part of the coal industry, and the reorganization of the distributors' processes are essential to the prosperity of the industry and to an assured livelihood and an adequate standard of life for the mine workers. In view of the imperative need for an immediate program for the amelioration of existing conditions, and especially of the serious and growing volume of unemployment, this Conference calls for—

- (a) The repeal of the Eight Hour Act;
- (b) The regulation of the supply of labor in the mining industry by:
 - (1) Raising the school-leaving age to fifteen, or preferably sixteen, with the provision of the necessary maintenance allowances and preparatory training for other forms of employment;
 - (2) The suspension of recruitment of adult labor from outside the industry, and the transfer of unemployed miners under proper arrangements to areas

A famous Canadian world's champion thinks Buckingham is a winner, too!

WHEN "Jake" Gaudaur, who, with Ned Hanlan and Lou Scholes, brought to his native Canada the prestige of the world's championship in rowing, there were no "movie" contracts, stage appearances or lucrative writing contracts to reward his efforts. A few hundred dollars, many cups and trophies and any number of illuminated addresses were the sole benefits derived—except that glorious sense of achievement and shining example for Canadian athletics which to-day is emulated by such worthy successors as "Joe" Wright.

At the age of 68 years, with a record of hundreds of victories over the world's best, Mr. Gaudaur again lives near the beautiful lakes of Simcoe and Couchiching, where in a clumsy skiff he won his first rowing races as a youth of seventeen.

Buckingham esteems it an honor to have received a hearty tribute from so noted a Canadian champion as Mr. Gaudaur. Buckingham appreciates the championship rank it has attained among so many thousands of Canadians because of its "throat-easy" quality, freshness and fragrant blend.

"I never smoked until I stopped rowing more than 20 years ago. Since then I have tried many brands of cigars and cigarettes, but until a friend offered me a Buckingham I never knew how pleasant and easy on the throat a cigarette could be. I spend most of my time around my old home near Lakes Simcoe and Couchiching and my days are pleasant ones. Tobacco such as one gets in Buckingham helps to make them more so."

Neglected Eyes

NEGLECT is doubtless the cause of most of the ills that afflict humanity. This is so self evident that it seems hardly necessary to tell you. If your eyes are giving trouble, have them attended to—and at once.

OF ALL absurdities in the kingdom of foolishness, surely the loss of eyesight through neglect is the most inexcusable.

DON'T lose health and efficiency through neglect. Come and see!

FOOTBALL GAME WON BY BOOTH

The postponed junior football game between Booth and Borden took place yesterday afternoon when Booth won by two clear goals.

With the advantage of the hill Booth soon took up the attack and Steen was early called on but was very safe. A penalty awarded for handling in the mouth of goal was taken by Nelson who drove over the bar. Borden took up the attack after this escape but Nelson and Murray were not to be passed, though Fong tried hard. Booth returned to the attack but shot weakly. Dickens worked his way through the defence right in to score with a good cross shot. Gurvich and Fisher defended well and Booth were unable to add to their score. Halftime found them leading by one goal.

With the hill in their favor Borden were expected to give Booth a hard time but Booth half-backs dominated the situation and McKay was never troubled. Walters was dangerous and his centres and corners were a worry to the Borden defence. Finally Busanich converted one to put Booth two goals ahead. Booth forwards were combining well though their shooting was weak. Steen saved splendidly from Dickens. Gilker missed a good chance. Morgan played finely for Borden and Hardy was safe. Full-time found Booth worthy winners 2-0.

Referee, J. S. Wilson.
Linesmen, W. W. C. O'Neill, W. Bacon.
Teams: Borden—Steen, Fisher, M. Gurvich, Smith, Vaccher, Hardie, Fong, Morgan, MacDonald, Chenoski, Nakamoto.
Booth—McKay, Murray, Nelson, Franks, Collison, Gilker, Walters, Dickens, Busanich, Wingham, Wood.
This completes the fall schedule and the table is as follows. The second half will be played in the spring.

SPORT CHAT

Rugby football is the premier sport in New Zealand, and it will never be displaced by the association game. It is drilled into the youngsters at school and is played in every city and village. Alderman James Adam, a past president of the Victoria Rotary Club, and manager of the All-Canadian soccer team which recently toured the Antipodes, told members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club recently, Alderman Adam outlined the features of the soccer team's trip in New Zealand, telling of the keen interest taken by the citizens in the matches and the wonderful reception that the Canadians were accorded every place they visited. "Our trip not only helped to place Canada on the map, but also drew closer the bonds of friendship between this Dominion and New Zealand," Alderman Adam declared.

Old Ban Johnson, who took baseball when it was a sideshow and helped to build it into a three ring circus, with clowns and everything, has picked up his hat and walked out. Johnson, for many years the storm centre of the major league baseball, quietly retired from the presidency of the American League. Johnson dominated the old National commission, gaining the title of "Czar of baseball." He opposed the appointment of a neutral commissioner to "clean up" baseball after the Black Sox exposure in 1920, when Judge Keneshaw Mountain Landis was chosen off the Federal bench. And he fought the commissioner at every turn until club owners, one by one, began to desert him.

The beginning of the end came last January, when Commissioner Landis gave out the details of an investigation of "fixing" charges against Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, managers of the Detroit and Cleveland Clubs. Johnson criticized Landis severely for making the affair public, months after the details were turned over to the commissioner. For this outburst the club owners voted to send their president on a leave of absence "to recover his health."

Michael Carey, who has been employed at the Premier mine and who arrived from the north on the Catala yesterday afternoon, left on this morning's train for Belfast, Ireland, where he will pay a visit to his former home.

STEWART

Nell McDonald and Charles Lake have finished the season's work on the Troy group, lying just over the divide at the head of the Salmon River basin. There are now sixteen claims in the group and the veins show substantial bodies of milling ore with values principally in silver, lead and zinc. A fine amp has been established at the property.

Dr. Shute has gone to Premier where he will remain until early next month.

After examining a number of properties here in a professional capacity, F. J. Crossland, M.E. has returned to Vancouver.

Louis Watkins has returned from Langara Island where he spent the summer with Jack Lambert with whom he is interested in fishing.

B. W. W. McDougall, well known mining engineer, who made a recent examination of the property, asserts that the Marmot Metals has great potential possibilities.

The Stewart Board of Trade is working with a view to having sessions of the County Court here. This would, it is said, eliminate heavy expense in having to take cases and witnesses to Prince Rupert.

"Once money is being spent as freely in Northern British Columbia as is the case with Ontario and Quebec, this northern section will bid fair to become the cash box of the province," asserts L. Jessen, director of Boyle Bros., the well known diamond drilling concern.

Ore is being sacked at the Silverado mine and it is expected that fifty tons will be available before winter sets in. There may be a transfer in the control of the property shortly.

Further work on the Georgia River Mining Co.'s properties will be delayed until next spring it is announced by Wellington Beaton.

ALICE ARM

Ore has been encountered in the tunnel at the Keystone mine. Solid ore has not yet been encountered but indications are extremely good and it is expected that a few more rounds will disclose it in quantity.

Ten new members have recently joined the Alice Arm branch of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines.

The Silver Cord mine will be operated throughout the winter by the Kisaute-Eagle Silver Mines Ltd. A ventilating system will be installed and additional accommodation provided at the mine for employees. Encouraging results have been obtained from development work during the summer on the property.

Seven tons of high grade ore from the Esperanza mine has been shipped during the week to the Trail smelter for treatment. Mining of high grade from the property still continues.

Jens Larson, J. Fiva, William McLean, Burt Burtleson, Chris Jensen, Leo Pauller and P. Wickstrom have returned to town after having driven 260 feet of tunnel on the Vanguard property on which operations have now been discontinued by the Spencer-McRae interests of Vancouver.

The captain of the British freighter Fishpool, first vessel to load grain at Prince Rupert this season, has wired late Thursday night or early Friday morning. Capt. Larry Thomson of the Federal Pilots of British Columbia will meet the vessel off Triple Island and bring her in.

Today, October 26, is National Fish Day but, apparently, no arrangements have been made to observe the occasion in any outstanding manner locally, other than to have fish fare at the joint luncheon to be held tomorrow in honor of Henry Wise Wood, president of the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Where Fineness is a Charm of Custom

To go into an exclusive salon a diner wearing anything but the best clothes or shoes is to invite comment.

A BEAR STORY AT KETCHIKAN

Manager of the Big Mill Said to Have Been Chased by Bruin

This is a bear story. And the facts were not supplied by Milton Daly either, though he was one of the principal actors, says the Ketchikan Chronicle.

Just the reverse. Mr. Daly has been as mum as a clam about his exciting adventure.

Another actor in the drama was Gen. Polta, known as a bear hunter from Nemo to Seattle.

The stage was a scene of wild-wood on Seymour Canal. The two men had just landed and began preparations for camp.

Mr. Daly looked the scene over, sniffed the air, and said: "Humph! I don't believe there is a bear within a hundred miles of this place. Don't look like a bear country to me."

"You never can tell," said Polta.

"Milt" took the pall and made his way to a stream about 60 yards distant and dipped up a bucket of water. When he straightened up coming around a bunch of trees about ten feet away was as fine a brown bear as one could wish to see. The bear kept on coming. Its eyes did not seem a bit friendly.

Then things happened.

"Milt" made that 60 yards to camp in two jumps, yelling as he came for Polta to get a gun.

Polta did not have time to get his gun. It was only 25 feet away, but before he could raise from stooping over the fire both Milt and the bear were almost on top of him, and he was most concerned just then in giving Milt and the bear a clear right of way.

Fortunately, possibly deflected by the fire, the bear turned to one side and disappeared into the timber without a shot being fired.

"What did I tell you about 'bear'?" asked Polta.

"Guess this is a bear country all right," grinned Milt.

"Yes, sir," said Polta. "I can almost smell 'em."

"You didn't smell that one in time," remarked the mill man, and the incident was closed.

The two men got other bear, but not the one they would have liked to have landed.

REVIVAL IN AVIATION IN THIS COUNTRY

Department of National Defence Taking Lead in Good Work

OTTAWA, Oct. 26. — The reproach against Canada of Fraulein Thea Rasche, German aviatrix, who, on her recent visit to Montreal, expressed amazement and disappointment over the "neglect of aviation" in this country, will soon be corrected. In comparison with the Fatherland, Fraulein Rasche said, Canada was years behind in the matter of aerodromes. In Germany every town has its aeroplane landing-field. In Canada the number could be counted on the fingers of one hand. This situation is shortly to be changed. For the Canadian government has just issued practical encouragement toward the development of civil aviation in the form of offering aeroplanes free to properly organized light-aeroplane clubs.

In brief, the government's contribution will be a couple of de Havilland Moth planes granted to duly constituted bodies in the various centres of population throughout the country, this offer being conditional upon such bodies undertaking the responsibility of maintaining the machines in good order and under expert supervision. The clubs so formed are also obligated to erect their own hangars and prepare their own landing-fields. Government assistance in this respect, however, will not be wanting.

FLYING ENTHUSIASTS

The movement has "taken on." In most of the provincial capitals flying enthusiasts have met and discussed the project, and the Canadian Department of National Defence, under whose aegis the movement has been placed, is now inundated with enquiries from all over the country. A great deal of "spade-work" has yet to be done, but the project has been set in motion, and with it there has come a renewed interest in flying.

Commercial flying in Canada is still far from the stage reached in the United States, and it is only in the past month that this country attempted an air-mail service. The scale is modest in the extreme, amounting to no more than picking up mail from incoming trans-Atlantic liners at Rimouski—about 400 miles down the St. Lawrence River from Montreal—and bringing it by hydroplane to the Quebec metropolis. The operation is being closely watched by government officials here and the development of the air-mail service depends entirely upon the success of the Montreal-Rimouski experiment.

PRIVATE AIR LINES

There are a number of private airlines in Canada which have reached a certain degree of success in transporting passengers and freight to districts in the Northland hitherto almost inaccessible. The aeroplane preceded all other means of transportation into the Red Lake Mining Area in Northern Ontario, and was a notable factor in the early development of the Rouyn Mining Area of Northern Quebec. In the Lake St. John district of north-eastern Quebec, air operations have been conducted successfully and profitably.

It goes without saying that both provincial and federal governments have made use of the aeroplane to a considerable extent. For topographical sur-

Changes its own Records

Plays twelve records without attention.—Runs itself for a whole hour. No operating effort on your part.—Just listen.

WHEN you turn on the current, the turntable starts to revolve; a mechanical "hand" takes the first record from the group of twelve and places it on the turntable; the tone-arm moves into position; the sound-box is lowered and the music begins. At the end of the selection, the mechanical "hand" removes the record from the turntable, slides it gently into a left-lined concealed drawer, and "jacks off" the next record from the magazine arm. These operations are repeated until the last record is played, then the mechanism stops automatically.

So magnificent an instrument demands an exterior of exceptional beauty. Victor craftsmen have designed a distinguished cabinet for the Automatic Orthophonic Victrola, in which every luxurious touch that ingenuity can devise has been incorporated. The price of the automatic instrument is $775. Other models of the Orthophonic Victrola instruments are obtainable at prices ranging from $430 down to $115. Obtainable on convenient terms from "His Master's Voice" Dealers. Demonstrations now going on. If your dealer hasn't one he will order it for you.

In connection with the railway now being built to Fort Churohill on the western shore of Hudson Bay, the aeroplane was used to transport stores and personnel to the remote districts many miles beyond the "end of steel." At the moment the federal government is establishing permanent posts on the shores of Hudson Straits, these posts being manned by airmen equipped with the latest hydroplanes.

AIR SENSE

All this is giving Canada an "air sense" and developing among Canadians a feeling that the air is as much a part of their element as the spacious territory which they inhabit. Since the beginnings of aviation, Canadians have taken kindly to the air. During the Great War nearly 50 per cent of the entire Royal Flying Corps on the Western Front was composed of Canadians. The government has thus wisely recognized that little is required to further stimulate Canadian interest in flying, and that little is now being done.

HOSPITAL TO TREAT THE AFTER EFFECTS INFANTILE PARALYSIS

EDMONTON, Oct. 26.—Following a survey which is to be made immediately, it is proposed to establish a provincial government special hospital for the treatment of patients suffering from the after-effects of infantile paralysis, according to announcement made by Hon. George Hoadley.

It is expected that from 75 to 100 patients will have to be accommodated for a period of about two years. The hospital is to be located in Edmonton, near the University hospital on the south side, and the staff of the University hospital will augment the specialists who are to be placed in charge of the temporary hospital.

The survey is to be made by medical men acting under the department of health and, while it is being made, temporary instructions will be given those in charge of infantile paralysis cases, a pamphlet as to their proper care being now in course of preparation. It is claimed that complete cures can be effected if proper care and attention is given over a lengthy period, which medical experts place at two years in the worst cases.

Indications are that the infantile paralysis cases are on the wane in Alberta, very few new cases being reported at the present time. However, the authorities are not slackening up their efforts to combat the disease.

WOMAN WILL MAKE FLIGHT HAWAII SOON

Plans to Accompany Tracy Dobson and Another Pilot on Long Trip

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 26.—Another Hawaiian flight with a woman aboard is in the making. It is planned to fly over and back and to test the invention of a Berkeley man's automatic drift indicator. The mechanism fastens to the side of the plane and records on a cylinder the route flown.

Tracy Dobson, former lieutenant in the eleventh army pursuit squadron, will be the head pilot. He will take a co-pilot along, he states, in addition to Miss Doris Conover, a dancing teacher of Oakland.

Miss Conover has made a study of aerial navigation and is an amateur telegraph operator. Dobson is aware of the opposition for long distance flying in land machines over the ocean, but says he is confident that this can be overcome by demonstration of the plane's worthiness and proof of thoroughness of preparation.

He expects to fly a Mahoney monoplane powered with a Pratt-Whitney engine of 428 horsepower. It will carry 550 gallons of gasoline and will have a cruising radius of 2,955 miles or a margin of 555 miles in excess of the distance between Oakland and Honolulu.

A date for the hop-off has not been fixed definitely, but probably will be in mid-November, depending on weather conditions.

WRIGLEYS

DOUBLE MINT—easy to remember—and hard to forget, once you've tried it.

Keeps teeth white, breath sweet, aids appetite and digestion . . .

After Every Meal

Carrying virtually every safety instrument of aerial navigation and with a double instrument board, Dobson declares the plane will be equipped in a manner to reduce the hazards to a minimum and to remove the undertaking from the class of the reckless stunt flight.

A radio receiver for reception of the radio beacon signal will be taken as an additional navigation precaution.

FISH OIL AND MEAL SHOWING BIG INCREASE

West Coast of Vancouver Island Proves Productive Section of Province

VICTORIA, Oct. 25.—Production of fish oil and meal on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, the centre of the reduction business, broke all records this season, according to official figures received at the Provincial Fisheries Department.

The total output of the nineteen reduction plants operating on the Island coast up to October 8 was 2,792,191 imperial gallons of oil and 12,687 tons of meal, a large gain over the 1926 figures. With pilchards still running strongly at some points, the season's total production will top 3,000,000 gallons of oil and 13,000 tons of meal, it is expected.

At this time last year production was much smaller. Altogether 1,823,375 imperial gallons of oil and 7,992 tons of meal had been produced by the fifteen plants then operating.

SEASON WAS LATE These figures were taken to mean that the pilchard season has been a remarkable success this year, although it started extremely late. The herds of oily little fish came late to the Coast from their unknown breeding grounds about in the Pacific and operators of reduction plants feared for a time that they would not come at all in worthwhile quantities. In August, however, they reached the coast in enormous volume and since that time have been caught freely at most points. Just as fishermen had tied up their boats for the season a new run got under way recently and the fish are still being caught.

In Barkley Sound, where seven reduction plants operate 652,215 imperial gallons of oil and 3,313 tons of meal were produced up to October 8, the official figures show. Last year five plants in the sound produced 494,820 gallons of oil and 2,265 tons of meal.

Six plants in the Esperanza, Nootka, and Clayquot areas produced 1,400,919 gallons of oil and 6,274 tons of meal, as against 1,025,489 gallons and 4,425 tons in 1926.

Plants around Kyoquot and Quatsino turned out 728,970 gallons of oil and 3,400 tons of meal, as compared with 303,056 gallons and 1,302 tons a year ago.

Fishery officials have no doubt that oil production will pass 3,000,000 gallons this year, as against the total production last year of 1,898,721 gallons, while the 7,948 tons of meal produced altogether last year already have been exceeded and may be doubled before the end of the season.

FLIN FLON IS IN BALANCES

Option on Famous Mine in Northern Manitoba Expires on December 1

WINNIPEG, Oct. 26.—Since the discovery of the Flin Flon property in Northern Manitoba in 1915 it has been more or less consistently in the limelight. It has been under option several times and during the life of these options more than two million dollars have been spent in determining the extent of the ore body, its commercial value and the best method by which to undertake its exploitation.

Now the time of expiration of another option draws near, and once more the mining men of Canada are on the quiver as to what will happen. December 1 is the critical date. Whether the powerful Whitney interests of New York will undertake the development of this enormous ore body or whether they will decide the time is not yet ripe to spend the very large sum of money necessary to open up and take from the Flin Flon its valuable ores. At least this may be said: The Whitney interests have spent more money on the property than any other concern. They have obtained and followed out a method of extraction of the zinc and copper ores which greatly increases the potential value of the property and are unquestionably in a better position to undertake the work than any of the previous groups who have in the past held options on the property.

Much hinges on the option expiring December 1. Should the Whitney interests decide to go ahead an expenditure of close to $20,000,000 will be immediately commenced, including not only the construction of the necessary plant at the Flin Flon itself but also the

COUNT DE WITTE IS NOW HOTEL WAITER

Was Discovered Recently by Woman Guest: Is Proud of His Job, he Says

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—A six-footer of aristocratic mien at the Waldorf, also distinguished by a spike-tailed coat with gold braid, has identified himself as William Schuch de Witte, a Countson of a prince and grandson of the late Count Sergius de Witte, famous premier under the Czars. He is now a floor waiter, having worked up in six months from kitchen boy.
Proud of his job, he says: "I have more self-respect than when I was playing bridge or attending tea parties in New York City." He kept his incognito until recognized by a woman guest of the hotel whom he had met socially, he says.
